HALF-POUND SOCIAL AT ST. JOHN'S

Was Very Successful—Large Attendance —Concert and Refreshments.

The one-half pound social which was given by the A.Y.P.A., of St. John's Church last night, proved to be a great success. There was a splendid attendance and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. N. Greenhalgh, the president of the society, occupied the chair and the following excellent programme was rendered:

Piano solo—Mr. R J Devey.
Song—Mr. T Baylis.
Recitation—Miss Pretty.
Duet—Messrs. G Chandler and N Greenhalgh.
Song—Miss Dawson.
Song—Mr. C Coleman.
Song—Mr. G Chandler.
Recitation—Mr. W McLaren.

Refreshments were then served, after which an auction sale of the "half pounds" was held and the evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

REV. P. DeLOM SPOKE AT ALL SAINTS'

In Connection With the Pan-Anglican Congress and Thank Offering.

At a special meeting of All Saints' Church last night Rev. P. De Lom, the organizing agent for the Pan-Anglican Congress, gave an address with a view to securing the special thank offering which is made up from the 251 dioceses of the Anglican Church. This thank offering is for the purpose of propagating the missionary work all over the world. Mr. De Lom stated that the Diocese of Manchester in England has appropriated $50,000 to help the church in Canada.

A small committee was appointed last night to look after the work in connection with All Saints'.

The comfort and fit of a shirt depend largely upon the way the neck band is cut.

Each neck-band in Tooke Shirts is cut out separately, not in lots.

It's this care in the cutting of the neck-band that makes the collar fit equally well whether the shirt be made with a soft or stiff bosom.

The great objection to most Neglige Shirts is that the collar never fits properly.

Many men, for this reason, have become disgusted with soft-bosomed shirts.

No trouble of this kind is ever experienced with a Tooke Shirt. 20

TOOKE BROTHERS, LIMITED, MONTREAL

No Poison Could Be Found In Stomach Of Elgin Weaver

The death of W. Elgin Weaver, which occurred in December, 1906, was due to some natural cause and not from poisoning, so far as the Coroner's Jury could learn. The inquest which has been three times adjourned was resumed last night with Coroner Dr. Gray presiding. Crown Attorney Wood announced that he had received word from Toronto, stating that Professor Ellis had examined the internal organs of the deceased man and had found no trace of strychnine or other poison.

Mr. Wood added that on these grounds the only thing the jury could do was to bring in an open verdict of death by some cause other than poisoning, laying the blame on no one but at the same time leaving matters so that they could, at any time re-open their investigations.

The jury, after a few minutes consideration, returned a verdict, practically to the effect that after all additional evidence was in, and duly considered, they did not know the cause of death.

CAMP REUNION AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Some Meetings of Committees—Mr. Keith to Give an Address at Next Sunday Men's Meeting.

MALE QUARTETTE TO SING

The camp re-union in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium to-night, promises to be an interesting event. A programme is being prepared of music and speeches. Every fellow will have an opportunity of saying how he thinks the camp may be made more attractive. A report of the Boys Convention, recently held in Brantford, will be received after which refreshments will be served.

THE POWDASH FAMILY MEDALS

Johnston Powdash Refers to Two of the Collection.

Johnston Paudash gave a few of the market regulars a little history of his tribe this morning, and produced a medal which his grandfather, George Paudash, received for his activity in the war of 1812-14. There is a silver bar on it on which is written "Corysler's Farm," this being the engagement in which Chief Paudash led his tribe of Indians from the Rice Lake district. On the rim of the medal are the words, "George Paudash, Warrior."

Johnston said his family have other medals, which are highly prized. One was received in 1704 from a Jesuit priest when the tribe was located near Sault Ste. Marie. The Jesuits had made their way to that place through the unsettled, hostile country, and as a token of friendship one of the priests presented the chief, Bald Eagle, one of the ancestors of the Paudash tribe, with this medal.

RUNAWAY ON HUNTER STREET AT NOON

Horse Frightened by an Automobile—Shafts of Milk Wagon Smashed.

Considerable excitement was created about noon to-day on Hunter street when a runaway took place. A horse attached to a milk wagon was standing in the roadway when an automobile came along. The horse became frightened and started westward. After turning up Stewart street it was caught at the corner of Brock street. The shafts were badly smashed, but otherwise no damage was done.

"JIMMY" REYNOLDS WAS TREATED LIKE A KING

Back Again to the Lake Shore Town—No Trouble With Walkers.

Mr. James Reynolds, who has been refereeing the six-days walking match at Peterborough, returned home this morning. While in Peterborough he was the guest of Mr. George Graham, of the Oriental Hotel, and he tells us that he had no trouble with the walkers, and was treated like a king by the citizens of Peterborough.—Port Hope Guide.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit, inoculated with the germs, became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person, therefore, that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which not is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ that causes baldness, and can be prevented with the same remedy —Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substituto. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

TWO VAGS ORDERED OUT OF THE CITY

Were Roaming About Nicholls Oval—One Has a Bad Record.

George Valois and James Lang, who were charged with vagrancy in the police court yesterday and given the option of getting out of the city or appearing in the police court this morning, have evidently made their way to parts unknown. When they did not appear this morning the charges against them were dismissed.

A young man who was charged with riding a bicycle on the sidewalk was fined $2. This is the first case of this kind this year.

KISS COST THE MAN $4750

Prohibitive Price if it Were Universally Carried Out.

A Duluth woman has been awarded $4,750 for an article that is considered as "cheap as dirt." Her landlord forcibly stole a kiss, hence the legal proceedings. A despatch says:

Mrs. Olga Bergeman, of Kibbing yesterday got a verdict of $4,750 for a kiss. This is a reduction of $250 from the verdict awarded at the first trial.

She was a tenant of Jacob Kitz of Kibbing, and alleged that he one day kissed her by force when he called to collect the rent. Kitz's defence was blackmail.

THE OPENING MEETING OF GILLESPIE'S CAMPAIGN

Held in Hall Fourth Line, Smith—Addresses by the Candidate, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. G. M. Roger.

Last night the open meeting of the campaign of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, was held in the hall, Fourth Line Smith. There was a good attendance of the electors, who gave a rousing welcome to the candidate.

The chair was occupied by Mr. T. H. Graham. Mr. Gillespie spoke briefly, dealing mainly with the personal aspect of his candidature. Then Mr. Stratton gave a comprehensive address, dealing with the postulate that the Whitney Government, in view of its declarations, when in Opposition, which constituted its policy of appeal to the Province at the last election, had gained as has since retained power on false pretences. Mr. Roger's remarks referred to the manner in which the Government had violated the principles of responsible and representative government.

A full report of the meeting will appear in to-morrow's issue of the Examiner.

OPENING OF NEW YORK LADIES' TAILORING PARLORS

An Announcement of Special Interest to The Ladies of Peterborough.

These new and well appointed ladies' tailoring parlours are now open. They are in the premises, No. 658 George street under the supervision of experienced costumers, whose artistic qualifications have been recognized by fashionable patrons. Styles will be interpreted and executed in a manner peculiar to those in vogue in leading centres of the United States. Orders for ladies' skirts, shirt waists, and walking skirts will be in charge of expert modistes. Latest ideas and creations in the treatment of fluffy ruffles, "teddy bears," "merry widows" and other novelties will be executed by those who keep in close touch with the new features in fashion's realm.

Ladies who desire individualism in dress, and distinctive costuming features will appreciate the advantages which these New York Tailoring Parlours will aim to afford.

OBITUARY.

REV. DR. McCLELLAND

Mrs. W. J. Cox, North Monaghan, has received the sad intelligence of the death in Winnipeg of her uncle, the late Rev. Dr. McClelland, who is well known here. A Winnipeg paper has the following to say of the deceased:

Rev. Alexander M. McClelland, M. A., D.C.L., died Saturday morning at the family residence, 125 Langside street, at the age of 56 years. Rev. Mr. McClelland was a Canadian, having been born in Toronto and received his education at Upper Canada College and Toronto University. From the university he received his B.A. and M.A. degrees, and later took the degrees of B.C.L. and D.C.L. at Kings College, Nova Scotia. He leaves a widow, three sons and one daughter. The children are: Alexander B., of Winnipeg; D. McK., of Chicago, and James C. and Florence, of Winnipeg. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from St. Stephen's Church to Kildonan cemetery. Family services will be held at the residence at 2 o'clock. The service will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Carswell, who married Dr. McClelland and christened his children.

"WE ARE KING"

The story of "We Are King," as told by the office boy with the St. Louis Post-Despatch.

"In the land of the free and the home of the brave, and where every man is a sovereign, there is nothing so well liked as a play with a king in it. Dukes and earls will do well, but a king is the thing. Politically speaking, we have a profound contempt for titles, and particularly do we scorn "a tawdry crown," but at the play we like either an old style king, who wears a sort of bath-robe, edged with ermine and has a red nose and a royal appetite for wine, woman and song, or an up-to-date athletic young kinglet, who wears a red coat, patent top boots and white trousers, and hunts foxes and other varmints in a little principality not big enough to hold the entire fox hunt.

"'We Are King,' is a comedy, in which one of the latter-day monarchs is presented. He is King of Kahnburg, who, he explains, is an American tourist, who galloped around one day, because he didn't have a passport and could not cross the frontier. Hector, he's the king, although Hector doesn't sound a bit like a king's name, has gotten the kingdom Kahnburg in debt about as deeply as a Yale freshman, from Pittsburgh gets, before he dares to tell his millionaire "Guv'ner."

Revolution is imminent. A newspaper correspondent, the double of Hector, strays into Kahnburg and plotters imprison the king and put the newspaper man on the throne. To the lay mind, making a newspaper reporter king would not necessarily and inevitably get a kingdom out of debt, but the kingmakers of Kahnburg had probably known few reporters.

The newspaper reporter no sooner gets to be king than he reduces the taxes, makes a hit with the common people and begins to make love to the Princess Olivia, of Beronia, who wears the crown in an adjoining principality.

It develops that Hector was not the real king, but a substitute of peasant stock, who had been sneaked into the palace, and that the reporter is really the sprig of royalty, who ought to have been wearing the crown. The wedding is, therefore, quietly solemnized with only the inhabitants of the two principalities present.

Mr. Carroll, in the double role of Gustavus Venner and Hector, King Hector, is a capable actor. Mr. Cross has a capable company supporting Mr. Carroll, and they will be seen at the Grand Opera House next Saturday. The management is putting on a special bargain matinee at 25 and 35 cents.

YOU ARE THE MAN WE WANT TO SHOE!

SOME MEN, who don't know, have an idea that all Shoes are alike. They think that when they pay $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00 for a pair of Shoes that it doesn't make much difference where they buy them, that shoe is a shoe, and that's all there is to it.

These Men Are Mistaken

It's true that all shoe prices sound about the same, but there is as much difference in the shoes as there is in the men who wear them.

OUR MEN'S SHOES ARE THE CHOICE PRODUCT Of the World's Best Shoe Makers

We select the best Shoes that the best makers turn out. There are no better Shoes than ours to be had anywhere.

If you've never worn our sort of Shoes, sir, suppose you test us this Spring We'll promise you the best Shoes for the money that ever covered your feet.

FUR STORAGE DEPARTMENT

This is the season of the year when Furs should be stored away from all danger by moths or fire. More or less risk is always taken by storing Furs at home where there are no proper facilities for the caring of them, causing a lot of worry and anxiety through the summer months. We have lately fitted up a splendid Fur Storage Department, where special attention can be given to the care of your Furs, ensuring their return in a bright, fresh condition. By inquiring you will find our charges very moderate. Ring up No. 94 Bell or Machine Phones and we shall be pleased to send a messenger for your Furs.

LOCAL CONTRACTOR RECEIVES CONTRACT FOR CURLING RINK

The contract for the building of the new curling rink on Charlotte street, which has been open for some time, was let yesterday to Mr. Jas Montgomery, the local contractor.

Mr. Montgomery was interviewed by the Examiner this afternoon and stated that he would commence work on the new rink in three or four days. The excavation for the foundation will be made first, and then building operations will commence. The rink will be a solid brick structure, three storeys high, and will be strictly fire-proof. Eight stores will be built into the building and will face Charlotte street. The building will cost, when finished, $20,000, and will be one of the finest buildings in Peterborough, and one of the best rinks in Canada. Mr. Montgomery is confident of having the structure finished by the time teh frost comes again, and ready for use.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., the local architect, drew up the plans for the new rink, and when the building is completed it will add greatly to the appearance of Charlotte street. A large club room is being provided for, which will add greatly to the comfort of the curlers.

The building of the rink has created much interest in labour circles, and it is learned that from 20 to 25 bricklayers and carpenters will be employed.

CAME HOME TO NURSE HIS MOTHER

Mr. Thos. W. Spilsbury, Formerly of North Monaghan, in the City.

Mr. Thos. W. Spilsbury, an old Peterborough boy and a son of Mr. Wm Spilsbury, formerly one of North Monaghan's most prosperous farmers, but who, owing to ill health, is residing with his daughter in Dakota at precent, is in the city. Mr. Spilsbury, who is one of the best known professional nurses of New York State, with headquarters at 5 Clarendon street, Rochester, N.Y., came here to attend his mother, who lives on Perry street, and who is ill at present. Mr. Spilsbury's many friends here extended the warm hand of welcome to him on Saturday.

Mrs. Spilsbury has been removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. Jackson, 219 Bethune street.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia, but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—cure your cold while you can.

MR. G. STEVENS NARROWLY ESCAPED DESPOLIATION

Three or four stout spikes firmly held down one of the front windows at the Hook street rink and foiled an attempt made from the outside to shove it upward. The window was on the west half of the facade of the rink and looked out of Mr. Geo. Stevens' temporary lunch room and restaurant. Some one during Sunday night had tried to pry up the window, but it refused to move more than an inch. Disconcerted in this attempt the hungry would be robbers left no marks of a further attempt.

MANY SKINS HAVE BEEN PURCHASED

By Mr. Wm. Lech & Sons—Best Skins Come From Rice Lake.

The firm of Messrs. Wm. Lech & Sons are now buying in their stock of muskrats for the season. On Saturday they bought the entire cargo of the Monarch, which numbered 2,000 skins, all coming from the Rice Lake section. They also purchased a large number of skins to-day from the same district. Their cellar is piled high with muskrat skins, all ready for the furrier.

WRIT ISSUED AGAINST THE CITY

Miss Mary Frances Brown Seeks to Secure Damages for Injuries Sustained.

A writ has been issued by Miss Mary Frances Brown through her solicitors, Messrs. Denniston, Peck & Kerr, to recover from the city of Peterborough unstated damages for injuries received by a fall last January. The accident occurred on the 27th January on Hunter street, opposite, and was due, the plaintiff alleges, to the improper construction of the pavement. If not previously settled the case will come up at the next Assizes.

MORE OLD COUNTRYMEN ARRIVE

Mr. Hewlett Gets Money That Was Sent Ahead of Him.

Another immigrant train passed through the city yesterday afternoon about 5.30 o'clock and Peterborough received its quota of the new comers. They arrived in Quebec on Sunday from the Corsican. Among those who were destined for Peterborough were Messrs. Howlett and Trowern. The former is from Birmingham, is a man of about 40 years and has been in the real estate business and is also an auctioneer. It will be remembered that a few days ago an item appeared in these columns stating that Mr. Geo. H. Howson, Government Immigrant Agent, had received the sum of $76.00 for Mr. Hewlett, to be delivered to him when he arrived in Canada. Mr. Hewlett received his money this morning.

AN ORTHOGRAPHICAL ABERRATION EXPLAINED

Why "Stony" is Sometimes Written "Stoney."

Readers of the Examiner may be mystified at the double rendering of the name "Stony," in connection with the Stoney Lake Navigation Company. The fact is that the company, as well as their boat, are both registered S-t-o-n-e-y, in the Marine Department, and this spelling although orthographically irregular, has, therefore, to be followed, whenever the name of the company or steamer is mentioned. Some persons are in the habit of writing the name of this city and county, "Peterboro," whereas the official name of the city is "Peterborough." Clipping the spelling thus is something in a line with writing J. Ceasar for Julius Caesar.

MANY QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED

Since the publication of the notice that Thursday night's astronomical meeting would be another question night, Dr. Marsh, the president of the society has received ten questions to be answered. They are as follows:

What is meant by variation of latitude?

What are Kepler's Laws?

What is meant by Equatorial Telescope, and wherein do Equatorial Telescopes differ from others?

What is meant by refraction in astronomy?

What is meant by apparent solar time, mean solar time, and equation of time?

How do astronomers calculate the time when a star will cross any given meridian?

What works of astronomy would you advise a new beginner to study?

During the recent disturbance on the sun, as evidenced by the sun spots, was there any remarkable effect noticed?

"Our Solar System" — What does it mean?

Is there any significance in the fact that during the incoming month of May the moon will occult the majority of planets?

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Membership Committee of the Y.M.C.A., composed of Messrs. C. E. Sisson, chairman; B. A. Lillie, W. D. Campbell, W. G. Shiner and Wm. McLaren, meets to-night from 7.30 to 8 o'clock to further plans for the work this season.

The Social Committee, composed of Messrs. H. W. Cooke, chairman; F. Burton, C. E. Coleman, R. P. Beal and J. A. Lillie, meets on Thursday night from 7.30 to 8.

Rev. H. J. Keith will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. next Sunday afternoon, and it is expected that a male quartette will sing. There are three Bible classes Sunday mornings at 10 o'clock, all having a good attendance. Mr. W. B. Warne teaches the Sunday school lesson, Mr. W. J. Dunlop a teachers' training class, using as a text-book Edwin F. See's "Teaching of Bible Classes," and Mr. J. C. Ellis leads a class in the study of Personal Christian Work. Any young man will find either of the studies interesting, and will be cordially welcomed.

A camp reunion will be held in the gymnasium to-night from 8 to 9.30 o'clock. A tent is in the gym., and everything will be made to look as much like camp life as possible. Among those who will speak are Dr. Middleton, Messrs. Ray Scott, Stanley Wade and Wm. McLaren. There will also be music and light refreshments. All the older boys and men are invited.

Rich, But Melancholy.

Montclair, N.J., April 28.—Miss Lillian MacLea, the 20-year-old daughter of Robert B. MacLea, the head of the R. B. MacLea Co., drygoods merchants of New York City, was found dead from gas asphyxiation in her room in her father's handsome home in Erwin Park road yesterday.

The physician, who was summoned by the family, said the young woman undoubtedly committed suicide. It is said that Miss MacLea has shown signs of melancholia of late.

School Teacher Awarded $32,500.

White Plains, N.J., April 28.—A verdict for $32,500 damages against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad and in favor of Miss Annie Mahoney, one of the passengers injured in the wreck of the Brewster Express in February of last year, was returned by a jury. Miss Mahoney sued for $100,000.

Body Found in Trunk.

Watertown, N.Y., April 28.—The body of Mrs. Patrick Brennan, aged 65, was found in a trunk at a farm house near Brownville yesterday afternoon. Indications point to murder. The coroner is investigating.

Chinaman Kills Himself.

New York, April 28.—Long Wundo, 40 years old, a Chinaman, committed suicide early yesterday by jumping from the roof of a six-storey tenement house on Eighth avenue.

Had Palpitation of The Heart

EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.

If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells; these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.

From this depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.

Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Ever since I was nine years of age I have been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Heading off a Risk

Gas is liable to puff out of the front door of any furnace unprovided for gas escape.

"Sunshine" Furnace has Automatic Gas Damper directly connected with smoke-pipe. Gas pressure sways damper sufficiently for it to escape up chimney (see illustration), but heat doesn't escape.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" Furnace? Means protection to the furnace parts against evil effects of gas.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" householder? Means furnace can be operated without fear as to "puffing" gas; furnace can be left without doubt as to whereabouts of gas.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" coal account? It means, instead of owner with "ordinary furnace" fear having to keep check-draft indefinitely closed to "let off" gas—when there's two-thirds parts of heat-energy to one part of gas passing up chimney—draft can with all safety be opened, and coal saved for another day's duty. 4

Big Crowd Attended The Walkers' Benefit Meet Last Night

The benefit meet at the Brock street rink last night, in aid of the walkers who did not finish inside the money, was attended by about 800 people, including many ladies, and the result was a gate amounting to $150, which gave all of the walkers who did not receive prizes a substantial "lift." Stenner and Fenton who are the two of those outside the money, to finish the race, received the most, but Hatton, Hartley and Slater also got a share, and $15 was added to fourth and fifth prizes, making Stevens' total $65 and Graham $51.

A good programme was put on, although the non-arrival of the greasy pig caused some disappointment.

Ray Fenton, the boy walker from Auburn, N. Y., was the first performer, and went a mile against time in an attempt on the world's record of 6.19. Fenton was lame, as the result of his walking last week, and, although he made a plucky attempt this time was slow, the mile being negotiated in 9.50.

A girls' half mile walking race was the next item on the bill of fare, and it brought out a field of five girls, who put up a lively race, although some of them forgot the heel and toe part of the walk. Annie Blodgett, 617 Downie street, who had hung behind the leaders for awhile, soon went ahead and walking straight heel and toe, wonhandily. Etta Kennedy was second and Lillian Herron third. The other two starters were Florence Cressman and Etta Murphy.

The two veterans, Dave Hartley, of Peterborough, and R. G. Hatton of Toronto, whooped it up in a 3-mile go as you please contest, that was easy for the local man, although it did not look like it on the start. Hatton went out in front on the start and set up a lead of ten yards. In the eighth lap, however, Hartley passed him, and pulled the Toronto man along at such a rapid rate that Hatton quit at the beginning of the third mile. Hartley finished up alone, and was given a great reception as he crossed the line. The first mile was done in 7 minutes and the three in a fraction over 19 minutes, pretty good going for a man of fifty-five years of age.

The next "go" on the programme was a mile walk for newspaper men, and a mart chase field faced the starter. It included Yokome and Crane, of the Review; Luman of the Times; Forson, of the Canadian Dairyman, and Hogan and Craig of the Examiner. The result of the race was a complete triumph for the Examiner, as Craig won handily, with Hogan a quarter of a lap behind, and Forson, of the Dairyman third. The two Review men and the Times representative did not finish.

On the go in Hogan, Luman and Forson took the lead, followed by Crane and Yokome, with Craig trailing for the first lap. The latter soon overhauled the leaders and in the middle of the second lap took the lead, and was never headed, lapping Luman, Crane and Yokome, the latter at the end of the last lap. Hogan was second, and Forson third, while the others did not negotiate the thirteenth lap at all.

The best race of the night was that which followed, between Charlie Stevens, of Peterborough, and Jas. G. Graham, of Ruffside, in a one mile walk, the latter winning by a couple of feet, after a most exciting sprint for the bell lap. Graham led for half the distance and then the local boy took command until the stretch was reached, when Graham spurted and won out.

Tom Slater, of Oswego, gave a speedy performance, and when he did a half-mile in 3.50, a 7.40 clip for the mile. He finished up with a great burst of speed.

Champion Hoagland was the next to give an exhibition, travelling a mile in 8.27. The crowd gave him a great reception as a farewell.

Jim Harrison, who finished third in the big race, also went a mile against time, doing the mile according to the timers, in 9 minutes, although it looked much faster.

The programme was brought to a close with what was supposed to be a three lap walk between the 57th Band and the special police. A field of about fifteen started, and the race developed into a continuation of a cross country run, steeple chase, hurry-scurry, and follow your leader. If the winners will leave their names at this office, they will be gladly published in the Examiner. The sporting editor has had a detective out all day endeavouring to find out who had won the event.

The 57th Band was present and during the evening rendered an enjoyable programme.

Both Men Are In Fine Shape For The Big Wrestling Match

Judging by the way in which ticksaare selling for the Kennedy-Hurtubise wrestling bout to-morrow night, there will be a record crowd at the Grand Opera House for the event, which is causing great excitement among the sporting fraternity. Both men are in the pink of condition, and also both are confident, the somewhat unusual conditions seeming to please them both. No hold, not even the strangle hold, is barred, and as both are exceptionally strong and fast, the crowd will see a battle of giants. The local man seems to be fancied by the majority to win, but those who have seen Kennedy have been impressed by the size and fit appearance of the German and they hinge on the hardest men ever seen in this city.

The preliminaries will bring together a number of good men, and are arousing a lot of interest. Jack Crough and J. Wilson are both in shape for their bout, at 145 pounds, and Bobby Long and Crowe are well matched and should put up a hard contest in their match. Corney Burns and Nobby Grover will box three rounds, and as both are fast and clever, a lively set-to may be looked for.

Joe Dwyer, of Lindsay, will referee the principal bout.

HOW HANS WAGNER WAS "FOUND"

Pittsburg Star Started Out on $90 a Month Salary.

Ed. Barrow, ex-manager of the Detroit Tigers, and of Toronto, Paterson and other minor league teams, was the first man to bring Hans Wagner into prominence when he signed the Flying Dutchman for the Paterson club in 1895.

"I owed it to the good judgment of a Pittsburg friend that I secured Hans Wagner for the Paterson club thirteen years ago," says Barrow. "Charley McKee and I had bought the franchises, and we were looking for players. I met my Pittsburg friend, and he said to me:

"I'll tell you where you can get a fellow, who, if given the chance, will in a few years be the greatest ball player in the world. His name is Wagner—Hans Wagner, they call him—and he lives down here in Mansfield (now Carnegie.) Take my advice and get him." I had seen this young Wagner in the old Iron and Oil League the previous summer, but his playing had not attracted much attention. However, I decided to follow my friend's advice, and the next day found Wagner.

"Inquiry at a little poolroom in the town elicited the information that Wagner had gone down to the railway to have a long-distance throwing contest. I started down the track and soon came upon Wagner and his playmates. Sure enough, they were trying to settle between themselves the dispute as to which one could throw a heavy rock the greatest distance. Wagner won, and after congratulating him I told him the object of my visit. Before I started back to Pittsburg I had Wagner's signature to a Paterson club contract. It called for $90 per month."

WHAT WINNER OF RACE RECEIVED

Hoagland's Share of the Gate Was $447.12—Total Receipts $788.84.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, manager of the Royal Bank, who acted as the representative of the walkers and took charge of their share of the gate receipts, yesterday paid the five winners the percentage coming to them on Saturday night. The total gate receipts were $1,788.84, and the walkers' share $894.42, divided as follows:

Hoagland, $447.21.
Blake, $223.60.
Harrison, $134.16.
Stevens, $53.66.
Graham, $35.79.

Hoagland's share amounted to more than he received in Kansas City and Trenton combined, while the gate on Saturday amounted to as much as was taken in altogether in Kansas City,

BASEBALL AS PLAYED IN ITS INFANCY

Rules Propounded by Chadwick, the Father of Baseball, Years Ago.

WHEN BASES WERE ACES

The late Henry Chadwick, known as "the father of baseball," became interested in the game as far back as 1845, and for more than half a century was identified with its improvement. The first game in which he played was at Hoboken, N. J., in 1845. The first regular club in New York city, the Knickerbockers, was organized in that year. Some six years went by before the club was really successful. In 1854 Harry Wright joined it and began his remarkable career on the diamond. In those days the first nine scoring twenty-one "aces" or runs, won the game, regardless of the number of innings. Previous to the days of the Knickerbocker club, the rule of play, in reference to putting a player out with the ball, was to throw it at him; but one or two severe accidents occurred from the practice of this plan, and the rules were changed to those placing men on each base, and making it requisite for a player to be touched by a ball while in the hands of an adversary. This latter rule was the first innovation on the primitive rules of the game familiar to every schoolboy in the Eastern and Middle States. Mr. Chadwick once gave the following as the first regular rules of baseball, of which there is any record. They were adopted by the Knickerbockers in 1845 and were used up to the first convention of baseball players in 1858:

1. The base shall be from "home" to second base 42 paces; from first to third base 42 paces equidistant.

2. The game to consist of 21 counts or aces, but at the conclusion on equal number of hands must be played.

3. The ball must be pitched and not thrown for the bat.

4. A ball knocked outside the range of the first or third base is a foul.

5. Three balls being struck at and missed, and the last one caught, is a hand out; if not caught, is considered fair, and the striker is bound to run.

6. A ball being struck or tipped, and caught either flying or on the first bound, is a hand out.

7. A player running the bases, shall be out, if the ball is in the hands of an adversary on the base, or the runner is touched by it before he makes the base—it being understood, however, that in no instance is a ball to be thrown at him.

8. A player running, who shall prevent an adversary from catching or getting the ball before making his base, is a hand out.

9. If two hands are already out, a player running home at the time a ball is struck, cannot make an ace if the striker is caught out.

10. Three hands out, all out.

11. Players must take their strike in regular turn.

12. No ace or base can be made on a foul strike.

13. A runner cannot be put out in making one base, when a balk is made by the pitcher.

14. But one base allowed when the ball bounds out of the field when struck.

In the days of the Knickerbockers the ball played with was ten inches in circumference, weighed six ounces, and was composed of two and one-half ounces of rubber covered with yarn and cowhide.—Rochester Post.

COLLECT FIFTY CENTS AND WALK FOR IT

Some Fast Juvenile "Peds" on King Street—Take Four-Hour Jaunts.

A boy is only famous in Peterborough now when he can do some spectacular walking stunts. Boys in all parts of the city are instituting contests and going in for 4 and 6 hour jaunts and some show remarkable ability.

During Easter week these juveniles begun a competition on King street, collected 50 cents per day and divided the money among the winners. These walks still take place almost every evening, so that by the time for the autumn meet in Peterborough, there should be some able youths ready for a boys competition.

Walking

It is stated that W. A. Hoagland, the winner of the six-day grind, will try the feat of walking from Port Hope to Toronto and return in 33 hours, provided Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope fails to accomplish it on June 15.

Ald. Morgan and McIntyre had a lively race at Brock street rink on Saturday night after the big grind was over. Honours were even.

Uses It Every Spring

Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

SPRING MEDICINE

Purifies the Blood

Mrs. Geo. Mason, Apohaqui, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and it is a splendid spring medicine. It purifies the blood and is the greatest remedy in the world for pimples and boils."

Try as you may it is next to impossible to escape so-called "Spring Fever." You get that Weary, Tired, Listless, Worn-out, Don't-Care-to-Work Feeling: What is needed is to clean out the system and make the blood pure? The cleansing, blood-purifying action of

whereby it eliminates all the pent-up poison from the system, starts the sluggish liver working, acts on the kidneys and the bowels and renders it without exception

That Tired Feeling

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it is an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of the year."

The Best Spring Medicine

Indigestion in Spring

Miss B Bradley, Hamilton Ont., writes: "Last spring I used three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, as I had indigestion and very thin blood, I tried everything before taking the B.B.B. which I think is an excellent spring tonic."

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

A full meeting of the executive of the Athletic Baseball Club is called for to-night at Molsonough's, at 8.30 o'clock.

• • • •

A meeting of the Lakeview Baseball Club was held last night for the purpose of organising. Mr. Jos. Dwyer was elected president, and Lorne Campbell, secretary-treasurer.

• • • •

A meeting of the Executive of the City Intermediate Baseball League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. to-night, at 8 o'clock. The Y.M.C.A. intend entering a team and will replace the Grafters, who have announced their retirement. This leaves eight teams still in the league and everything promises an interesting series of games. It is likely that the certificates will be given out to-night, but, of course, the entry fee of $2 and guarantee of another $2 will have to be first received.

• • • •

It was reported to-day that the Grafters had dropped out of the City Intermediate League. Harvey Staunton was seen in regard to the rumour, and he substantiated it.

• • • •

A Hiking Club has been formed at the Y.M.C.A. and is open to all senior men and older boys. The first tramp will be held next Saturday afternoon to Chemong and return, weather permitting. All who wish to connect with this club will find a list at the secretary's desk.

• • • •

The baseball club that will represent the young men of St. Peter's T. A. S. in the City League was organized on Saturday night. The officers elected are:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Pres.—T. J. Begley.
Vice-Pres.—John O'Brien.
Sec.-Treas.—V. Corkery.
Manager—Leo Derocher.

The executive will be chosen at a later date.

MANVERS YOUTH LOST AN EYE

Now in Nicholls Hospital—Was Kicked By a Horse.

Yesterday, a boy named Willie Layfield, was brought to the Nicholls Hospital from Manvers, accompanied by Dr. Turner, of Millbrook. It appears that the boy had been playing about a horse on the farm and was kicked on the head by the animal. On arrival his head was bandaged up and things looked serious. At the hospital the patient was attended by Dr. J Malcolm McCulloch, and after a careful diagnosis of the case had been made, he decided that one of the boy's eyes owing to his injury, would have to be removed. This operation at which Dr. Turner assisted, was successfully performed. The last communication received from the hospital announced the pleasing intelligence that the lad is progressing as well as could be expected.

DANGER FOR CANOEISTS AT THE LOCKS

Possibility of Being Taken Over the Dam By The Swift Current.

Canoeists are reminded that at the present season of the year it is dangerous to take any risks above the dam at the Locks Bridge. On account of the unusual amount of snow in th enorthern woods this winter the water is higher than usual, and stoplogs are taken out at the dam below the bridge. The current is very strong therefore, and to avoid danger it might be better for canoeists to wait until the water is nearly its normal height to take their jaunts down the Otonabee. It is also dangerous below the rollers of the slide on account of the swift back current.

INDIANS WOULD LIKE A LEASE

Believe They Could Get Lease of Muskrat Grounds.

Owing to the large profits the Indians have realized from their catch of muskrats at Rice Lake, some of them are eager to secure an outright lease of the most desirable parts. From Campbelltown to the mouth of the river is one of the best grounds near the Lake, and some of the Indians are of the opinion that they could receive a lease which would give them sole right to catch rats on this portion.

SPRING

We've sped the parting guest, "Winter" and we turn to make our bow to Spring, embodying among other new things the latest evolution of Men's suit styles — this year we've struck out and away from the beaten track and have distanced all our past accomplishments---all lines making up the new spring styles, combine to spell "GRACE", —no angular corners; instead they're softly rounded, the lapels sweep gracefully down over the chest, while the question of button arrangement is answered in a variety of ways.

From now on we'll present from time to time the proper styles for Men, which it will pay you to look over Sir, if you're at all interested in nobby clothes. SEE OUR WINDOW

FISH ARE PLENTIFUL IN RICE LAKE

According to the Reports From the Indians From That Vicinity.

The Indians from Rice Lake are promising a good fishing season at that place. One of them was in the city yesterday with muskrat pelts, and said the open season had seen some good catches. Last year saw many fine specimens of the finny tribe taken from the lower part of the Otonabee River and Rice Lake, and with the growing popularity of this water, each succeeding year should see a larger number of campers and fishermen in its locality. One of the delights of the lake is its excellent fishing beds of bunge, and anything that promises more fish is good news. However, after June 15 the anglers will have an idea of what is doing, and the stories will be again manufactured.

UNFORTUNATE

The cleanest and most careful of housewives are often afflicted with the trouble and discomfort of Bed Bugs. The thing to do when they are discovered is not to waste a minute, but procure a good, reliable poison and go at them.

NUGENT'S BED BUG POISON

is a liquid which chases the pests out of every crack and place where they can possibly hide and carries destruction with it. It is, of course, a strong and violent poison and its work of ridding the premises is sure and swift. It is an article that should be in every house at all times, in case of emergency, so that valuable time may not be wasted.

Olympic Trial Matches In Clay Bird Shooting

To Take Place in Toronto in May —Those Who Will Qualify For The Team.

AN IMPORTANT SELECTION

The committee who have charge of the Olympic trial matches in clay bird shooting, to be held at the Exhibition Grounds, Toronto, on May 20, 21 and 22, report that they will shortly have their programme ready for distribution, and that it will be the most attractive cash inducement ever offered to shooting enthusiasts in Canada.

The events have all been made in cash, so that those who wish to try and qualify will be able to get back a great portion, if not all, of the heavy expenses they are put to, in shooting through the programme. There will be fifteen high average prizes for the last day, also fifteen high average prizes for the second day, with fifteen high average prizes for those who shoot through both days.

In order to make the selection thorough and impartial, the fifteen high guns from each of the first two days will shoot off on the third day for positions on the team, when there will be no entrance fee, and birds free. As an extra inducement to get those who qualify to go to England, the management of the shoot will add the net profits on the birds to whatever expense money the General Committee allow.

The committee realize that the expenses of the shooters are very heavy, but as Canada's honour is at stake, they would urge one and all to turn out and make the shoot a success, and if they are fortunate enough to qualify for the team, to leave no stone unturned to go.

The Regiment Held Their Weekly Drill Last Night

Turn Out Not as Large as Usual—Splendid Drill Held—Commanding Officer Thanked Garrison for Splendid Turn Out at the Laying of Corner Stone.

ORDERS FOR THE WEEK

The 57th Regiment held their weekly drill in the Armouries last night. The attendance was not as large as usual, but a splendid drill was held. Several of the companies held company drill in the park, and on the whole, a good showing was made. The signal corps had an excellent practice, and are becoming very efficient in their work.

The regiment turned out 179 strong, divided among the companies as follows:

A. Company	20
B Company	17
C Company	20
D Company	17
E Company	13
F Company	20
G Company	28
H Company	19
Field officers	2
Staff officers	2
Staff sergeants	4
Signal corps	8
Stretcher bearers	9
Total strength	179

The orders for the week were read as follows:

Headquarters, Peterborough, (April 28th, 1908.

Orders by Commanding Officer of 57th Regiment of Peterborough Rangers.

1. Detail of duty for the week ending May 5th. Capt. for the week, Capt. McWilliams; next for duty, Capt. McLean. Subaltern for the week, Lieut. Comstock; next for duty Lieut. J. D. Clarke.

2. The Commanding Officer desires to express his sincere gratitude to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Peterborough Garrison for the enthusiastic manner in which they assisted in making a great success of laying the corner stone of the new Armouries, on 22nd instant.

3. Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Lieut. J. D. Clark and G. P. Cameron.

4. The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following appointments and promotions. A company, to be Sergeant Corporal, Watson. E Company, to be sergeant, Sergt. Morrison, of A Company.

5. Officers commanding corps are reminded that hereafter company roll books must be handed tinto the orderly room at 8.15 sharp, at each drill.

G. W. BENNETT, Major,
Acting Adjutant.

WOMAN BLUFFS THIEF OUT OF HOUSE

Intruder Was Surprised But Polite to Last Degree—Woman Faked the Bull Dog Game.

WAS ALONE IN THE HOUSE

Chicago, April 29. — (Special.) — For self-possession, ability to bluff, some might term it, Mrs. Joseph F. Kelly, of No. 1365 Sheridan road, as a model is commended to the general public.

Mrs. Kelley was reading in the parlour, when she heard a noise at the front door. Opening an inner door she found herself face to face with a burglar, who was busily at work with a jimmy, attempting to pry off the casing in an effort to get at the lock.

"Good evening, madam," said the burglar, putting his jimmy in his pocket and raising his hat. "I am the agent of a new laundry, and I have called to solicit your patronage."

"You are nothing of the kind," returned Mrs. Kelley. "You are a burglar, and if you don't get out I will call my husband and our two bulldogs."

"Oh, well," said the burglar, with a parting bow, "if you feel that way about it I'll go."

And he went.

"If that burglar had refused to go, I don't know what I should have done," said Mrs. Kelley, after she had notified the Town Hall police. "I was alone in the house. I have no bulldogs, and my husband was down town."

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

30 RECRUITS JOIN THE REGIMENT

Twenty Men Were Rejected as Being Under the Standard—Regiment Will be Good This Year.

OFFICERS ARE PLEASED

The officers of the 57th Regiment are more careful this year about the men they take into the regiment than they ever were before. The recruits are required to undergo a thorough medical examination, and must pass the standard height and chest measurement before they can don the scarlet uniform. Last night after they had been put through the evening drill and given uniforms, some fifty men were ushered into the orderly room for the examination. Twenty of these were found to be below the standard and were sent back to the companies' armouries, while the others were accepted and duly enrolled. Every drill night the regiment has several new recruits to add to its strength, and the officers believe the regiment will be better this year than it has been for many years.

WOMAN WAS FASCINATED WITH THE WALK

Remained for Three Hours at the Rink —Time Was Extended.

Peterborough people will not forget for many days the great pedestrian contest of last week. Men and women were fascinated with the walk, as a story told of the visit of a farmer and his wife from a rural district, will indicate. They drove into the city on Saturday, and before leaving the farmer was very desirous of seeing the "peds" perform. With difficulty he persuaded his wife to attend for "just half an hour." The half hour ended the farmer, true to his word, was prepared to depart, But it was actually three hours before he could induce his wife to accompany him.

SUCCESSOR to FROST

Two Rings

By EPES W. SARGENT.

Copyrighted, 1908, by the Associated Literary Press.

Bert Burnside regarded the little pile of silver laid out upon the table before him. There were two dollars Mexican, an American coin of the same denomination and double the value, two Mexican halves and some copper coins. His board was paid until the end of the week at the obscure hotel to which he had removed when his funds gave out. After the week was ended there was a tramp of more than 2,000 miles home and this must be his capital.

Bert had come down to old Mexico to look up some mines in which his father was interested. It was his first important commission, and he had been proud indeed when he had perceived the clever manner in which the mines had been salted. He had reported the fact back home; then, still having plenty of funds, he had remained on in the quaint old country until he had met the little knot of good fellows at the Hotel Rio Grande.

That they fleeced him of every cent he possessed in revenge for his discovery of the salting of the mines was something that Bert did not know. He only knew that he had been so foolish as to play cards with acquaintances of a week and that it had served him right to be stripped of all his possessions.

Alvarez, one of the band, had felt some pity for the victim and had tossed him a ten dollar gold piece as the session broke up. Bert had made certain of board and meals for a week at a less expensive hotel and then began to plan to get back to the states.

He knew better than to write asking his father for assistance. It would only aggravate his offense that he had sought help to extricate himself from his dilemma. Daniel Burnside was of the self made ranks, and it was his theory that it was well for youth to take the bull by the horns. Bert was too familiar with the favorite quotation to wire for money.

He did write Jessie Picard, the daughter of his father's partner, and confessed freely his foolishness. To his father he wrote only that he would not be home as soon as he anticipated, and he could see with his mental vision the grim smile that would play about the old man's mouth as he read the bald statement and guessed the rest. He would not care about the loss of the money so long as Bert showed skill in getting out of the scrape unaided.

In the long run the incident might be to his advantage. Both his father and Henry Picard were of the opinion that the young people should wait at least five years before being married. If Bert should prove his ability to take care of himself it might shorten the period of probation.

With a shrug of his shoulders he dropped the coins back into his pocket and descended to the lobby of the hotel, a greasy and smoke stained apartment which had been the parlor of a private residence before the quarter fell into disrepute and the fine old mansions were turned over to commerce.

A new bill on the dingy wall attracted his attention. Several men were gathered about it, discussing the announcement in animated tones. There had been a bullfight the previous Sunday at which a new matadore had gained especial favor, and the bill announced his retention for a second Sunday.

Bert half turned away. He could not afford the dollar charged for the grand stand or even the lesser price for that part of the stand not shielded from the sun. Then an announcement near the bottom of the bill caught his eye.

Beneath the announcement that four black bulls from Tayagua would be fought to the "learn" and that Corcita Chico would receive the charge of the bull kneeling came the lines:

"A fifth bull for the volunteers, with $20 on his horns, will be turned into the ring. The manager refuses to be responsible for any injuries to amateurs."

"Rather dangerous," he suggested to one of the bystanders. The Mexican shrugged his shoulders.

"Not so much as is supposed, senor," he denied. "The fifth bull be is what you call—more polite."

"Gentle?" suggested Bert. The Mexican nodded.

"Even so," he agreed. "The bull he is more a gentleman. He is not minded to be so wild. Horses? They are cheap, but even amateurs—it is not to kill, but to laugh at their awkward."

Bert nodded understandingly. He was not unfamiliar with the "amateur nights" in the vaudeville theaters. This, no doubt, was the Mexican equivalent. This pet phrase of his father's kept ringing in his ears: "Take the bull by the horns."

And so it fell out that when Corcita Chico had received the charge of the fourth bull lightly poised upon one knee and the dead bull had been dragged from the ring the arena was turned over to a score of young Mexicans—and Bert.

At the trumpet's blare the gate was opened and a fifth bull bounded into the ring. Like his predecessor, he was a black bull from Tayagua, but he was not a fighter. Twice on other days he had been sent into the ring, to be hissed out again because he provided such tame sport against the trained fighters, but he was lively enough for the amateurs and was less likely to inflict serious injury.

Corcita's staff lounged about the arena with their capes over their arms ready to rush in and distract the attention of the bull from a prostrate amateur, but most of the young men were nimble of foot and sprang lightly aside when the bull turned to charge, in emulation of the professional fighters. The awkward few provided the fun in their clumsy actions.

But though the amateurs stretched forth their hands to grasp the beribboned purses which hung on either horn of the bull, each containing a five dollar gold piece, they were not nimble enough to reach the prize.

Bert had been a famous athlete in his college days, and those days were not so far distant that his skill had left him. With a red cloth he attracted the attention of the bull, and as the bewildered animal rushed at him he half turned as he leaped aside. Several times he repeated the maneuver before he could reach over and grasp the horns, but at last he succeeded in getting a grip on the wicked looking shaft, and, while the frightened animal tore madly around the arena, he held on with one hand while with the other he removed the four purses.

The other amateurs closed in upon him, declaring it to be unfair for one man to take all the prizes, but the audience was with the plucky American, and the manager, wisely siding with his public, gained additional favor by announcing that two more purses would be put up with the American barred from the contest.

He escorted Bert from the ring, while the other amateurs waited for the bull to be sent back. The attendants had already coaxed him into the ring and there would not be long to wait.

Bert, hurrying through the corridor at the rear of the pen, did not notice a group of people at the entrance until a hand fell upon his shoulder, and he looked up into his father's eyes.

"It was a great deed, my boy," came in sincere praise. "Jessie told us of your straits, and Henry and I came down to look you up. I guess you didn't need help as much as we thought you would. We saw the fight and how cleverly you won out. Come back to the hotel with us and we'll tell Jessie all about it. She came along with us."

"And I guess you might as well make it up with her," put in Henry Picard. "You know how to take care of yourself and a wife too."

"I was taking father's advice," explained Bert laughingly. "He is forever telling a fellow to take the bull by the horns."

"I didn't mean it to be taken so literally," denied the elder Burnside, "but it was good advice even at that, since it brings you a wife. You can have the ring made out of one of those coins."

Bert looked at the four coins he still held in his hand.

"If the romancers are to be believed," he said laughingly, "from the bull ring to the wedding ring is not such an unusual happening after all."

"Will we never drop miles for kilometers?" said a mathematician. "Miles are very confusing. A kilometer the world over is a kilometer, but a mile in America is 1,700 yards, while in Sweden it is 11,703 yards, and in China it is 629 yards. The Bohemians go in for a long mile. So do the Danes, the Hungarians, the Poles and the Swiss. If you walk three miles a day among these people, you have done pretty well. You have covered about fifteen of your own miles.

"There are, in fact, thirty-seven kinds of miles. It would take eighteen of the shortest to equal one of the longest. The rest vary in size between those two extremes.—New York Press.

There is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

This woman was ill, blue, and discouraged. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. R. Gentleman, 1093 St. James Street, Montreal, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered from a severe female weakness, and extreme nervousness, and was blue and utterly discouraged.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking several bottles, I am not only cured, but am an entirely different woman, and on the whole a healthier woman than before taking your valuable medicine.

"Every woman who suffers from any form of female ills should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

HARBOR BUOYS.

Their Different Colors Serve as Guides to the Mariner.

If you examine the buoys on entering any harbor in the world, you will find that those on your right are painted red and those on your left black. If you should see one painted in red and black horizontal bands, the ship should run as close to it as possible, because that indicates the center of a narrow channel. Buoys with red and black vertical stripes always mark the end of spits and the outer and inner ends of extensive reefs where there is a channel on each side. When red and black checkers are painted on a buoy it marks either a rock in the open sea or an obstruction in the harbor of small extent, with channel all round. If there are two such obstructions and a channel between them, the buoy on the right of you will have red and white checkers and the one on your left will have black and white checkers. When a wreck obstructs the channel, a green buoy will be placed on the sea side of the wreck, with the "Wreck" plainly painted on it in white letters, provided there is a clear channel all around it; otherwise an even number will be painted in white above the word "Wreck" when the buoy is on the right side of the channel and an odd number if the buoy is on the left.

TRICKY JAIL BIRDS.

Many Ways the Convicts Have of Feigning Sickness.

"Hear the song of the dear little jail birds," said the jailer as a burst of ribald melody came down the gray corridor. "The dear little jail birds!" He shook his head and sighed.

"They are all playing sick in that ward," he resumed. "There's nobody can malinger like a jail bird. His tricks are amazing.

"To fake a fever he will whiten his tongue with chalk, flush his cheeks with a red flannel undershirt and disorder his stomach by swallowing a quid of tobacco.

"To fake consumption he will cut his gums so as to spit blood and go through a terrific kind of Swedish movement in bed so as to produce night sweats.

"Some jail birds have brought on nettle rash by temporarily poisoning themselves with smuggled crab or lobster. Some chew soap so as to froth at the mouth in fake fits. Some even thrust needles down to the lids of the eye to bring on cataract."—Minneapolis Journal.

A Bank of the Year 600 B. C.

The very earliest banking firm of which there is any record was that of Egibi & Sons, an institution which carried on advance, exchange and general financial business in Babylon in the year 600 B. C. Knowledge of this firm is obtained from certain records on clay tablets which have been found in recent excavations made by a party of English and French archaeologists near the site of the ancient city above mentioned. Bills of credit, drafts, etc., in the form of small burnt clay tablets, each bearing the characteristic signature of Egibi & Sons, have been found in many other parts of Asia Minor, and it is believed that close study will prove that some of the clay tablets found in tombs and pyramids in Egypt will finally prove to be Egibi "negotiable notes."

The Vienna woman is called the best dressed woman in the world, and she well deserves her title. She is more French in attire than the Parisian, and she is more elegant than the Russian. She combines the usefulness of the English with the delicacy of the Spanish. Yet she is a school of her own in dress; she is original to the last detail. To be thoroughly Viennese in dress is the dream of the well gowned European woman.

CANADA'S FUTURE CITIZENS.

Fitness and Character Should Be Insisted Upon For Immigrants.

Immigration is becoming an interesting question to all our people. The future character of our citizens depends, in great degree, upon the sifting processes we carry out with respect to the people who come to us from other lands. There have been several debates on the subject in the House of Commons this session, but Mr. Monk offered wise suggestions in this connection.

We do not need development so urgently that we should be willing to take the flotsam and jetsam of human life in older civilizations—people who belong to the submerged tenth, and from whom little of worth or effort, or character, can be expected.

And the bonus system is certainly, as Mr. Monk said, liable to great abuse. The agent on the other side chiefly desires his commission, which, in certain cases, amounts to $12 per head. This is a temptation to supply numbers, if not character. Moral considerations are not entertained. Fitness, intelligence, character,—these essentials are not sought for.

The increase of crime in large centres of population in our Dominion testify to the fact that we are receiving from Europe those whose ideals of life are of the lowest—men who have been brought up under the most unfavorable conditions, and whose lives express the lawlessness and hopeless ness of physical and moral environment in other lands.

Mr. Monk drew a picture of the swamping of our Canadian people by the inrush of foreign millions, expressing, in their conduct and lives, the crudest civilization. In this there was, doubtless, fancy, but, at the same time, not a little of sinister possibility.

Where you have alien majorities expressing their own low ideals, there is certainly a danger of small, but wholesome, groups being overwhelmed. Large segregated groups are a menace in the Northwest. The character of our future citizenship is the most important question before the people to-day. That it may be maintained on a high plane of thought and feeling and conduct, the utmost care is needed in the selection of our immigrants, and in the first place, while it becomes an imperative duty to so emphasize our national institutions, our common schools, our speech, our ideals of life, so that almost immediately upon arriving, conformity to the Canadian model will be recognized as a primary duty.—Montreal Standard.

"BLUENOSES" OF NOVA SCOTIA.

An Odd Name, the Origin of Which Cannot Be Explained.

Those who dwell in the province of Nova Scotia are called bluenoses. The name has stuck to them since time out of mind, but how they came to get it is a matter of conjecture. One thing is certain—they don't like it.

Nova Scotians pride themselves on their English ancestry, and some will offer the suggestion that the name is a token that the blue blood shows. When the French were driven out of Acadia the fertile lands they vacated were taken up by English colonists, chiefly from Massachusetts.

The spirit of revolt was strong then in Boston and elsewhere in New England. Those who were loyal to the King and taxes found it a good opportunity to move, and from these loyalists Acadia was largely repeopled.

It may be that the blue blood shows and that the name is a badge of honor, but most Nova Scotians don't believe it, for they feel that it is a term of reproach.

"Why bluenose?" was the question put to one young woman whose home isn't far from Nova Scotia.

"Why, after the bluenose potatoes, of course," she said, "and I think it's mean to name people after potatoes."

Now, it's true that next to apples potatoes form the greatest product of the rich Nova Scotian soil. And it's also true that the bluenose is the bright particular star among the varieties of potatoes they raise in Nova Scotia.

But the potatoes were named for the people, not the people for the potatoes. It's a simple question of chronology.

You explain it carefully to the young woman and she says, "How silly of me!" but you can see with half an eye that you haven't convinced her.

The Negro In Canada.

"There is a colony of colored people in our city numbering about 1,000 souls," said William T. McPhail of Toronto, Canada.

"Not so many years ago our black population was considerably larger, but it has been losing in numbers by reason of the emigration of the younger element to the States. I do not think that Canada, generally speaking, is a desirable country for Afro-Americans; perhaps it is too far north; anyway, but few of them are coming to the Dominion. The negroes of Toronto, however, are a respectable and respected element. They do not live in the slum section, but have good homes in the better residence districts. They are well-behaved, and it is a rare thing for one of them to get in the Police Court. The men conduct barber shops that are liberally patronized. Some are Pullman porters, and a few years ago quite a number were bellboys in the hotels. The women are employed as domestic servants and are gladly hired by the best families.

"I should say that even with this small representation there is considerable racial prejudice, and the negro in our community has a great handicap in his efforts to rise. With us the colored boy has no chance to learn a trade, and nearly all avenues of employment are shut against him. Social discrimination is just as acute as it is in the United States, and our theatres do all they can to discourage colored patronage."—Baltimore American.

DUTY OF CITIZENSHIP.

The First Claim Upon Every Honorable Man.

"It is the duty, the obligation, of every citizen in a democratic country to render his bit of service in the task of ascertaining, formulating and applying the fundamental laws, social as well as individual," declared Mr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Toronto Globe, in a recent address on "Public Opinion and Public Life."

"The democratic background gives a new meaning and high significance to citizenship in this country," said Mr. Macdonald, "and makes the duty of citizenship the first claim upon every honorable man. And that duty cannot be done by proxy. Under democracy the seat of authority is the will of the people. Behind all decrees is the authority and sanction of public opinion.

"The multitude of the people take little or no interest in public affairs. They do not read, even though they may vote. They are so absorbed in pleasure or business as to have no time for public service. There are those, who have the talent and who might find the time, who affect to regard municipal affairs as beneath their notice and general politics as too vulgar for their touch. Snobs of that ilk are only a little more contemptible than the cagerest grafter in the world. Of the same type is the man who plays at politics to serve his selfish purposes. The indifference of the many gives opportunity to the grafter and the corporation of grafters whose interest is to chloroform public opinion while they secure franchises they ought not to hold and lobby legislation that invades public rights.

"Nothing could be more damaging to public opinion or more corroding in national life than the decline of enthusiasm for things worth while, the sneering and cynical distrust of self-sacrifice and public service. There are those who scent a sinister purpose in all benevolence and who smile at the suggestion of real public interest as a motive of private action. Out of that spirit of distrust of all human unselfishness nothing worth while ever comes, either to the individual or to the nation.

"Democracy cannot live without its schools, colleges, and universities. Education is its very life. The institutions of learning in a democratic country should be so organized and so administered as to serve very directly the interests of a wholesome public opinion. The press is the university of the common people. It is in its highest and truest form the interpreter of life and a guide to public opinion. A free press, a press pledged first to the country's good and loyal first to the ethical obligation, will stand as the last citadel of the people's rights and the first hope of the new democracy."

EXPORT OF PULPWOOD.

Prohibition Canada's Best Policy, Says Paper Manufacturers.

The absolute prohibition of the exportation of pulpwood from Canada was the line of policy determined on at a recent meeting of Canadian pulp and paper makers in Montreal. These manufacturers are members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and came together for the purpose of deciding on a definite line of action in view of recent developments in the United States, whereby it seems likely that the United States Government will remove the duty on pulp.

The effect of such a move on the Canadian industry was discussed, and it was debated whether or not it would be advisable in that event to give up the fight for the prohibition of pulpwood exportation, which the pulp and paper section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has been carrying on for some time past. The result of the discussion was the unanimous resolution that the Dominion Government be requested to prohibit the exportation of pulpwood from the country.

It was held that this policy would do far more than any other for the preservation of Canadian forests and the upbuilding of Canadian industry.

A further resolution passed unanimously was to the effect that the association should request the Dominion Government to appoint a commission to enquire into the water powers and timber limits of the Dominion, and the effects of the prohibition of pulpwood exportation on the manufacture of pulp and paper.

Indians Yield Rich Limits.

The immensely valuable pine forests of French River district, which up to the present have been protected from the axe of lumbermen by the determination of Indians not to part with their heritage, have been surrendered to the Dominion Government. Officials will be sent to the district at once to estimate the limits, prior to auctioning off the timber, the proceeds of which will go to the Indians. As the pine is worth in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, this band will be wealthy from the sale, some families receiving more than $20,000.

Old Chieftain Dokis, who died about a year ago, was unalterably opposed to the sale of the timber, and urged the tribe to suffer anything rather than part with it, but the commercial spirit in the majority of the band got the upper hand and the deal, which had been under way for some time, is now consummated. Indian Agent G. P Cockburn managed the transaction and acted in the interests of the Indians.

Proved He Was Wrong.

In December, 1825, Relieff, the Russian nihilist litterateur, was condemned to death by hanging. The hangman's rope failed, and Relieff was thrown to the ground. In these circumstances a man's life is often spared even in Russia, and the Emperor was inclined to mercy. But he asked a question. "Did the condemned say anything on regaining consciousness?" "Sire," was the reply, "he said that in Russia nothing could be done properly, not even the twisting of a rope." Prove him to the contrary," answered the Muscovite ruler. And it was done.

THE HODGINS PROBE

Committee of Five Members of the House Is Named.

BORDEN WOULD EXTEND IT

Meat and Canned Food Act—Private Brand on What Others Have Canned—No Guarantee to Purchaser—One Cent Drop Letter Rate For Cities—Cigarette Legislation to be Brought Forward.

Ottawa, April 28.—In the House of Commons yesterday Claude Macdonell was informed by the Postmaster-General that a one-cent drop-letter rate for cities was under consideration.

The Minister of Militia, answering Mr. Macdonell, said the plans for the new barracks at Toronto were under consideration by the Department.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved the appointment of Messrs. Carvell, Macdonda (Pictou), Geoffrion, Lennox and Barker as a committee to investigate the charges of Major Hodgins contained in the memorandum of the chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway and papers accompanying the same.

R. L. Borden thought the resolution was hardly broad enough to cover all the charges made by Major Hodgins. What it was proposed to investigate were simply the charges specified by Chairman Parent, whereas the statements of Major Hodgins were set out in the British Columbia papers at great length.

Sir Wilfrid agreed to lay the resolution over until to-day. He said the intention was to deal with all the charges of Major Hodgins.

Mr. Brodeur introduced a bill to vest the harbor of Meaford in the town.

On the third reading of Hon. Mr. Fisher's bill to amend the meat and canned food act, Mr. Marshall (Elgin) objected to an amendment inserted at the request of Mr. MacPherson permitting the first purchaser of canned goods to put his private brand upon the can. Mr. Marshall said the canner had a reputation to maintain and was always anxious to improve his goods.

Mr. Blain, in moving the bill back to the committee to further consider this feature, pointed out that under the amendment the canner who was responsible for the quality of the goods would have no protection. A wholesaler might purchase goods from six different canners and put the same label on all. Thus there would be no guarantee to the purchaser.

Mr. Fisher thought Mr. Marshall had given his own case away when he said the canners bought the goods of other canners and put their own labels on them. Could not the wholesalers do this too?

Mr. Fisher said the name of Cross & Blackwell had been cited by Mr. Marshall as an example of the value of his label to a canner. This firm, bought Canadian salmon and other products in canned form, shipped them to England, put their own label on them and sent them all over the world as their own goods.

Mr. Blain pointed to Mr. Fisher's position last year in regard to the fruit marks act. Then the Minister wanted to put the responsibility on the packer, now he proposes to allow the packer of canned goods to escape responsibility. There was too much tinkering with this legislation.

Mr. Alcorn moved that the amendment include only fish and fish products.

The discussion was continued during the first hour after the dinner session, when Dr. Reid moved that the committee rise. This was defeated by 26 to 44. It was a straight party vote except that Dr. Sproule voted with the Government.

Mr. Bergeron raised a breeze by asking, "What about the 50,000 cans of tainted fish in Montreal?"

The Minister said he did not know anything about the details.

Dr. Reid observed that this was a remarkable confession. "Don't you think," he asked, "that you ought to know something about the case?"

The Finance Minister told the House last night in reply to Mr. Blain that the question of prohibiting the manufacturing and sale of cigarettes was engaging the attention of the Government.

"It may be that before the close of the session some legislation will be brought forward, if not altogether what my hon. friends desires, at least something approaching it on the same lines," he said.

Big Bridge Dynamited.

Fall River, Mass., April 28.—The new Bristol County steel bridge across the Taunton river was badly damaged by dynamite. The bridge is being built at a cost of $750,000, and the loss to the contractors will reach $15,000. The police investigation showed that a charge of at least 50 pounds of dynamite was placed on a granite pier and fired by a long fuse.

Montreal, April 28.—Rev. FLOATED ON THE ICE

Marvellous Stories of Rescue of Survivors at Saletta.

WOMAN'S EXTREME PERIL

Lay For Two Hours Almost Nude on Ice Floe—Children Escaped on Another Piece—Victims Now Placed at Thirty-Three—Half the Bodies Were Recovered — Two English Travelers Are Missing.

Ottawa, April 28.—Thirty-six lives were lost in the landslide disaster at the Quebec hamlet of Notre Dame de la Salette.

There were eleven in the house of Mrs. Emmanuel Lapointe. Of these eight were killed and three were rescued. As with all the other families which met death in this calamity, this family were asleep when the slide came. This house was on the west side of the Lievre river, on the same side as the slide began, and therefore the house was one of the very first to be crushed by the great rush of ice forced up by the mass of clay. It was crushed into innumerable pieces and the inmates were thrown in every direction as the structure fell.

Mrs. Camille Lapointe, Jr., when she came to herself from her dazed condition, was on a large cake of ice being forced before the rush of that mighty mass, and as it struck the river bank the cake was forced up into the lake formed by the damming of the Lievre river. The ice cake drifted into the centre of the body of water and there remained, while the victim snatched from the avalanche crouched on an ice float with only a very few night clothes on, and awaited for two hours for her rescuers to reach her. When taken from the ice she was benumbed with cold and with some difficulty was revived.

On an adjacent piece of ice were her two children, one a boy of 15 years old. On this large cake of ice was a small hay stack, and into it the two children crept, and were thus protected from the ice-cold winds until help arrived, and did not suffer so much as did their mother.

The old lady, Mrs. Emmanuel Lapointe, was 80 years of age, and is evidently under the mass of ice and clay, together with the seven grandchildren.

The entire family of Napoleon Charron are dead. The father was up the Blind river, too, and his wife and three small children were all in their home asleep when the house was struck and no one is alive to tell the story of their death.

The Desjardines Hotel was a complete wreck, and at least Mrs. Desjardines and two boys were killed.

There is a belief that as well there are dead somewhere in the hotel ruins two Enish-speaking travelers, who were staying there. There is a possibility that they left the night before for another town. Up until the present there is no word of them, and it is the general belief that they also are dead.

In the eddy just above the Maclaren mills at Buckingham yesterday a body was found, it having been washed down the twenty miles of river. The mill race is full of pieces of houses, furniture, bales of hay, wagons, fences, that have been carried down from the ill-fated village. The river is a dirty blue clay color. It has eaten its way through the landslide, and is now back in its regular channel.

"The estimated damage to the village, outside of the lives lost, is about $50,000.

"The village is situated about 20 miles north of Buckingham on the River Lievre. It lies in a hollow with high hills on every side. Through the centre of the village, which is about a quarter of a mile long, the river threads its way. At this time of the year it is very high, owing to the spring rains.

In almost less time than it takes to tell it the water had reached a level of thirty feet above the banks of the river. Then it found an outlet at the lower end of the village, and, carrying with it houses, furniture, bodies, hay, barns, fences, etc., swept relentlessly down through the hills, seeking further prey. Fourteen houses out of thirty were completely demolished.

It was all over in a few minutes, but the havoc created was terrible. It was just as though the place had been blown up by dynamite. Scarcely a stick was standing where a few minutes before had been a snug little colony of happy homes.

Poisoned by Herbs.

Montreal, April 28.—Alexander Godin, a boy of 16 years, died last night, from eating some herbs. He and two others companions went out for mint, and, becoming hungry, ate some herbs growing along the railroad track. He was immediately seized with pains in the stomach and head, and died on his way to the hospital.

Lightning Strikes Church.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., April 28.—Sunday night during a severe electrical storm the Presbyterian Church at Clifton was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of $2,000. The spire, 150 feet high, was felled to the ground and the end of the building knocked to pieces.

Paris, April 28.—M. Millies-Lacroix, the Minister of the Colonies, has been informed by cable that the Comoro Islands, in the Mozambique Channel, have been swept by a violent cyclone. The effect of the storm was especially disastrous on Great Comoro. The damage is not stated.

BURIED BEFORE DEATH.

Harrowing Scene at Recent Execution In Hayti.

New York, April 28.—The French cruiser D'Estrees is in port from Hayti, where the ship was sent at the time of the recent attempted revolution to look after French interests. The officers of the ship have many stories to tell of the revolution.

While at Port au Prince, Hayti, the D'Estrees was the haven for sight refugees, and the officers tell of the horrors of the nocturnal execution on March 15 of a group of men accused of attempting to incite a revolution a few days after President Nord Alexis had quelled a rising against his army.

There were not enough graves dug for all the persons who were shot and one prominent merchant had to sit and watch the soldiers dig his future burial place.

The bullets failed to kill him and he was jumbled into the hole, which was too small. Then the grave-diggers pushed him in with their shovels, and while they were covering him he sought to protest by moving his hands.

FIGHT FOR SCOTT ACT.

Minister Uses Boy and Beer Barrel as an Example.

Fredericton, N.B., April 28.—Excitement here is at fever heat over the election to take place next Thursday to decide whether the Scott Act shall be repealed in favor of the license law. Local ministers, with one exception, are putting up a great fight in favor of the Scott Act. Dean Schofield, however, in a sermon at the cathedral Sunday, declared he had seen more drunken men in Fredericton under the Scott Act than he ever noticed in license towns a great deal larger. He appealed to citizens to vote conscientiously, as it was not impossible that the cause of temperance could be advanced quite as much under license as under the Scott Act.

In the Methodist Church the minister had on the platform near him a boy and a beer barrel, and declared the congregation had to choose between them.

Collision at Streetsville.

Streetsville, April 28.—A rear-end collision occurred at Streetsville Junction on Saturday afternoon that caused some damage to rolling stock and some interruption to traffic, but was fortunately unattended by loss of life. A freight train stopped at the Junction to pick up cars when another freight train proceeding in the same direction overtook it and crashed into the caboose. The crew of the colliding engine jumped to safety and fortunately none of the crew of the other train happened to be in the caboose. The caboose and the freight car adjoining were demolished, and the pilot of the second engine was slightly damaged. Another flat car in the first train was thrown up in the air and fell uninjured on a car of lumber. The wrecking train from West Toronto was sent out and repairs were made. The caboose and injured freight car were so badly damaged that the wrecking crew burned them.

Charged With Arson.

Woodstock, April 28.—Fire in the Woodroofe block at an early hour Sunday morning caused $800 damage. An investigation by Chief Thompson aroused the suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin and yesterday afternoon John J. Duke, the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel barber shop, situated in the block, was arrested, charged with arson.

Duke lately purchased the shop and paid but little money on the purchase. The contents were insured for $500. Duke has been regarded as an exemplary character.

Conductor Lawton Arrested.

St. Thomas, April 28.—John Lawton, conductor of the train which collided at Tillsonburg on the Wabash, Jan. 2, and killed Engineer Walker of this city and Brakeman Cray of Windsor, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by Police Magistrate Hunt.

Lawton broke the train in two, and, it is alleged, did not protect the rear half, into which the Grand Trunk train ran with fatal results. Lawton was admitted to $1,400 bail. The preliminary hearing will take place on Thursday.

Swept Overboard.

Victoria, B.C., April 28.—While the Empress of India, which arrived yesterday afternoon, was pitching in a head sea on Saturday during a strong southeast gale, James Robertson, an able seaman, a resident of Victoria, was swept from the forecastle head and drowned. Comrades saw him swept by the side of the steamer and past the stern without being able to do anything to save him, the weather being heavy.

Work of Fire Fiend.

Nelson, April 28.—Fire yesterday morning destroyed the car barn of the municipal tramway under circumstances which look much like incendiarism. The value of the property lost is $10,000 to $15,000, fully insured.

This comes on top of the fire on Saturday, which destroyed the municipal power sub-station, completely putting the tramway system out of business for several months to come.

Defaulter Sentenced.

San Francisco, April 28.—J. Dalzell Brown, formerly manager of the California Safe Deposit & Trust Co., pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling sixty-five mortgage bonds of the Sacramento Gas & Electric Co., and was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment at San Quentin.

Three People Drowned.

Muskegon, Mich., April 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Stone and Boyd Ward were drowned in Muskegon Lake about 11 o'clock Sunday night, when their boat was overturned by the high waves. Miss Ethel Stewart clung to the boat and drifted a mile to the shore.

Solemn Service Over Body of Britain's Late Premier.

THOUSANDS LINED STREETS

Waited In Downpour to See Funeral—Large Numbers of Former Leader's Associates Present at Westminster Abbey—Prince of Wales Represented King Edward—Body Interred In Scotland.

London, April 28.—The funeral service of the Church of England was solemnized in Westminster Abbey at noon yesterday over the body of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the late Premier of Great Britain, who died April 22, in the presence of a large gathering, representing the political life of England. After the service a short procession moved from the abbey to Euston station, where a special train took the coffin to Scotland.

It was a typical gloomy London day, and a dismal rain was falling when the simple cortege made its way through the streets.

Scores of the former Premier's political associates were present, but his two predecessors in office, Mr. Balfour and Lord Rosebery, were unable to attend.

Yesterday was the first time that the funeral of a Premier or an ex-Premier has occurred from the historic residence of the British Prime Ministers in Downing street. The pall-bearers were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Duke of Fife, H. H. Asquith, the present Premier; Lord Loreburn, the Lord High Chancellor; Herbert Gladstone, Secretary of State for Home Affairs; John Morley, Secretary of State for India; Lord Tweedmouth, formerly First Lord of the Admiralty, now Lord President of the Council; the Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and Walter Long, John Sinclair and Thomas Burt, members of Parliament.

The Dean of Westminster Abbey and the clergy led the procession to the centre of the edifice, where the casket was placed upon a temporary bier. Among those who attended the service were the Prince of Wales, who represented King Edward; Baron Stum, who was present on behalf of Emperor William; Premier Clemenceau, who represented the French Government, and Whitelaw Reid, the United States Ambassador.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the coffin was taken to Euston station, proceeding at a walking pace through the densely-crowded streets.

Killed In School Yard.

Buffalo, April 28.—While a number of school children were playing in a yard of public school No. 35 yesterday morning a tall chimney on an adjoining building was blown over by a heavy gust of wind, falling in the midst of a number of pupils. William Pinzel, 14 years old, was crushed to death. Hugh Doherty, aged 16 years, received a fractured skull, and Leroy Hodges, aged 14 years, received many lacerations and is internally injured.

Only an Incident.

London, April 28.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, interviewed by The Mail, said the present setback in Canada was a mere incident. The outlook in the United States did not indicate an early recovery. Regarding the all-red line he said the Blacksod scheme was insane and he deprecated the desire for 24-knot steamers.

Farmers Should Cultivate Neat Inviting Front Yard

No class of people can so well afford to have a neat, inviting dooryard as the farmer. In the city one can't have a foot of sod or a load of dirt without paying cash for it, while the farmer has acres of it. If you want to improve the yard, first examine closely and see what is lacking. If the door stone or steps are crooked, a crow bar and a little muscle will soon fix that. It will not cost many dollars to make a wooden walk to the front gate. Or, perhaps, you have plenty of gravel. If so, don't put that down, until you have put a thick layer of ashes to keep the grass from growing into the walk.

Now, find if there are any low places. If so, fill with rich soil. The quickest way to have grass is to cut sod about one foot square with your spade, leaving three inches of dirt on it. When you want to lay this, have the dirt spaded, and all the stones removed, so it will move easily; pat down hard on the sod with the spade, and water freely every day until it begins to grow. Trim all trees and vines. If this is all done thoroughly you will have a fine yard. Don't stop this good work with the front yard, but do the same in the side and back. Where you want shade, plant trees. If you live in a climate where nut trees will grow, by all means have them.

Choose some place where you can have a hammock; make some rustic seats, and if you have small children, furnish them with a swing. Let them have a picnic some of the pleasant days, by taking what they were to have at the table, outdoors, under some shady tree. They will think it fine fun.

It is the green-clad yard, with attractive flowers, trees laden with fruits and vegetables, that make the sons and daughters cling to home, and parents.

The Importance Of Having A Suitable Silo For Corn

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

The up-to-date dairy farmer of today has a silo in which to house his corn. The amount of corn that is stacked up in fields throughout the country, however, is large. When exposed in this manner to all the storms that blow, to the mice that infest it, and to the crows that constantly hover about it, the loss sustained is great. This could be all saved had it been placed in a silo. Though fodder corn deteriorates much when exposed in the shock, it makes good feed until Christmas time. After that, the stalks become dry and hard, and owing to their woody nature, are of very little use for feed. Herein the silage has the advantage, for it is succulent and makes the best of feed throughout the winter.

Farmers that raise corn for the ear could make use of a silo for the stalks after they have taken the ears off in the fall. The corn stalks, if taken at this time, cut up and placed in a silo with plenty of water upon them, will come out in the winter time well cooked, and sweet. They will be much richer feed than when left out in the winter, exposed to all the storms that blow and the other agencies that tend to deteriorate it. If farmers would experiment with this, they would soon be convinced that I am right.

In regard to the kind of silo to build, the cement silo is the most satisfactory. Wooden ones must take second place at the present time. An up-to-date farmer would not have a wooden silo if he could procure gravel suitable for the purpose of erecting a cement one. Cement can now be had at a price that is within the reach of all. We have lots of farmers in this neighborhood that have both wooden and cement silos. They state that they would not build a wood silo again if a contractor would build one for them free of charge. The cement silo is ahead of wood in this way: the cement silo is always air tight; it is always ready; it never blows down; and it never has any spoiled silage around its edges if it is built right. The cement silo will not burn down as will the wooden ones. Therefore, you do not have to keep the cement silo insured. Looking at the question from every viewpoint, the cement silo is the best and will not cost much more than a woodfact.—W. F. McSparran, in an ad en silo.

Some Profitable Hints On Methods Of Cooking Meat

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

THERE are many ways of cooking meats, but those in ordinary everyday use are roasting, broiling, bruising, boiling and frying.

The method employed in cooking meats depends upon the cut selected. The tender meats only can be roasted or broiled, so as to be palatable, comfortably eaten and well-digested. Meats whose fibres are tough should be boiled or braised, when they will be found to be deliciously tender, and if carefully done, they will have all the juices preserved, or with a small percentage of loss.

Probably the very simplest form of cooking meat is by boiling. The piece of meat to be boiled should be well wiped with a clean, damp cloth—indeed, that is the treatment to be given to all meats, no matter how they are to be cooked, to ensure their perfect cleanliness and freedom from harmful foreign substance. Take the trouble to remember this; it is one of the useful bits of knowledge that it is well to tuck away into the memory ready for use at any time. It might come under the head of "general principles."

After the meat has been wiped, put it at once into boiling water, which has been salted, and be sure the water covers it completely. It is important that the water should be boiling when the meat is put into it, because the intense heat sears the surface at once and prevents the juices from flowing out and wasting; and when the meat is done it is moist and well flavored, as meat should be, having lost little in the process of cooking. Let the meat boil for a few minutes after putting it in the water, then set it back on the stove or range and let it simmer gently until done.

During the boiling a scum is thrown to the surface, and this should be carefully removed until the water remains clear on the top; another thing, the kettle should be kept covered, except when the cover is removed that the surface of the water may be skimmed, because the steam is of great assistance in softening the fibres of the meat; besides that, the flavor is also more perfectly preserved. It should escape into the air with the steam if it were not held by being covered.

As to the length of time that meat should boil, it depends wholly upon the weight. It takes about 20 minutes for the heat to penetrate through a piece of meat so, that it will be ready to begin to cook, and so that time doesn't count in the cooking; but reckoning from the end of the twenty minutes, twelve or fifteen minutes should be allowed for each pound. If the meat is cut thick, a longer time will be needed; but if it is thin and cut a shorter time will be found sufficient.

Braising, which is another way of cooking the tougher fibred meat, is cooking in the oven in a covered pan, smothering the meat in its own juices and having a good deal of herb seasoning in the dish with the meat. Meat thus prepared is most delicious.

Broiling is cooking directly over hot coals, and is the quickest and hottest way of cooking. The article to be cooked is subjected to such an intense heat in this process that it would be quickly burned to a crisp if the cook did not pay strict attention to it, and see that it was turned very often.

Really well-broiled meat is almost as rare as a well-cooked potato. The majority of people who undertake to broil a beef-steak or a chop think that they must do it literally. The word broil comes from the French word bruler, "to burn,"; but it also means "to sear," and that is what should be done to the meat, the surface seared—not burned, thus giving a scorched, unpleasant flavor to the meat—so that the juices shall be kept inside the meat. The quick searing has the effect of sealing the surface, and thus holding the juices. Turning it frequently so that the surface shall cook and not burn, and in this way keeping the juices flowing from side to side, but not escaping, is the way to ensure a successful broiling. Done carefully in this way, you needn't fear to offer a steak or chop to a most fastidious guest, provided that you have made a wise selection of meat, and that you serve it at once, on hot plates, from a hot platter.

To cook a beefsteak, first, wipe the slice with a clean damp cloth. Now grease the bars of the gridiron very lightly with some of the fat, bits of which you have trimmed from the edge of the slice. Have the fire clear, and broil the meat at once, not letting the gridiron out of your hands, and turning it every time you count ten. If you like your steak rare cook it about four minutes—that is, if it is from three-quarters of an inch to an inch in thickness; but give it a longer time—say three minutes longer—if you wish it well done. Serve at once on a hot platter, seasoning with salt, butter and a little pepper. If you want the dish to look very attractive, garnish the platter with sprigs of parsley or water-cress.

You will understand, if you are to serve steak for dinner, that the vegetables must all be ready for the table before you begin the broiling, and the plates heating, so that your family may have their meat at its very best. If for breakfast, have the potatoes and muffins ready. Instant service is one of the secrets of successful broiling.

Now for the word about garnishing. There is nothing prettier for a garnish than the delicate curled sprays of parsley, and this any housekeeper may have at her hand all the

To boil a leg of mutton, wipe the necessarily spent than cheerfulness? caretaking every day, this is wholly possible.

With the expenditure of a few cents in money and a few minutes of meat, remove all the fat, and when the meat is thus prepared put it into boiling, salted water. Take care not to have the water too salt, just palatably so. Be sure on this point. Of course you have weighed the leg, so as to know how long a time to give it for cooking. Allow twenty minutes garden in the summer, and in the winter transplanted into pots or inside window-boxes and brought into the house. As a growing plant, the parsley is extremely decorative, and one has it always at hand both for seasoning and garnishing. A long box of it growing in a window which has plenty of sunshine is a pretty sight, suggestive of summer. If your kitchen has a window facing to the south utilize that for your parsley box; you've no idea how cheerful it will make the room, and what is better for the room in which so much time is for the heat to penetrate the meat, then skim off whatever may have arisen to the surface, set the kettle where the water will simmer gently, and cook in this way until the meat is done, allowing twelve minutes to each pound, counting the time from the hour at which you set the kettle back for the simmering process, and have finished the skimming.

While, without doubt, the old saying, "hunger is the best sauce," remains true, good housekeepers do not on that account discard all others. Indeed, one of the lessons which the accomplished—or ambitious—cook learns is that sauces play a most important part in a successful cuisine, and that the making of them is an art, the understanding of their proper uses, a science.

One who prided herself on her correctness of detail would never think of serving boiled mutton without caper sauce. And, as it is one of the simplest in the list of sauces, we will give it here, so that when you serve your boiled mutton you have the accompanying sauce to give it the required zest.

To a cupful of boiling water in which the mutton is cooked add one teaspoonful of flour, moistened and made smooth with a little cold water, half a saltspoonful of salt, a speck of pepper and one teaspoonful of vinegar. Boil for five minutes, stirring constantly, until it is perfectly smooth, then add a tablespoonful of capers, and serve.

Suitable Soil Is Needed For Growing Of Alsike Clover

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

In the growing of alsike clover for seed it is necessary to have a suitable soil. The best results are to be obtained from a good heavy clay loam, in a fairly rich condition. The soil should not be too rich, as there is a great probability, in a good year, on strong land, of it producing too heavy a growth of straw. It will then lodge early in the season, and a lot of it may rot at the bottom. In such cases it will not fill well. The land should be naturally, or artificially, well drained, as alsike, like all kinds of clover, is liable to heave with the spring frosts when there is much water in the soil.

The field must be free, or nearly so, from false flax, sorrel, common dock and timothy. These are the only bad things that I have to contend with in growing alsike. Have the land plowed late in the fall. Then just as soon as the soil gets in a good condition in the spring, work it up to a fine tilth. When all is ready, I drill it with a mixture of 2 bushels oats and barley per acre. If the land is extra strong a little less of the mixture will suffice. This gives the clover a little chance for light and air. Be sure to use only perfectly clean seed. Sow in front of the drill tubes, at the rate of about 4 pounds an acre. I sow with a mixture of oats and barley, as that is the only spring grain we grow. Barley would be a better grain to seed with, if one were growing that grain. By seeding with spring grain I have nearly overcome the flax nuisance. Never seed with fall wheat if there is any false flax in the land. If there is flax in the field, I go over the area carefully, and pull or cut out all that can be seen, at the same time, taking out all dock. This work should be done again about the time thistles are in bloom. With a sickle, nip off the tips of thistles if you choose, also clip the heads off all timothy that you can find. Timothy is a seed that cannot very well be cleaned from alsike. Look sharp this time for dock and flax that may have been missed the first time. Dock seed can be cleaned out, but the flax is one thing that will stay right with the alsike.

At the harvest time, be sure not to cut too green, as is frequently done. Wait until it is well ripened, though not too ripe. When ready to cut, harvest with a good 5 ft. mower, one that will shave the ground. Start in when the clover is dry. If you have much to harvest, have three good careful men to follow and roll the clover up into small bundles, laying out the bundles carefully. Then, when the machine comes around again, it will not run over the cut swarth. With such an outfit one can handle 6 or 8 acres a day. I would not use a pea harvester or drag-table. Small bundles are preferable as they dry much quicker after a shower.

As soon as the clover gets dry, get it under cover, or in a good stack, well covered with hay, or something else that will turn water. If the crop has been handled carefully, and everything has been favorable, you may expect from 4 to 9 bushels an acre. Much is often lost by careless handling. I have been growing from 8 to 18 acres of alsike a year for the past 8 or 9 years. I have never had less than 4½ bushels an acre, but once, when a 10 acre field gave just 15 bushels. This was due to some hot weather just before it was ready to cut. At one time a 9 acre field yielded me 83 bushels of No. 1 seed, for which I got $7.20 a bushel. Last year one field of 10 acres yielded 67 bushel of No. 1 seed. I sold this for the sum of $650.

One thing I have found from experience is, one need not expect a good crop of well colored seed, unless there are lots of honey bees within close range of the clover field. This factor, and the careful handling at harvest time go a long way towards getting a full crop.

NEW LAVATORIES AT THE MARKET

Fitted Up After Many Requests From the Farmers' Wives

A decided improvement has been made to the market building by the providing a lavatory for the ladies. The farmers' wives for a long time have asked for a new lavatory, and by continually demanding it have at last gained their point. Three closets have been installed, tap basin and other accessories, making it a commodious and modern lavatory. Extra provision has been made to keep out the frost in winter, and the improvement should be appreciated by the wives of the good farmers.

Heavy Draft Horses Most Profitable For The Farmer

Heavy Horses Are Always in Demand And Can Be Disposed Of At a Good Price—How to Train The Colts.

MONEY IN THE BUSINESS

The question of the proper horse for the farm is frequently debated. Many contend that the light horse is superior, owing to its qualifications when necessary to reach its destination quickly. Others claim that the heavy horse excels because of his strength and ability to haul large implements with ease. Still others urge, and with good reason, that the horse of medium weight is to be preferred. The medium, or general purpose horse, will do a good day's work and is very serviceable on the road as well, being able to make excellent time even on bad roads, with a fair load behind him.

At the Agricultural Fairs the medium weight animal is shown as the general purpose or farm horse. It is doubtful if he is the horse that brings the most money to the farmer, and it is money that the average farmer is looking for. The light and medium weight horses frequently bring much higher prices than the draft animal. Nevertheless, the market is uncertain for this class, and a blemish will ruin them for sale. Buyers will not purchase a blemished light horse, except at a greatly reduced price. If the subject be a mare, the loss may not be so large, as it might be useful as a brood mare, although the high-class breeder would not use an unsound mare, there always being a strong tendency to perpetuate the fault in the offspring.

The heavy or draft horse has an advantage in that the market is regular. The city keeps up a ceaseless call for heavy horses to handle their drays. The death rate of horses on the construction lines of railroads is heavy. This factor, together with the demand from the new railroad construction that is under way, creates a brisk market for the heavy horse.

The demand being constant it stands to reason that the price must be good, and so it is. The selling price is often increased if the horse has good habits, and particularly so, if he be a good walker. The habit of fast walking is well worth cultivating and developing even in the farm horse. The best way to get a good walking team is to rear the colts oneself. Then train them with a quick walking horse. In this way more can be done to improve a colt the first three months he is worked, than in a year, after he has acquired a slow gait.

A colt need not cost the farmer much up to three years of age. The pregnant mare can be given steady work so long as reasonable care is exercised. With a short rest at the time of foaling, the mare can be put to work again in a few days. If given good feed, she will do her work and rear the colt easily, especially if the youngster is taught to eat grain with its dam. In this way the strain is lessened on the mare, while the colt gains considerable nourishment for itself.

Where pasture can be had for summer, and clover hay with a turnip and a light grain ration in winter, the colt can be raised to three years of age with very little expense or work. Heavy colts are usually easy to handle and train, and hence entail little expense on this account. When three years old he can earn his living on the farm without being over-worked, until such time as he can be disposed of to advantage. There is money in this business of heavy horse breeding, and farmers will do well to give the matter serious consideration with a view to breeding their mares this present season.

LIVE STOCK AND GRAIN MARKETS.

(Canadian Dairyman.)

LIVE STOCK

Toronto, April 27, 1908.—Receipts continue below the average. With present high prices for good cattle there should be larger receipts if the cattle were in the country. But they are not and until grass fed cattle arrive the daily run is not likely to increase. England's meat imports show a falling off and the export demand is stronger and is likely to continue firm for sometime. The arrivals of good to choice cattle at the city market last week were not large. The bulk of the run was made up of the lean and half fat kinds. All sold readily enough, but the latter quality would bring considerably more if fed a couple of weeks longer.

The number of exporters offering at the city market is decreasing. These go mostly to the Junction market where trade in this particular line is better. The few export steers offering sold at $5 to $6 a cwt.; some of these were bought to kill for the local butcher's trade; export bulls sold at $4 to $5 a cwt.

There is a keen demand for choice butchers' cattle. Some cattle heavy enough for export were sold for butchers' purposes at $5.75 to $6 a cwt. A feature of the market lately has been the high prices paid for choice butchers' stuff. Loads of good cattle sold last week at $5.25 to $5.65, medium at $4.85 to $5.12½, good cows at $4.25 to $4.60, common cows at $3.60 to $4, canners and rough cows at $1.50 to $3.25 a cwt.

The receipts of feeders and stockers are increasing, particularly light stockers. These are not in strong demand and will not be till the grass comes. Should the supply increase this week there may be a drop in price. Steers 850 to 1,100 lbs are not plentiful, and the market for these will hold steady for a time. Good steers 1,000 to 1,100 lbs. sell at $4.75 to $5, with choice short-keeps a little higher; good steers, 900 to 1,000 lbs. each, $4.25 to $4.75; good steers 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.90 to $4.25; good steers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, $3.25 to $3.90, and light stockers 400 to 600 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.25 a cwt.

Choice milch cows are in demand and will bring $60 each or over. Prices range down as low as $22 for poor, thin, undersized ones. The demand for cows is shown by some recent auction sales. At the Rathburn sale, last week, $100 and over was paid for high grade cows. They must be extra good to bring that figure however.

Veal calves are lower and the market last week was weaker than at any time this season. The bulk of those offering were dairy class. These sold at $2 to $5.25 a cwt. Choice new milk fed and properly finished calves would bring from $6 to $7 a cwt., but they must be choice. Veals are quoted at Buffalo at $5 to $7.50 a cwt.

The sheep and lamb market started at a high level at the Junction on Monday last, when choice yearlings were quoted at $6.50 a cwt., but towards the end of the week dropped off considerably. It looks as if consumers were refusing to buy mutton at present high retail values and were using other meats instead. At the City market on Thursday last export ewes sold at $4.50 to $5; rams at $3.50 to $4.25; and yearlings at $6 to $7 a cwt. Choice well fitted yearlings would have sold higher. Spring lambs sold at $3 to $6.50 each. The Buffalo market is reported steady with lambs quoted at $5 to $7.50 a cwt.

The hog market maintained a steady tone during the week until an advance of about 10c a cwt. at country points quotations ranging from $6.10 to $6.5 f.o.b. The situation is improving. Today's prices are about the same as a year ago, and the prospect for higher values is bright. A feature is the reduction in American killings. These are now lower than what they were a year ago at this date. The total killings however, during the past month or two are ahead of a year ago. This surplus is still leaving its effect on the market. At Buffalo and Chicago, towards the end of the week, prices were lower, $6 and $6.75 a cwt. respectively being the highest quotations. The run on Toronto market during the week was fair. Prices ruled at $6.40 for selects and $6.15 a cwt. for lights and fats, fed and watered.

THIS WEEK'S HOG PRICES

The William Davies Company, Toronto, report the hog market easier this week. They quote $6.15 f.o.b. at country points; $6.40 fed and watered, after arrival in Toronto, and $6.15 a cwt. for hogs off cars, at their packing house.

owing largely to the continued large arrivals of Danish. The Danes are producing bacon and landing it in Great Britain at 3s 6d a cwt. less than Canadian packers are doing at the present time. Danish killings last week totalled 47,000 hogs and larger killings are expected this week.

UNION STOCK YARD PRICES

Toronto Junction, April 27th.—Live stock at the Union Stock Yards, Toronto Junction, were easier to-day than a week ago. Prices in some lines were 1 cent. off. Later in the day, however, the market improved somewhat and everything was sold. The offering was 55 cars, including 1,100 cattle. The quality was mixed; few choice even loads were offering. Choice export steers sold at $5.50 to $5.80 and bulls at $4.25 to $4.50 with a few choice ones going at $5.00 a cwt. Choice cattle sold at $5.25 to $5.50 for the best, medium selling $3.75 to $4.50 a cwt. There were no feeders or stockers offered. Sheep are about $1.00 a cwt. off; the best yearlings sold at $7 to $7.50 and other quality at $6 to $6.50; ewes sold at $4.50 to $5.00 and bucks at $4 to $4.50 a cwt.; spring lambs sold at $3 to $6 each; calves sold at $3 to $5.50 a cwt. or $4.50 each; hogs sold at $6.40 a cwt.

EXPORT BUTTER AND CHEESE TRADE

Montreal, Saturday, April 25.—The receipts of cheese this week total almost two thousand boxes. The quality is very fair for the season of the year, and shows a decided improvement over that of previous years, at this early period of the season. With the increasing receipts we have had a falling off in prices, and at some markets the price paid this week was fully a cent a pound lower than last week. This is due to the lack of demand from the other side, coupled with the lack of facilities for shipping the cheese. The season of open navigation has not commenced, as the St. Lawrence is not yet clear of ice. The first steamer is not booked to sail until May 2nd. After that date we shall have ample accommodation for shipment to all parts of the world. The lack of demand for our first offerings of new cheese is due to the fairly large stocks of Canadian cheese in existence on the other side, and the heavy receipts of New Zealand cheese into the United Kingdom. The receipts from this source of supply, however will fall off very quickly, and two or three weeks should witness a good demand from England for our new crop of cheese. Prices at country points this week have ruled from 10½ to 11½c, and unless there is an improvement in the demand from the other side during the next few days, prices next week will rule still lower.

The receipts of new creamery are increasing steadily, and what there is coming in to-day is being settled for at factory points at from 26c to 27c a lb. The market has been declining steadily all through the week, but prices are higher at the close than were generally expected owing to the comparatively small receipts of new creamery. The entire production is going immediately into consumption, and there is not a pound of superfluous butter to be had on the market to-day. Receipts will be considerably heavier next week, and the trade looks for much lower prices with the increasing receipts.

MONTREAL PRODUCE TRADE

Montreal, Saturday, April 25.—BUTTER—There has been a very fair trade done in butter this week, owing to the lower prices current, which has evidently brought on an increased demand from the consumers, who were inclined to curtail the consumption of the article at the high prices current during the past few weeks. Dealers have been making 25c to 26c a lb. for fresh goods in single packages, with a fraction off for round lots. About the only class of butter to be had at present is fresh-made creamery, as the stock of held goods, including dairy, is practically exhausted. Dealers look for lower prices next week.

CHEESE.—The local trade in cheese is still confined to the stocks of old cheese, which are being sold to the retailers at from 13c to 14c a lb. There are no new cheese available ripe enough for local consumption, and it will be a couple of weeks before any small French cheese will be available.

EGGS. — The egg market has been fairly steady during the past week, and although receipts have been fairly heavy still there has been a good demand from all sources, and prices to-day ranged from

BANDIT CHIEF SLAIN?

Raisuli Said to Have Been Killed by Tribesmen.

Tangier, April 28.—Reports are in circulation here that Raisuli, the bandit who held Kaid Maclean in captivity so long, has been assassinated. Native rumors are to the effect that Raisuli was ambushed by a band of Elkmes while journeying towards Tazrant.

Paris, April 28.—A news agency here has what purports to be confirmation of the report of Raisuli's assassination. According to this information, the bandit was ambushed by a number of Elkmes tribesmen while returning to his home from a native feast offered in his honor. Other reports express doubt as to the truth of the rumors.

A despatch from Tangier to The Echo de Paris says that the report of Raisuli's death is false. It is true, the despatch says, that a band of Elkmes fired a volley at him from behind the bush, but Raisuli was not hit. The tribe had sworn vengeance against the bandit chief because, although they had been ravaged by the Imperial troops for sheltering Raisuli after the capture of Kaid Maclean, he refused them any share of the ransom.

Attacked by Footpad.

Brampton, April 28.—Stephen Deeves, a Brampton merchant, had an experience on Saturday night, which he does not desire repeated. He was on his way home from his place of business about 11.30, and, when nearing his home, which is adjacent to the Grand Trunk station, he was struck on the head with a sling-shot.

His assailant did not succeed in knocking him down, as the force of the blow was broken by the rim of his Christy hat. Mr. Deeves turned on his assailant, who took to his heels and escaped. The would-be highwayman no doubt had the idea that Mr. Deeves would have considerable money. The police have yet no clue.

Married Too Much.

Kingston, April 28.—George Hepburn, found guilty of bigamy, was sentenced by Judge Price to six months in jail at hard labor. Counsel for the prisoner said he had not been living with his first wife for seven years. He had received a letter from Hall & Hayes, Peterboro, stating that his wife had applied for a divorce and being ignorant of the law thought he could marry again.

The first wife married in December last and is living in Peterboro. The judge said a man who married too much should be punished and a man who did not marry enough should also be punished.

Trouble on Frontier.

City of Mexico, April 28.—President Diaz and his Cabinet were in session for more than two hours yesterday, and it is reported that the Guatemalan crisis was under discussion. A despatch received here says the Honduran troops are mobilizing on the Guatemalan frontier. Batteries of Mexican mounted artillery under command of Col. Miguel Gil have left this city for Tapachula, on the Guatemalan border, and it is reported that regiments from Mexico City, Vera Cruz, Oaxaca and Juchitan are under orders to leave.

Three Logmen Drowned.

Dunchurch, Ont., April 28.—Three young men, Thomas Bennett, Fred King and Jacob Knoepfli, were drowned in Ahmic Lake, off Rock Reef, Sunday afternoon.

They were employed by the Croft Lumber Co., whose log boom burst. These three men started with the boom chains in a canoe to repair the damage. They were next seen by Mr. Stewart and family from Rock Reef floundering in the water. No boats were at hand, so they had to watch them disappear.

Anarchist Run Down.

Trinidad, Colo., April 28.—Steve Choles, said to be an anarchist, wanted in Hungary on the charge of being a leader in the recent attempt to assassinate Hungary's queen, was arrested yesterday at Cokeville by a secret service officer from Hungary and will be taken to Denver, from whence he will be removed to New York and deported to Sueme, Hungary, for trial.

Choles has been followed 10,000 miles by European secret service men.

CANADIAN VIOLINIST.

Queen Maud of Norway Interested in Miss Parlow.

Queen Maud of Norway is taking a keen personal interest in the career of Miss Kathleen Parlow, the 17-year-old Canadian violinist, who has created such a great sensation in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, St. Petersburg and Christiania.

Miss Parlow is now considering a tempting offer made by an American syndicate, who have suggested a tour of seventy concerts in North America at $1,250 per concert, to be followed by a further fifty concerts in South America at the same figure, representing in all a sum of $50,000.

Both King Haakon and Queen Maud have written to Miss Parlow's mother predicting that the girl violinist will create a sensation equal to that which she made on the continent, when she appears in London at the Queen's Hall on April 28. Their Majesties have given their patronage to the concert, and among others who have given their patronage or taken seats are Princess Christian, the Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Rutland, the Duchess of Westminster, Lord Strathcona, Lord Desborough, and Countess Bathurst.

Miss Parlow, as a mere child, was fortunate enough to come under the notice of Dr. Grosz, who was so impressed by her remarkable talent that he took her to St. Petersburg to see the great Prof. Auer.

That was about five years ago, and the professor, who has never made any charge for his tuition, declared in Berlin recently that his young pupil was one of the greatest violinists of the last twenty-five years. Her triumphant continental tour, which began in September last, terminated at Christiania, where Queen Maud, after hearing her play, presented to her a diamond pendant.

The people of Christiania were so enchanted with the talent of the young violinist that they subscribed $800 and bought her a Guarnerius violin which had belonged to Viotti.

CROWDING THE JAILS.

Increase of Crime Due to Undesirable Immigrants.

The annual report of Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons for Ontario, is very severe in condemning the immigration policy which has brought in undesirables and crowded the jails.

Dr. Bruce Smith states: "Although the year closes with the largest number that have been in confinement in the jails of Ontario within the past twenty years, this increase is not due to any increase in crime in the province, but is largely due to Canada, and especially Ontario, being made the dumping ground during the past year of some most undesirable immigrants. Every jail I have visited within the past six months has had among its prisoners persons who have been only a few months in this country. Some of them have spent most of their lives in English prisons. Several have been discharged by English magistrates on condition that they would emigrate to Canada. There must be something radically wrong with our immigration regulations that will permit such apparent neglect in the inspection of persons seeking and obtaining passage as immigrants to this country. The whole system of encouraging such people to seek a home in Canada is wrong, and the sooner the conditions complained of are recognized and changed the better."

During the past year there were 663 more committals to the jails of Ontario than the previous year. For drunkenness 4,774 were sent up, a larger number than any year since 1888. Fifteen per cent. of those imprisoned could not read nor write. Only 21 escaped out of 11,000 prisoners, and two of these were caught.

Timber Supply In Danger.

The New York Herald has received the following cable despatch from London: The Government commission which has been inquiring into Irish forestry reports to Parliament that the United States is consuming its timber and destroying its forests to an alarming extent. It tells Parliament that of the four great forest areas originally in the country two are practically gone and the third and fourth are going. It says that a timber famine is coming in seven league boots.

Evidence was given before the committee that Canada's supply is also in danger and is likely in the future to be heavily encroached on by the United States. About a third of the supply of timber coming into the United Kingdom, or nearly £7,000,000 ($35,000,000) worth annually, comes from these countries.

In consequence of this state of things there is felt in the British market an increase in the price of foreign timber and deterioration in its quality. The prices of some varieties have gone up thirty to forty per cent. in twenty years.

All British and Irish witnesses who have given evidence state that the quality of foreign timber is markedly inferior to what it used to be, a fact which indicates that the chief timber producing countries are using up at home the best of their own supplies.

The committee reports that, so far as Ireland is concerned, the disposition of the area of land in the country suitable for afforestation as well as the disposition of the existing wood lands is a matter of grave concern. It reports in favor of a national scheme of forestry as a profitable investment to the state.

HE DIDN'T GO HUNGRY.

Neither Did His Partner After Their Scheme Succeeded.

The man who once was down and out, but is so no longer, was telling the other day of one of his poverty time devices.

He was traveling with another chap just as much down and out as he, and both were hungry. Their capital was insignificant, and they didn't intend to spend any of it. But they had a revolver, which suggested to the first man a scheme. It worked out something like this:

"I went into a pretty good looking restaurant," said the prosperous one, taking a long draw at his cigar, "and as my clothes looked pretty good I wasn't an object of suspicion. I had an overcoat which belonged to my partner.

"As the overcoat and the revolver were chief characters in the ensuing drama, they have to be mentioned prominently. I got a seat right near the door and hung up my coat so that it was only a step away from the door.

"Then I sat down and ordered a square one, a meal that it would be impossible to describe it was so good. It was flavored with the sauce of abstinence—from food.

"I ate and ate and ate, and by and by my partner came along. Without his overcoat—and it was a cold day—he didn't look good. He hung around the door for a long while, looking like a hobo getting up his nerve to come in and beg.

"Just about the time he made a signal to me that showed he was about to enter I got up to go to the cigar counter to pick out a nice after dinner smoke. In came my partner and slunk up to the desk to ask for a bit of food.

"Nothing doing. He was turned down cold. Then to make the thing work better he came up to me and asked: 'Say, boss, won't you give me a lift? I'm down and out.' I repulsed him sternly, and after looking around he started out.

"I said to the proprietor in a virtuous way, 'I don't believe in helping those bums,' to which he answered with a smug shake of the head, when my partner grabbed the overcoat. I knew what he was doing, but I pretended to be very much interested in the cigar until the proprietor yelled out, 'Hey, he's stealing your coat!'

"I held on to the cigar, wheeled around and started for my partner. He was half out of the door. I yelled, 'Drop that!' and for answer he drew the revolver and flourished it.

"The proprietor dropped behind the counter, and the waiters fled to the kitchen. From his place the proprietor called out: 'Look out! He'll shoot you!' And, taking my cue, I let him run out.

"Then when the excitement cleared off I raised an awful row about losing the coat, and the proprietor finally came up with the money for a new one, say about $30. Well, did that meal pay me? What?"

Exploding a Mine in Granite.

One of the methods of quarrying granite is to dislodge a huge sheet from the surface of the formation through the medium of a powder mine. A large perpendicular shaft is first blasted to a depth of about thirty feet. At the bottom of this and radiating in all directions horizontally, like the spokes of a huge wheel, long holes are drilled. The extremities of these holes are then shot with light charges of dynamite in order to create chambers large enough to receive large quantities of black powder. This takes weeks of ever increasing charges. Then the final charge is loaded. The now huge chambers at the extremities of the spokes are packed with hundreds of pounds of powder, numerous electric wires attached and the whole mine tamped with fine material. A mighty roar and rumble in the bowels of the earth and the huge sheet is detached from the ledge.—Popular Mechanics.

A Fraudulent Tax.

A well to do German farmer in a western state came into the town of which he was accounted a resident to pay his taxes. The bill was handed to him, itemized as follows:

State tax	$15.90
County tax	8.50
School tax	5.00
Total	$29.40

After the German had carefully scrutinized the bill he set his lips tightly and in a very determined manner said:

"I pays de state tax, I pays de county tax und I pays de school tax, but I be doggoned if I pays dat total tax. I never had no total tax! I think he is a fraud!"

Missed the Mark.

A north of England clergyman recently preached against ill natured gossiping and spoke pretty plainly to his congregation on the subject. One of the members of the congregation to whom he was especially alluding came up to him after the service. The vicar thought he had touched her and that she was about to express contrition, but she said, "Ah, vicar, I am so glad you spoke out, and what a good thing it was the Misses —— were there to hear you."—Church Family Newspaper.

A CASTELLANE PIRATE.

Took Sultan's Library and Demanded Ransom For Its Return.

In 1611 Jean Philip de Castellane was commander of the French man-of-war Notre Dame de la Garde. Henry IV. sent him to Morocco to demand of the sultan the release of certain French prisoners. De Castellane carried his negotiations to a successful conclusion, and the sultan as a peace offering sent to the French commander twenty Arabian horses for the king. "Just as the Notre Dame was about to weigh anchor the pretender to the Moroccan throne gained a decisive victory, and the sultan decided to flee for his life. He engaged passage for himself and harem on a Dutch merchantman, and to De Castellane he intrusted his library, one of the most extensive collections of Arabic manuscripts and books in existence. The great Mulay Ahmed was the founder of the library.

"Arriving at the place of rendezvous, Commander de Castellane sent word to the sultan that he could have his library for 3,000 ducats, the price of transportation.

"The sultan protested that he had made no such agreement and that besides he did not have the money to pay the demand, whereupon De Castellane sailed away.

"He had not gone very far when a great storm overtook the Notre Dame and drove her, a wreck, upon the African coast at Casablanca, then occupied by the king of Spain, who was at war with Morocco. The Spaniards seized the library and shipped it to Spain, where it was placed in a wing of the Escurial. What remains of the library can be seen today in an alcove labeled the Arabian collection."

Shiraz, Xeres and Sherry.

Sir Henry Drummond Wolff's knowledge of Spain and of Persia is shown in the following paragraph taken from his "Rambling Recollections:"

"In Persia no wine is manufactured for sale except at Shiraz. When Persia was invaded by the Arabs they took back with them to Morocco the grapes of the district. In Spain they wished to naturalize the new fruit, and this they did at a place called Xeres, intended for Shiraz, there being no sound equivalent to 'sh' in Spanish. There they cultivated the grape and made wine, which now returns to Europe as 'sherry,' that word being a paraphrase of Shiraz. Shiraz wine is very similar in taste to sherry."

Juvenile Logic.

Marie is a very bright kindergarten pupil. She came home to her parents the other day and told them that the kindergarten teacher had said she will grow up to be a very nice looking young lady if she is a good girl, but will grow up to be a very ugly woman if she is a naughty girl. "Is that true, mamma?" asked Marie, and she was informed that if the teacher said so it was true. Marie then sat still for a while, pondering seriously. "But, mamma," she suddenly burst forth again, "why was the kindergarten teacher so naughty when she was a little girl?"

One Exception.

"I am reduced from affluence to beggary!" he faltered.

In as few words as possible she broke their engagement.

"I wish to show," she observed haughtily, "that women, contrary to general report, do not necessarily care for things just because they are reduced!"

One pound of learning requires ten pounds of common sense to apply it.—Persian Proverb.

Origin of Races.

Anthropologists have never been able to reach an agreement concerning the question of race origin. Some hold to the monogenist, others to the polygenist theory. Evolution would seem to justify the belief in a common origin for the various races of men, but it is asserted by many scientists that evolution does not necessarily mean that all races of men have descended from a common stock, since the hypothesis of evolution admits of the argument that several simious species may have culminated in several races of men.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING

Tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received until 4.30 p.m., on Friday, May 15th, 1908, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—Tiffin, Victoria Harbour. Tenders to be endorsed, "Tender for dredging Tiffin and Victoria Harbour."

Contractors will please note that the dredging in the harbours of Tiffin and Victoria are to be carried to a depth of 22 feet at low water, but this depth may be increased to 25 feet if so requested by the department.

The dredging to the required depth of the channels leading to the elevators must be completed on or before the 1st October, 1908.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the works. Only dredges can be employed which are registered in Canada at the time of the filling of tenders. Contractors must be ready to begin work within twenty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public works, for six thousand dollars, ($6,000.00), must be deposited as security in connection with the dredging to be performed at above mentioned places. The cheque will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 23, 1908.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

Auction Sale of Timber Berths

Dokis Indian Reserve

There will be offered for sale by public auction, at an upset price, in the Russell House, in the City of Ottawa on Wednesday the 24th of June, 1908, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, timber berths numbered 1 to 8 inclusive, covering the pine timber of nine inches in diameter and over at the stump and no other, on the whole of the Dokis Indian Reserve situate on the French River in the Province of Ontario.

Each limit will be offered separately at a bonus, ten per cent. of which to be paid in cash on day of sale, and notes to be given for the remainder, payable in three, six and nine months, at the Bank of Montreal, in the City of Ottawa, with interest at the rate of six per cent. in addition to Crown dues at the rate of $2.00 per M. feet B.M. and $50.00 per M feet C.M., an annual ground rent of $24.00 and a license fee of $4.00 the cash payment to be forfeited upon failure to pay the balance of bonus within the time above mentioned.

The license will be issued in due course after payment of notes above specified, and will be renewable yearly upon compliance with all conditions thereof for a period of ten years and no longer, and will be subject to Manufacturing Conditions in accordance with the provisions of order of His Excellency in Council of the 19th day of April, 1907.

Dues at the rate above specified to be paid on sworn returns, as required by the Timber Regulations of the Department.

Information regarding the timber berths in question may be had upon application to the undersigned.

The unauthorized insertion of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situated.

Homestead Duties—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans.

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent, or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tenders for Dredging" will be received until Friday, May 15th, 1908, at 4.30 p.m., for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Burlington, Blind River, Beaverton, Collingwood, Cobourg, Goderich, Hamilton, Kincardine, Little Current, Midland, Meaford, Owen Sound, Nigger and Telegraph Islands, Point Edward, Penetanguishene, Port Burwell, Port Elgin, Picton, Rondeau, Summerstown, Thames River, Toronto, Thornbury, Trenton Harbour and Dark Channel, Waubaushene, Wiarton, and Wingfield Basin.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specifications and forms of tender can be obtained at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the works. Only dredges can be employed which are registered in Canada at the time of filling tenders Contractors must be ready to begin work within twenty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for six thousand dollars ($6,000), must be deposited as security for the dredging which the tenderer offers to perform in the Province of Ontario. The cheque will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 23rd, 1908.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

SPRAY WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Three Times During the Season—Orchardists Should Work Intelligently.

The orchardist should not imagine that there is any great mystery or difficulty with reference to the making of the Bordeaux mixture or the use of it after it is made. Almost any of the ordinary directions found in any of the spray calendars will give good results. The material should be fresh made and should be kept agitated. My advice is to keep the growing tissue of leaf and fruit covered as nearly as may be with the thinnest possible coating of Bordeaux mixture during the growing season. Commence when the leaves have just fairly shown themselves and spray the first time. The blossoms will soon be out and then, of course, no spraying should be done until they are fairly well fallen. One should not wait, however, until the blossoms have all fallen before spraying again with the poisoned Bordeaux mixture as this is the time when the codling moth will be caught. The third spraying should be made 10 or 15 days later, and, to get the best results, spray once more about two weeks later.

It is not necessary that the person doing the spraying should know all the enemies which he has to combat in order to get 200 per cent. on his money, but the satisfaction of working intelligently and the extra gain that will come will repay anyone in making a thorough study of the insect and fungous pests that trouble the orchard. The life history of these pests will suggest the proper time at which any extra spraying may be necessary; but every farmer should spray even if he does not know the name of a single insect in the orchard the operation will pay him well.

THE SENSE OF SMELL IN BUTTER MAKING

Develop an Unnatural Taste of Ripened Cream.

I have come to the conclusion that the shorter the time elapses between the milking of the cow, and the manufacture of butter, the better will be the quality of the butter. What we call a ripened cream flavor of the butter is an acquired taste. The true butter flavor is that which is made from sweet cream, churned as soon as possible after the milk comes from the cow. This so-called ripened cream flavor, is something for which we have to develop an unnatural taste, and I put it in the same class as smoking cigars, drinking whiskey, and all those bad habits which the animal man has acquired. The butter which brings the highest price in the markets of Great Britain is made from cream with very little acid in it. I think it is wrong for the butter-maker to develop 5-6 of acid in the cream before churning. It would be better to churn the cream directly after separating, pasteurizing and cooling. I think I am safe in saying that we have been making a mistake in our methods of manufacturing butter. The sooner we get it made into butter after the milk comes from the cow the better it will be. Many of the bad flavors in cream are caused by holding it too long before churning.—Prof. Dean.

The butter maker with a good nose is a winner.

NOW I AM WELL

THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Elf, Manitoba.

I wish to state, for the sake of others who may be sufferers like I was, that I suffered from severe indigestion and constipation for years and that there was also womb trouble with unpleasant pains in my back which made me miserable, constantly. I tried physicians and took many remedies but I got no relief. I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say this was the first medicine that ever did me any good. "Fruit-a-tives" quickly relieved the constipation and indigestion and completely cured me of all symptoms of womb trouble. I cannot express too strongly my great gratitude to this medicine as I am as well now in every way as ever I was, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives", it is easy to take and the effect is always mild like fruit.

(Sgd) MRS. M. BRULAND.

Many women suffer with what the doctors call "Womb Trouble"—"Diseased Ovaries"—"Female Complaints" etc. — when Constipation is causing all the pain. Cure the liver and make the bowels move regularly with "Fruit-a-tives" and the "Womb Trouble" will be cured at the same time.

"Fruit-a-tives" — or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box —6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

UNEXPECTED ARRIVAL OF EVANGELIST

Mr. McMurdo Spoke at the Gospel Hall —Meetings of the Week.

Owing to the uncertainty of Mr. McMurdo being able to get to the city in time for a meeting last night, none was announced, but a few were present, and Mr. McMurdo having arrived on the 5.33 G. T. R., gave a splendid address on the 103 Psalm, at Gospel Hall. He is a forcible speaker, has a clear Scotch accent free from anything that would hinder understanding every syllable. He spoke of this Psalm as a ring, commencing with blessing and ending with blessing.

Accompanying him is Mr Murdoch, a McGill medical student, who is also a gifted young man. He Heaven—saying that Christians spoke on Revelations 21—the new should know much of the country they were going to inhabit. Men of this generation had very vague notions of heaven. They could readily accept the theory that Mars or other planets were inhabited, but would reject a place of rest as out of the range of possibility. He showed heaven to be a place built by God for His saints, where they will dwell for ever. To-night and Friday night meetings will be held, and all day Sunday. There will be no meeting on Thursday night, but Mr. McMurdo will take charge of the Public Bible Study on Friday night, when the subject will be, "The Resurrection, and when does it take place."

REMEMBER BIRTHDAY OF MR. BRACE

Young People Present Him With an Address Last Night—His Reply.

Monday night was a busy time for the Park street people. While the crowd filled the church for the great debate, B.Y.P.U. vs. Knox Young People, an interesting little group bore down on the parsonage to remind the Rev. A H Brace of his birthday, and wished him many happy returns by presenting the following address:—

To the Rev. A H Brace, Park street, Peterborough:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Brace,—We have met with you this evening, feeling in our hearts that we could not let you go from among us without expressing our regret at your departure. Also we wish to thank you for spiritual blessing we have received both from your sermons and your visits among us. We sincerely trust that your work in your new field of labour will be much blessed of God.

We shall always look back with pleasant memories on the past five years you have spent amongst us, and you shall always have a place in our prayers for blessing on your work wherever you may be.

We again express our regret at your departure and ask you to accept this small gift of $20.00, as from our hearts.

Mr. Brace made a suitable acknowledgment on behalf of Mrs. Brace and himself. The baskets were speedily emptied and soon a cup of black tea was steaming in every hand. A very happy time was spent and profitably brought to a close by the reading of the scripture and prayer by the pastor.—Com.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF C.G.E. ANGLERS

Will be Held in T. A. S. Rooms on Thursday Night.

The annual meeting of the C. G. E. Angling Club will be held to-morrow night in the T.A.S. rooms at 8 o'clock. One of the principal duties will be the election of officers for the coming year, and a general discussion will follow on the season's prospects. This will be the second year in the life of the Anglers' new cottage at the mouth of the Otonabee, and judging from the jolly times spent last year, and the enthusiasm the members express regarding the coming summer, the club should be stronger in every respect. It is learned that a new wharf will be built near the club house early in the season, and a number of new launches are being constructed for members of the club, which should sufficiently equip the Anglers' navigation department.

Every member should be present at this meeting.

CROP COMPETITION TO BE HELD

Farmers of Bensfort Will Hold One This Season—Other News Items.

Examiner Special.

Bensfort, April 29.—The first monthly service of the season was held in the Sunday School, Sunday evening. Quite a large crowd turned out.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Geo. Smithson is recovering from his serious illness.

At a meeting of the directors of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society held last Tuesday, it was decided to hold a field crop competition for the township. The crop chosen is oats, of which not less than 5 acres are to be entered. Entry forms and other particulars are to be had from the secretary, Benstort P.O., and all entries must be in to the Superintendent of Agricultural Society by the 1st of June.

The Otonabee river is reported to be higher this spring, than since 1896. The new wharves are all under water. It is, or has been over the road at both Bensfort and Hale's bridges.

The local trappers are having a busy season trapping. Large catches are reported.

Feed is getting very scarce and farmers are in hopes of soon being able to turn their stock out to pasture.

The spring seeding will become general this week, mostly every one has made a start and some have sown grain.

Quite a number took in the first Saturday trip to town on the steamer Monarch, Saturday last.

SIX NEW POST OFFICES HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED IN RURAL DISTRICTS NEAR TO THE CITY

A Better Mail Service Being Provided---Almost a Free Delivery For The Farmers And Others In Surrounding Community----Offices Open In a Few Weeks.

THE POSTMASTERS WHO HAVE BEEN APPOINTED

For some months past the Post Office Department at Ottawa has been working out the details of an arrangement whereby a number of new post offices would be opened out in Peterborough County.

It was felt by Mr. R R Hall and Mr. John Finlay, the members for West and East Peterborough respectively that in view of the fact that city delivery had been granted in Peterborough, there should also be something done towards providing the rural portions of the county with a better mail service. The matter was urged upon the Government and it is now officially announced that the following new offices will be established:—

Nassau.
Byersville.
Downer's Corners.
McMartinville.
Wallace's Point.
Benstort Bridge.

Nassau, as everyone knows, is situated 3 1-2 miles north of the City of Peterborough, and will serve a large number of farmers in the Townships of Smith and Douro, who at the present time are obliged to come to Peterborough for their mail. The service for the present will be three times a week and the Postmaster will be Mr. Wm. Lockington.

Byersville

Byersville is the name of the new post office that will be opened just across the western boundary line of the City, being on the corner of Chamberlen street and the boundary road. Of the six new post offices, perhaps, none of them will render greater service to the public than Byersville. Just west of the City limits in the vicinity of May's school, has sprung up a settlement of upwards of two hundred and fifty people. There is also a large number of market gardeners and farmers in this district that will be served by the new office. At the present time the City mail delivery reaches all the people who reside on the eastern side of the boundary, but those who reside on the western side of the boundary have been obliged to come to the Peterborough post office for their mail. The new post office will therefore, be much in the form of a sub-city post office. The office is to be named Byersville by reason of the fact that the office is situated in the general store of Mr. J W Byers at the corner of Chamberlen street and the western Boundary road.

McMartinville

McMartinville is the name of the post office that will be opened in what is termed the Coldsprings settlement, in Otonabee. This post office is situated across the Otonabee river from the end of the street railway line and in the centre of a rapidly growing settlement and an important suburb of the City of Peterborough. The office will be situated in the general store recently opened out by Mr. Jas. McMartin. Mr. McMartin will be its first postmaster. The mail service for the present will be thrice a week. This will be a great benefit to many residents of the vicinity, who were obliged to come to the City post office for their mail.

Downer's Corners

Downer's Corners is to have a rural post office, the postmaster of which will be Mr. Patrick O'Keefe. Mr. O'Keefe carries on a general store business on the south-west corner, in which building the new office will be located and Mr. O'Keefe the postmaster. The post office at Downer's Corners will not only accommodate the large rural section but will also accommodate a number of the residents of the City of Peterborough who have not the advantage of city mail delivery. As most people know the city limits run away down to Downer's Corners and considerably to the east of the travelled road. While a city postal delivery to this section was practically impossible, the people who resided in the district were entitled to a better service than they were having, viz.: being obliged to come to Peterborough for their mail. The opening of the post office at Downer's Corners will therefore, relieve the situation considerably.

Wallace's Point

The people in the vicinity of Wallace's Point (Hall's Bridge) have long felt the need of a post office at that point. Heretofore the people in this vicinity travelled to Peterborough or to South Monaghan for their mail. Now they will have a mail to the point three days per week. Wallace's Point is bound to become an important summer resort as well.

Benstort Bridge

Benstort Bridge is another new post office that will serve the requirements of a large number of people who reside in the Townships of Otonabee and South Monaghan, in the vicinity of Benstort Bridge. This bridge is about 7 miles from Peterborough. The post office will be situated on the Monaghan side of the bridge at the residence of Mr. Wm. Smith, the bridge tender at that point. It is Mr. Smith's intention to erect a new store at the bridge and open out a general store business.

Altogether the new postal facilities for Peterborough County should prove of great advantage to the people of the County and the efforts of Mr. Hall and Mr. Finlay in this connection, should be very much appreciated.

It is expected that the new offices will be opened out in the course of a few weeks.

The Royal Templars And The City Temperance League Meet

The Royal Templars of Temperance and the City Temperance League held a joint meeting in the rooms of the former society last night. There was not a very large number present, but a very enthusiastic meeting resulted. Rev. E. H. Coon, of Mark Street Methodist Church, occupied the chair.

The object of the meeting was to discuss the various line of work the two societies would take, so as to avoid friction. It was decided to hold joint meetings of the two organizations in the interests of the temperance cause, on Sunday afternoon, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Gurney, Mrs. Martin, Mr. Andrew Brown and Mr. James Carey were appointed to take the matter up and were given power to act. The duties of the committee will be to secure speakers and prepare a programme for each meeting. The committee will meet again in Mr. A. Brown's office, Water street, on Thursday next, where a report will be presented, and if it is thought advisable to hold the meetings an announcement will be made later.

A resolution was passed to ask the Ministerial Association to discuss the temperance question in their churches and also asked them to make suggestions to the league.

The meeting then closed with prayer by the chairman.

Ald. Wm. Buller Elected President Of Cartage Company

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company held on Monday night was well attended, and the reports received indicated that the past year had on the whole been the most satisfactory in the history of the company. Mr. Wm. Irwin, who was president of the company, resigned from that position owing to the fact that he is so often absent from the city, and Ald. Wm. Buller was elected president in his stead. He will as usual act as manager of the company.

Charity Board Decides To Send Woman To Ireland

The Charity Board at its meeting held last night decided to deport Tillie Glass, a native of Ireland, who is not in full possession of her mental faculties. The woman has been a resident of Peterborough for some months and is known by a large number of citizens. For some time she has been an inmate of St. Joseph's Hospital. The Board decided to send her back to Londonderry, Ireland. She is quite willing to forsake Canada for her native land.

HAS BEEN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY

Ald. WM. BULLER,

SECOND MEETING OF THE CAMPAIGN

Mr. G. A. Gillespie Spoke to Smith Audience Again Last Night—Mr. Hall and Mr. Roger Present

MR. SWINTON, CHAIRMAN

The second meeting in Mr. G. A Gillespie's campaign in West Peterborough was held in Middleton's School house last night and it was a very enthusiastic one. There was a good attendance of farmers and farmers sons and all listened with interest to the addresses on the political questions of the day.

The chair was occupied by Mr. William Swinton, who introduced the speakers in a brief address.

Mr. Hall's Address

Mr. R R Hall, M.P., gave one of his spirited addresses in which he made a slashing attack upon the manner in which Mr. Whitney had broken faith with the many Liberals who supported him at the last general election. He pointed out that the Whitney Government had been treated fairly by the Liberals of the province. The result was that Mr. Whitney was given a sufficiently large majority to withstand the pressure from the political "hacks," of his party who were pressing for dishonest dealings. Mr. Whitney, however, surrendered to the appeals of these party henchmen and resorted to methods which stamped him as unfit to be entrusted with the confidence of the Liberals and Independent electors of the province. After enumerating the various acts of the spoils system policy inaugurated by Mr. Whitney, Mr. Hall, proceeded to deal with the Canadian Northern Railway bond guarantee, the LaRose Mine deal and the Gerrymander.

Taking up the matter of the expenditure of the province Mr. Hall quoted a few interesting figures. He pointed out that during the session of 1897, Mr. Whitney put forward the following resolution:—

That this house regrets to observe the steady increase in provincial expenditure and also regrets that the present value of the indebtedness for annuities and railway certificates does not appear in the statement of the liabilities of the Province, over and above which a surplus is declared.

Notwithstanding this the total expenditure in 1903 was only $4,448,983, as against $5,396,015 in 1905, with Mr. Whitney as Premier. During the past four years the expenditure of the province has increased 60 per cent. Still Mr. Whitney preaches economy. As a matter of fact the expenditure per head under the Liberal Government had increased only $1.00 per head in 33 years, while the expenditure under the Whitney Government had increased $3.50 per head in 4 years.

Figures to Study

Mr. Hall pointed out some of the items of expenditure under the Whitney Government, as compared with items for similar work under the Ross Government. These were some of them:

Entertainments in Toronto—
Under Mr. Whitney's Government $16,965 00
Under Mr. Ross' Government 150 00
Lawyers' fees last year... ...136,000 00

During Mr. Ross' last year of office $7,000 was expended. In other words expenditure in this connection was over twenty times as great under Mr. Whitney's rule, as under Mr. Ross' rule.

The general increase in the expenditure of the province since 1904 has been as follows:

Civil government has increased 70 per cent.

BELL TELEPHONE WIRES ON GEORGE STREET AT LAST ARE BEING LOWERED

At last the coming down of the wires of the Bell Telephone Company, which that company has been striving after for so long, has become a reality in the City of Peterborough. A gang of about thirteen men began work yesterday, under the foremanship of Mr. Jas. Curson, and the wires on George street, so far as the telephone company is concerned, will soon belong to the past. It is expected that they will be, oclearly out of the way in two months. The old cables will be sent to Montreal, from where they will be sent to other districts.

PETITION DRAWN UP FOR THE ESTABLISHING OF ANGLICAN MISSION IN THE SOUTH END

Will be Signed by a Representative Body of Church Members of the City and Presented to His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto

CHURCHES ARE IN FAVOUR

The proposal to establish an Anglican Mission in the south end of the city has created considerable interest in local church circles and Rev. Mr. Soward, retired English church clergyman ,who resides on Perry street, has drawn up the following petition, which, after being signed by a representative body, will be sent to His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto.

The petition reads as follows:—

To the Most Reverend the Lord Archbishop of Toronto:

We, the undersigned members of the Church of England, in the suburb of Peterborough, known as the South End, respectfully solicit your Grace to take action under Canon 5, section 4, of the Provincial Synod of Canada, for the erection of a new parish formed from the southern limits of St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints. In thus soliciting for the erection of a new parish, we desire to express our recognition of the zeal and earnestness of the present Rectors in carrying out the work of the church, in such form and manner, as to the best of their judgment they deem most conducive to the welfare and prosperity of the Anglican church in Peterborough, and we feel sure that if the proposed new parish is erected it will in no particular injure any one of these three churches, which at present have overflowing congregations.

The reasons we assign for the erection of a new parish are these:

1. That many of us reside at inconvenient distances from the three existing churches.

2. That many in this locality attend no church and might be gathered in, by a zealous and competent clergyman if a Mission was opened near the Exhibition Grounds.

3. The Roman Catholic and Methodist bodies have already taken steps for the erection of new churches, and it would not be to the efeditoot, nor enhance the public respect and confidence in the Anglican Church, that we should be longer represented in this locality.

KILLING OF ROBBINS IS CONDEMNED BY CITIZEN

Last night a prominent citizen, while walking along a city street noticed two boys with catapults, on a crusade against a number of robins. One of the boys brought down a bird with deadly aim. This is an act contrary to law and should not be tolerated, even if these birds were not under the protecting hand of the law. One of the boy's names is known, and there may yet be trouble over the affair.

Local Drover On Deputation About Inspection Of Cattle

Ottawa, April 28. — (Special.)—A deputation representing the Canadian Drovers' Association waited on the Minister of Agriculture, and Dr. Rutherford, Dominion Veterinarian, to-day to ask that the Government make more adequate provision for the inspection of cattle in respect to tubercular and other diseases, and also that in cases where inspectors find diseased cattle intended for export or sale in possession of dealers, the loss occasioned through the summary killing of these cattle be borne by the Dominion, and not by the dealers, who at the time happened to be in possession. The deputation pointed out that drovers in most cases had no recourse against the farmers from whom the cattle were purchased, and were not responsible for the fact that the cattle were diseased. A petition, signed by most of the prominent cattle dealers in Canada, in support of the deputation's request was presented.

Hon. Mr. Fisher promised consideration of the request. The deputation included Messrs. A W Talbot, Beaverton; J Alyea, V.S., Colborne; H P Kennedy, Peterborough; T A Marquis, Sunderland, and M. D. Williams, Bowmanville.

BIG PROGRAMME FOR BOUTS AT THE OPERA HOUSE TO-NIGHT

There will not be a dull moment at the Grand Opera House to-night when Frank Kennedy, of New York, the well known German light heavyweight wrestler will meet Eugene Hurtubise, of Peterborough, exheavy weight champion of Canada, in what promises to be the most exciting and sensational match ever pulled off in this city. No similar event in years has aroused so much interest and indications point to a crowded house.

The men are both as hard as nails and ready for what they seem to regard as a hard battle. The match in Toronto which was won by Hurtubise on a foul, was one of the most exciting ever seen in the Queen city. Kennedy is not satisfied with the decision and hopes to settle the question of which is the better man decisively to-night. Joe Dwyer, formerly of Lindsay, will referee, and the conditions are that no hold will be barred. The match is for $100 a side.

The Opera House Orchestra will be on hand and will enliven proceedings with its music. The preliminary bouts begin at 8.15 o'clock, the first being a wrestling bout between Bobby Long and Ted Crowe, for the 130 pound championship. Jack Crough will meet J Wilson in a bout for the 145 pound championship of Peterborough. Variety will be introduced by a boxing bout between Cortney Hurns and Nobby Glover, of Peterborough. Both are handy with their fists and they will put up a lively "go." They will box three rounds for a decision.

Eugene Hurtubise, Peterboro's big wrestler, who meets Frank Kennedy of New York, at the Grand Opera House to-night.

There has been a big advance sale and a good house is expected.

Carpet Co. Employe Had Arm Caught In A Dyeing Machine

About 2.30 o'clock Robert Pullyblank, a resident of Otonabee, while at his work in the Printon carpet factory, had his arm badly cut by the dyeing machine. The Dan Spence ambulance was called and the injured man was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where his arm was attended to.

Had Bad Dream Of Montreal Friend; Receives News At Breakfast Of His Wife's Death

While sitting at his breakfast this morning, thinking of a bad dream he had had last night, a well known gentleman of this city received a telegram from a dear friend in Montreal notifying him of the death of his wife. He had dreamed that his friend and he had an altercation over some trifling matter and a fight followed. The dreamer was just about to strike his friend with something when he woke up.

He received a great shock when he learned of the death of his friend's wife, and is leaving on the noon train to-day for Montreal.

Wheelman Sandwiched By Busses And Injured In Fall

Joseph Hughes while wheeling home at noon to-day on Charlotte street, was sandwiched between two cabs and narrowly escaped serious injury. As it was, two wheels passed over his body and his bicycle was badly damaged.

Both cabs were bowling along the street and young Hughes endeavoured to pass between them. He might have succeeded if they had not started on to make a turn near Aylmer street. When the young man went down one wheel passed over the centre of his body. Luckily both cabs had rubber tires and Hughes escaped practically unhurt He was somewhat bruised and shaken up, but otherwise seemed to be all right.

The bicycle had the front wheel seperated from the frame and in fact was badly damaged.

Committees Report Progress Of The Missionary Institute

A meeting of the committees which have in charge the arrangements for the Missionary Institute, was held last night in the Y. W. C. A. Judging from the large attendence, and by the manner in which the committees have been looking after their work, the Institute should be a pronounced success. Rev. H. J. Keith presided over the meeting, and received the reports from the committees. Many delegates have sent in their names to the billeting committee, and a large number of visitors will attend the three days of the Institute.

The programme committee has also been working industriously. Programmes have been prepared and printed, and will be distributed at the first meetings. The publicity committee has had two streamers placed on George street, and are making further arrangements to keep the Institute before the public.

The exhibits will be on view on Monday, in St. John's Sunday school room. Miss Crouch, of Toronto, will arrive in the city on Saturday, and will be in charge of the exhibits. The prospects are that the Institute will will have large attendances at St. Paul's Church, and its purpose—a broader missionary knowledge—will be fully realized.

The Knox Church Boys Form An Anti-Cigarette League

An anti-cigarette league was formed by the Knox Boys' Club of Knox church. The meeting opened with two hymns. Mr. Wilkie, in the chair, led in prayer. After deciding that there should be no meeting on Tuesday night on account of the coming missionary institute, the president of the club called upon Mr. A. C. Davenport to take charge of the meeting. The latter had the pleasure of giving out the first Anti-Cigarette League pledge cards to the following boys who joined: Harry Carr, Oliver Taylor and Almon Hogeboom. Mr. Davenport said he was pleased to state that ten others had joined the league against the unnecessary habit of smoking. He was also glad that one boy had a package of cigarettes to finish, but was going to destroy them on account of his joining the league last night, and meant to give up smoking.

The rules of the league are not to smoke tobacco in any form until the age of twenty-one years is reached. Then it is left to the young man to use his own discretion. It is hoped by the league that this branch in Peterborough will increase in numbers. Inquiries regarding this new body will be answered by the secretary of the Boys' Club.

A reading was also given by Mr. Davenport entitled "Slightly Deaf," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Games afterwards brought the successful meeting to a close.

Referee Reynolds To Start In Next Big Walking Match

Mr. Jas. Reynolds, the veteran Port Hope pedestrian, who refereed the six-day walking match last week, is in the city to-day for the Hurtubise-Kennedy wrestling bout at the Grand Opera House to-night. Mr. Reynolds is enthusiastic over the success of the meet, and announces that if a six-day event is held here next autumn he is proposed, he will be a starter. He is willing to bet he can make better time than did Blake in last week's walk. In June Mr. Reynolds will attempt to walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return in thirty-three hours.

Lockmaster Unconscious As Result Of Crowbar Accident

Lying unconscious, but with prospects of recovery, is the condition of Mr. R. H. Irwin, assistant lock-master at the Kirkfield lift lock, who met with a rather serious accident yesterday afternoon. Mr. Irwin was raising a stop-log at a dam at Kirkfield, when the crowbar slipped and struck him behind the ear.

He was knocked unconscious and was lying in that state this morning. He is expected to recover.

NORTH END BOYS HOLDING A SIX-DAY WALKING MATCH

The walking fever has certainly hit Peterborough hard, and on most of the vacant lots of the city youthful Hoaglands, Slaters and Harrisons are going through the grind of a walking match. The most ambitious attempt in this line yet, is being held in the lot in front of Nicholls Hospital, where 25 boys, ranging in age from 5 to 15 years, are holding a six-day grind this week, walking one hour every day after school. They have scorers, referee, time keepers, in fact, all the array of officials that are required for a modern sporting event of that kind. The walk will close Saturday afternoon, and so far none of the competitors have dropped out.

MANUFACTURERS OF CEMENT IN A CONVENTION

Mr. F A Kilbourn, of the Montreal Cement Works, lately of Lakefield, was amongst the cement manufacturers of Canada who met at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, recently, to take steps towards the formation of a Canadian Cement Association. Mr. Kilbourn was appointed one of the councillors in the executive of the Association.

A GOOD RECORD.

The present Government, when in Opposition, had a great deal to say about corruption in the matter of administration and otherwise. They boasted that, if they came to power and had access to the books and documents at the Parliament Buildings, they would be able to uncover a startling mass of corruption. They came into power; they had access to every book and every document in all the departments. With what result? They failed, after three years' opportunity, to discover anything wrong to the extent of a penny—if they had done so we should have heard of it with no uncertain sound. They found nothing wrong because there was nothing wrong. Is not this a grand tribute to the honest methods of a Liberal Government, that, after more than a generation of varied Provincial administration, their bitter and persistent enemies, after three years of diligent effort, find nothing wrong in their record of administration? Would the record of the Whitney Government, after three and a half years, show such a clean sheet?

THE CONSERVATIVE FAMILY TROUBLES.

It would appear that East and West Peterborough are not the only places where Conservatives have trouble with nominating conventions — where questionable methods are employed to help nominees of the machine to "win out." In London the Less there is a row in the camp. Mr. Gray, a turned-down Conservative, is out as a candidate in opposition to the regular Conservative aspirant. In Frontenac there is another discontented Conservative candidate, and there is a big family row on over the Conservative nominations in Leeds and Grenville, and now North Renfrew swings into the storm centre area. Referring to this the Brockville Recorder has the following:

Throughout Ontario the Conservative party are having no end of trouble in the conventions. The nefarious gerrymander is an incentive for a large crop of candidates, who are contesting the nominations. Following closely the open disruption in Leeds and Grenville constituencies, in which the present members are called upon to put forth strenuous efforts to retain the nominations, comes the case of North Renfrew, where a defeated candidate at the "Tory" convention openly charges the party of purity with methods that are on a par with the Conservative past record. In his published address to the electors, the following charge is made:

"At the earnest solicitation of a great many of the Conservative electors of this riding, I have consented to become a candidate at the coming general elections for the Local House, and now solicit your support and influence.

"It is notorious that the convention recently held to bring out a Government candidate was PACKED by my opponents; numbers of my friends were excluded, members were refused ballots, and switching of ballots was openly carried on. In short, every device which our party has so often condemned was practised to secure the nomination of Mr. Morris."

It would thus appear that East and West Peterborough are not the only places where conventions are "packed" in the interest of specially favoured aspirants for nomination, to the exclusion of men who would have been chosen under fairly-conducted nomination proceedings. We often see large and loosely constructed buildings collapsing of their own weight. In similar manner it would seem that the Whitney Government has too big a majority, it is too heavy to carry its own weight; too heavy to handle; the rush for the spoils makes an unseemly "hustle" with candidates for favours coming into conflict. It would also seem that Mr. Bradburn was given too large a majority in West Peterborough. It has made him reckless, and it has made the clique bloodthirsty and bold, which may explain the slaughter of Liberal officials in the West Riding, where Mr. Bradburn was treated very handsomely by Liberals at the elections of 1905. There are some men who can't stand prosperity, and the large majority Mr. Whitney got by the good offices of moderate Liberals has developed a spirit of tyranny which has been outrageously exercised.

FIRST GUN OF THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN FIRED

way aid policy, and in defiance of consistency had unnecessarily pledged the credit of the province to the extent of two and a half millions.

They had failed to practice their professions of resistance to corporation influences,

Their boasted power policy had given disappointment for promise, and in almost every important and essential manner they had failed to justify the claims upon which they sought the responsibility of office.

As the Government had gained and held power by false pretences so had done their supporter in West Peterborough, and it was for the electors to seriously consider whether both had not failed to do credit to the confidence that has been reposed in them.

The Candidate.

This brought up the subject of Mr. Gillespie's candidature and Mr. Stratton proceeded to point out that he had every qualification for making a creditable and faithful representative. He was worthy of the support of the electors because he was a young man of energy, good business qualities and steadiness of character. He was familiar with the interest of the farming and dairying industries, and had time as much perhaps as any man in the country to advance them. He was well thought of in the city where he was elected an alderman last January by a large vote. He was in every way well qualified to make a good representative, and he could be earnestly commended to the support and votes of the electors of West Peterborough (Loud) applause).

Mr. Roger's Remarks.

Mr. G. M. Roger, after complimenting Mr. Stratton upon the comprehensive and instructive character of his address, said that a great duty devolved upon the electors. He pointed out that this duty confronted electors especially in the province of Ontario for their was no second chamber, and the electors felt very directly the action, beneficial or otherwise of their representatives in the legislature. There was no chance of the correction or punishment of mistakes except through the ballot box, by the electors themselves. The present Government got power at the last [illegible] that that Government having been so long in power, it was time for a change, and it was very questionable whether the change had been improvement. Mr. Roger referred to the action of the Government in compelling rural school trustees to pay a minimum salary as an outrage of the principle of representative government—depriving the people of the inalienable right of deciding for themselves, how they should spend their own money. The principle was essentially wrong and vicious and he did not think the people would stand for such invasion of their rights. He also pointed out that in the matter of the provincial funds expended upon the provincial university, the people under the late Government had the right every year in the person of their representatives in parliament of criticizing the manner of the expenditure. That liberty of criticism had been taken from the people's representatives and had been transferred to a board of men not responsible to the people. The removal of this liberty of criticism was robbing the people of their liberties, and centralizing power in a manner hostile to the good government and welfare of the country.

Spoils System Denounced

Mr. Roger referred scathingly to the introduction of the spoils system as an evil copying of the evil system of the United States, where with every change of office there was a change of officials—to the victors belonged "the spoils"—so that public officials as a class, knowing that they had only four or five years in office, would make the best of their opportunity for plundering the public. That was the system that had been introduced into Ontario by the present Government. It was a grave mistake to change public officials except for justifiable cause. There had been a clean sweep of magistrates by the Whitney Government, and though some of them were re-appointed there were hundreds of good ones dropped. There were more King's Counsels appointed in one batch by the Whitney Government than in the antecedent history of the province. The spoils system in its various forms was the worst form of political corruption and its adoption by the Whitney Government meant that the baser element of the party had got the upper hand. The Whitney Government had only been a short time in power but in that brief time it had not shown its ability to make good. Though they may not have had sufficient time to carry out their promises of reform, yet the greater part of what they had done meant a retrograde movement. He could see no earthly reason why such Liberals and Independents as had been elected at the last election should support the present Government. Mr. Rogers concluded a neat little speech by paying a tribute to the sterling worth of the young and progressive Liberal candidate, Mr. Gillespie.

The meeting closed with three cheers for the King, the Candidate and the Chairman.

SEVEN-YEAR WAR.

Three-Cent Rate Now In Vogue In Cleveland, O.

Cleveland, O., April 29.—Three-cent car fare on all lines operating within the city of Cleveland within the next ten days became a possibility Monday night at the regular meeting of the city council, when a "security grant" was passed under suspension of the rules of the Cleveland Railway Co., a new corporation which took over the consolidated properties of the old companies.

Thus ends the seven years' contest which has been alleged here for lower street railway fare and public control of urban transportation.

Following the settlement, President Dupont, who took charge of the newly-organized company at midnight, announced that free transportation would be granted the people yesterday as an evidence of the cessation of the troubles, and that upon the same date each year an effort will be made to "consecrate" the day in a similar manner.

CAPSIZED IN STORM.

Steamer Marion Turns Over—Fifteen Thrown Overboard.

Helena, Ark., April 29.—Fifteen persons lost their lives and several others sustained serious injuries, while several score are suffering from exposure as the result of the capsizing of the river steamer Marion, having aboard members of a carnival company near the mouth of the St. Francis river.

The steamer was caught in a windstorm and overturned when 200 yards from shore, and with the exception of several who were washed into the water, those aboard clung to the overturned boat and drifted for several hours, the waves from time to time washing one after another into the waters, until a gasoline launch arrived. The Marion was a 65-ton boat.

CHURCHILL OFFERED SEAT.

Will Contest Dundee Which Is Considered Quite Safe.

London, April 29.—Winston Churchill, President of the Board of Trade, has accepted an invitation to contest Dundee, where there is a vacancy, caused by the elevation of Right Hon. Edmund Robertson to the peerage. This is one of the safest Liberal seats in the United Kingdom. Mr. Churchill's chief opponent will be Sir George Baxter, a Unionist, but it is likely that the Labor and Prohibition parties will have candidates in the field.

Capt. Murray, Liberal, was elected to Parliament Monday for the County of Kincardineshire, defeating Mr. Gammel, his Unionist opponent, by 1,698, as compared with 2,353, the majority by which the late incumbent was elected in 1906.

Fire at St. John, N.B.

St. John, N.B., April 29.—Members of the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society, while returning about three o'clock yesterday morning from their annual ball, held Monday evening in the Victoria Rink, learned that their hall on Union street was being destroyed by fire.

The fire originated in A. J. Russell's candy factory. Other tenants were: Patrick Doherty, tailor; J. E. Hogan, liquors; J. Cullinson & Sons, clothiers; Jos. Mitchell, stoves; W. H. Underhill, printer; John Gallagher, tailor; John B. Bardsley, hatter. All suffered considerable damage both from fire and water.

The Irish society lose about $1,000, while the total loss is about $20,000.

Arrested For Smuggling.

Plattsburg, N.Y., April 29.—Joseph Breitman of New York was arrested here on complaint of the custom officials for alleged fraudulent entry of 263 pieces of Persian lambskin, valued at over $500. The skins were concealed in a package of fur pieces shipped by express by Breitman in Montreal, consigned to himself in New York.

Wetaskiwan, Alta., April 29.—Abram Tristum of Rosneoll was shot while crossing the farm of Olaf Radnor near Camrose. Radnor was severely handled after the shooting by Tristum and two others who were with him, being stabbed and flogged. Both parties have been sent up for trial.

Bomb-Thrower Dead.

New York, April 29.—Selig Silverstein, the anarchist who attempted to throw a bomb into a group of policemen in Union square several weeks ago, and was injured by the premature explosion of the bomb, died in the Bellevue Hospital yesterday.

Raisuli Still Lives.

Tangier April 29.—It has been learned definitely that the report in circulation Monday that Raisuli had been assassinated, is untrue. He was ambushed by the Elkmes tribesmen, but escaped.

Woke Up to Face a Burglar.

Chatham, April 29.—E. Demara, a storekeeper of Stony Point, was aroused at the point of revolver yesterday morning by two men, and robbed of a considerable amount of money.

VESSEL CUT IN TWO AT SEA

Torpedo Boat Destroyer in Serious Collision at Night.

ENGINEER WAS DROWNED

Scout Attentive Crashed Into the Gala While Manoeuvring In the North Sea—No Other Lives Lost—Five Men Injured by Boiler Tube Explosion on Another British Warship, the Britannia.

Harwich, Eng., April 29.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Gala was cut in two and sunk early yesterday morning off Kentish Knock, in the North Sea, by the scout Attentive. The torpedo boat destroyer Ribble was also involved in the collision, and returned to Sheerness with two compartments full of water. The flotilla was engaged in night manoeuvres when the accident occurred. Engineer Lieut. Frank A. Fletcher, of the Gala, who was in his bunk at the point where the destroyer was struck, went down with the vessel. There was no other loss of life.

Portsmouth, April 29.—The explosion of a boiler tube on the British battleship Britannia during a full speed trial yesterday, injured five men, four seriously and one slightly.

The Britannia reported the accident by wireless telegraph to this place, and late last night she anchored at Spithead. The injured were not brought ashore and no communication could be had with the battleship last night

DIED FROM GRIEF.

Old Man Loses All His Family In Salette Disaster.

Buckingham, Que., April 29.—Yesterday afternoon another death occurred at Notre Dame de la Salette, indirectly the result of the landslide. Jules Lamoure, aged 84, died in his chair. He was the father of Mrs. Charron and the grandfather of her three sons, all of whom were victims of the landslide and the shock was too much for the old man. He will be buried on Thursday. He leaves one daughter and six sons.

There are now still 14 bodies missing, though every search has been made for them, none can be found. The funeral of 16 victims buried in 15 coffins yesterday, was the most remarkable ever held in Canada, and may never be duplicated.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Major, M.P. for Labelle, was authorized by a meeting to request Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, to see that the channel is cleared.

Gracia Desjardines, the little girl whose mother and two brothers are dead, will enter a convent at Ottawa, where her sister is, and she will be well looked after.

Dramatic scenes of every kind continue and the village is still dazed with grief.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Rochette Found Guilty of Murder—Will Die In June.

Quebec, April 29.—The verdict of the jury in the case of Omer Rochette was rendered at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. Rochette was found guilty of having poisoned his wife on the 17th of November last and was immediately condemned to be hanged Saturday, June 27, at 8 o'clock a.m. at the common jail of the district.

Mr. Greenshields, who had objected to certain parts of the charge made to the jury on Monday, Judge Cross, made a motion for a suspension of the sentence, but did not succeed.

Asked if he had anything to say against the verdict before the sentence Omer Rochette, who did not seem to be the least moved, replied that he had nothing to say.

The court was crowded and the verdict was a surprise because the general opinion was that the jury would disagree, though the judge's charge was against the prisoner. The case may go in appeal.

Rochette is the man who married a young girl 12 days after the funeral of his first wife. He then fled to Chicago.

Japanese Farm Colony.

Vancouver, B.C., April 29.—Eleven Japanese arrived Monday night on the Empress of India, from Yokohama en route to Calgary. They are the first consignment of settlers from Japan and will be located on land bought in the Alberta irrigation belt by a Japanese company, which plans to start an Oriental colony in that province.

The Japanese were properly passported and their entrance was not opposed by the Dominion immigration authorities. They had permission from the Mikado to enter, travel and to settle in Canada.

Started the Survey.

Goderich, April 29.—V. M. Roberts has been appointed chief engineer, and with a staff of draughtsmen, rodmen and chainmen, started yesterday the preliminary surveys of the West Shore Electric Road, which is to be built from Goderich to Kincardine, a distance of 30 miles.

It is expected this line will take two years in construction.

WE ALL USE PE-RU-NA IN OUR HOME

Who is best able to judge of the value of Pe-ru-na? The housewife who has used it in her home for years, or prejudiced, sensational writers who have never used Pe-ru-na in their lives? It will not take any fair-minded reader a minute to decide which is the best evidence. The mothers of the United States believe in Pe-ru-na. The half million women who praise Pe-ru-na receive no pay for doing so, and the half dozen editors who disparage Pe-ru-na get big pay for doing so. Which is the best evidence?

MRS. ANNIE TESCH.

Now Eats and Sleeps Well.

Mrs. Annie Tesch, 837 23rd Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "When I wrote to you for advice, my health was a total wreck. I could not sleep and thought I would die, as there seemed to be no help for me. But I followed your advice and took Peruna and Manalin.

"I am now cured. I can eat and sleep well, and enjoy life.

"I never will be without Peruna, should any of us be sick."

Catarrh of Worst Form.

Mrs. Amanda Long, 7237 Seeley Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I believe that I am cured of catarrh of the worst form and of long standing.

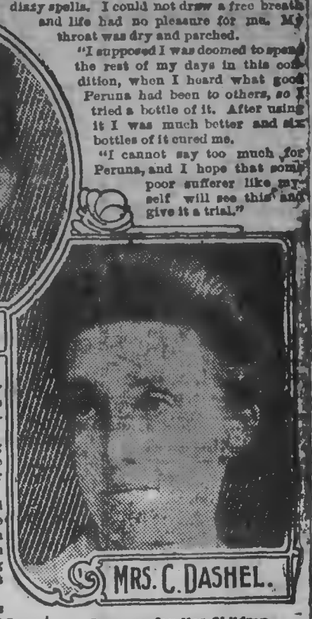
"I was almost a total wreck. I tried almost everything and doctored with a number of doctors, but they did me no good.

"I tried Peruna as a last resort, and by the time I had taken one bottle I could see that it was helping me, and so I continued taking it. I can say now that I have not felt the slightest symptoms for three months, and I think there is nothing like Peruna. I still keep it in the house, and think there is no medicine like it. I cannot praise it too highly, and bless the day that I learned of it."

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1421 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., writes that several complications united in pulling her down, and she thanks Peruna for new life and strength.

Pain in the Stomach.

Mrs. Mois Parizeau, Ste. Julie de Vercheres, P. Q., Canada, writes that she suffered five years with pain in the stomach. The pains extended through her body, and she also had difficulty in breathing. Her husband heard of Peruna and bought five bottles. This treatment virtually cured her.



MRS. J. C. RUSSELL.

Acute Indigestion.

Mr. John C. Russell, 810 County Street, Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows:

"I thought it would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife.

"Two years ago the doctor called at our house, on an average, three times a week, in attendance upon my wife, who was suffering from acute indigestion. Her suffering was so great that nothing but morphine would give her relief.

"While on a visit to some friends in Norfolk she had an attack and I prepared to go for the doctor, when our friend proposed Peruna. I gave her a dose, repeating it in a half hour, and her pains passed away. Since that time my wife has gained thirty pounds.

Gained Thirty Pounds.

"We are never out of Peruna. When the children or I have a cold we take some of mamma's Peruna. I find it has cut my doctor bills down to almost nothing."

MRS. C. DASHEL.

Sore Throat for Years.

Mrs. C. Dashel, 834 Irving Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Curator Natural History Society, writes:

"I am glad to be able to recommend Peruna for chronic sore throat. I had been troubled with sore throat for years, but could find nothing to help me. I had an awful gagging in the morning and was subject to dizzy spells. I could not draw a free breath and life had no pleasure for me. My throat was dry and parched.

"I supposed I was doomed to spend the rest of my days in this condition, when I heard what good Peruna had been to others, so I tried a bottle of it. After using it I was much better and six bottles of it cured me.

"I cannot say too much for Peruna, and I hope that some poor sufferer like myself will see this and give it a trial."

Pe-ru-na for Her Children.

Mrs. Alice Bogle, 803 Clinton St., Circleville, Ohio, writes:

"I want to inform you what Peruna has done for me.

"I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peruna. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me.

"I also find it of great benefit to my children."

DISASTER FROM THE TROLLEYS COLLIDING

Six Killed in Car Wreck Near Detroit.

THIRTY PERSONS INJURED

Some of Them Seriously—Cars Were Running Forty-Five Miles an Hour—Motorman Mistook His Orders—One Car Was Completely Telescoped — Accident Occurred Dashing Round a Curve.

Detroit, April 29.—Six people were killed and a score or more injured, several of them fatally, when a limited car, eastbound, on the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago Electric Road, generally known as the Ann Arbor line, collided with a regular car four miles east of Ypsilanti, near Denton, yesterday. It is said that confusion over the orders, which are reported to have been changed, was responsible for the collision.

The cars crashed together head-on and were smashed to pieces. Motorman Fay is reported to be one of the dead. The point where the accident occurred is about 35 miles west of the city. Early reports are that the limited car completely telescoped the regular car.

The limited car comfortably filled with about 40 people, left Ypsilanti at 2.17 for Detroit. The running time of the car was changed yesterday and reduced so that Motorman Fay left Ypsilanti 10 minutes earlier than he has been accustomed to. This is thought by some to have been responsible for his mistake. Instead of stopping at Harris Switch, about two miles west of the scene of the accident, where it is said, by the officials of the road, the cars should have passed, the limited rushed by the crossing point at high speed. As it rounded a curve four miles east of Ypsilanti the local car flashed into view, also running at high speed. It was a hopeless effort to try and stop the heavy cars and they crashed together with terrific impact. Motorman Wingrove of the local car jumped when he saw that the collision was inevitable, but Motorman Fay stuck to his vestibule. The local car telescoped the other for nearly 80 feet.

Hardly a passenger escaped injury of some sort. Bruises and cuts from broken glass were general among those who had fortunately escaped more serious wounds. A relief car was sent to the scene from Ypsilanti and carried the severely injured to the hospital at Ann Arbor.

Douks Go to British Columbia.

Winnipeg, April 29.—One hundred Doukhobors will shortly leave for British Columbia. Their leader, Peter Veregin, has bought 2,700 acres of land on the Columbia river near Nelson, where they will go into fruit-raising on a large scale.

ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING

Held at St. John's Church Last Night—Ministers During August and September.

THE WARDENS APPOINTED

The adjourned meeting of St. John's Vestry was held last night. The rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Palmer presented the report of the Women's Auxiliary, showing a very satisfactory year's work.

Mrs. P. Campbell presented the treasurer's report of the above society, which showed a balance on hand of $11.77.

Miss Maude Perry submitted the report of the King's Daughters. This report demonstrated quite clearly the splendid charitable work accomplished by this society in relieving those less fortunate than themselves.

Miss Hugel's financial report of the King's Daughters showed the funds to have been spent to praiseworthy advantage.

Miss Horsefield's report of the Girls' Guild showed a highly satisfactory year's work.

The report of the Girls' Auxiliary as read by Miss Wilson, was also of a gratifying nature.

Mr. Frank Linton read the report of the Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which told of the excellent condition of this commendable brotherhood of young people.

The rector named Mr. Joseph Mills as his warden for the coming year.

Mr. Chas. H. J. Mitchell was re-elected people's warden.

Mr. Morris moved, seconded by Mr. Harry Long, the adoption of the Financial Report as audited.—Carried.

Messrs. Hughes-Charles, Coulthard and Lancaster were added to the personnel of last year's Advisory Board.

Dr. Boucher reported that Rev. Mr. Rattie, of Nashville, Tennessee, will officiate in the church during June and July, and Rev. Mr. Forster, of Stouvensville, Ohio, during August and September, which months the rector will be absent in England.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer ONE HUNDRED Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

TENT ERECTED IN THE GYMNASIUM

Camp Reunion at Y. M. C. A. Proved a Pleasant Event.

The first Y. M. C. A. Camp Reunion of the season was held last night in the gymnasium, and attended by over twenty-five boys and young men. A programme of music, songs, speeches and refreshments were given by the boys, and the gymnasium was made to resemble a camping ground. A tent was erected and Chinese lanterns illuminated the darkened gymnasium, giving it much the appearance of a camp. Reports of the Boys' Convention, recently held in Brantford, was received from the delegates. After this each fellow was given a chance to say how he thought the summer camp might be made more attractive. The programme was as follows:

Piano solo—Mr. R. Robertson.
Vocal solo—Mr. G. Martin.
Convention report—Ray Scott.
Convention report—Stanley Wade.
Song—Mr. Coleman.
Discussion on Camp Life.
Camp report—Dr. Middleton.
Song—Mr. Coleman.

REV. D. C. HOSSACK ON THE WHITNEY GOVERNMENT; SAYS THAT PREMIER HAS BEEN FALSE

Points to Misrule, Denouncing Gerrymander and MacKenzie Guarantee — Has Disappointed Those Who Believed In Him.

ENTERS STRONG PROTEST

Toronto, April 29.—The Globe of yesterday says: The Rev. D. C. Hossack, as an Independent in politics, wrote a letter during the campaign of 1905 that was used to great advantage by the Whitney campaigners. Mr. Hossack, like thousands of other Independents and Liberals who favoured a change of Government in 1905, has since learned that the Hon. James Pliny Whitney is a politician and not a statesman. Mr. Hossack has written another letter, which is published in this issue. It is well worth reading. Some of the points Mr. Hossack makes are as follows:

"On January 24, 1905, Mr. Whitney made a public appeal for aid, and declared that should his future conduct not be approved, the people might withdraw their confidence. Does Mr. Whitney feel that he has lost public confidence? He has so arranged many constituencies by hiving Liberals, that the withdrawal of Liberal confidence will not affect the standing of the parties in the Legislature. On January 26, 1905, Mr. Whitney published his 'glad appreciation' of the fact that 'Liberals in large numbers' supported him. In 1908, apparently with the expectation of losing Liberal support, Mr. Whitney's appreciation is expressed by hiving the Liberals. There were a grim humour in the situation did it not savour so strongly of the very ordinary, commonplace and tricky politician.

The Three-fifths Clause

"When the Government passed the three-fifths clause of the local option act they were guilty of reactionary legislation. Ever since Ontario became a Province the majority in a municipality has had the right to decide upon the granting of licenses. These rights were firmly established and founded upon a sense of British justice, and equality. Why have the Government tampered with them?

Suspicious Acts

"A judge only a few days ago declined to hear a case in which his son-in-law was a witness. In the La Rose case the brother-in-law of one of the ministers was a claimant, and $130,000 was given to him and his associates. The explanation is that the recipients of this large sum furnished valuable information to the Government. What was the information? The people paid for it and should know what it is."

"The close of the session witnessed a rapid degeneration in the Government. Their acts have been suspicious, and the Province should be on the watch."

"Every Liberal — and there are many — who from a sense of duty supported in the last campaign the party now in power, when he considers the present situation, will perceive that the same sense of duty compels him to labour for a strong and able Opposition."

Too Much Lobbying

"The lobbying system has developed rapidly, and is now pernicious and dangerous. The Government alone can provide the remedy. The favourites of the Government—lawyers and others who trade on their ability to manipulate the members of the Cabinet and their supporters — are the potent forces of the lobby. The Government are aware of this and should give redress.

"There has been a tendency to shirk responsibility and to conceal what should be public. Work for which the departments should be responsible has been handed over to commissions. By special statutes, salaries of ministers increased as they have been, and other expenditures, have been somewhat concealed. In this way the passing of appropriations is avoided.

The MacKenzie Gurantee

"Perhaps the most conspicuous act of the recent session was the guarantee of $2,500,000 securities for MacKenzie & Mann. That this occurred during the closing hours was suspicious. Mr. Whitney had on former occasions strenuously objected to bringing down railway subsidies at the close of the session. It is said that the explanation of this suspicious affair is a campaign fund. But with forty majority, why should a campaign fund be required?

Expenditure

"The annual expenditure of the Province has increased rapidly and materially. In the last three years there has been an increase of per capita expenditure equal to the increase of the preceding thirty-two years of Liberal Government. Of course, there has been an increase of revenue, but there must be a halt in the increase of expenditure.

"In some respects the Government have gone far towards Socialistic radicalism, and on some occasions have surrendered to privileged corporations."

THE SITUATION OF THE SUGAR MARKET

Expert Gives Opinion on What Price May be

The position of the sugar market is explained by the following:

M. G. Warnor and Co., commenting on sugar, say: "Prices have been getting higher. Raws have advanced from 3.67c to 4.49c and refined from 4.70c to 5.00c. The conditions have justified the advance. The held-over sugars the world had in stock will help us through, and there will be enough to meet consumption, but this is an irregular year, the relation of supply to demand occupies a changed position, the margin being so considerably narrower and the result is again being reflected in the prices ruling. We wouldn't say that raw sugar would this year reach 5.31c or refined 6.15c as they did in 1905, but there is room, with the big consuming season directly ahead of us and no extra stocks to come until the reaping of the new crops for additional advances. The outlook is favourable; we expect considerably higher prices than those ruling to-day, and firm markets can be counted upon all through the season."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Music and Drama

PRIMROSES' ALL STAR MINSTRELS

The attraction at the Grand next Monday, May 4th, will be George Primrose and his Big Minstrel Company, which is said to be the grandest and most elaborate in the world, and judging from the list of comedians, singers, dancers and musicians associated with Mr. Primrose it is safe to say that this is no idle boast. Theatre goers of to-day will not content themselves with the minstrel performances that have been presented in the past, consisting of a few ordinary musicians, singers and vaudeville acts. Mr. Primrose being aware of this fact, has therefore selected the best vocal talent in the country, as well as an operatic orchestra of picked musicians, also the greatest comedians and dancers in the minstrel world.

The opening first part is said to be the handsomest scenic interior put on the stage, being done in green and gold. During this part all the latest comic songs, jokes and ballads will be rendered by a host of comedians, singers and dancers.

The second part will contain many new pleasing features, rendering inspiring pictures of the south, with new and up-to-date novelties, including a very funny burlesque on our national game, baseball, which is said to be a very ridiculous satire on the nation's leading ball team.

ANOTHER CITIZEN CUTS HIS LAWN

Mr. Frank Wise Was Out on Monday, the First Day of the Mowing Season.

Chief Roszel is not the only citizen who lays claim to the white cap for being the first to cut his lawn. Mr. Frank Wise, caretaker of the Little Lake Cemetery, was out with his lawn mower the same day as the chief. It consequently remains with the donor of the immaculate headgear to call it a dead heat.

REASON FOR POOR SALE OF DOG TAGS

Citizens Claim That Their Dogs Were Poisoned During the Past Year.

While Chief Roszel has been warning, personally, several of the assessed dog owners of the city of the consequences that will follow if they do not take out a license by to-morrow night, he found out that there is another reason besides carelessness on the part of the dog owners as to why they are not buying tags.

This morning the Chief broached the matter to several persons, and was surprised to find that their dogs had been poisoned during the past year. This is the position of several citizens, but there are eight hundred assessed who have not been heard of as yet.

FLOWERS, FLOWERS

Now is the time to leave your orders for vases, hanging basket and window box plants, etc. We have a fine stock of annuals, perrenials and climbers. Young Men's Bible Class Hold Their First Annual Banquet

In St. Andrew's Hall Last Night—Ladies of the Church Waited at Table—Splendid Toast List.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

The members of the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Andrew's church gathered in the hall last night and held their annual meeting and first banquet. There were about thirty members present and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The first part of the evening was taken up with the business of the class, and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Honourary President—Rev. J. G. Potter.

President—Mr. W. Armstrong.

Vice-President — Mr. R. Patterson.

Secretary -Mr. J. Greer.

Treasurer—Mr. Frank Gillespie.

The members then sat down to a sumptuous spread and their wants were attended to by the ladies of the church who waited at table. The festive board was very prettily decorated and the menu consisted of many dainty dishes.

After the banquetters had done justice to the tempting viands placed before them, Mr. Neil Rutherford, the toast-master, began the splendid toast list by proposing that of "The King," after which the company rose and sang the National Anthem.

Reading—Mr. John.

Speech—Mr. N. Rutherford.

Toast, "Success of the Bible Class," responded to by Mr. F. J. Ferguson

Inst. Solo—Miss Tully.

Toast, "To those who won, and the deserving brave who lose," responded to by Messrs. E. Wegg and J. Evans.

Solo—Miss B. King.

Toast, "The Teachers and Officers," responded to by Messrs. W. McCullough and W. Armstrong.

Toast, "The Ladies," responded to by Messrs. T. O'Donaldson, G. Patterson, E. Campbell and G. Charter.

The toast list finished, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the ladies who waited at table, and to those who took part in the programme, and the gathering broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

THE BOARD OF WORKS MAKES ITS SPRING TOUR

Drove Around the City on Annual Inspection Trip

The Board of Works Committee of the City Council, held their annual spring tour of inspection yesterday, driving around the city with a view to visiting the places where work will have to be done during the summer. All day was taken up with the tour and all parts of the city were visited. To-night there will be a meeting of the Committee at 8 o'clock, when a considerable amount of business will be taken up.

WAS REMANDED UNTIL FRIDAY

Crown Attorney Was Not Ready To Go On—Bail Was Granted.

The man, who was arrested some days ago, on a charge of theft of several articles from Mrs. Bradd, and remanded until to-day, appeared in the police court this morning, and was remanded again until Friday, as the Crown Attorney was not ready to go on. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared on behalf of the defendant and asked for bail, which was granted.

A large crowd gathered in the police court to hear the case, but the session was of short duration.

Dear Sir,—Allow me, please, to call the attention of the authorities to the games of ball that are played on Sunday afternoons in the field east of the King Edward School. Not only do boys violate the Sunday by their rowdy game, but their language is most foul. Many of the boys are quite young, and the police should see that this gathering does not occur on another Sunday.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

Administration of justice has increased 20 per cent.

Agricultural College has increased 106 per cent.

Colonization 116 per cent.

Public buildings 33 per cent.

Miscellaneous service 43 per cent.

Mr. Hall concluded a rousing speech by urging the electors to return Mr. Gillespie as member for West Peterborough. He felt sure that he would prove to be a valuable member, and a credit to the riding.

Candidate's Address

Mr. Gillespie followed with a short sensible address. He said he had at first declined to accept the nomination, but upon being pressed by the party he represented, he had decided to enter the field. He had served the public for twenty years—and he thought he had met with fair success—and the same course would be taken if he were elected to the Legislature. The business there was identical to that which was being done by school boards, cheese factory boards, etc.—only on a larger and broader scale. It should, therefore, only require a man to be honest, and to use his best judgment, and it was for the people to say who would give them the best service.

Mr. Gillespie next explained his business connections since coming to Peterborough County, stating that he believed in co-operation between the county and the city, and that co-operation was necessary in advancing the interests of both.

Mr. G. M. Rogers

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. G. M. Roger, who dealt in a comprehensive and able manner with the independence due to every member of the Anglo-Saxon race. He pointed out that the Whitney Government, during its term of office, had taken liberties from the people, to which they had a perfect right. This was so in the case of the legislation regarding rural schools, when the Whitney Government dictated what the trustees had to do. It was so in the recent gerrymander throughout the province, when representation by population was denied.

The Whitney Government had withdrawn rights belonging to the people, and the people should show their condemnation of such actions at the coming provincial elections.

The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for the king.

WEDDING BELLS

LeVASSEUR-SELF

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral at 8 o'clock this morning when Miss Agnie Self, daughter of the late Mr. Samuel Self of Kingston, was united in marriage to Mr. Albert LeVasseur, son of Mr. Joseph LeVasseur of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Galvin in the presence of a number of the friends of the young people. Miss Hannah LeVasseur was bridesmaid, and Mr. Fred LeVasseur, brother of the groom was best man. The bride looked very pretty in a suit of brown lady's cloth and wore a hat to match. The bridesmaid was attired in brown voile and also had a hat to match. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. LeVasseur repaired to the home of Mrs. Alex Robertson, sister of the bride, where an inviting luncheon had been prepared. The happy couple received many handsome presents as remembrances of the occasion. They will reside in the city. Mr. LeVasseur is one of the genial clerks at the National Hotel.

MR. GEORGE A. GILLESPIE, THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE, OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN THE LOCAL ELECTION CONTEST

First Gun Fired At Fourth Line Hall, Smith Township---Hon. J. R. Stratton Speaks On Candidate's Behalf----Comprehensive Review Of The Political Situation---Demonstration Of How The Conservative Government Gained Power Under False Pretenses---Promise And Policy In Opposition Do Not Square With Failure Of Performance In Office---Mr. Bradburn's Course Criticized.

The opening meeting of the campaign in the interest of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the Liberal Candidate for the representation of West Peterborough, was held in the hall in the Fourth Line of Smith on Monday evening, and was a very promising beginning. There was a good attendance of electors who gave Mr. Gillespie a most cordial greeting. This is a neighborhood in which Mr. Gillespie spent many years of his life and the fact of his being so highly esteemed where he is well known, constitutes a valuable tribute to his sterling qualities of character. He very briefly addressed the meeting, chiefly on personal lines. He had not sought the position of Candidate, but it had been given him. He, however, had accepted the responsibility and would, while not binding himself to a rigid support of any particular programme, take the position and follow the course, which, in his judgment, would conduce to the best interests of the riding and province. While he was naturally anxious to succeed in the campaign, he did not want to win success by any other than fair means, and would conduct a clean, straightforward, honest contest. Hon. Mr. Stratton dealt somewhat in detail with the record of the Whitney Government during their short term of office, and successfully established his claim that upon almost every item of policy to which their declarations and professions before going into office had committed them, they had fallen short, and that they had therefore gained and were holding power upon false pretences. It was similarly shown that the Government supporter in West Peterborough was in a similar position, and that he had not shown any fair appreciation of the support to which he largely owed the large majority by which he had been returned. Mr. Roger's brief remarks were devoted to analyizing the violation by the Government of the day of the principles upon which the success of representative institutions and Government depends.

The chair was occupied by Mr. T. H. Graham, who, in his opening remarks, refered to the high character Mr. Gillespie had gained during his residence in Smith Township.

The Candidate Speaks

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the candidate, on rising, was received with enthusiastic applause. He said that he had not come there that night to make a political speech, Hon. Mr. Stratton had kindly consented to deal with the public questions at issue. He said that he had not sought the nomination, but it had been offered him and he had accepted it and intended to exercise all honourable efforts possible to justify the confidence that had been reposed in him. He had no political reputation—there was nothing against him on that score—but he had had a considerable experience in active work connected with the great dairying interests of the province. Ten years ago the present month he had come into Smith township as a dairyman; five years later he had left the township and they would remember as he did with gratitude, that on that occasion he had been presented with an address in that very hall. Since he had lived in the city he had tried to do his duty as an honourable business man and a good citizen, with the same singleness of purpose that had influenced his course in Smith. If he were elected he would try to do his duty as he saw it. He was determined from the beginning, to run a clean election. He would claim reasonable independence on political lines; independence of political view and action were coming more into prominence every day. They had had an experience of four years of Mr. Bradburn's representation and they knew how he had justified his election. He would ask the electors to study and consider the public questions at issue and to deal with his own claims for support in a similar manner. He concluded by asking the support of the electors on the strength of the political policy he represented and upon his record as a citizen, animated by a desire to do the best for the riding and province if he were honoured with the gift of its representation. (Applause)

Mr. Stratton's Address

Hon. Mr. Stratton, who was very cordially received, in opening his address remarked that Mr. Gillespie had informed them that he had received and accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of West Peterborough to contest the representation of the riding in the Liberal interest at the coming general elections. It was at Mr. Gillespie's special request that he was there tonight. As they were aware, he stated that he was out of politics as a candidate, but he could hardly refuse a Liberal candidate's request to speak in his behalf and he did not intend to refuse, especially when he was not only speaking in behalf of a candidate so well worthy of Liberal support, but incidentally dealing with the general political situation present and past. Mr. Gillespie was so well known, so well thought of, that it was not necessary for him to refer more particularly to him and his qualifications. They would agree if the people have the good judgment to elect Mr. Gillespie, the riding will have a first-class representative.

It was necessary in this country and under its political system, to have political parties. It was desirable indeed that it should be so. All the wisdom, all the patriotism, all the honesty, and all the good judgment should not be, and was not confined to one party, even if it was had reposed in it the confidence of the people for the time being.

It was therefore necessary that there should be strong and vigilant opposition, to watch the Government and to criticise closely and mete out fair criticism of their policy and actions. While parties where necessary, and desirable, it was also wise that the electorate should not be hidebound in its political attitude. It should support and encourage the party which for the time being possessed the preponderating share of public approval in the views and ideas best calculated to promote the interests of the community.

Fair Appeal Made

As they are aware, he had never in his election campaigns, appealed to the support of the Liberal Party exclusively. But he had sought support on the ground of the views he advanced. He did not ask Liberals to support him merely because he was a Liberal, nor did he expect Conservatives to vote against him for a similar reason. If the electorate would vote for what is right, then the cause of good government would be advanced, and the business of the country carried on successfully.

Mr. Stratton said he had nothing whatever personally to say against Mr. Bradburn, who had represented, or rather been the member for West Peterborough during the past parliamentary term. He should only deal with him in relation to his representative capacity.

Mr. Bradburn can have no complaints to make of the manner in which the electors of West Peterborough treated him at the last elections. They dealt generously with him, took a good deal for granted and accepted him largely on trust. Now, when he was again appealing to the people, the question was, had he met the obligations the people's trust had imposed upon him? That was a fair subject of inquiry to which the people had a right to demand a straightforward answer. What had been Mr. Bradburn's attitude towards those to whom he largely owed his election?

Mr. Bradburn's Attitude

In the first place it might be pointed out that never in the history of the riding, at least in the twenty years preceding 1905, had there been any treatment of the members of the Conservative party founded upon the principle, "to the victors belong the spoils." They had always been treated fairly and justly, their rights to the good offices of their representative was as much respected as if they had been his supporters.

What had been the condition since Mr. Bradburn became the member for West Peterborough, and the Whitney Government came into power? This might be answered by asking a few question pertinent to the subject. Mr. Bradburn did not gain his election by so large a majority without the help of a considerable number of Liberals, and he was therefore, under some little obligation to treat Liberals fairly, and not show hostility to them. Fair play demanded fair treatment.

For instance, the speaker inquired, why was Mr. George Cochrane dismissed from the position of license inspector to give place to Mr. Jos. Stewart, who already had a position on the Peterborough police force. Mr. Cochrane was a long-time resident of the County, known of all men as a reputable and respected citizen and was a good official, doing his duty acceptably to the people; doing is as well, at least as his successor had done. Mr. Stewart had a good and assured position on the police force of Peterborough, which many are anxious to get. Why was Mr. Cochrane dismissed against the wishes of the License Commissioners, who recognized him as a good inspector, unless it was that Mr. Bradburn yielded to a clique, who demanded that the spoils should be divided among the victors?

"Spoils" Specimens

Mr. Bradburn, in so consenting, showed that he had a short memory for favours received—for the generous treatment he had received at the hands of many Liberals. Mr. Cochrane deserved better treatment than being left out in the cold at his time of life, unless for cause, which did not exist for he had a good record of faithful service.

Why, it might be asked, should Mr. Geo. E. Elliott, a former resident and councillor of Smith, now an alderman of Peterborough, have been dismissed? Why was he not retained as an official of the Wood and Forest Branch of the Provincial Service, Did not Mr. Elliott pass his examinations and qualify for the position, was not his work satisfactory, did he not do his duty? He was a popular official doing his duty without offence to anybody. He was born in the township of Smith and served his township in the Council. He had been an active member of the agricultural society of the county. He was an alderman in the city and held in high and general respect as a man and an official. Was not his work satisfactory? Did he not do his duty? Why was Mr. William Maniece, who had a good position with the Dickson Company, appointed upon the staff of the Wood and Forest Branch?

Why was Mr. D. H. Moore of the same department beheaded? For about fifteen years Mr. Moore was a good faithful officer, an excellent citizen who identified himself actively with everything for the advancement of Peterborough. Why should he be turned aside? Why should he have been forced to step aside to make room for an outsider, a man from Midland?—A Mr. Hill imported over the heads of capable local men?

Another case. Mr. Joseph Yelland, a fishery overseer on the Otonabee, was set aside. Why was he replaced by Mr. Teneice Guerin, who, subsequently, was practically dismissed to make way for Mr. Johnson, and who himself can best explain why this was done and how his successor was performing his duties? Mr. Stabler and Mr. Nicholls, of Harvey, had come under the displeasure of Mr. Bradburn and the Government. Mr. Stratton said he was not saying anything against these gentlemen, who had replaced Liberals, or their qualifications. He was merely wishing to show that Mr. Bradburn did not allow the latter to be as fairly treated as the Liberals, or a great many of them, treated him at the last election. It was well known that many of the electors accustomed to voting Liberal, supported Mr .Bradburn at the last election, and common decency and gratitude—a common sense of fair play, would have suggested that kindness should not be rewarded with a blow.

Other Examples.

Again, why should Mr. Robert Mahood, another Smith man and an official in the Parliament buildings, Toronto, have been dismissed from a position he was filling satisfactorily?

Mr. R. J. Kidd was another good official who had to walk the plank. These two latter gentlemen occupied permanent positions in the civil service, and there was no complaint that they did not fill them well. But certainly the support that Mr. Bradburn received at the last election should have permitted him to forget the activity these gentlemen had taken in the interests of the party, for they were not certainly more active in exercising their political rights than their successor had been. The men who succeeded these men he had named, were just as much politicians as those who were removed. Others who had to walk the plank might be mentioned in these and other ridings, but these were sufficient to demonstrate how plainly and unmistakably the Whitney Government by Mr. Bradburn's assistance, and with his approval, had applied their spoils system to Peterborough and West Peterborough.

A Friend Not Even Spared

In their zeal to apply the spoils system, the Government and Mr. Bradburn did not spare even gentlemen who had always worked for the Conservative party—who did good work for it; made large sacrifices for it and like other people did things not necessary to mention, for the party's advantage, that might be done under the most strenuous circumstances, and in regard to this Mr. Bradburn can apply to himself for details.

For twenty years Mr. George W. Fitzgerald has served his party faithfully, and at last, as was to be expected, the party for which he worked so hard came into power. Mr. Fitzgerald received the appointment of Game Warden, which he did not find fault with. While in the discharge of his duty and far from home he was stricken down with paralysis. His son, a popular and capable young man took up the work and performed it well. This arrangement did not, apparently, suit; Mr. Fitzgerald was considered as dead, and received as cold treatment as if he had been the worst political malefactor. To everybody's surprise, Mr. Fitzgerald received notice of the appointment of another man, outside of Peterborough. All his long years of service and sacrifice for the Conservative party were forgotten. All his weary drives and travels, which probably hastened his attack, went for nothing. Was there ever blacker ingratitude or a more contemptible exercise of the spoils system? Mr. Fitzgerald's friends must feel deeply Mr. Bradburn's share in the treatment he has received, or they are forgiving to a fault.

How can Mr. Bradburn—but that is a family affair—justify to the many friends of Mr. George W. Fitzgerald, who by a singular coincidence is another Smith man, his treatment of that gentleman? "But I have no need to champion Mr. Fitzgerald. You know, and others know, that he never supported me—was always opposed to me as he had a perfect right to be." Did not the cases he had mentioned go to plainly show that Mr. Bradburn obtained his election under false pretences? It was expected that Mr. Bradburn would deal fairly with his constituents, especially those who helped him to his place. Has he done so? Has he been the representative of the whole people, or the pliant representative or agent of a narrow clique? The people of West Peterborough have been accustomed to being represented in a manner which respected and recognized the rights of every elector, no matter what his politics were, to the fair services of the representative for the time being.

What This Shows

What does all this show? Does it not show that Mr. Bradburn was given too large a majority at the last election and that he had taken advantage of it to harrass, not only Liberals, some of whom helped him, but also to smite even his own friends? If he and the clique had not got something of a political big head would he have ventured to take the course he has taken? and would it not be well for the electors to show Mr. Bradburn and the Whitney Government that they expect and admire

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE,
Who opened the campaign in Smith on Monday night.

such a thing as fair play and decent treatment of those who helped to place them in possession of the power which they have shown such a good disposition to abuse? Should not Mr. Bradburn be shown that he is on the commonest principles of decency and fair play amenable to the people at large, and that he should be influenced in his action by consideration for the great mass of those who supported him, and not be swung by a clique in the city of Peterborough. Mr. Bradburn has not only fallen short of this, but he has not quite come up to the programme he set in his address to the electors in 1905.

Mr. Bradburn's Untenable Claims

In appealing to popular support, Mr. Bradburn said in one paragraph as follows:—

"The affairs of the province have been so conducted that the expenditure has increased enormously out of proportion to the current revenue. Extravagance has been rampant, contracts for supplies for the public institutions have been awarded without competition; orders without number have been given to party friends, and for the purpose of securing the support of political opponents. The business of the province has been under a management which, in the case of a large corporation, would not be tolerated. This Government, by virtue of its long lease of power, has become imbued with the idea that the people's money, is to be spent for the pleasure and aggrandizement of the party in power. It is time that this state of things should be changed."

Can Mr .Bradburn show where the extravagance of which he complained in 1905 has been corrected by the economy of the Whitney Government, which has increased the provincial expenditure at the rapid rate of 60 per cent.—from five and a quarter to eight millions, in three or four short years? When had there been more 'rampant' extravagance practised than since Mr. Bradburn's Conservative Government came into power? In the past three years more supplies had been awarded without tender by the present government than in the previous thirty years. More contracts had been awarded in excess of the lowest tender by the Whitney Government, than ever before. Orders had, without number, been given to party friends, without tender, and most certainly no business of a large corporation could have been conducted as the business of the province had been run by the present Conservative Government, without going to smash. The Whitney Government's short term in power, "has imbued it with the idea that the people's money is to be spent for the pleasure and aggrandizement of the party in power." Judged by the outcome, Mr. Bradburn was singularly unhappy in the choice of language used in his address to the electors in 1905.

Like Man Like Master

As Mr. Bradburn had shown that he was elected on false pretences, so Mr. Whitney had shown that he also gained power on false pretences—by ignoring in office nearly all the great principles he shouted for, and moved for, when in opposition. He made a brave show of believing in economy. What did he do, when he got a chance to put his principles into practice? Do? He jumped the provincial expenditure up from five and a quarter millions in 1904, the last year of the Ross Government, to eight millions in 1908, as these figures will show:

Expenditure:
1904	$5,267,453
1905	5,306,015
1905	6,720,179
1907	7,714,245
1908	8,000,000

In other words, the government had increased in less than five years the provincial expenditure 60 per cent. That is to say, the Whitney Government in their short lease of power have increased the provincial expenditure $1 per head of the population while the Liberal Government only increased it $1 per head in their 32 years of power. This is the record of the party that promised the people economy when they got into power. But why should there not be increased expenditure? The Whitney Government spent last year in entertainment dinners and hospitality to distinguished visitors, the total of $16,965, while the Ross Government, in its last year, spent only $150 for a similar purpose. This was only mentioned as a type of the lavish scale of expenditure upon which the people's money was wasted. Then there was no great complaint that any public interest was neglected under the Liberal Government's system of expenditure. Money was spent generously—nothing deserving was neglected—but money was not wasted; and without any great increase, but at times a decrease. From 1891 to 1896 there was a decrease in five years of $455,000 in expenditure, nearly $100,000 a year, and withal there were large undertakings assisted—one million dollars was voted for good roads, and the beet sugar industry was subsidized. Under the Whitney Government there had been large increases in the expenditure, such as the Administration of Justice civil government and legislation, without any special demand, or without a corresponding increase of efficiency.

How The Bill Grew

Mr. Stratton proceeded to show that there had been expenditures made, which were made in ways not directly in the interests of the public, since they received no corresponding advantage. He said that Mr. Whitney preached economy and practised extravagance, and this extravagance had been pushed to such an extent that, if the same scale of provincial expenditure was kept up for another Conservative term of the same length, the annaul provincial expenditure would amount at the end of that time to over twelve millions dollars. While he was not one to object to sufficient, and even generous, expenditure of public money for public purposes, Mr. Stratton said that that did not lessen the fact that there had, in the short space of about three years been an alarming increase in the expenditure. The expense of civil government, a service that does not represent actual outaly for public benefit, but for the routine of legislation and administration that, within certain limits, is subject to control, had grown in cost since 1904 seventy per cent, and this year it will reach the large total of $588,000, and the increase all round has been nearly 60 per cent. This is a fairly good record of extravagance for a government that sought power, with the chief plank in its platform, reduction of expenditure. The Conservatives, when in opposition, moved resolutions and made speeches condemning the extravagance of the Liberal Government, and promising reform in this respect. What has been the result? In 1903 the total expenditure of the province was $4,448,983; in 1905, the year the Conservatives took power, it became $5,306,015, and it advanced by leaps and bounds till this year an expenditure of $8,000,000 is slated, an increase of 60 per cent in five years.

Ashamed of the Increase

The Whitney Government is so much ashamed of its extravagance that it has resorted to the plan of hiding away a large share of the expenditure. When the late government was in power the salaries of ministers were voted openly year after year—$7,000 was placed in the estimates for the premier, and $4,000 for each of the Cabinet ministers. Under the Whitney plan of concealing expenditure, the salary of the premier, advanced to $9,000, and of the other ministers $6,000 each, never appear in the estimates at all. This was excused by the device adopted when the increase in ministers' salaries was made; a statute was passed authorizing the increase, and, therefore, the amounts do not require to be voted year after year. That is, an expenditure of some $50,000 per year is made without coming under the scrutiny of the people's representatives, a complete violation of the principle of responsible government. The same plan is adopted in regard to the money expended for the Provincial University—spent without Parliament knowing what is done with it, and without the people's representatives having an opportunity to discuss the wisdom of the expenditure, or knowing what is done with the people's money. Last year the large sum of $332,000 was devoted to the University, but not one cent of this appeared in the estimates—it was spent by a "Board of Governors," to whose meetings the press is not admitted—the people's money spent for the people's university without giving the people's representatives a chance to check the expenditure, and see whether value is received. Thus last year the big end of half a million dollars of the people's money was spent, without the people, through the members of parliament, being consulted, or permitted to discuss the wisdom of the expenditure. Thus smuggled up, however, this money does not appear in the estimates, and the government's extravagance is proportionately lessened in appearance, though not in amount. Mr. Stratton inquired if he had not shown in the matter of his promises of decreased provincial expenditure, that Mr. Whitney had gained power under false pretences.

Colonization Roads

During the past few years the following resolution was moved on the Conservative side of the House, as a declaration of their policy.

"That this House is of the opinion that the moneys voted for colonization roads in the districts where municipal government exists, should, as far as practicable, and under such inspection as may be necessary to insure the application of such moneys so voted, be expended by the municipal authorities."

Mr. Whitney and the Conservatives when in opposition, were fond of describing the money appropriated for expenditure on colonization roads as "a gigantic corruption fund." If it was "a corruption fund" under the Liberals, it would be the same under the Conservatives, for it was argued that it was a corruption fund in mass and in principle. The facts showed that the Whitney Government can beat the Liberals, not only in lavish expenditure, but in providing what they call "a corruption fund," in the way of colonization roads appropriations. The amount appropriated for colonization roads was $500,000, as against $150,000 appropriated by the Ross Government — in the last year in each case. Notwithstanding however, this great increase, to $500,000, the amount appropriated for East and West Peterborough, —was not as great for 1904 to 1908—under Mr. Whitney's and Mr. Bradburn's regime—as it was from 1900 to 1904. Here is an opportunity for Mr. Bradburn to explain why, when the colonization road money was given in chunks of $500,000 a year, West Peterborough got less than it did under a Liberal Government, with one-third less total expenditure.

Chance for Explanation

Then there was another chance for explanation. Under the late Liberal Government, there were from the Soo to Hastings, seven colonization road inspectors. Under Mr. Whitney's policy of economy, this number grew to twenty-one for the same territory. It is to be noticed that our friend Mr. Bennett, of North Monaghan, received between $700 and $800 per year for inspecting colonization roads. Could Mr. Bradburn not find any person in Galway or Harvey capable of this work? Mr. Stratton said that he had always been able to find some one in the neighborhood, so that the locality had the greatest benefit for the expenditure. Why should a man from North Monaghan be taken? We do not know just how much of Mr. Bennett's time his duty occupies, but we do know that it leaves him abundant time to make himself a general utility man for the Conservative party in the organization of conventions and the drumming up of delegates selected from the people of the township in the favour of a little clique in Peterborough, on the same principle that the tailors of Tooley street declared "We are the people of England." Mr. Garvin and his friend complain bitterly of the unfair treatment he received through the medium of Mr. Bennett, who, since it was the close season for colonization roads, had leisure to serve his party, "that is a wing of his party—for I do not believe that the fair-minded element of the party will sympathize with the tactics which employed Mr. Bennett, an official paid by the people's money, to convene a convention of delegates hostile to Mr. Garvin, who was a bona fide candidate for the nomination Mr. Burnham thus received, with an even chance of winning if a square deal had been given."

Mr. Stratton said he had stated that Mr. Whitney gained power by false pretences, and that Mr. Bradburn shared his position. Mr. Whitney condemned the "Grits" for extravagance, and promised reform. He had kept his promise by increasing the expenditure as much per head—$1.00—in 3¼ years as the Liberal Government had done in the long course of thirty-three years.

What Liberals Supplied

But one mustn't be too hard upon Mr. Whitney, for the Liberal Government is largely responsible for his extravagance — in this sense — they provided a very large share of the means. When the increasing needs of the province demanded increase of revenue, the Liberals devised several items of increase, and in referring to this another evidence may be submitted that a large share of this source of revenue was opposed by Mr. Whitney and his party, who promised to repeal it when they got the power. The estimated receipts this year from the following sources were as below:

From Succession Duties ..	$833,503
From Supplementary Rev...	672,241
From T. & N. O. Ry.	235,090
From mining sales & leases	1,184,719
From mining lic. & fees	272,379
From mining royalties	207,945
Total	$3,405,900

Here we have the very large revenue of nearly three and a half million dollars which the province never would have received but for the foresight and courage of the Liberal Government. For Mr. Whitney and his party were opposed to its adoption. The Succession Duties Act was denounced as a "robbery of the dead, and the present Provincial Treasurer moved to reduce the duties one third, and from this source the province received last year $833,500. The Supplementary Revenue Bill, providing to make large corporations pay their share for the protection they enjoyed, was opposed by every Conservative member of the House. Three times the House was divided, and three times the Conservatives solidly voted in the interests of the wealthy corporations against the measure, and three times the Liberals voted solidly, for a fair tax upon wealthy corporations, a just and equitable tax, which produced last year a revenue of $672,241. In this matter which party was the friend of the corporations, and hostile to the interests of the province? Which party was the friend of the interests of the people?

The Opposition Attitude.

In this conection it might be mentioned that when the bill to tax corporations came up the following resolution was moved by the opposition:

"That the bill be not now read, but be read a third time this day six months."

When the orders of the day required the House to go into Committee on the bill taxing Breweries and Distilleries, it was moved by the opposition:

"That Mr. Speaker do now leave the chair, and that the House do not now resolve itself into the committee, but that the House do resolve itself into the Committee on this day six months."

When the Succession Duties Act came up for consideration and improvement, the opposition moved the following amendment:

"That the bill (Number 151 to make further provision for the payment of succession duties in certain cases,) be not now read the third time, but be forthwith referred back to a Committee of the Whole House, with instructions to amend sub-sections 2 and 3 of section 4, by striking out the figures $2.50 and $5.00, and inserting in lieu thereof, $1.00, and to amend subsection 4 of said section, by striking out the figure $5.00 and inserting $2.00 in lieu thereof, and to amend sub-section 5 of said section, by striking out the word Ten and substituting therefor the word Six.

The Debt to Liberals

When the Ross Government, full of faith in the resources of the Northern parts of the province, set about exploring New Ontario, Mr. Whitney and his friends jeered at the idea, and Mr. Whitney sneered at Mr. Ross as the discoverer of New Ontario," and at a meeting in Massey Hall, he called it "the land of the stunted poplar," a sneer which implied his opinion of its worthlessness, and when in pursuance of their policy the Liberal Government projected a railway to develop the resources of this newly explored territory, the Conservatives assumed a hostile attitude. Liberal Government persevered and constructed the railway, and in its construction there was made the discovery of one of the richest silver deposits in the world, a wealth of minerals whose development last year yielded a provincial revenue of $1,665,061. In addition to this, the provincial railway projected and built by the Ross Government, itself yielded a net revenue of $235,090, which, added to the revenue from minerals discovered and developed through the operation of the railway, made a grand total, added to the provincial revenue last year, of $1,900,151—almost two million dollars primarily due entirely to the action of the Liberal Government in exploring and opening up by rail a country which Mr. Whitney jeered at as worthless. The party led by Mr. Whitney, negatively if not positively, opposed every step of a constructive policy which yielded so large an income, including the sources of revenue developed by a Liberal Government, and was responsible for adding over three and a half millions per year to the provincial revenue for, it is hoped, all time to come. Taking the increased subsidy of $400,000 allowed by the Liberal Government of the Dominion, Mr. Whitney had the benefit of over four million dollars of revenue which he would not have had but for the enterprise and public spirit of their Liberal predecessors in the Government of the province. In their blindness, the Conservatives opposed all this, except, of course, the increased Dominion subsidy, but they are quite willing to spend the money, and shameless enough to boast of a surplus last year of $600,000. With their lavish increase of the provincial expenditure, with the same public services rendered, there would have been, but for the means provided by a Liberal Government's far-seeing statesmanship a deficit last year of over a million and a half dollars. (Hear, hear.) Farmers would not call it very skilful farming, nor allow a man much credit for reaping where another had sown, and yet Mr. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, and his Conservative colleagues in the Cabinet took great credit for bringing down a "Tory" surplus with "Grit" ammunition.

Afraid of the People.

Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Conservative party, has made the boast that he is "bold enough to be honest, and honest enough to be bold." Does this boast hold good? Not at all. No public man in authority in the whole history of this country has shown the political timidity and inconsistency exhibited by Hon. Mr. Whitney. His friends boast that in his brief term of office he has shown such splendid qualities of statesmanship and administration, that he has entrenched himself so firmly in the respect and admiration and confidence of the country that he cannot be dislodged. This claim, added to the fact that he gained at the last election a majority of 43 in the House, should make Mr. Whitney so strong that he, with his vaunted policy, should have offered to give his opponents a handicap race in the provincial election contest. Has he done that? No, he has instead given his opponents a foul blow, a blow below the belt. With all his big majority and apparent advantage he has thought it an act of bravery to load the dice, stack the cards, by an unrighteous gerrymander of the constituences. In this riding he thought Mr. Bradburn strong enough with his big majority at the last election, but which he will find it was an inflated one—watered stock—that he could afford to cut off the village of Lakefield from its natural and commercial connections and dump the village into the East to embarrass the Liberal candidate and help his own man. South Monaghan, a part of West Peterborough since Confederation, was taken from the West and added to West Northumberland to handicap Mr. Sam Clarke. Toronto, which is very strongly Conservative, has been given eight members, and the manner of voting is so unfair as to absolutely, almost, prevent the election of a Liberal or Labour candidate.

City Out-Votes Country

Why give Toronto eight members at all, or why fix matters so that Liberals will be placed at a disadvantage and insure the return of eight Conservatives? With eight members of parliament, and with eight cabinet members resident in the city, Toronto will have eight more resident representatives. Thus Toronto will be placed in a position to out vote sixteen of the largest and most popular rural constituencies in the province. Under Mr. Whitney's gerrymander, Toronto will elect one memer for every 26,000 of population—and these, by a trick-ballot plan, guaranteed Conservative—while Montreal has only one member to every 45,000. Mr. Whitney may be honest enough to be bold in theory, but in practice he has not shown himself fair in gerrymandering the province. He has no excuse for the gerrymander he has perpetrated, except a determination to take an unfair advantage of his opponents. Mr. Whitney's redistribution, was a forcing of conditions to gain advantage. In 1902 he voted for the principle of redistribution being made only after every ten years census. The census will be taken in 1911 and Mr. Whitney would have consistently waited till then, but he could not in that event have achieved the unfair advantage which the gerrymander is intended to provide him at the next election. It was not justified on the plea of equalizing the population for Mr. Whitney, notably in the contiguous ridings of Caldwell and Peel, in which there was a difference in population of 7,000. But the bold and honest Premier has not only violated the first principle of redistribution but has, of course, done it in a manner to give the Conservative party a decided and undue advantage. He is again afraid to meet the electors on his record, even with a majority of 43 in the House. The Government has committed similar outrages in other parts of the province, and all with the object of giving him and his party an unfair advantage in the coming elections.

Gerrymander's Wide Sweep

But not content with giving "Tory Toronto" four additional members to help that city out-vote the farmer members, but in the new constituencies he has given the Liberals the bad end of the bargain. In many places there is no municipal councils to prepare the voters' lists. They are to be prepared by Conservative government officials. The faithful were told the bounds of the new ridings in advance and the Conservative workers were organized and at work weeks before the boundaries of the new ridings were announced in the House, so that Conservative voters are in a position to be registered, even having their names, in some cases, put on without appearing to register, while Liberal electors are compelled to grope in the dark register under all sorts of obstruction and difficulties, many of them not at all, with the result that hundreds will be disfranchised, and Mr. Whitney will have another powerful handicap in play, showing how, without a stuffed representation in Toronto, a rural gerrymander, a majority of 43 to begin with, and all the influences that possession of power gives, he is afraid to meet the people at the coming elections without adding a scheme to disfranchise Liberal voters in the New Ontario constituencies. Mr. Whitney has certainly little reason to claim credit for being "honest enough to be bold." Even some of Mr. Whitney's most ardent party supporters could not stand the gerrymander, and Mr. Rathburn, of Hastings, who usually voted with the Government could not swallow his gerrymander tactics, and general condemnation followed his taking unfair advantage of the Lieutenant Governor's position to compel him to express in the latter's speech his approval of an unfair scheme to place political opponents at a disadvantage. The Goderich Star, a Conservative journal through and through, condemns the gerrymander of Huron, which is so arranged as to make two ridings safe Conservative, when there was a fighting chance for Liberals before, and "hive the grits" in Centre Huron.

The License Administration.

Another of Mr. Whitney's false pretences is in connection with license administration. He declared, in case he gained the power to remove license administration from the realm of political influence. The following resolution was advocated and voted for in the House:—

"That the present mode of administering the liquor license laws through the Board of Commissioners and Inspectors appointed by the Government of the day has resulted in a partisan administration of the law; has subjected those engaged in the liquor traffic to undue influence by and in the interest of the dominant party of this province; has led in many cases to the tyrannical exercise of the powers of the Commissioners and Inspectors, and in others to the lax enforcement of the law and the condoning for partizan purposes of offences against its provisions; has unduly and unfairly interfered with the freedom of exercising their franchise by those engaged in the liquor traffic, and is otherwise mischievous in its purpose and operation; and while declaring its firm intention and purpose to be not to relax or impair the efficiency of the other provisions of the law, and particularly those limiting the number of licenses to be granted, this House is of the opinion that it is essential to the honest, non-partizan and faithful execution of the liquor license laws that the present mode of appointing Boards of Commissioners should be abrogated * * * and provision be made for placing the appointment of the Commissioners in the hands of a body more removed from the influence of partisanship, and more directly responsible to and under the control of the people."

As was also the following:—

* * * abrogated and that in future the Boards of Commissioners in counties should consist of the County Judge, the Warden of the county and one appointed by the Government; and in cities and towns, not connected with the county municipality, the County Judge, Mayor and one appointed by the Government."

Promises Not Kept.

Mr. Whitney not only ignored this in a most flagrant way but has gone back upon his promise to be more generous to municipalities in the distribution of license fees. Under the Liberals only $350,000 of the license fees was retained by the Government. Under Mr. Whitney's management the Government seized upon $587,000. Of course the municipalities have received a larger grant, simply because more license fees were imposed and collected. But that does not meet Mr. Whitney's pre-office promises, that the whole of the license fees should go to the municipalities. If Mr. Whitney had done as he promised, in order to gain popularity with the municipalities, he would have shown himself bold enough to be honest—he would have kept his pledge and promise in this regard. We have to go no further than Toronto to see how much more closely the Whitney Government have mixed politics and licenses than has ever been done before. Not only have political heelers meddled in license matters, but a member of the Government has tried to force the Government to give a license to one of his friends, a man who had in eleven years been fined fifteen times for selling without a license. Because the license inspector would not give a license to Dr. Pynes' pet, the Government cut off the inspector's head and the Board of License commissioners at the head of which was Mr. Flavelle, a former resident of Peterborough resigned because they would not submit to administer the license law at the bidding of a political boss, even if he were a member of the Whitney Government. Inspector Hastings only did his duty, and he had his head chopped off, not for meddling in politics but because he refused to permit politics to influence his discharge of duty. This Toronto incident is but a type of what has been occurring under a Government that was to remove the license law administration out of politics. It is said that Mr. Elias Williams, the East Peterborough Inspector, who takes the position formerly belonging to Mr. Crow, and lives in Havelock, was a political delegate representing Belmont at the Conservative Convention in Norwood. This is taking license administration right into the thickest of politics and politics of the worst kind for it is asserted that the inspector was one of the delegates used to knife one of the candidates for nomination. This political inspector was a gentleman appointed through the interest of a Cabinet Minister in East Northumberland, Dr. Willoughby, the defeated Conservative candidate in East Peterborough, being ignored as he was ignored at the Convention. Peterborough furnished another way in which license law administration was not removed from politics. There is not a keener politician in the province than Mr. James Kendry. He was made a member of the License Board and has been just as active in politics as if he were not the license official of a Government pledged to take license out of politics. Even Mr. Kendry's own friends will appreciate the fact that a Conservative license holder, even if he should weakly yield to temptation, will not fail of a friend in Mr. Kendry. Our good friend, Mr. Smithson, Otonabee, a gentleman of the highest respect, was not required to resign as a Commissioner to qualify as a candidate for a Conservative nomination. He merely mentioned these things to show how Mr. Whitney has kept his promise—renewed on many occasions—to remove the license administration from politics. Let the two Peterboroughs bear witness of a type of disregard of these solemn promises which prevailed throughout the entire province.

The Three-Fifths Handicap

This suggests the inquiry as to what Mr. Whitney had done to help the temperance people, who, at the last election, not wisely but too well, helped him into the office, which he gained in this respect as in others, on false pretences. In his three-fifths handicap to the temperance people he has struck a blow below the belt. Why in all fairness, should 41 anti-temperance out-count 60 temperance votes? Why should 101 such votes out-count 150 temperance votes? Why should 967 voters out-count 1,000? It was not fair, it was not just, that in any matter upon which the public are expressing an opinion, one side should be handicapped to the extent as is done by the three-fifths majority requirement. If the dice have got to be loaded to that extent it was not fair; it was not just. It was not honest. Mr. Stratton did not think the handicap amounted to much in any case ,but it is the unfairness in intentions involved in the law itself which rubs a fair-minded man the wrong way. If only fourteen out of ninety-eight members of the house had polled only three-fifth votes, and only fourteen Conservatives had done that, how Mr. Whitney would have howled if the late Government had applied the three-fifths principle to the elections. Instead of Mr. Whitney removing license law administration out of politics there has never ben a time since the Crooks Act was passed in 1876, that the license law was so abundantly loaded up and mixed up with politics as it has been in the past three and one half years, and as it is to-day. Another instance of Conservative inconsistency was the fact that about a dozen years ago a resolution was moved by the Opposition to abolish the salary of the provincial license inspector and consequently that officer, whose services have been retained as they should be, but also is no more necessary, however, than when the Conservatives declared for his abolition.

Law Reform

Mr. Whitney almost on his bended knees promised Law reform—to make the courts cheaper for the people, to make justice a less expensive article. In 1904 he moved that "this House condemns the action of the Liberal Government of the province on the subject of law reform." 'Tis pretended interest in law reform was one of the reasons he gave for making Mr. Foy, an eminent Toronto lawyer, Attorney-General in his Cabinet. But his promises, of Law Reform have gone the way of nearly all his other promises and false pretenses. The only law reform he has introduced is to provide fat pickings for the gentlemen of the long robe. It is sometimes necessary for Governments to employ lawyers. In the last year of the Liberal Government there was paid out in lawyers' fees, the sum of $7,000. The Whitney Government had last year to supplement its heaven-born wisdom to the tune of $136,000 paid out in lawyers' fees—nearly twenty times as much as was paid out by the Liberal Government in 1904.

Pulpwood Administration

The Conservative Government takes a good deal of undeserved credit for its superior way of dealing with our pulpwood resources, and instances the Montreal River concession as the one in which they specially shone. In 1902 the Ross Government granted a right to a Company to be formed to cut pulpwood for twenty-one years along the Montreal River. The contract compelled the Company to erect a pulp and paper mill on the spot to cost $500,000 at least, with a capacity of 150 tons of pulp per day, and to employ at least 250 men. The Company failed to finance the undertaking—they did not get so much of an advantage—and the concession lapsed and the present Government cancelled the contract. A new contract was made, and the Government boasts that it got from Booth, of Ottawa, and to whom the pulpwood, or the right to cut pulpwood, was sold for the large sum of $300,000. But that was all they got, all the province gets. The pulpwood is taken off the ground and removed to Ottawa, where the Booth pulp mill stands.

Policies Contrasted

In contrasting the two bargains, it was to be remembered that from 1902 to 1907 the price of pulp wood had advanced about three fold or 150 per cent, yet the present Government only got the same price—40 cents per cord on the stump—on the main timber, spruce. The claimed increase of price paid by the Booth interest does not represent the increase in value of pulp wood material. And the new bargain lacks another important value. The idea of the late Government was to develop settlement. This was to be done, in the first place, by requiring the mills to be built on the spot, so that the settler would have a market for his pulp wood, which becomes the property of the settler on taking up land, so that from the first stroke of his axe in clearing his land he makes money—reaps his first crop—and has a market at the mill at his door for his pulpwood at a fair price. Around the mills, as has been the case at Espanola, in the Spanish River concession, granted by the Ross government, a thriving village has grown up, giving a market for the settlers' produce, as he had a market for his pulp wood when clearing his land. What will be the case of the poor settler in the Montreal concession? He will see the pulpwood bought by the Booth interest rafted to Ottawa; he will have no local market for his pulpwood; no village will grow up around a local mill. Note the difference in the contracts. The Whitney idea strips the land of timber, takes it out of the district, and the whole forest becomes a "slash of tree tops and underbush," and conditions of settlement are destroyed. The Ross Government idea was the colonization idea, the development idea. If the forest wealth in the shape of trees was removed it should be converted into thriving villages around the pulp mills, and contented settlers having the advantage of a good local market for their pulpwood.

The Whitney Government got $300,000 for an area of pulpwood of which $130,000 went as a gift to a mining company and the balance will probably go in the same easy way; this is a third less than the substantial value in the way of settlement, employment of local labour and other advantages, which would come from the concession plan of the Liberal Government, as demonstrated in the case of the Spanish River concession. This is what Mr. Whitney describes as a "colossal steal" like the "800" concession which he opposed, but which has amply justified the foresight and wisdom of the late Government, for at the 800, and due to that concession, there has sprung up one of the greatest industrial centres in Canada, the first steel rails mills in Canada.

Mr. Whitney would if he could have done so, sold this concession for perhaps a million dollars, which under the Liberal arrangement has led to the results just generally indicated, but which under the Conservative Government's plan of dealing with pulpwood would have chiefly represented the lump payment as bonus and the price per cord, would have been attended with no great incidental advantages. One way looks to development, the other is a mere matter of bargain, sale and collection.

Educational Muddle

For years Mr. Whitney and his followers harped upon the school book question, alleging that school books were costing the people far too much. Mr. Stratton said that he did not wish to reveal Cabinet secrets, but if Mr. Ross, had adoped his platform in the matter the Government would have provided school books absolutely free to the people. (Hear, hear.) The Conservatives promised cheaper school books, and claimd to have kept their promise. But how? The Government was working off a job lot of old school books at rummage sale prices. During the next couple of years the remnant would be unloaded upon the public. When the new series as promised is issued, we had the assurance of Mr. John A. Cooper, who was a member of the Conservative Government's School Board Commission, that the new books would be about the same price, and very probably dearer than the old series. In this we had another example of broken promises; of how irresponsible critics fail when they are called upon to assume the responsibility of doing things. Mr. Whitney was to revolutionize our educational system, and in this he may claim to have succeeded. He has not only revolutionized it but by the help of Dr. Pyne, has turned it topsy-turvey. Things have been tinkered with to such an extent that intending teachers and even the principals of high schools and collegiate institutes do not know where they are at in the matter of the state of our model schools—whether they are abolished or perpetuated. Last year the Department issued instructions practically abolishing model schools, as they now exist. Mr. Whitney says that model schools will not be abolished yet, still the regulations of Dr. Pyne abolishing them, are in force. Who is right, the premier or the head of the department? Whom will those concerned in the preparation of teachers obey, the Minister of Education or the Premier? Intending teachers do not know what to do in the way of preparation, and no wonder, when the Government itself does not know its own mind. This muddle was bad enough, unsettling enough, but it was only a detail in comparison with the outrage of principle implied in the tyranny of denying to trustees, the right to say how they shall spend their own money—penalizing the trustees of poor sections by withholding grants if the trustees do not pay the salary which the school section may not feel able to pay, but which the Government says it shall pay. The Government took the rural school trustees by the throat, and fixed the salary they must pay on penalty. It was to be noted that this applied to country schools, while city and town schools were permitted to say what salaries they shall pay to teachers. The abolition of the model schools will debar a poor man's clever son or daughter from entering the teaching profession, and enforce the good, old-fashioned "Tory" doctrine of "keeping them in their place." Will anyone tell us how the present provincial government has kept its promises to improve the educational system of Ontario, and how it can in this regard truthfully assert that it has not gained office and kept office on false pretences?

A Summary

Mr. Stratton said he had shown in several instances how the Whitney Government got power under false pretences, and the record of broken promises which strewed their path in office might be summarized briefly:

In 1898 they proposed to reduce the scale of Succession Duties. In office they had increased them the the first opportunity they got.

In 1897 they deplored the "steady increase" of the provincial expnditure. They had increased the public expenditure from five and a quarter millions to eight millions in a little over three years. They were consistent, however—there was no steady increase, but a wild plunge forward into reckless expenditure.

In 1893 they proposed to abolish the office of Provincial License Inspector, by abolishing his salary. This had not been done—another broken promise.

In 1897 they moved to reduce the cost of maintaining the Parliament Buildings. The cost has been much greater since they came into office than in the previous four years.

In 1897 they moved to reduce the cost of sessional clerks by $3,000, but the number of clerks and the cost of their service has been greatly increased.

In 1899 they solidly opposed the supplementary revenue bill making three several attempts to defeat it, and also the bill taxing brewers and distillers. These bills still cumber the statute books, and the Conservatives are merrily spending the revenue from them.

In 1899 they moved to abolish the Public Works Department by reducing the expenditure by $18,500. The department still goes on spending under Conservative rule.

From 1899 onwards, and time after time, they moved resolutions to make license commissioners non-partizan bodies, such as county officials. This implied promise had been kept by converting license commissioners into the most rabid partizans to be found this side the grave.

In 1904 they moved glowing resolutions in favour of law reform. They have had four chances in four sessions of the Legislature, but Conservative law reform is still in the broken promise stage, and the courts still pile up costs and the lawyers still harvest fat fees.

They moved in the House resolutions favouring the policy of permitting municipalities to expend colonization road moneys. Four sessions have elapsed and the municipalities have not got the job yet. They always advocated that plan until they got into power.

The Bond Guarantee Bungle.

There were two incidents which occurred in the dying hours of the session, which without satisfactory explanation—and it seems no satisfactory explanation is possible — place the Conservative government of the province in a very bad light as safe and prudent protectors of the people's interests. One of these is the guarantee of the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway, by which the credit of the country was pledged to the extent of two and half million dollars. This was an action which, both in the matter of the action itself and in the way it was done, needs a great deal of explanation and cannot be defended upon any public grounds or any grounds of sound policy or prudent administration of a great public trust.

It was to be remembered that the main line of the Canadian Northern, otherwise known as one of Mackenzie & Mann's railways, was already built and its bonds had been given a provincial guarantee on the grounds of sound policy, a policy of extending aid to a colonization railway in the interest of settling and developing new districts and opening new country. The Conservative Government claim that the hurried and, practically clandestine, guarantee of bonds to build branch lines or feeders was necessary to strengthen the security of a previous guarantee. That argument would not hold water, for the previous guarantee of bonds was made upon the ample security of a mortgage on the whole line, roadbed, rails, rolling stock, buildings, terminals and everything connected with the operation, including the revenue. What then was the reason for the province being compelled by the action of the government it trusted to protect it, to make the guarantee in question? If there was no reason then the Government must stand convicted of a failure to discharge their duty and of being unprofitable servants, and unworthy of their responsibility in the matter of protecting the people's interests, and necessarily unworthy of holding office.

What were the simple details? A portion of this guarantee covers a branch line from Sudbury to Moose Mountain—thirty miles, at $20,000 a mile, $600,000—and is in aid of a line, a practical subsidy of a line to permit Messrs. McKenzie & Mann to carry ore from mines of which they are said to be the owners, not in the public interests but in their own. Then there are four miles, at $20,000 per mile, to another mine, $80,000. Then a branch line to Orillia with an assured traffic, which fact should be sufficient protection to its bonds some eight or ten miles, taking another $160,000 or $200,000 of the guarantee. In all we have some fifty miles of branch lines or feeders, not at all to be regarded as colonization railways, commanding a provincial guarantee of one million dollars, a pledge of the people's credit to that amount, but lines with an assured traffic. Then we have an additional guarantee of a million and a half dollars for terminals at Key Inlet and in the city of Toronto. A pretty sort of colonization scheme it is to pledge the large end of a million and a half dollars of the people's money, to build wharves, sidings, stations, sheds, etc., in the city of Toronto, to serve Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann's smelting works, to smelt ores drawn from their mines over a line of railway, built on the credit of the province. There seems to be no possible justification for this two and a half million dollars guarantee, rushed through the House in the dying hours of the session, at express speed, with barely a quorum present and with no adequate opportunity for discussion. Mr. Whitney rejected the offer of Mr. St. Aubyn on behalf of the British bond holders, to acquire control of the Electrical Development Company of Toronto, which would have given the Government control of the power situation in the interests of the municipalities of the province, on the grounds that the province could not afford the price. Yet Mr. Mackenzie took the bonds and gained control of the Electrical Development Company which the province could not afford to do. And we find this poor province of Ontario, handing out a guarantee of two and a half millions to a private gentleman who was able to finance a scheme which Mr. Whitney said, in excuse for turning down a public ownership proposition, was beyond the financial ability of the province. Thus was afforded additional evidence that the Whitney Government, in claiming the intention and ability to more economically and carefully administer the finances of the Province, obtained power under false pretences, and in this sense is unworthily holding office.

The Larose Mine Gift.

Another action done, or, it might be said, perpetrated, in the dying hours of the session was a gift of $130,000 to the proprietors of the La Rose mine—a straight gift of the money of the province to a private corporation. In the early days of the Cobalt district as a mining centre, a prominet Toronto Conservative brought the attention of Mr. J. O'Brien to a rich find up north. Mr. O'Brien bought the mine, and other claimants, among them Larose, cropped up and the disputed question of ownership was referred to a commission appointed by the late government, which awarded Larose a section of the property, McMartin another and O'Brien another, the latter considered to be the least valuable of the lot, but it proved on working to be very rich. The government was influenced by the Larose people to open up the finding of the commission re the O'Brien mine and contest the later's claim. The matter was in litigation two years when a settlement was effected by O'Brien agreeing to pay a 25 per cent royalty, as he had invested $125,000 of his own money in development. Now it must seem strange that $130,000 of this 25 per cent. royalty should be paid to the Larose people by rush legislation brought on at the fag end of the session, when satisfactory explanation could not be or was not given. Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Mines, it was reported, explained on the floor of the House that the Larose people were given this sop of $130,000 for the latter's help in forcing O'Brien to pay royalty, an excuse that only makes matters worse—for the government should not have stopped when it did stop—it should have given the whole mine, and not only the royalty, to the Larose people. This "raw deal" needs a better explantion. Would a better explanation be that certain members of the legislature, very close to the Minister of Mines, had an interest in the affair?

Conclusion

Mr. Stratton said he had aimed to show that, judged by their administration and legislative record, the Whitney Government, in view of its declared policy, based upon its promises when in opposition, had gained and kept power by false pretences in nearly, if not all, the departments of their responsibility.

In the matter of financial administration they had extravagantly increased the provincial expenditure by 60 per cent since they came into power.

They had not kept faith in the matter of license administration. They had not, as promised, removed it from politics but had saturated it with the partisan and political spirit more in three years than had been done in the preceding thirty years.

Their boasted interest in law reform has ended in boasting—nothing had been done.

Their policy in dealing with pulpwood was a mere policy of bargain and sale, entirely lacking in the constructive and creative element of the Liberal policy which included development and the advance of settlement.

Their educational policy had ended in confusion and their school book policy brought no relief such as they claimed should be given.

They had failed in the discovery and correction of abuses of administration which they said existed, and had utterly failed to find the wrong doing upon whose existence they claimed advance to office.

They had gone astray of their rail-

CONSTABLE FINDS STOLEN GOODS BY FOLLOWING THE ADVICE OF A FORTUNE TELLER

Alleged Case of Witchcraft in Scugogville—Mrs. Goheen Committed for Trial.

IS A VERY PECULIAR CASE

Lindsay, April 30. — (Special.) — This town is now excited over an alleged act of witchcraft, in which one of the constables gives some important evidence. Mrs. A. Goheen, an aged woman, is the defendant, and she was committed for trial yesterday before Police Magistrate Jackson on a charge of fortune-telling and witchcraft. County Constable A. L. Minthorne was the only witness, and his evidence told of a visit made by himself to the woman's house. This is the first case of the kind ever before a local court.

Constable Minthorne says he has no faith in fortune-tellers. He went there, however, and paid his quarter for the alleged purpose of finding out where some stolen goods were, had his fortune told by tea cups and playing cards, and was told where to look for the missing parcel of goods.

At the House

He explained what happened at the woman's home. Upon entering the house he was conducted to a chair at the kitchen table. Mrs. Goheen took a chair opposite him. She then took a pack of cards from a drawer of the table and requested him to shuffle and divide them into three separate packs. From the upper card of each pack and from examining a cup of tea she seemed to deduce that the goods were in a round parcel, that they had gone northwest, and that they were located in a house "that looked like brick, but was not." Mr. Minthorne was considerably surprised, but nevertheless he visited the house where his goods were supposed to be located and sure enough, he said, he found them.

"This is a very peculiar case," said the court. "It is very seldom such a case comes before the court, and must necessarily appear strange to a jury."

Chief of Police Vincent served the summons on Mrs. Goheen. Mr. G. A. Gordon appeared on behalf of Mrs. Goheen.

Out on Bail

Mrs. Goheen was allowed out on bail of $400. An effort will be made, it is said, to have her acquitted on a technicality, the statutes apparently being not very clear on certain points involved in the case in question.

WIFE AND CHILDREN SAID TO HAVE BEEN TURNED OUT AFTER MIDNIGHT

Assault Case Aired in Police Court—Wife and Little Daughter Give Evidence—Husband Alleged to Have Choked His Wife And Threatened to Stab Her.

THE CASE WAS LAID OVER

One of the most pathetic cases of domestic infelicity was aired in the police court this morning. Mrs. McGrath and her little girl went into the witness box to give evidence against the head of the house, who was charged with assault and causing bodily harm. Mr. G. Gordon appeared for the prisoner and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the prosecution. After hearing the evidence His Worship came to the conclusion that the husband and wife could not live happily together again, and adjourned the case until to-morrow, and asked counsel to make a satisfactory settlement between themselves. In the meantime, the prisoner, Wm. McGrath, will be held in custody.

When the charge was read the prisoner pleaded not guilty. Counsel was not prepared to elect, but asked for a preliminary hearing.

The wife of the prisoner was first on the stand and told of the strained relationship which had existed between her and her partner in life for past five years. She had been married fifteen years and was the mother of five living children. Between 12.30 and 1 o'clock last Wednesday morning she was lying in bed, when her husband came in drunk and demanded a hot supper. She told him she would not get up at that hour of the night, and he went up stairs and raised a quarrel. He took hold of her throat and threatened to kill her. He then made his little daughter, Marie, who was in bed with her mother, go down stairs, light the fire and make his supper. When everything was ready he called his wife down stairs to place the supper on the table. He began to quarrel again and she went into the hallway, and was pushed into the street by her husband, who was cursing and swearing. When he went back to his supper she returned to the house and went up stairs to her bed. He did not eat much before he went up stairs, carving knife in hand, and said, "You will have to get out of this house or I will use the butcher knife." She told him he did not own the house, but he said he did. He took the clock down stairs, saying he would give her five minutes to get out. She was about half dressed when he shouted to her that her time was up. Her little girl, Marie, was dressed, but the other four children had on only their coats and stockings. Mrs. McGrath threw some clothes out of the window and started for the front door, and while going out he slammed it against her shoulder, hurting it so badly that she found it necessary to see a doctor. After they got outside the house the husband locked the door, and she went to a neighbour's house, where she and her children remained for the night. She told the court her husband had threatened her several times before, and thought the trouble was often caused by his jealousy of her. She had often heard reports that he was keeping company with other women, but had never seen him out with anybody.

To Mr. Gordon she told of how she had tried hard to get along and bring up her family and pay for the mortgage on her home so that the children would have it.

The next witness, Marie McGrath, aged 12 years, entered the witness box, smiling at her mother. She was very nicely dressed and gave her evidence very fully. She corroborated nearly everything her mother had said. The little witness caused great laughter in court when she informed His Worship that she had asked her father to allow her mother ten minutes to leave the house instead of five.

His Worship, after reviewing the evidence, decided that the case was one of common assault, and failed to find any evidences of actual bodily harm. He adjourned the case until to-morrow, when it is hoped a settlement will be made.

CHARITY BOARD TOOK PITY ON THIS WANDERING GIRL

Miss Tilly Glass, the girl whom the Charity Board decided at their last meeting to have sent back to her home across the ocean, left this morning for Montreal where she will sail on the Corsican to-morrow for London, England. Miss Glass has been in Canada for 5 years and recently has been wandering about the city with no home and no friends. She came under Dr. Langfeldt's notice, and upon his request she has been kindly kept by the Sisters at St. Joseph's Hospital for the past five weeks.

Dr. Langfeldt brought the matter up at the Charity Board meeting this week and upon appealing for assistance for the poor girl, the Board decided to have her sent home. She was presented with a ticket and $5 in money, so that the Board is anxious to see her safely through her journey.

GRASS FROM THE PRAIRIES MEASURING THIRTEEN INCHES

Western Canada is apparently ahead of Ontario, as far as seeding is concerned. This morning Mr. A. E. Dixon received a letter from his brother, Mr. John Dixon, at Maple Creek, Sask., which contained a bunch of grass and some of the stalks of which were thirteen inches long.

Seeding has all been completed in that district and the growth is well under way. The advanced spring is explained by the fact that the west has experienced an unusually mild winter, and there is every prospect for a record-breaking crop in the autumn.

THE ELECTIONS ARE ON.

Hon. Mr. Whitney, Premier, has announced the date of the coming elections to the Provincial Legislature, as Monday June 8th. It may not be amiss to recall that the Examiner some weeks ago in advising Liberals to be in readiness for an early election campaign, forecast the date of the elections as June 15th, or a week in advance or after that date. This prediction has been almost literally fulfilled. Five weeks of a campaign will make the fight a short one, at least, and no doubt keen in proportion to its brevity. It also safe prediction that the Government's majority will be considerably reduced as a result of the coming contest, in spite of all the schemes the Government has adopted to strengthen its position—the gerrymander of the constituencies, and the doubling of the Toronto representation, both intended to handicap Liberals and give advantages, amounting to almost certainties, to Conservative candidates. Mr. Whitney was apparently afraid, though supported in the late Legislature by a majority of 42, to trust to the merits of his administration for a renewal of power and has therefore, to borrow a favourite phrase of his own, "loaded the dice" in his own favour in the ways mentioned. He has given every elector in Toronto, which is known to be overwhelmingly Conservative, two ballots, whereas the average elector has only one ballot. The Conservative plan—one man two votes holds good in Toronto; the Liberal plan, one man, one vote, prevails in the country districts, and less important cities, cities not so surely Conservative. In addition to this Mr. Whitney has has broken all precedent by fixing Monday as a polling day. He does this to gain another advantage, to give the eight thousand commercial travellers who make their home in the city, a chance to poll their votes before going out on their routes. All these things, taken together, indicate that Mr. Whitney is taking no chances with the honest electorate on his record. He does not trust to that alone but must call in the gerrymander and the double vote system in Toronto, not to speak of a little coquetting with the "mammon of unrighteousness." Mr. Whitney hesitates to make the plunge into the deep waters of a general election, without the aid of an extra cork jacket or two in addition to his present majority of 42.

The Liberals of the province, who have in the way indicated, got the worst of the deal, nevertheless enter the contest full of courage and fight. One short term of the Conservatives in power has served to show the people that the latter have gained nothing by changing rulers and that indulgence of a desire for a change has been a somewhat disappointing and expensive luxury. It will require a very small change in the popular vote to make a decided change in the complexion of the coming Legislature.

Adopt the use of Classified Want Ads. They have proved money makers for others. They are appreciated by the buyer, as they enable him to quickly locate the place where he can find his requirements. Will he find your business represented?

No; not even good tenants will always "stay"—but quick "Want" advertising in the "Examiner" brings others. Yesterday you lost a tenant, to-day you will get one and to-morrow you'll get another, provided you let the tenants know who you are and where you are. The landlord who delays his advertising must pay the benefit of his procrastination by empty houses, while other property owners, who invest a few cents in our Classified Want column have no empty houses.

WHERE THE CREDIT BELONGS.

The finances of the Province of Ontario are in a splendid condition, in spite of the tremendous onslaught of extravagance made upon our revenue resources during the past Conservative Administration of between three and a half or four years. It is to be remembered to the credit of the preceding Liberal Government that this condition is possible only through sources of revenue provided by a Liberal Government. Last year the Conservative Government had the benefit of a revenue of $3,705,906, from sources provided by a Liberal Government, and nearly all if not all, opposed by the Conservative Opposition, which, now in power, is spending the revenue to which they were opposed. This nearly four millions is made up of the following items: Succession Duties, $833,503; Supplementary Revenue, $672,241; T. & N. O. Railway, $235,090; Mining sales and leases, $1,184,719; Mining licenses and fees, $272,379; Mining royalties, $207,945, and, if to this is added the revenue of nearly $300,000 per year, to be obtained from the power companies at Niagara Falls, which Mr. Whitney wants to relieve entirely and make "as free as air," we shall have a total of nearly three and three-quarter millions, which, if the Conservative Opposition had their way, would not have been available for the purposes of the Province. So that whatever credit is due for the excellent financial position of the Province, belongs to the Liberal Government that preceded the present extravagant Administration, which has increased the Provincial expenditure sixty per cent. in its short term of office.

WHITNEY GOVERNMENT AND PRISON LABOR.

The Whitney Government had taken up the matter of prison reform. Prisoners must be employed, and it was a very difficult matter to keep their employment from clashing with free labour. The Whitney Government had introduced a measure to prevent that. They had declared that there should not be competition between free and prison labour. —Mr. Brewster at the Brantford Conservative convention.

The Brantford Expositor, in regard to the foregoing, points out that the Whitney Government made the most unfavourable contracts as regards prison labour which were ever made in this Province. In one of these contracts, that for cordage, the supply of the labour of prisoners at four cents per hour was contracted for and it was distinctly provided, in violation of the ante-election pledges, that prison-made goods should not be labelled such. In the other, that for woodenware, prison labour was supplied at from three to three and a half cents per hour, despite the fact that there had been a universal advance in the price of labour.

When the Whitney Government took office it found that the Liberal Government had already done away with the contract system as applied to woodenware, and was conducting operations in this shop on the "public account" system; in other words, under the direct control of the state, and to the satisfaction of outside manufacturers, and free labour as well. The incoming Government changed all this, and reverted to the contract system. The late Government had publicly announced its intention of doing away with the contract system in relation to broom-making, and this policy the Whitney Government followed out. A new contract for bindertwine had been prepared, but had not been ratified, and had there been no change of Government this would have been the only contract in existence. The Whitney Government cancelled this provisional contract and made a new deal with other parties, who were politically friendly. Such is the more recent history of the prison contract system briefly told. The new Government found the situation free from any complications when it assumed office, and could have done away with the contract system from the start. Instead of doing so, it made two new contracts, and settled this most obnoxious system upon the Province for another five years. If now it has decided upon the adoption of a different course, it is because the criticisms of the Liberal and Labour interests of the Government have compelled the taking of this line of action.

THE TEMPERANCE MANIFESTO.

Hamilton Times.

The temperance organizations which lent their influence to knife the Ross Government, have found Mr. Whitney out, and are now eager to punish him for his duplicity. For years they pestered Ross with unreasonable demands. His Government pursued a real temperance policy, and under its rule much was done for sobriety and the regulation of the liquor traffic. But there was an extreme—an intemperate—element among the temperance men, for which he could never do enough. It was the old story of the daughters of the horse leech. Mr. Ross kept the law abreast of public opinion, and he did it at the loss of some of his friends. The extreme temperance element refused to recognize good and reasonable work; they demanded the absurd and the impossible. Mr. Whitney would do so much more; he was pledged to it, and they threw in their influence along with the liquor men for Mr. Whitney and discarded the life-long friend of reasonable temperance legislation.

In turning upon and rending Mr. Ross the temperance leaders spoke with the unctuousness of having, in thus joining with the liquor interests, accomplished a great gain for the forward movement of the temperance reform. Doubtless there were those among them who laughed quietly to themselves as they thought of the ill-assorted union which aided in Mr. Ross' defeat; but, unquestionably, thousands of honest temperance workers were misled into believing that they were aiding the cause by supporting Mr. Whitney.

After four sessions of the Legislature the temperance men have had time to take Mr. Whitney's measure, and to repent of their ingratitude and treason toward the Ross Government, which made so many sacrifices for real temperance. The Dominion Alliance is now sending out a manifesto setting forth the manner in which Mr. Whitney has betrayed them, and complaining bitterly at the legislation by which he decrees that three temperance votes shall count only as much as two liquor votes; and calling upon those it addresses to put their temperance principles before any mere party preferences.

The temperance people have been vilely used by Mr. Whitney; they have been befooled, betrayed, treated as inferiors in citizenship, and their indignation has been mocked at. And yet, can they complain if they do not receive from the less-gullible public that sympathy which they seem to expect? Ingratitude is one of the basest of sins; and it is not to be denied that they filled to overflowing the cup of their ingratitude towards Mr. Ross' Government. Instead of thankfulness for his patience and untiring work in the service of true temperance legislation, he was betrayed, deserted, sacrificed, and the confidence that he had fairly won, in both his public and private life, was withdrawn and given to his political opponent, whose only claim thereto was founded on election promises, as freely given to the opponents of the temperance cause. Once in power, Mr. Whitney was in a position to laugh at them; and he has done so. The license department has been organized into a huge political machine, whose purpose is to maintain the Government in power by stifling the free voice of the people. Instead of furthering the temperance cause—instead of even giving the temperance people fair paly—he marked down the value of their manhood by making forty liquor votes equal to sixty temperance votes. And he will take care that it so remains till equalization of the same will result in disadvantage to the temperance people.

Are you a temperance man? If so, did you knife Mr. Ross? If you did, have you really much right to complain that Mr. Whitney holds you in contempt and derision?

BAPTIST MINISTER HAS RESIGNED

Rev. F. J. Scott, Formerly of Peterboro, Coming Back to Canada.

Toronto, April 30.—(Special).—The resignations of Rev. F. J. Scott and Miss Janet Carmichael, of the Canadian Baptist Mission in Bolivia, have been accepted by the board, by cablegram. Both went out only a year ago. Miss Carmichael's reason is ill-health. Mr. Scott has resigned owing to dissatisfaction with the conditions under which he has been labouring, and differences on matters of policy.

A DEGENERATE'S OPINIONS

Sir,—Allow me to express my astonishment at your correspondent's letter, objecting to the boys playing and swearing on Sunday. All this winter I have had to put up with demands for money, but from grown up people well known to the police. My house has been burglarized, and, of course, it is impossible to go out without being held up by beggars.

YOUR HAT

May be a Stylish one, But it Makes Trouble

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Bald-heads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff, it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

ANOTHER ARTICLE ON POETRY

(By Barton Earle.)

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In my article on Shakspeare, in Thursday's Examiner, I make the assertion that the intellect has nothing to do with poetry, and that all poetry comes through the subconscious mind and is the result of the inspiration of God. I am aware that this must, to most people, seem a somewhat startling expression, and I ask your indulgence for a short time, while I attempt to make myself better understood. To do this I must request you to publish the following lines from Mary A. F. Robinson, entitled "Dawn Angels":

All night I watch'd, awake, for morning:
At last the East grew all aflame,
The birds for welcome sang, or warning,
And with their singing, morning came.

Along the gold-green heavens drifted
Pale, wandering souls that shun the light,
Whose cloudy pinions, torn and rifted,
Had beat the bars of Heaven all night.

There cluster'd round the moon, but higher,
A troop of shining spirits went,
Who were not made of wind or fire,
But some divine dream—element.

Some held the light, while those remaining
Shook out their harvest-colour'd wings,
A faint, unusual music raining
(Whose sound was Light) on earthly things.

They sang, and as a mighty river,
Their voices wash'd the night away:
From East to West ran one white shiver,
And, waxen strong, their song was Day.

This little piece contains, perhaps, as much real poetry as can be found in any other composition of the same length. Who can explain it? I have read it many times to classes in the Collegiate Institute, but never attempted an explanation. It has always seemed to me that any attempt to explain could only mar the effect, and that it would be a case of "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

And yet, what thoughtful person can read it and not feel deeply moved? It appeals not to the intellect, but to the soul.

Most readers are, no doubt, familiar with the history of Coleridge's fragment, "Kubla Khan." Coleridge, a very great poet, and, perhaps, the greatest of all critics, was a victim of the opium habit. Falling asleep, or, at least, into a condition in which the conscious mind is so nearly dormant that the subconscious mind has free play, there came to him quite a long poem, which, on awakening, he remembered perfectly. He sat down to commit it to paper; but after writing the few lines we have, he was unfortunately called away, and, on his return, so far as "Kubla Khan" was concerned, his mind was a blank. Another of his works also incomplete, was, no doubt, largely affected by the opium habit. No one, not even Coleridge himself, would attempt to explain "Kubla Khan," or Christabel; and, yet, they are, certainly, among the most musical and poetical compositions in our language.

Permit me to repeat: Poetry cannot be explained; it can but be felt. It is the truth of God, and is not addressed to the intellect; but is the language of the Great Spirit addressed to kindred spirits.

SPLENDID MAY ISSUE OF BUSY MAN'S MAGAZINE

The merry month of May brings joy and gladness, sunshine and flowers. The issue of the Busy Man's Magazine for the current month also brings pleasure and profit for its ever widening circle of enthusiastic readers. "Canadians Who Are Doing Things, and How" forms an important and highly edifying feature in the May number which is generously illustrated and presents a most artistic appearance. "The book with the red cover," as Busy Man's is frequently and familiarly called, also has numerous other admirable adjuncts which will prove particularly welcome. It not only gives several of the best selections from the magazines of the world, but contains such instructive, timely, and popular articles as "The Principle of Profit Sharing in Business," "Some Deductions on the Average Man," "How Those Who Fail Are Given Another Chance," "Canadians Should Indulge in More Boating," "A Greater Sense of Our Responsibilities," "The World's Greatest Plow Manufacturer," "Youth Should be Taught the Habit of Saving," "The Adoption of Automobiles in Business," "Canadian System the Best in the World," and "A Police Force that is a Credit to Canada." Other attractions of the magazine might be dwelt upon, but in the words of an old saw, "enough is as good as a feast."

HERE'S A HEART POINTER.

No beating about the bush for Aaron Nichols—he believes Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart cured his wife, and he says so straight.

"This is to certify that I bought two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart for my wife who has been for twenty years a great sufferer from Heart Disease. She had more benefit from it than from all the doctors that have attended her, and I am pleased to give this certificate of its wonderful curative powers."

A PROMISING MINING PROPERTY

Casey Mountain Cobalt Mining and Development Company—Three Peterborough Men are Directors

In this issue will be found the announcement of the Casey Mountain Cobalt Mining and Developing Company, Limited, stating that there will appear in to-morrow's and Saturday's issues particulars concerning their mining properties.

An important factor to be considered in a mining proposition is the management, and as three of the directors of the company are well-known local men, it can be stated that they are successful business and professional men of high repute. Mr. R. G. Williamson was formerly a successful insurance man of this city for several years. He gave up an important position in the West in order to promote the interests of the company of which he is now president. Mr. Jas. Thompson, the vice-president, is a very successful merchant of Havelock, Ont., and is also warden of the county of Peterborough. Dr. H. A. Wood, the secretary-treasurer, is a well-known young dentist of this city. Mr. D. Williamson, the superintendent, who has personal charge of the development, is a practical mining man of fifteen years' experience in different parts of the Western States.

These men have gone into this mining venture with the object of developing a paying proposition, rather than a stock-jobbing affair, and are evidently being rewarded for their labour, as it appears they have a very promising mine, which should, with further development, become a permanent paying proposition.

WANTS SMITH ROAD ATTENDED TO

"Ratepayer" Calls Attention to West Communication Road.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would like to call the Reeve of Smith's attention to the condition of the West Communication Road, to which the County of Peterborough contributed $200.00 to repair with $200.00 from the Government. The Reeve, I believe, undertook to see that, if these two grants were given that the road would be put in proper condition. The road is now impassable, and I would like to see it repaired with the least possible delay. There is an election on at the present time, and there is no more harm for Mr. Bradburn to promise to fix this road than to fix roads in Harvey and Galway, that he has already promised to fix. This road is no more of a pickle than some of the other roads and we would like to see Mr. Bradburn sink a little of his promises and I hope, his performances, in this direction.

Will the Reeve of Smith see to this? This is, I suppose, what might be termed practical politics. Mr. Bradburn, I understand is a practical politician, at least I am told that the promises that are being made in the North are wonderful and mysterious. Being of the same political complexion, the Reeve ought to take advantage of the situation and see that this township is not neglected.

Yours truly,

"A Ratepayer of Smith."

THE PLUMBING AT KING EDWARD SCHOOL

"Ratepayer" Asks Some Questions About its Inspection.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Why did the chairman of the School Board not tell the Examiner's representative that he had been informed by the architect of the King Edward School about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, ample time to have changed his former information to the reporter, that Mr. Meadows, the inspector from Toronto, had been brought here a year ago by him to inspect the plumbing on the King Edward School, and that he (architect) had a signed certificate from the inspector that the work was sanitary and according to the by-law, instead of permitting an article to be printed in the paper causing reflection on MacGregor & Reid's work, and thereby injuring their reputation.

Second,—Why did the architect of the King Edward School bring an inspector from Toronto to examine MacGregor & Reid's work? Because rumours from some of MacGregor & Reid's opposition had led him to doubt the substantiability of the work and he would not issue a certificate to the above firm on that account, hence MacGregor & Reid's demand for a plumbing inspector from Toronto or Ottawa to go over their work on the King Edward School, which was done by Mr. Meaddows, May 24th 1907, with the result that the architect received a signed certificate from inspector Meaddows declaring the work proper and according to bylaw, and the School Board must have a copy of same in their possession.

Yours truly,

RATEPAYER.

"SUCKER" SEASON IS HERE AGAIN

The Small Boy Has Already Been After Him With the Hook.

Suckers are up. The small boy with a copper wire slip-knot has already been after the succulent ones and great is the rejoicing among those who have nothing else to do. Now they may beguile themselves of an afternoon, at the locks or along the banks of the creek. Sun bathing on the street corners will hereafter be relegated to those who have no sporty tendencies.

OPENING OF CHEESE FACTORIES

Work Will be Begun in Most of Them Next Week.

The cheese factories in this district will all open with the beginning of next week. The season, from present prospects, will be an excellent one, as the spring is more advanced this year than last. The factory men of the county have spent the past week or more improving their buildings and getting ready for the make.

THE MOTHER WANTED HER LITTLE JIMMY "LEARNT"

A teacher in one of our common schools observed that one of her pupils always came to school dirty. This boy never seemed to have been washed, and her scoldings had no effect on him. So she sent this note to his mother: "Dear Mrs. May—Please see that Jimmy washes himself clean. He is so dirty when he comes to school that he positively smells." Mrs. May wrote this brief reply on the back of the note and sent it to the teacher: "Jimmy ain't no rose. Don't smell at him; learn him."

"A Day In Flowerdom" Was An Evening Of Enjoyment

One Hundred and Fifty Children Under the Direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon Successfully Present Floral Operetta.

WILL BE REPEATED TO-NIGHT

A delighted audience thronged the Conservatory of Music Hall last night, on the occasion of the presentation of "A Day in Flowerdom," a dainty operetta from the pens of Jesse A. Moore and Geo. Spaulding. Mr. Gliddon's ability as a musical director was especially demonstrated in this production, as, of the 150 young people who took part, a great number of them were mere tots. Young as they were, however, there was not a flaw in their songs and dances, and their prettily executed baby efforts was one of the pleasing features of the performance. Mr. Gliddon was ably assisted in training the little ones in their drills and choruses by Miss Mabel McCaw, one of the talented members of the Conservatory staff. She played the piano accompaniment last night for all the numbers, "a tempor guisto" and thus lent decided assistance to Mr. Gliddon and his youthful performers.

Floral Fete

"A Day in Flowerdom," is a gorgeous little floral spectacle, representing the reception of the queen of the flowers by her dainty subjects. After her coronation she is entertained by a special talent engaged for the occasion. This takes place in the second scene, the first portraying the preparation among the flowers for the great event. The action of the operetta is but a secondary importance, forming a pretty background for songs, duets, choruses, drill and dances.

Those who took important parts in the action of the operetta may be seen from the following cast:

Mr. Jacque Rose, Mayor of Rose Arbor—Herbert Rush.

Mme. Rose, his wife—Miss Grace Todd.

Pink Rose, (their daughter), Geraldine Rudkins; White Rose, (their daughter), Nellie Hallihan.

Flora, Queen of Flowerdom—Miss Mona O'Shea.

Mlle. Crickett, a Prima Donna—Jessie Callender.

Miss Moss Rose, a spinster—Miss Pearl Morgan.

Miss Lilac, Ethel Morrison; Miss Daisy, Jessie Cressman; Miss Blue Bell, Margaret Sanderson; Buds of Rose Arbor.

Mr. Sunflower, a gay bachelor—Jas. O'Brien.

Mr. Pansy, master of ceremonies—Alex. Fortye.

Chorus of boys and girls, representing Golden Rod, Carnations, Orchids, Roses, Sweet Peas, Geraniums, etc. etc.

The chorus was arranged, tier above tier, on either side of the Queen's throne, which occupied the centre of the stage. The little ones boys and girls, were dressed in holiday attire. The boys carried flowers and the girls' dresses were profusely decorated with them, besides the wreaths which encircled their heads. The setting of the piece was well-designed, nothing being left undone to gain the desired effect. The costumes of the boys and girls, representing the various flowers, were exact, as were those who represented the bees and butterflies.

The Performance

The opening chorus, "June is Here With All Her Roses," opened the programme with one of the most tuneful numbers of the evening. The children's voices rang true as in unison they sang this dainty spring song.

The next number, "The Conceited Frog," was well sung by Mr. Herb. Rush, assisted by Miss Grace Todd, Misses Geraldine Rudkins and Nellie Hallihan and chorus. Mr. Rush, as the Mayor, carried himself with stately mien, and his solo part displayed a voice that is promising.

A duet, entitled "Singing Birds," sung by Miss G. Rudkins and N. Hallahan, was, perhaps, the best of the evening. Miss Rudkins' rich contralto harmonized with splendid effect with the clear soprano of Miss Hallahan.

Miss Jessie Callender possesses a very strong and pleasing voice, which showed to good advantage in her solo, "The Emblem of Truth." Its resonance was a surprise, on account of her years.

Miss Jean Anderson and Lenore Lyle, two little tots, sang in a baby-like and unaffected manner two flower songs, the former the "Violet" and Miss Lyle, the "Carnation."

Master O'Shea's "Thistle Dance" won him fresh praise, and the hearty encore he received was well merited. "The Rose and the Gossip" was the title of a recitation, which Miss Maud Titterson gave in a pleasing style. Miss Carrie White's recitation "Flowers," was characteristic of her usual finished work.

Miss Pearl Morgan took the solo of "The Fuzzy Caterpillar," and was assisted by a full chorus. She possesses a very pleasing voice, and her stage manner adds charm to her singing.

Miss Mona O'Shea, as the Floral Queen, was at home in the part, which she accepted with becoming statliness. She had two beautiful songs, "Spring" and "The Moon's Lullaby," both of which demanded a well trained voice. Miss O'Shea's numbers formed a fitting finale to the solos, all of which were of high standard.

Mr. Jas. O'Brien was a very happy choice for the part of the gay bachelor. He handled himself well, and has an easy stage manner, that fitted his part. Alex. Fortye, as Mr. Pansy, was Master of Ceremonies, and had something to do all the time. As a page he was a whole book, and for a little fellow did particularly well.

Deserved mention should be made of the three Buds, Ethel Morrison, Jessie Cressman and Margaret Sanderson. They not only looked cute, but had many lines to say. Edwina Palmer, as the leader in the Butterfly Dance, kept her little protogees under her care. Lack of space does not permit mention of the dances and choruses.

On account of the large advance sale "A Day in Flowerdom" will be repeated to-night.

Music and Drama

ROYAL ALEXANDRA ENGLISH PLAYERS.

The eulogies of a thousand paid press agents could not carry as much weight as the following reference to the Royal Alexandra English Players, made in an editorial in the Toronto Evening Telegram, on March 16th:—

"A company of Old Country actors, like the present occupants of the stage at the Royal Alexandra, could revive a drama like "The Silver King" for instance, in a style unapproached by a road company. None of the road companies that come to Toronto begin to be as rich in comedians as the Royal Alexandra company. The small parts are played by actors who are too high priced to be carried for small parts in a road production. The company may shine in the excellence of its stars, but the really high-class, permanent company offsets that superiority by the excellence of its actors in the character parts and the general effect of a well balanced production."

The Players will appear in Peterborough to-night in H. J. Byron's greatest comedy "Our Boys." 1d-2458

Mr. Edward Carroll in "We Are King"

Mr. Edmund Carroll, wo will appear at the Grand next Saturday, matinee and night, in Mr. Walker Whiteside's great comedy success "We Are King," makes some remarkably quick changes of costumes. In portraying the dual role of Gustavus Vennor, correspondent for the London Record, and Hector, King of Kahnburg, he disappears out of one door and immediately appears elsewhere as the opposite character. In the first act, Mr. Carroll makes four distinct changes. The last being accomplished in five seconds. This is so mystifying to the public that they are many times deceived and cannot realize that one man plays both parts. Mr Carroll deserves much credit for his clever efforts. 1d-2457

DUNSMURE OPEAR COMPANY

What the Toronto Star said of the Dunsmure Opera Company, who play at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, May 9th.

Rossini's comic opera, "The Barber of Seville," which has not been heard in Toronto for a number of years, was presented at the Princess Theatre last night by the Dunsmure Grand Opera Company, and was enthusiastically received by the audience.

The opera itself is written in the great composer's most happy vein, and abounds in clever situations in which the orchestra score admirably supports the parts assigned the players. It may well be called Rossini's masterpiece in comic opera.

Mr. John Dunsmure, who takes the part of Basilio, the music-master, has one of the most magnificent bass voices heard on a Toronto stage, so rich and sonorous is it, and apparently of such unlimited power. His acting is full of the drollest of drol humour. Madame Monti Baldini, whose role is that of Rosine, possesses a beautiful clear mezzo soprano voice, full of a vivaciousness well suited to the part assigned her. During the music lesson scene she sang Schubert's "Serenade," and Arditi's "Il Bacio" waltz.

The company, which is not a large one, has evidently been chosen with the greatest care, both as to their dramatic and musical ability.

The orchestra is led by Bram Van DenBerg, and is of a very high order. Between the second and third acts Jacques Kinsberger, violinist of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, played two selections with such feelin gand tone as to arouse hearty applause. He was twice recalled.

LETTERS AWAITING IMMIGRANTS

May be Received From Immigrant Agent Upon Identification of Owners.

Mr. Geo. H. Howson, the Government Immigration Agent, has some mail matter at his office for Mr. F. Backham, from Maidstone, England, and also two or three letters, etc., addressed to Sarah Dwyer, Immigrants' Home, Peterborough. Mr. Howson will be pleased to hand over these documents to the above named persons, on their giving satisfactory proof of identification and of ownership.

Mr. Howson's office is at the corner of Water and Brock streets.

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!!

WANTS THE LAW RIGIDLY ADHERED TO

"Dublin Street" Writes About the Health Law.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would like to call the attention of the Health Officials of this city to a case of scarlet fever on Dublin street. I always understood that to be quarantined meant, that all persons residing in a house with a case of scarlet fever or any other contagious disease, should stay in that house for a specified time. Now, this man has one of his boys down with scarlet fever, but he doesn't seem to take any notice of the laws respecting such cases for he goes in and out just the same as usual; just as if he does not have to stay in. I am just an ordinary working man with the health of my family in my care, and in taking this means of bringing this serious affair before the officials, I am endorsing the opinion of every family in Dublin street. Knowing this, I hope the officials will endeavour to see that the law is rigidly adhered to in regard to these matters.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours truly,
DUBLIN STREET.

PUBLIC BIBLE STUDY IN GOSPEL HALL

To be Held on Friday Night—Mr. McMurdo's Address.

"The Resurrection" will be the subject. Mr. McMurdo will open the discussion with an account of how it is to come about, and when. Afterwards the meeting will be conversational and open to any questions bearing on the subject. Preceding Mr. McMurdo's address, Mr. Murdoch of Montreal will occupy ten minutes dealing with "The Christian's Proof of Resurrection." The two preachers gave very helpful addresses last night, many more being present than on the first night. Mr. McMurdo spoke from John 21, first seven verses, dealing with the influence each had on the other. Peter said, "I go fishing"; the others said, "We go also." The speaker showed how fruitless is a work when the biz "I" figures. "They toiled all night and caught nothing." But with the morning came Jesus, and stood on the shore. With Him to direct matters, results were very different. So it is in every-day life. If we would be successful, it must be as obedient servants; first, obedient to the glorious Gospel, by which men and women are made sons and daughters of God, then obedient to all God's requirements, as found in the various epistles of the New Testament. Mr. McMurdo said obedience made happy Christians. Long, sour faces on Christians give the Lord a bad name. As the child is a picture of the parent, so the Christians of today should be pictures of Christ, and please Him by doing whatsoever their hands find to do, with all their might, and be happy and joyous all the time. Mr. Murdoch spoke for about fifteen minutes on "Casting all your cares upon Him, for He careth for you." It was a delightful exposition of a well-known, but little practised, truth.

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. McMurdo will give an account of the great revival in Norway, having spent three years in that country.—Com.

R. Hicks & Co. Awarded Contract For Season's Cement Supply

Board of Works Opened Tenders Last Night—Review of the Road Work, Sewer and Sidewalk Construction for the Year—Sidewalk on Sherbrooke Street.

THE RADIAL RAILWAY CO.

The Board of Works, of the City Council met last night, when there were present, His Worship Mayor Henry Rush, and Aldermen Phelan, chairman; McIntyre, Buller, Morgan, Elliott and Bradburn.

Mrs. Dunford and Mr. Stock petitioned that the sidewalk on Sherbrooke street, south side, between Bethune and Rubidge streets, be built outside the trees. This petition was signed by seven-eighths of the property owners, whereas a former petition signed by two-thirds of the property owners interested, asked for the sidewalk to be constructed inside the trees; and in accordance with the latter petition, this work was advertised and granted. The Board promised to give their earnest consideration to this matter; but whatever action is taken will be in accordance with the will of the majority of the ratepayers interested.

Tenders for Cement

The following tenders for cement for sidewalk and other purposes were received:

R. Hicks & Co., per barrel $1.81.
Peterborough Hardware Company, per barrel $1.82.
Lakefield Portland Cement Co., per barrel $1.75.
Aiken's American Portland Cement Co., per barrel $2.30 1-2.
R. Hicks & Company's tender at $1.81 per barrel, was accepted.

This tender, as did also that of the Peterborough Hardware Co., includes storage and testing. Sacks not returned to be charged for at ten cents each.

Regarding road work, the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. will be asked to confirm a letter received by the council of last year from Mr. Larmonth, in which the company agreed to pay the cost of grading the street railway roadbed if the city undertake such work at the time they are grading the remainder of the roads on which such tracks are laid.

The Board here went into an exhaustive review of the road, sewer and concrete walk work they will recommend council to construct this year. They will meet again this week in preparation for Monday night's council meeting.

Cattlemen Desire A New System Of Inspection Inaugurated

Mr. H. P. Kennedy Tells of Deputation to the Minister of Agriculture—Minister Promised to Give the Matter Consideration.

MEETING IN MONTREAL

Mr. H P Kennedy, who was one of the deputation to interview the Hon. Sidney Fisher, on behalf of the Canadian Drovers Association, at Ottawa, returned home yesterday, and was interviewed by an Examiner representative regarding his trip. Mr. Kennedy stated that he felt that the petition made by the deputation to the Minister of Agriculture was not made in vain, and he hoped that something would be done in the near future.

About a year ago, he said, the Government set a system of inspection in force, on all goods offered for exportation, and inspectors were placed in houses where an export trade was done. The cattlemen of the country were suffering as was explained in yesterday's issue, and they sought the Minister of Agriculture for redress. The deputation waited upon the Hon. Mr. Fisher at 10.30 o'clock on Tuesday morning and were warmly welcomed. The Hon. Minister stated that he was glad to go into the matter and do all in his power in the interests of Canadian trade. The deputation remained for two hours and explained their grievances fully, after which the Minister of Agriculture promised to give the matter earnest consideration, and invited the deputation to inform him further on the subject.

At the Canadian Drovers Association meeting which was held in Montreal, from which the deputation was appointed, about 50 members from different points in Canada were present and important business was discussed.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT ST. MARK'S, OTONABEE

To be Begun on June 22nd—Rev. J. Bennett Anderson, the Missioner.

Revival services will begin at St. Mark's church on Monday, June 22, and will last till June 30, 1908. The Reverend J. Bennett Anderson of Brooklyn will be the missioner. The services will be held every night at 8 o'clock, and on Sunday, June 28, both in the morning and evening. Mr. Anderson is a most eloquent speaker, and wherever he has held missions he has been most successful in the conversion of many souls, and the stirring up of the indifferent.

SUNDAY BALL PLAYERS IN COURT

All Twelve Pleaded Guilty to the Charge —Represented by Mr. G. Gordon.

THE CASE WAS LAID OVER

In the police court this morning, twelve youths of the city, who have gained considerable fame on the baseball diamond, lined across the room to answer to a charge of playing ball on Sunday. The tribe all pleaded guilty through their counsel, Mr. Gordon, and the case was laid over for a week. Counsel submitted that the statute upon which those men were charged was being amended.

The court room was crowded with the friends of the twelve champions of Sunday ball, and considerable interest is being taken in the case.

CALF BORN WITH TWO HEADS

On Farm of Mr. Thomas Hunter, North Monaghan.

An animal freak was called to the attention of Dr. Johnston this morning at the farm of Mr. Thos. Hunter in North Monaghan. One of the cows gave birth to a calf which had two heads. Besides the usual one there was a head growing from the neck. Mr. Johnston was away on one call when Mr. Hunter sent word. Mr. J. B. Gibson, his assistant, attended. The calf did not live, and it is probably just as well, as it had a decided advantage on the rest of its fellows.

ON GOVERNMENT BY A COMMISSION

Address by Mr. Moore in Brantford on Tuesday Night.

The Expositor, referring to the address on "Municipal Government," given by Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., on Tuesday last to the Brantford Board of Trade, says:

"Mr. Moore dealt with the subject exhaustively, and at the conclusion of the meeting, references of praise to the importance of the subject and the manner in which it was dealt with, were made by several of the members present. Mr. Moore, in his paper, favoured government by [illegible] commission, the longthened [illegible] the term of municipal office-holders, the limitation of their numbers, and the remuneration of their services. He instanced Peterborough as an example where much progress had been made and the city was in an unique financial position, as a result of good municipal government."

Miss Mattie Robertson returned home this afternoon from Queen's University, Kingston. She was accompanied by her friend, Miss Ada Richardson of Essex, a student at Queen's, who will remain in Peterborough for some time.

The dinner begins at eight o'clock, after which the address will be given.

INDUSTRIOUS FAMILY OF NEW-COMERS

To Farm and Conduct Butcher Shop in Peterborough.

A family of new comers, that are possessed of the spirit that carries them along in this country, have recently taken up residence in Peterborough, and intend to open up a butcher shop on George street. Their name is Edwards, and there are ten or twelve members, all of whom are grown up. Some of them intend to work among the farmers, while the others will look after the meat business. In the Old Country they had considerable experience in the butcher and drover business, and they should make good in this city.

OPENING OF NEW YORK LADIES' TAILORING PARLORS

An Announcement of Special Interest to The Ladies of Peterborough.

These new and well appointed ladies' tailoring parlours are now open. They are in the premises, No. 658 George street under the supervision of experienced costumers, whose artistic qualifications have been recognized by fashionable patrons. Styles will be interpreted and executed in a manner peculiar to those in vogue in leading centres of the United States. Orders for ladies' skirts, shirt waists, and walking skirts will be in charge of expert modistes. Latest ideas and creations in the treatment of fluffy ruffles, "teddy bears," "merry widows" and other novelties will be executed by those who keep in close touch with the new features in fashion's realm.

Ladies who desire individualism in dress, and distinctive costuming features will appreciate the advantages which these New York Tailoring Parlours will aim to afford.

RATS ARE PLENTIFUL AT HIAWATHA

Chief Crowe Has Trapped 700 of the Rodents This Spring.

Fishery Inspector Johnston, who has returned from a trip to Hiawatha reports that the muskrat season at Rice Lake has been the best he has ever known at that point. Chief Crowe has succeeded in trapping no less than 700 rats, while other inhabitants of the village have been nearly as lucky. As 40 cents per pelt is being paid for the rodent skins it may be imagined that they are a prolific source of revenue for the Hiawatha people this year.

SALVATION ARMY BAND PRACTISING FOR TOUR

The Salvation Army Band is now practicing faithfully for their tour which has been mentioned by the Brigadier. Last spring they went on a tour through the lake shore towns and during the eight days of the trip won praise at every concert. In all probability Bandmaster Greene will have the same trip with him soon before long and are preparing new pieces in anticipation of the event.

The band has also invitations for week end trips to Lindsay and Campbellford and arrangements are being made to have them carried out.

Mr. John James, formerly of the local corps, but recently of Cobourg, has returned to the city and is again under Mr. Greene's direction. He is a baritone player and will lend assistance to that section of the local corps.

NARROW ESCAPE OF YOUTH AND HIS BICYCLE

Although struck squarely by a fast-travelling horse while riding a bicycle, and run over by the animal and the buggy attached to it, Willie Foley, a young Elm street lad, is still alive, emerging from his precarious position with facial injuries of little consequence. The youth was wheeling eastward on Charlotte street, when he met both a street car and the horse and vehicle. He was unable to get out of the way and went straight in front of the horse. It, as well as the wheels of the buggy passed over him, but the bicycle miraculously escaped. Young Foley was little injured and easily able to wheel home.

UNWELCOME CALL OF A "WOMAN" IN SABLE GARB

Wore Effective Disguise in Neighbourhood of Locks Bridge.

An amusing incident occurred last night in the neighbourhood of the Locks Bridge, in which a disguise played an important part. A young man, attired in the black garb of a woman, perpetrated some Hallowe'en stunts which were both amusing and annoying, according to whether the spectators were "wise" to the game or not.

Although emphatically ordered out, the girel-man gained admittance to the cottage of a gentleman residing alone near the bridge, on the plea of thirst and fatigue. The evident worry on his face of having a woman on his hands was possibly the immediate cause of the departure of the sable-attired personage. In another house the same mysterious figure was "the collector of money for the sick children's hospital," but on account of a lack of funds a request was made for another call this morning.

TORE UP PROGRAMMES FOR EXTRA TICKETS

The attendance at the Conservatory Music Hall last night on the occasion of the presentation of "A Day in Flowerdom" was so large that Mr. Chas. Seymour, who was selling the tickets had to tear up programmes, duplicating them. This was necessary for two or three rows at the rear owing to the large crowd present.

EUGENE HURTUBISE EASILY WON BOUT FROM KENNEDY IN STRAIGHT FALLS LAST NIGHT

Big Local Wrestler Had the German Always on the Defensive—Kennedy Not Satisfied With the Decision of Referee Dwyer.

PRELIMINARIES WERE GOOD

Eugene Hurtubise, captain of the Peterborough Rugby Club and ex-amateur heavyweight champion of Canada, had little trouble in disposing of Frank Kennedy of New York, the German light-heavyweight, in their bout at the Grand Opera House last night. Hurtubise won in two straight falls, the first in seven and the second in eighteen minutes, and the big local wrestler had his stocky opponent on the defensive almost all the way.

A big house witnessed the event, and the victory of Hurtubise was, of course, a popular one, the crowd wildly cheering as the last fall was made. It was expected by most local people that Gene would win, but a harder battle was looked for, and it was not thought that the match would be over in under the half hour. After the desperate go the two had in Toronto last week, a hammer and tongs struggle was looked for, but it did not materialize, Hurtubise proving far too strong for his opponent and winning easily, although Kennedy's cleverness saved him for a while.

Kennedy was not satisfied with the decisions given by Referee Joe Dwyer formerly of Lindsay, in either fall, claiming that Hurtubise had not secured a pin fall which the conditions called for, but that both were roll falls and should not count. The agreement signed by the wrestlers was somewhat unusual, inasmuch as no holds were barred, but the strangle and smother holds, although used, were not put in force in making the falls.

About 1,200 people saw the bout and seemed satisfied with the exhibition, as well they might be, for some very clever wrestling was done. Hurtubise had his opponent on the defensive for seven-eighths of the time, and when the German did assume the aggressive he could do nothing with the lanky local man. Kennedy succeeded in securing a half-Nelson several times, but before he could use it Hurtubise would break away from him and take command once again. On the defensive, however, Kennedy showed decided cleverness in bridging and in spinning away from dangerous holds. Gene had him in difficulties dozens of times, but a quick spin and a roll saved him when a fall seemed certain. The match was not a rough one even with no holds barred, and the crowd found it always exciting and interesting.

When the men faced each other in the centre of the mat it was seen that Hurtubise was a head taller than his German opponent. The local man weighed about 192 pounds, while Kennedy was said to tip the scales at 179, although he looked heavier. He is stockily built, with an enormous neck and well-developed arms and torso.

Hurtubise assumed the aggressive on the start. After the preliminary sparring, the two grappled and went down, the local man on top. Hurtubise almost immediately secured a good half-Nelson, but the German rolled out of danger. Then Gene tried a crotch and bar hold, but Kennedy broke it by clever work, and also spun away from another half-Nelson that looked dangerous, getting Gene on the defensive for the first time. The change did not last long, for the ex-amateur champion broke away from a half-Nelson and was once more on top. He obtained a full Nelson on Kennedy, but the German saved himself again by fast work. Then Hurtubise secured a scissors hold and half-Nelson and turned the New York man over. Referee Dwyer awarded him a fall in seven minutes, although Kennedy claimed it was only a roll fall, and that his shoulders had not been on the mat long enough to constitute a pin fall.

Eugene Hurtubise, who easily won his wrestling bout with Frank Kennedy of New York, in straight falls last night.

After the rest Hurtubise kept right after the German and some clever wrestling was seen. Right at the start he got Kennedy with a three-quarter Nelson that looked good, but the New York man's quick spin stood him in good stead and he rolled out of danger. Hurtubise tried the strangle hold, but once more Kennedy broke it and followed it up by getting away from a half-Nelson. Once again the local man got a half-Nelson, only to have it broken, and a toe hold produced no results. Then Hurtubise followed up with a half-Nelson and crotch hold, but Kennedy's cleverness saved him again. A smother hold got the German into trouble again, but he got out of his predicament with a roll. Hurtubise, however, secured a half-Nelson and crotch hold after eighteen minutes' fast work, and Referee Dwyer awarded him the second fall and the match.

Kennedy did not like the decision, and walking to the front of the stage, addressed the crowd, saying he had not had a fair deal. He explained that a pin fall meant that a man's shoulders should be on the mat for five seconds, and claimed the falls were not pin falls at all.

Mr. C. G. Graham, Hurtubise's manager, immediately announced that he was willing to put up a purse of $50 that Hurtubise could throw Kennedy four times in an hour and that he could throw Jack McDonough five times in one hour.

The preliminary bouts were good, especially the wrestling bout between "Bobby" Long and Geo. Crowe which resulted in a draw, both getting one fall after thirty minutes' work on the mat. Both boys were fast and clever and the exhibition greatly pleased the crowd. Crowe had the advantage in weight, but this was counterbalanced by Long's aggressiveness and science, and the two had a lively battle, their work being much appreciated. Both were aggressive at the start, and Long saved himself several times by quick work. Finally after 10 minutes and 48 seconds Crowe succeeded in taking the first fall with a full Nelson. Long secured the next in eight minutes with a hammerlock, and the remainder of the half hour was without incident. Mr. Geo. N. Graham, who refereed this and the other preliminary bouts, called it a draw and the crowd agreed with his decision.

The next bout between Jack Crough and Jack Wilson at 145 pounds was tame in comparison. Crough was suffering from an injured shoulder and contented himself with remaining on the defensive. Wilson was aggressive but unscienced, and could do nothing with his opponent, the half passing without anything that had the semblance of a fall.

Corney Burns and Nobby Glover boxed two rounds, Burns getting the decision. He was faster and more clever than his opponent, doing most of the leading, and in the second round he tapped the Englishman almost at will. The crowd seemed to enjoy the short bout.

The opera house orchestra livened things up in the intervals with an enjoyable programme.

August 15—
Y.M.C.A. v. Lakeviews.

It may be seen from the above that there are eighty-four games to be played. With everything running along smoothly, there is no reason why there should be one complaint registered. If the players will remember that their actions affect the league they will conduct themselves in a gentlemanly manner on the field as well as off. The duty of the league will be to select competent umpires and to give them considerable power. All the above games will be played on the Nicholls Oval. As may be seen, the schedule has been arranged differently from that of last year, and is double, thus affording a greater number of games. The team that wins out this summer certainly deserves the silverware.

JUNIOR CHURCH LEAGUE TO-NIGHT

Last Opportuity of Entering Teams in This Ball League.

A meeting of the representatives of teams that intend to enter the Junior Church Baseball League, is called for to-night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M.C.A. This will be the last meeting for organization and it is most necessary that all the Boys' Guilds or Clubs that intend entering a team should have a representative on hand. The season is advancing rapidly and if the league in to be successfully launched there should be no further delay in organizing.

HURTUBISE AGREES TO THROW KENNEDY FOUR TIMES IN HOUR

Peterborough enthusiasts will be given an opportunity of seeing another big wrestling bout next week, when Eugene Hurtubise will take on Frank Kennedy, the German wrestler again, this time in a handicap match.

Kennedy is not satisfied with last night's bout, claiming that it was not a square deal. Manager Chris. Graham, on behalf of Hurtubise, claimed that the local man could throw Kennedy four times in an hour. After the bout this challenge was accepted by Kennedy, and articles drawn up and signed between the two men for a match here next week for $100 a side and a purse of $50, Hurtubise to throw the German four times in one hour or lose the match.

LAKEFIELD TO HAVE A WALKING RACE

Three-night Grind is Being Arranged in the Cement Village.

The walking fever has hit Lakefield, according to a Peterborough man who has been spending a few days in the Cement Village, and a three nights' walking match is being talked of. The proposal is to have the contestants walk two hours on the first and second nights and finish up with a three hour grind on the last night. Only Lakefield men will be allowed to enter the match which will take place in the skating rink. It is likely that the contest will be arranged.

HAD A STAB-LIKE PAIN THROUGH THE HEART.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS CURED HER AND SAVED HER LIFE.

There is no one, we imagine, who cares deliberately to do injury to the heart, yet in the excitement and excesses of present-day living, the nervous system is done violence to, and the heart and nerves being so intimately bound up with one another, disorganization of the one means disease and disorder of the other.

When you find your heart the least bit out of rhyme, your nerves unhinged, don't wait until you are prostrated on a bed of sickness. Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They'll put you in such condition you'll never know you have a heart, make your brain clear and active, your nerves strong, your blood rich and pure, and your whole being thrill with a new life.

Mrs. John G. Yeaman, Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with a stab-like pain through my heart. I tried many remedies but they seemed to do me more harm than good. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I was completely cured. I cannot praise them enough for the world of good they did me for I believe they saved my life."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Eugene Hurtubise, the Peterborough heavyweight wrestler, who gave Frank Kennedy, the German light-heavyweight from New York, such a gruelling at Mutual street rink last Wednesday night, when Kennedy lost on a foul, and Charlie Conkle, the Hamilton grappler, are talking of a match for Mutual street rink Saturday night. The new Crescent Athletic Club has offered a $200 purse for the match, but the wrestlers want more. Conkle, though lighter than Kennedy, is very clever and strong. If he and Hurtubise come together there will be some tall doings.—Toronto Star.

The Y.M.C.A. Hiking Club will begin their weekly tramps Saturday afternoon when they walk to Chemong Park and return.

• • • •

Now the walking match and wrestling bout is over, the sporting fraternity is turning its attention to baseball and discussing the prospects for the season. With two fast teams representing Peterborough in the Midland League, there is every reason to hope for a great baseball season. The schedule will be drawn next Wednesday at a meeting held in Port Hope and the opening game will likely be played two weeks from this Saturday. Most of Manager Johnston's players for the Peterborough Ball Club, are here now and are working out morning and afternoon in Central Park. They will be in the best of shape when the season opens. The Athletics, the other Peterborough team, will likely hold a practice on Saturday afternoon.

WEDDING BELLS.

PUBLOW-BARKER

The friends in Peterborough of Mr. G. G. Publow, dairy instructor, will be interested in the wedding of Miss Muriel J. Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barker, and granddaughter of the late Judge Jellet, to Dr. C. A. Publow, of the faculty of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Publow, Kingston. The ceremony was conducted yesterday at high noon in Picton, by Rev. W. L. Armitage in the presence of a large and fashionable congregation. The church was effectively decorated with palms and lilies. The bride was gowned in a beautiful empire dress of white duchess satin, real lace on bertha, the white tulle veil being caught with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Christine Barker, the maid of honour, and the bridesmaids, Miss Lilian Barker and Miss Maude Publow, of Kingston, were frocked in white and yellow and carried daisies. Prof. R. A. Pearson, of Cornell University, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. J. Jellet, Toronto; Mr. D. J. Barker, Montreal; Mr. A. Publow, Kingston, and Mr. B. Scripture, Brighton. Mrs. Barker had a reception at "Old Grange," when she wore heliotrope crepe de chene. Mr. and Mrs. Publow left for Ithaca, N. Y., the bride wearing a smark tailored suit of Copenhagen striped broadcloth and toque to match.

LABATT-GRAHAM

A wedding of local interest took place in the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, on Wednesday, April 29th, at 4 p. m., when Miss Emma Graham, eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Graham, of Toronto, and formerly of Smith Township, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph P. Labatt, of Toronto.

The marriage was performed by the pastor, the Rev Dr S. Cleaves, After the ceremony, Mr, and Mrs. Labatt left on a wedding trip, the bride travelling in a tailored suit of wedgewood blue with hat to match.

The bride, who is a very popular young lady, is well known in the city and vicinity, and will receive the congratulations of a host of friends here. On their return they will take up their residence in Toronto.

SWING BRIDGES WERE UNFETTERED TO-DAY

The G.T.R. swing bridges were today loosened from their clamps for another year, and navigation's advance will not be delayed by the company. The fish plates were taken off the bridge at the locks, also at Hastings and at Nassau. The men will soon be placed at their usual positions in charge of these bridges.

Having Children's Eyes Examined

People suffer through life with the disadvantage of impared vision as a result of neglect of the eyes in childhood. Children considered dull or effected with brain trouble.

It's a familiar fact that the acuteness of vision varies extremely among adults, and that certain defects of the eye—such as shortsightedness — can be as completely remedied as to restore to the individual almost perfect sight. Now, there exists among children just such differences in the acuteness of vision as is observed in adults, and many of the defects of the eye originate in the failure of parents to appreciate those differences.

It's a pity to put glasses upon a child, but a greater pity to neglect such when the future well-being of the eyes depends upon their help. It's safer to do as many are doing now—having the children's eyes examined to know whether or not glasses are necessary.

UNFORTUNATE

The cleanest and most careful of housewives are often afflicted with the trouble and discomfort of Bed Bugs. The thing to do when they are discovered is not to waste a minute, but procure a good, reliable poison and go at them.

NUGENT'S BED BUG POISON

is a liquid which chases the pests out of every crack and place where they can possibly hide and carries destruction with it. It is, of course, a strong and violent poison and its work of ridding the premises is sure and swift. It is an article that should be in every house at all times, in case of emergency, so that valuable time may not be wasted.

BREAD LOCATES BODY OF BOY

Queer Way of Locating Body Said to Have Been Adopted at Carleton Place.

Ottawa, May 1.—(Special.)—A story from Carleton Place, published here, states that on Friday last the old mystery of locating a body which had been drowned, by floating a loaf of bread on the water, was strangely exemplified. It appears that an unsuccessful search had been conducted for some time for the body of Lorne Thomas, a young boy who was drowned in the river there on Thursday last. On Friday afternoon a 13-year-old girl named Alice Wood, who had lost a sister by drowning at Almonte one year ago, and had heard of this method of locating a body, brought a loaf of bread to the men who were grappling for the body, and told them to cast the bread upon the water, and follow it until it stopped. This they did. The loaf of bread floated down stream, while the little girl knelt on the shore and prayed for success. After going 200 yards the loaf circled six times and then sank.

The body was found exactly underneath the spot where the loaf stopped and was at once brought to the surface. The story is apparently well authenticated, and the mystery is the talk of the town.

AN ADVANCEMENT FOR A FORMER LAKEFIELD BOY

Mr. A. W. Strickland is Manager of Bank of Montreal at Prince Rupert.

Mr. A W Strickland who is mentioned in the accompanying paragraph is the youngest son of Mr. Percy Strickland, of Lakefield, and is, as the Prince Rupert Empire says, well known in the Kootenay and Yale Districts. Mr. Strickland is an active and energetic banker, and we have no doubt will do splendidly in his new position—:

"Campbell Sweeney, superintendent of the Bank of Montreal's branches in British Columbia and Alberta, accompanied by Mr. Hartley, manager of the Royal Trust Company, came up from Vancouver on the Cameoun, and when here secured a site for a branch of the Bank of Montreal, which will be opened as soon as a building can be erected. It is understood that the material for the building, which is to be larger than that of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been ready for a year past. The site secured is on the corner of Centre street and A avenue, adjoining Kelly-Carruthers Supply Company. The manager of the Prince Rupert branch will be A W Strickland, manager of the branch at Nicola. Mr. Strickland is well known in Kootenay and Yale districts, where he had worked for the bank in different positions for several years."

Presentations From Family of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosborough.

At the Fairview appointment, Bridgenorth Circuit, on the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding day, the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosborough presented each of their parents with valuable presents, and an address congratulating them on the happy return of the day, and expressing their very high appreciation of the care and self-denial exercised in preparing them for life, and especially for the Christian training which has led them all to follow their blessed Master.—Christian Guardian.

ARE YOU AN EARLY RISER?

If not, especially on Saturday, you are missing some good things at Cressman's. We have instituted a new feature to encourage early shopping on Saturday morning—the "Early Rising Sale," two hours only, 8:10 to 10:10. This week the Specials are $1.00 Kid Gloves for 49c, and 45c Table Linens for 25c. Enough in themselves to cause you to be down town Saturday morning, sharp at 8:10, to say nothing of the advantage that you gain by doing your trading before the heavy rush begins—you get better service, more time to select and better assortments to select from. Think it over and act to-morrow morning.

TELEGRAPH POLES BLOWN ACROSS C. P. R. TRACK BY THE STORM EAST OF PETERBOROUGH

Morning Train Made Trip From Havelock to Peterborough in Almost Three Hours This Morning.

FURY OF THE WIND

A wind storm of unusual violence raged throughout Eastern Ontario last night, and Peterborough was probably on the edge of its path. Wind and snow joined forces early in the afternoon, the snow changing to rain as the night advanced. It blew in sheets in every possible direction and raged through the streets and lanes with force enough for a hurricane, but the city is reported to have braved the wrath of the storm and to have escaped practically unhurt.

Poles Blown Down

East of the city, between Havelock and Peterborough, the C. P. R. telegraph service suffered considerably. A traveller at one of the local hotels told an Examiner representative that there were between 25 and 30 telegraph poles down between the city and the eastern town. As a result, the early morning train from Montreal, due in the city at 5.16 a.m., did not arrive until nearly 8 o'clock. The poles in almost every case were lying across the rails and had to be removed. It was also learned that during the early morning a freight train, moving at a moderate rate, crashed into one of these poles, causing the engine to leave the rails. It was returned to the rails in a short time without much difficulty.

Local Option Towns Celebrate The Last Day Of The Bar Room

"As long as I am on the road, I never want to spend a night like last night," said a furniture traveller who had just arrived from Campbellford, to an Examiner reporter this morning. Local option came into effect today and the citizens of the different towns who are to be affected by it went out and had a good time. The drinks were flying very freely during the day and many intoxicated men could be seen about the streets. The hotel busses were crowded and the men inside were singing and shouting. As the twilight were on and the men who were at their business all day, began to come out, the fun began. Men formed themselves in processions and marched up and down the streets singing, yelling and making all kinds of hideous noises. The rotundas and the bars of the hotels were crowded with men.

The traveller stated that he was on the road for this same firm, and happened to land in Brockville, the night Pretoria was taken, but the celebration and accompanying incidents of that night and the day following was nothing to what he saw and heard in Campbellford last night.

Travellers who are arriving to-day from Omemee, Norwood and many other points give like descriptions of the night they spent.

Inspector's Quick Action To-day Averted An Accident

Quick action on the part of Inspector John McCann, of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, averted what would have been a serious accident last evening at 6 o'clock. A rig, containing three Indians from Chemong, started to cross the car tracks at the corner of George and Brock streets. A south bound car was approaching the crossing at a good rate of speed, and a serious collision between it and the rig appeared imminent. Inspector McCann, however, saw the threatening danger and shouted to the Indians to stop, at the same time signalling to the car to slow up. The result was that the car was almost stopped when it reached the horses and barely touched the animals. The occupants of the rig had not been aware of the approach of the car, and had not the inspector intervened the horses, at least, would have been badly injured.

LAST DAY TO SECURE A DOG TAG

Only 470 Tags Have Been Taken Out—Over 1000 Dog Owners.

All dog owners who have not secured a license by 5 o'clock this evening will have a summons issued against them to-morrow and will be brought before the magistrate and fined. This is the last day in which to escape the penalty of the bylaw, and there is reason to believe that about five hundred citizens will be summoned to appear.

The Chief issued a warning some days ago to the citizens, and up to noon to-day only 470 had taken out dog tags. It is hoped that those who have not secured a license will do so this afternoon and save further trouble.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the People of Peterborough.

To Whom It May Concern:

Of late there has been a good deal of discussion in Peterborough in regard to advertised medicines and their value—the papers are full of them.

We want to say to every man, woman and child in Peterborough that we believe the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil—the best tonic reconstructor, health restorer and strength creator—we have ever sold in our store is Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, it contains no injurious drugs, but it actually does contain all of the medicinal, curative elements taken from fresh cods' livers, without a drop of the useless oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added.

Vinol is recognized throughout the world as the greatest strength creator for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness.

Vinol cures barking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles. We ask the people of Peterborough to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

IS LEAVING FOR PORT COLBORNE

Mr. W. J. Metheral, Manager of the Strathconas, Will be Away for Three Months.

Mr. W. J. Metheral, manager of the Strathcona Baseball Club, leaves the city to-morrow for Port Colborne, Ont., where he has accepted a position that will entail his absence from Peterborough for a period of about three months. Charlie Curtis, at a meeting of the Strathconas last night, was delegated the duties of manager, and he will also take Mr. Metheral's place on the City League executive, during the absence of the energetic manager, whose departure from the city will be felt by the bunch who wear the red and white of the high commissioners. Mr. Frank Sollit will also leave for Port Colborne to-morrow.

TAKE NOTICE

To Officers, Soldiers and Friends of the Salvation Army:

Will all those directly, or indirectly connected with the Salvation Army, who are not satisfied with the state of affairs, at present existing in the Salvation Army at Peterborough, please meet next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the hall over C. N. Brown's flour and feed store, 139 Simcoe street, when a service for special prayer shall be held, petitioning for the conditions, that shall bring down a real revival of the work of God in our midst. All Christians are urgently invited to attend this service.

Signed in behalf of those interested.

MR. BRADBURN FLATLY REFUSES.

On April 20th, Mr, G. A. Gillespie, five days after his nomination as Liberal candidate, and after a personal conference with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, the Conservative candidate, in which the latter expressed himself as desirous for "a straight, clean fight," in order to insure such a contest on both sides, made a proposition to Mr. Bradburn in the following letter:

T. E. Bradburn, Esq., M.P.P.,

Dear Sir,—As I intimated when speaking to you a day or two ago, I desire that the coming election contest between us as candidates, respectively representing the Government and Opposition in the approaching Provincial general elections, should be conducted upon purely legitimate and legal lines, which is to say that no money nor money's equivalent, nor promises of office or preferment, nor advantage of any kind, shall be given or promised on either side to unduly or corruptly influence or determine, in respect of any elector, the manner in which he shall cast his vote.

In this you agreed with me and expressed your desire for "a straight, clean fight."

I would, therefore, propose that we—yourself and myself—by a written and duly executed undertaking, jointly offer a reward of $200 to be paid to the person or persons furnishing such evidence, as will lead to the conviction of any person or persons on either side of politics, who may be guilty of the violation of the election act, and necessarily of this agreement, during the prosecution of the coming election.

I will deposit jointly with yourself the sum of $100, for the purpose, and will, besides, for myself, undertake to pay the sum of $500 for the conviction of any person proven guilty of a breach of the election act; and I also propose that I shall name a committe from among Conservatives or your supporters to the number of ten and that you, yourself, name a like committee of ten from the ranks of my supporters, each committee to keep strict watch for the purpose of detecting wrong doing, involving a breach of the Election Law, in connection with the coming election contest, and for the purpose of furnishing evidence to be used for prosecution of offenders if such there should be, under the election law.

I feel it my duty, in the interest of clean politics, as applied to the coming election contest, to make the foregoing proposition to you. If it should not meet with your approval would you be good enough to propose any other fair arrangement which will fulfill your own desire as expressed to me, and my own also for "a straight, clean fight" in the coming Provincial election in the riding of West Peterborough and behalf agree to it, I am

Yours very sincerely,
G. A. GILLESPIE.

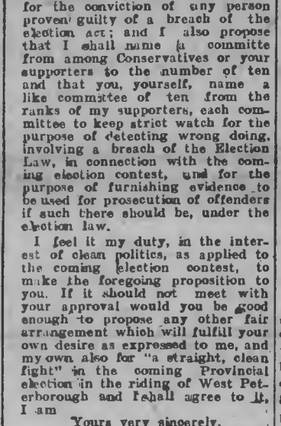
Peterborough, April 20, 1908.

One would have thought that so eminently fair a proposition, so well calculated to insure, so far as precaution and vigilance availed, a clean election by both parties would have been instantly assented to by Mr. Bradburn. But, after a lapse of nearly ten days, Mr. Bradburn writes to Mr. Gillespie in reply, urging various excuses for his delay, and flatly refusing his assent to Mr. Gillespie's proposal, and, of course, refusing to co-operate with the latter in using the best means to secure a squarely conducted election campaign. Mr. Bradburn's letter of reply, and—refusal—is as follows:

Peterborough, April 29th, 1908.

G. A. Gillespie, Esq., Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Your favour of the 20th inst. was duly received. Absence from the city on that day and the day following; public duties on Wednesday, and further absence later prevented me replying earlier.



The Key to the Situation

If you are looking for a situation a Classified Want Ad. is the key which will unlock the door to the private office of the business man. He is too busy to interview all promiscuous callers, but you can catch his attention and secure an appointment by a "Situation Wanted" ad.

State your wants through the Examiner's Want Ads. It reaches all classes. If you telephone your advertisement it will be inserted, and the bill sent after its publication. That's a quick way to get results.

Your letter was not stated to be an "open" one. I took it to be private, and I was surprised to find that you, expecting to gain a little political advantage, or capital, had published it, and that it was later referred to in the Examiner as "open."

Referring to the matter of your communication, I quite agree that the contest in West Peterborough, as in every other constituency, should be carried on in strict accordance with the provisions of the law and in this way only, in the present as in the past, shall I conduct the contest.

I am unaware that any such extraordinary methods as you propose for accomplishing that end have ever been adopted elsewhere, and I should consider that we both would be stultifying ourselves by entering into an arrangement of this kind.

I see no reason for, even hinting that any improper means will be used in the coming contest by either of us. I therefore beg to decline your proposal, but I will certainly prosecute anyone breaking the law.

I am,
Yours truly,
T. E. BRADBURN.

To-day Mr. Gillespie forwarded the following open letter to Mr. Bradburn:

Peterborough, April 30.

T. E. Bradburn, Esq.:

I have your letter of April 29th replying to my open letter of April 20th. I regret it, if I did not make it plain that my letter of the 20th, as well as this letter, was an open one, referring, as it did, to a matter in which the public have the largest interest.

Contrary to what you suggest, my letter, and the proposition it involved, was written in perfect good faith and with no other purpose than to join with you in an effort to meet your desire, as expressed to me personally, for a "clean straight fight." It was not to gain any political advantage, it was only intended to bring about a mutual agreement that would show the people that we were both determined, so far as lay in our power, to conduct the coming election on straight lines and in accordance with the requirements of the election law.

In my open letter I made no reference to past elections, nor to the manner in which they were conducted; my only concern is in the present contest. Before accepting the nomination and since, I have made it clear that one condition of my acceptance was that I would not, myself, exercise any undue influence, nor be a party to its use in my behalf in the election campaign. I was willing to bind myself to this course, and in order to permit my opponent to join me in mutually carrying out such a course, I addressed you my letter of the 20th, making the proposal that we jointly sign an agreement that would prevent the practise of any undue influence of any kind, either by ourselves or on our behalf.

I concluded my first letter by asking that if you did not entertain my proposition you would submit to me an alternative proposition with a like object in view. I regret that you have rejected my proposition and ignored the alternative. I had not a thought, in the proposition I made, of questioning your honour in the slightest degree. I should not have felt reflected upon by receiving a similar proposition from you or any other person under similar circumstances.

Yours very truly,
G. A. GILLESPIE.

Certainly Mr. Gillespie could not go further, in his turn at a fair election, or suggest a fairer course than that he proposed, and Mr. Bradburn refused. It is difficult to understand why a refusal was made. Such a refusal on Mr. Bradburn's part certainly opens the way to a suspicion that he is none too anxious to implement the desire he expressed personally to Mr. Gillespie for "a clean, straight fight" a familiar way of expressing a cleanly conducted election contest. The proposition was no imputation upon Mr. Bradburn's honour, any more than it would be for one business man to ask a promissory note in settlement of an account. The proposal of Mr. Gillespie is not without precedent. A similar arrangement to that proposed was agreed upon by the candidates in the Provincial bye-election in Kingston, in 1906, and the result was not only satisfactory to both parties directly concerned, but also to those who desired to see purity in election contests. Would Mr. Bradburn be surprised, and those who encourage him in the surprising attitude he has taken, to know that similar action to that he has so disrespectfully, not to say disdainfully, treated, is proposed by the Conservative party in Ottawa! A despatch dated yesterday says:

Ottawa, April 30.—The Executive of the Conservative Association, in connection with their suggestion that steps be taken to free the coming Provincial elections in Ottawa from any corrupt practices, at a recent meeting, appointed a committee to negotiate with the Liberal Executive in the matter of a compact for the enforcement of the provisions of the election laws.

When Mr. Bradburn says, "I see no reason for even hinting that any improper means will be used by either of us in the coming contest," he is suspiciously innocent. Will he tell us what possible harm can come from such a mutual evidence of good faith, and experience shows that much good has come from a similar agreement in other places. The unprejudiced public can and will draw their own conclusions.

A TRYING ELECTION.

At the Conservative nomination in Renfrew on Wednesday, Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, was inclined to be pessemistic as to the general election contest. He said the present election would, perhaps, be the most trying the Whitney Government would ever have to face—the candidates of the Conservative party would have to face their constituents and answer for what the Government has done in its first term office. If the Government is lucky enough to pull out of the coming campaign successfully—and stranger things have happened than a failure to do so—they will have a great deal more to answer for at another general election, if they continue at the same dizzy rate of misgovernment and extravagance, that has marked their first three years in the saddle.

A CHEF D'OEUVRE.

The gerrymander of the constituencies was as contemptible a piece of political trickery, says the Globe, as stands to the disgrace of any Government. So systematically was it done that only two constituencies, where the situations for the Liberals could possibly be made worse, were left unchanged. And that was done on the eve of a new census, by a Government with a majority of forty-two, and under a Premier who only four years ago publicly and profusely thanked the Liberals and the Independents who gave him their support! Is it any wonder men of self-respect are now in revolt?

EDITORAL NOTES

The Ontario Conservatives hailed Rev. D. C. Hossack as a beaver-scent champion in 1905. This clerical polecmic, the London Advertiser remarks now jabs his sharp pen into the Whitney Government. He is one of many who have had their eyes opened by the gerrymander and the spoils system.

Mr. Bradburn, the Conservative candidate, must have a queer conception of the significance of an honest action when he says that he would "stultify" himself by signing an agreement with an opponent to conduct a square, clean election. One would think that he "stultifies" himself in much greater degree by refusing to commit himself in black and white to what he verbally professes to be anxious to obtain.

Is the Whitney Government to be considered insulted because Mackenzie & Mann, not satisfied with the verbal assurance of the members of the Government, as gentlemen, demanded that the Government guarantee of their bonds for two and one-half million dollars be committed to documentary form and duly signed? Isn't the "word" of the Government as good as the "word" of Mr. Bradburn?

BUILDING OF NORMAL SCHOOLS

Information About Them in Last Report of Minister of Public Works.

In the latest report of the Minister of Public Works for Ontario, the following information about the new Normal School buildings has been given:

Contracts for the erection of the four buildings were awarded to Contractor S. F. Whitham of Brantford. The contract for heating, plumbing and ventilating for all four buildings was awarded to the Purdy, Mansell Company, Limited, of Toronto, and the electric wiring to the Fred. Armstrong Company of Toronto. Good progress has been made with the buildings at Hamilton, Stratford and Peterborough, all being roofed in, electric wiring installed and the heating and plumbing well under way. Considerable delay has been experienced in connection with the work of the building at North Bay, occasioned by the difficulty in obtaining suitable materials for the work and the difficulty in constructing foundations. The site upon which the building is being erected is composed of rock in the rear of the lot and quicksand in front, and is no exception to all of the land upon which the town is built. A large quantity of rock had to be blasted in some parts, and to get a good foundation in other portions cement work had to be carried down to a depth of twenty-one feet through the quicksand, both operations being necessarily slow. The work on the building has been stopped for the winter, the climate in that part of the country being too severe to permit of work being carried on during the winter months. Materials will be delivered during the season, and work resumed as soon as the weather permits. The above works are being carried out under the superintendence of clerks of works—Alfred Peene, Hamilton; Louis Yokes, Stratford; F. Bartlett, Peterborough, and Robert Wallace, North Bay, under the supervision of the Department.

PLEA FOR THE PATRIOTISM OF CANADIAN CITIZENS FOR AID IN THE ADVANCED EDUCATION

"The Canadian Citizen in The Making," Treated From a Broad Standpoint At Canadian Club Meeting.

MR. T. H. PRESTON, SPEAKER

Patriotism in a broader sense than that in which we have been disposed to consider it in the past was the theme of the address presented before the Canadian Club last night by Mr. T. H. Preston M.P.P., editor of the Brantford Expositor. Educational reform, embracing the physical, mental, and moral phases was set forth in a sensible, convincing address with illustrations from human life which have come under the observation of everyone. "The Canadian Citizen in the Making," was Mr. Preston's subject and his address left a marked impression upon those of the Canadian Club who were fortunate enough to be present at the National.

His advanced ideas of methods in education; his treatment of the subject of the equal provision of education to children in all classes of life, regardless of environment and of the parts necessary to be played by the men who have the advancement of the Dominion of Canada at heart—were the leading phases of an admirable address, admirably presented. Dealing as it did, with a subject somewhat parallel to that upon which Mr. Archibald, Dominion Parole Officer, spoke at the last meeting of the Canadian Club, it was particularly appreciated.

Educate the Children

Early in his address Mr. Preston stated his opinion that not much could be done towards making over the adult immigrants from other countries, desirable and undesirable, who were pouring into Canada. His hope was in making good Canadian citizens of their children, and he devoted himself largely to a consideration of the best means of accomplishing this. The subject was one to which the speaker had evidently given a great deal of thought and attention and his exposure of the weaknesses in our present educational system and his suggestions for improvement were alike calculated, as the President, Mr. F D Kerr and other speakers, remarked at the close, to provoke thought and consideration on the part of his hearers.

The chairman of the evening was Mr. F D Kerr who before calling upon the speaker of the occasion, mentioned that the time had rolled around, according to the constitution, to have the election of new officers for the coming year and he appointed a nominating Committee from those present to attend to that particular work.

Mr. Preston's Address

Upon rising to respond to a hearty reception Mr. Preston stated he was highly pleased to come before a Canadian Club on his first appearance in Peterborough. Such a club is for the purpose of knowing Canada better than we do. To know Canada is to love her. In the greater knowledge comes the greater love. Before proceeding to his address he referred to the absence of the ladies at the meeting and in a brief toast paid a pretty compliment to the gentler sex.

Patriotism, he said, without knowledge is but as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. If he could arouse an interest in the subject of Canadian citizenship and cause people to think about it, he would be well repaid for his visit. It has been said that the nineteenth century was the century of the United States and the twentieth century will be Canada's century. We must remember that, although the population of Canada is to-day about the same as the population of the United States was one hundred years ago, the world's population is much greater than it was then; land hunger and the means of satisfying that hunger are greater, and consequently the growth of Canada in the twentieth century must inevitably outstrip that of the United States in the nineteenth century.

A few years ago Canadians used to repeat Whittier's lines:

"I hear the tread of pioneers of nations yet to be The first dull wash of waves where yet shall roll a human sea."

To-day we are not listening to the distant tread of the coming people. They are here and we see them. They are coming to us by the thousands; Our brothers from the British Isles, our cousins from the neighboring Republic, desirables from the northern portions of Europe, less desirables from the southern portions of Europe and undesirables from the Orient. It is said that we ought to close the door against these from the Orient. We cannot close the door. We may be able to leave it a little ajar. We may as well set our house in order for the reception of all the new comers whether they be desirable or undesirable. It is the advent of these new comers that greatly accentuates the difficulties connected with Canadian citizenship. We cannot do much with adults from European Countries. In Brantford there are sixteen hundred of them speaking almost as many languages as there are varieties of Heinz's pickles, living thirty or forty in a house and sleeping four in a bed, a day and a night shift. This is one of the problems that confronts us. We cannot do much for these men. We may and ought to make good citizens of their children.

Deliberation Needed

Canadian citizenship stands for industry and integrity and a true Canadian is as proud of his country as were the old Romans whose boast was "I am a Citizen of Rome." If we are to maintain our high position, our young citizens must not be permitted to grow, like Topsy, wild and neglected. Our Canadian citizenship must be the product of careful and deliberate planning and cultivation. Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, recently said that in order to make a man a really good citizen his training must commence one hundred years before he is born. Our actions to-day help to decide the character of Canadian citizens one hundred years or more hence. How is a citizen produced and what are the elements which go into the making? Heredity counts for much and so does environment in the home. The influence of the home is not as helpful towards the making of a good citizen as it once was and as it ought to be. (Mr. Archibald, who knows, says that the chronic criminal is largely the product of the home. Many children are nurtured in disobedience and wilfulness, and are indulged in everything they want. When the child leaves the home he is restless and impatient of control, he feels that every desire and passion must be gratified and so he passes on into the criminal class. The citizen is not only the product of the home, he is also the product of the street, the shop, the Sunday school, and the books that he reads, and the thoughts he indulges. You can judge of much of the reading by looking at the empty shelves for books of fiction in our public libraries.

Education and Morality

But most of all we depend upon the school to make good citizens. Our conceptions about education have changed. In the olden times the great bulk of the children were taught the three R's, and went out into the world, and a favourite few remained to study for the learned professions. Now we think the school should equip the child for citizenship, mentally, morally, physically and industrially. Mr. Preston read from a report of medical examinations in the schools of Manhattan, N. Y., showing that sixty-five per cent. of the children needed medical treatment, diseases of eyes, teeth and throat being most prevalent. Children who had been dull and stupid before treatment were bright and alert after. The removal of physical defects changed their whole lives. The criminal classes were recruited from the ranks of the backward children. There is a close connection between education and insanity. It is of very great importance that the health of the school children should be looked after. Mr. Preston read from a report of the Agricultural Department of the State of New York facts to show the importance of a technical industrial training. It is very clear that we expect our children to be trained and equipped for citizenship in the schools mentally, morally physically and industrially. Now, is it possible that this can be done in a two years' course in the Public School? Under the laws of Ontario it is possible for a child to pass out into the industrial life after having been only two years at school. Would six years, instead of two, be an adequate time for such training? It is supposed that a child is obliged to attend school between the years of eight and fourteen. The great majority attend school no longer than this. If six years is all that most children can get we should see that they get that much, but the returns make it quite clear that only fifty-eight per cent. of those on the roll actually attend. The enrolment is not a complete record of the children of school age, so that less than half the children who should be in school are not there. The truancy laws in Ontario are practically a dead letter. Only one-third of the municipalities make any return to the Government about school attendance.

The Child and the State

A primary education should be the inalienable right of every Canadian child from eight years old to fourteen. It should not be possible for the alleged necessities of parents or anyone else to deprive the child of its birthright. In some parts of the United States children are kept at school through a system of scholarships whereby they receive as much as they would earn, say from two to four dollars a week. The child receives his education and the home is supported to that extent. The home thus loses nothing and the child and the State gain everything. In Canada the child is exempt from attendance at school on the plea of the necessity for him to be at work to help support the home. In New York State if education is made compulsory, and scholarships are given in really deserving cases of necessity, and yet last year it only took fifty thousand dollars to do this in the whole State. Of course, the investigation was careful and thorough before aid was given.

We are no longer proud of our self-made men. The days of the log school house are passed. The man who did not have a chance to get a good education is anxious that his children should not be thus hampered in life. It has been found in Massachusetts that the children who leave school at fourteen make only low-grade toilers, and that those who remain until they are sixteen very soon pass them in the industrial world. When the question was gone into, why the children left school at the earlier age, it was found that the invariable reason was because the child himself chose to leave in order to earn money. The child must be taught that it is in his own interest for him to remain longer in school. In order to bring about this end, the school authorities are associating industrial training with book learning. When the boys have passed twelve or fourteen years of age they spend half of each day in industrial or agricultural training. The scholars can see for themselves that they are doing what they will have to do when they leave school and are advancing themselves as wage-earners.

High School Fees

We make a mistake in Ontario in calling some of our schools "High Schools." They are really Primary schools. We should do away with the temptations which we now place before a child to leave school when he passes the High School entrance examination. He should go from the Public school to the University. High school fees should be abolished. Most boys see nothing for them when they leave Public school but Greek and Latin and ten or twelve dollars a year in fees. The fence around the High school is just high enough to keep many out and thus to account for the fact that we have so many common laborers and so few fit to be foremen. Technical education should be much extended in Ontario. We are behind other countries in this respect. Dr. Pyne recently made the statement that one million dollars had been sent by workmen at the Canadian Soo to American Correspondence Schools. In Brantford five hundred mechanics were sending from fifty to seventy-five dollars each every year to an institution on the other side for education which they ought to get in Canada. The Dominion Government has been asked to support technical education. They replied that education was a matter to be dealt with by the provinces only. This can be arranged as it is in the United States, Let the Dominion Government give a grant to the provinces for technical education to be supplemented with an equal amount by the provinces who shall administer the fund. Thus the Federal Government while helping, will not be interfering with education.

Mr. Preston did not think we had any condition in Ontario such as called for Mrs. Barrett Browning's "Cry of the Children," or such as existed among the Breaker boys of Pennsylvania or among the textile workers of the south, still under our laws it was possible for children of ten years old to be wage earners and out of school. They can work in any place other than a factory. No educational standard is required before children are permitted to go to work under sixteen. None should be permitted to work under sixteen years of age and night work should be forbidden. There is no control over news-boys, telegraph boys and the like. A boy cannot be in a more dangerous place than out on the street at night. In Toronto recently an eight-year-old news-boy was run over and killed by the cars and a six-year-old boy was arrested at eleven o'clock at night for playing the sympathy racket. For five months in the year children may be employed in canning factories. Recent disclosures show that the sanitary condition of these places makes them unfit for children to work in. Mr. Preston proceeded, "I am glad to say that the present Government, acting upon my suggestion, and backed up by Mr. Tudhope, have thoroughly investigated the whole question, and I have the intimation that we may expect proper restrictive legislation at the next session of the Legislature."

Teach Biographies

Morality is not taught in the home as it ought to be, and as wealth and luxury increase the moral influence of the home is lessened. Moral teaching is left to the Sunday school and day school. Are there any text books on ethics in our schools? We have a more or less perfunctory reading of the Bible, but denominational differences make it impossible to adopt the Bible as a text book. But why not have some good biographies? Biographies, not of men who got rich suddenly, but of men who perhaps lived uprightly and died poor, biographies that will put more fibre into the youth of our land. Why should we not place greater emphasis than we have done upon self-sacrifice? Why do we not teach our children about Abigail Becker, who rescued single handed from the icy waters the ship-wrecked sailors, about H. A. Harper, who gave his life in the attempt to save the life of Miss Blair, on the river at Ottawa, and who when told that he was going to certain death on the thin ice, asked, "What else can I do?" Of Sarah Maxwell, the Montreal heroine who gave her life to the flames in the effort to save her school children? Our children should be taught that even their lives may be held too dear. We should teach patriotism by telling of Wolfe and Brock and De Salaberry, and not forget Laura Secord. We should tell the children of the magnanimous treatment of the conquered French by the British who left to the French their laws and institutions, and of the gratitude of the French when later they saved Canada to the British invader. National toleration has worked well with the French in Quebec and with the Boers in South Africa and this is proved by the position occupied by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Canada and General Botha in South Africa. The children should be taught if necessary to die for Canada or to die for others, but better still that they should live for Canada and live for others, that the highest form of life is service, that giving is better than getting.

"I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the heaven that smiles above me
And awaits my spirit too;
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the wrongs that need resistence
For the future in the distance.
And the good that I can do."

"I have sought to present to you through conception of what the Canadian citizen of the twentieth century ought to be. If my ideal is yours let us join hands and try to realize it."

In moving the vote of thanks, Mr. G. M. Roger referred to the impressions he had received from the able address he had heard.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong seconded the motion in a few well chosen words.

Mr. Preston gratefully acknowledged the sentiments of his hearers.

Mr. A. Mowat, Inspector of Public Schools, also added a few remarks along educational lines.

The gathering dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem.

CUT MOUSE IN LOAF OF BREAD

Toronto Man Suddenly Lost His Appetite For Morning Meal.

A Toronto citizen to his surprise but through a mouse in the centre of a loaf of bread yesterday morning. The News says:

When a citizen, arising at an early hour this morning, proceeded in the half light of early dawn to whittle a portion of bread from a loaf his attention was drawn to a certain scraping sound which followed the motions of the slicer. Taking the two sections of the loaf over to the window, he allowed the first rays of the newly risen sun to fall upon them Whether saw, he declares, spoiled his appetite. The scraping sound had been caused by the passing of the bread knife to and fro through the anatomy of a mouse which had been baked in the loaf.

The loaf, with its well-roasted enemies, was laid before Dr. Sheard at the City Hall, when that gentleman first arrived at his office. He immediately set the machinery of his system in motion, and it was not long until the origin of the delicacy was traced to the bakeshop of one H. Rubens, 176 York street, for whom a summons was issued on a charge of selling bread containing deterious material.

Rubens was fined once for selling light-weight bread.

The C. G. E. Anglers Elect Officers For The Coming Year

Several Re-elections Show Popularity of Last Year's Officers—A Good Time Promised This Year.

JACK WILSON, COMMODORE

The annual meeting of the C. G. E. Angling Club was held in the T. A. S. rooms last night, with an encouraging attendance and evident enthusiasm for the coming season. Mr. J. McCabe, the secretary read the annual report, which was adopted. Commodore J. G. M. Wilson occupied the chair.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Commodore—J. G. M. Wilson.
Captain—John Brown.
Sec.-Treas.—J. J. McCabe.
Chief Chef—John Trombly.
Guide—W. Greenwood.
Bard—D. Carlisle.
Official Liar—R. E. Layfield.
Scullion—W. A. Brundrette.
Cabin Boy—J. Sheridan.
Rear-Admiral—R. M. Roy.
Executive Committee — A. W. Patterson, R. E. Layfield, J. J. McCabe, J. Brown, George Tovey, H. Latimer.

This famous club, whose constitution and regulations were formulated by Izaak Walton himself, begins the season of 1908 with prospects that are of the brightest. They have a roomy club house at the mouth of the Otonabee, and if 1908 does not result in some large catches and some raw (?) and original stories, everybody's guess will fall to nought.

Begins His Nineteenth Year As Bishop Of Peterborough

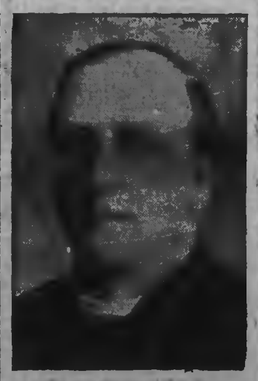
His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Celebrated 19th Anniversary of His Consecration as Bishop of This Diocese.

SERVICES AT ST. PETER'S

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor this morning celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of his consecration to the bishopric of the diocese of Peterborough. Instead of the usual low mass at 8 o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, His Lordship pontificated at a solemn high mass. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, high priest; Rev. Father Galvin, deacon, and Rev. Father Kelly, sub-deacon. Mr. Victor McFadden acted as master of ceremonies. There was a large congregation present, besides the children from the three schools.

At the conclusion of the service Bishop O'Connor made a very feeling address to his people. He asked them for their continued prayers that he would properly fulfil the duties his position involved. He also asked for the hearty co-operation of the whole congregation in order to make a success of the diocesan work. His Lordship thanked the people for the expression of their love and esteem for him, as shown by the large number who attended the mass.

In conclusion he asked for the renewed prayers of the people of the parish that he might be spared for many years to labour with his people for their welfare and happiness.



RICHARD ALPHONSUS O'CONNOR,
Revered Bishop of the Diocese of Peterborough, who celebrated his 19th anniversary to-day.

THE QUESTION OF RATES DISCUSSED

At Meeting of Court Chemong I. O. F.—Mr. Brown, the Organizer, Present

The regular monthly meeting of Court Chemong No. 530. I. O. F., was largely attended in spite of stormy weather. Chief Ranger Bro. McKee presided. The court was favoured with a visit from Bro. G. N. Brown, Deputy of Eastern Ontario, who arrived in the city from the East.

The regular routine business including a number of sick benefits recommended for payment to local members was dispatched in quick order. Bro. Brown, in addressing the court, stated that he had just arrived from Norwood, where he had instituted a new court with about thirty members, and he then took up the matter of the proposed rescaling of rates of old members. The members understood that this was the outcome of the Insurance Bill introduced recently into Parliament, but the society wished to take the matter up themselves and determine the views, previous to the meeting of the spring court in Toronto in June next. He also stated that he believed the rates would be raised on the old members to the ratio of the present new membership, and he had every confidence in the delegates who would attend the meeting, as they were mostly old members themselves from Canada and the United States, and the matter could be safely left in their hands. Some of the proposed schemes were not at all likely to be carried into effect. He also stated that the proposed change in rates would not affect any of the members of the Order who joined after 1898.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual church service, Knox church being the proposed place of worship, providing the necessary arrangements could be made by the management. It will probably be held on June 14, being the date nearest the anniversary of the order.

A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the annual excursion during the summer or autumn.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks for Bro. Brown's kindly visit.

WILL ARRIVE IN LONDON TO-DAY

Peterborough Party Will Leave for Canada About June 1st—Have Had a Splendid Tour.

According to a communication which has been received by a local gentleman, the Matthews, Morrow and Davidson party are expected to arrive in London, England, to-day, and will be met by Senator Cox and Mr. W. G. Morrow. The communication was sent from Milan just as they were leaving for Paris, France. The party have just completed an extensive tour through Europe, and have touched the main points on the north coast of Africa. The party intend to make an extensive tour of the British Isles, in company with Senator Cox and Mr. Morrow, and expect to leave for Canada on June 1st.

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME PRESENTED

By the Members of the Girls' Guild at Georte Street Methodist Church.

A splendidly rendered programme was last night presented at the George Street Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Girls' Guild, who deserve credit for bringing together so much appreciative local talent.

The programme in its entirety was as follows:

Piano Duet—Miss Gumpricht.
Solo—Miss Manning.
Reading—Mr. Soden.
Selection—George Street Male Quartette.
Solo—Miss Howell.
Violin Solo—Miss Wallace.
Solo—Mr. Miles.
Reading—Miss Toms.
Solo—Miss Reesor, with violin obligato by Miss Choate.
Solo—Miss Wallace.
Solo—Mr. Johnston.

A laughable feature of the programme was the dialogue entitled "A Business Meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society," by twelve members of the Girls' Guild. Those young ladies were grotesquely attired in the fashion of the 13th century, and presented a very amusing picture to the audience. Those who took part in the dialogue were: Misses Ruth Carlisle, Ida Shera, Storey, H. Clobbin, Nichols, Eyres, Edgecumbe, Elliott, L. Bellegham, Grey, Carlisle, Stewart.

TO APPEAR BEFORE HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS

More Honours for the Distinguished Actress, Miss Roselle Knott.

The following telegram, received last night from Quebec will be read with interest by the many Peterborough friends of the talented actress, Roselle Knott:

Archie McGovern,
Press Agent, Roselle Knott,
Peterborough, Ont.:

Roselle Knott to appear before His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales at the Tercentenary. So enthusiastic was the large and fashionable audience present for Roselle Knott and company in "Alice, Sit by the Fire," that arrangements were immediately made whereby she presents this English success before the Prince of Wales as the representative Canadian actress. Chronicle and Telegraph today claim best play in years, and Miss Knott never acted to better advantage. Company excellent.

PARK STREET LADIES' AID ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Held—Thanks Extended To The Treasurer.

The Ladies' Aid of Park street Baptist church held their annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Hunt, Wescott street. A large number were present and considerable business was transacted in reviewing the work of the past term. The ladies were pleased to be able to report a satisfactory issue, and are beginning another year hoping for still greater success.

The following officers were re-elected:

President—Mrs. M. Mowry.
Secretary—Mrs. Jos. Johnston.
Treasurer—Mrs. Robt. Wright.

The members of the society wish to take this opportunity of publicly expressing their gratitude to Mrs. Wright, their treasurer, for her past services, and also to thank her for accepting the office for still another term. Her work as treasurer has been most satisfactory.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norrall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

HOME FROM HONEYMOON JOURNEY

A Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Allen Campbell.

A reception was tendered last night to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell on their return from their honeymoon. The newly wedded couple arrived home on the G.T.R. train at 9.30, and immediately drove to the home of the bride's mother, at the Palace Restaurant, George street, where they together with some twenty-one guests sat down to a sumptuous supper of roast turkey and salads.

The tables were very prettily decorated with roses and carnations, the bridal cake being the centrepiece.

During the course of the supper, the Rev. Mr. Potter spoke a few words of splendid advice on new home making, and concluded by wishing the happy young couple every success in life.

Rev. Mr. Potter, who acted as toastmaster, proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, which was responded to by the groom.

"The King" was the next toast proposed and those present fittingly responded by singing the National Anthem.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and music and the happy gathering broke up at midnight, but not until all had wished the young couple happiness, did the guests depart.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will shortly take up their residence on Ware street.

MAY DEVOTION AT ST. PETER'S

Begins To-night And Continues Throughout the Month.

The evening devotions for the month of May begin at St. Peter's Cathedral to-night, and will continue nightly during the month. They begin every night at 7.30 o'clock, and the usual May devotions will be held. Many Catholics make it a practice of attending one of the morning masses during this month, which is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin.

MANCHESTER LODGE HOLD FIRST CONCERT

An Enjoyable Event—A Crowded House And a Delightful Programme.

The Orange Hall was crowded last evening, on the occasion of the first social of the Duke of Manchester Lodge, No. 50, L. O. L. This new lodge is composed wholly of young men, who may well feel proud of their first effort. The weather man was against them, but from beginning to end the programme was appreciated, and the encores which were given to each number were well rendered.

The programme was as follows:

PART I.

Chairman's address—W. H. G. Armstrong, County Master.
Instrumental solo—Miss Irlam.
Recitation—Mr. Jas. Runnett.
Vocal duet—Misses Lee.
Recitation—Miss Maud Titterson.
Vocal solo—Mr. Chas. Coleman.
Vocal solo—Mr. E. Thompson.
Refreshments.

PART II.

Instrumental duet—Mr. and Miss Elliott, violin and piano.
Vocal solo—Mr. J. W. Chambers.
Instrumental solo—Miss Geraldine Byers.
Vocal solo—Mr. George Benton, by special request.

Votes of thanks were then passed to Rev. A. H. Brace, all those who assisted on the programme, and to the ladies who assisted the members in providing the refreshments.

Duke of Manchester Lodge is indebted to Mr. Bannister, who kindly loaned the Heintz piano.

The enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King and Auld Lang Syne.

TREATMENT OF DISEASES OF SHEEP

The Symptoms and Effects of Sheep Scab and the Cause.

The following notes in regard to sheep scab have been prepared by the Live Stock Branch at the Agricultural College, Guelph:—

Cause.—The disease is caused by a mite which pricks the skin of the sheep, causing a scab to form under which the mite lives.

Symptoms.—The animal is restless. They scratch and bite themselves and rub against fences, etc. The fleece looks tufted or matted, and portions of it are pulled out by the sheep with its mouth. If the hand is held to the sheep's nose while it is being scratched, the animal will commence nibbling. This is one sure symptom of the disease.

Effects.—The fleece falls out, usually beginning at the shoulders and working backward and downward. Ewes may abort or if lambs are carried to full time they are likely to be weak, and unthrifty.

Treatment.—Dip all animals, and spray all buildings where affected sheep have been housed. Shear sheep and put in dipping vat for at least two minutes. See that the animals are completely submerged at least once. A second dipping must follow and at an interval of seven to ten days. Isolate animals from fields or lots where disease is suspected for at least two months, at the end of which time the mites should be dead.

Dips.—Any good stock dip should be effective, but the lime and sulphur is the surest and best.

To make lime and sulphur dip, take eight pounds of unslacked lime, put in a mortar box or tub and slake with water so as to form a lime paste, add twenty-four pounds of flowers of sulphur and stir well. Put this mixture in about twenty-five gallons of water and boil for two hours, stirring constantly. When boiled strain the mixture through sacks and add enough water to bring the total amount of dip up to one hundred gallons. Use the dip at a temperature of 100—111 degrees F.

Said to Have Stolen a Quantity of Plumbing Material From Residence of Well Known Family.

PRISONER WAS REMANDED

On a charge of stealing a quantity of plumbing material from the residence of a local family, the junk dealer who was remanded from Wednesday appeared in the Police Court this morning. Mr R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. E. D. Kerr defended the prisoner. The prisoner elected to be tried summarily and pleaded not guilty.

The plaintiff was the first witness on the stand and stated that the prisoner called on her some time ago, inquiring if she had anything to sell. She told him she might have something to offer in about three weeks' time. She did not see the prisoner again, nor did she give any person permission to sell or give away the junk, which consisted of lead, brass taps, copper, iron and some zinc. She did not know the things were missing until her father told her the prisoner had come and taken them away. She went to the telephone and informed the police, asking them to try and get it back for her.

The father of the witness said he heard the first conversation between his daughter and the prisoner. The latter had returned some days ago and said he had come to see the brass. He went over to the junk and began throwing it into his wagon, and before driving away with it, gave him three dollars as a deposit. Witness said he did not interfere, as he thought the prisoner had authority to take the material. Later on the prisoner returned, giving the weight of the material taken, for which he gave the witness one and a half cents a pound. After paying him the money the defendant went around the yard and put several other pieces of scrap into his waggon and drove away.

Another witness said that he weighed the lead for the prisoner, and when finished was asked to mark the figures 345 on the bill. He told the latter that the real weight was 425, but the prisoner replied that he knew, but wanted it marked differently.

Mr. Sturgeon stated that he purchased 439 pounds of plumbing material for the prisoner and paid him twelve dollars for it.

Mr. Loye, a junk merchant, told of buying 54 lbs. zinc at $1 08; copper bath, weighing 23 lbs., at $1 65; 20 lbs. lead piping at 40c; 8 lbs brass taps at 64c; 1 lb. rubbers at 10c, and 194 lbs. iron at 75c The purchase was made about 4 o'clock.

The prisoner was then put in the box and was the only witness for the defence. He went to Lakefield, he said, on the morning of the day in question and bought 100 lbs. of material from a Mr. White When he returned to the city he called at the plaintiff's. He knocked at the back door, and the daughter of the plaintiff told him her mother was not in. He went to the shed, and, meeting the father, asked him if he had anything to sell. the latter said he had, but the junk was not gathered up. He showed him the lead in the shed and helped him put it into his cart, and then went to the cellar to get another piece. The prisoner had about 100 pounds of scrap from Lakefield in the waggon also. He had the scrap weighed and brought the weight back to the old gentleman. His grand-daughter made the amount up at a cent and a half a pound and the prisoner paid it. When he was ready to move away with the second load the father of the plaintiff told him he need not bother paying for it until morning. The next day he telephoned the plaintiff and said he was going over to settle with her. She told him she had not sold the scrap and that he would have to bring it back. This, he answered, was impossible, as he had disposed of the goods, and the conversation closed.

His Worship, after reviewing the case, decided to remand the prisoner until Monday, when judgment will be given.

A DAY IN FLOWERDOM REPEATED

Young People Delighted Large Audience Last Night.

The operetta, "A Day in Flowerdom," was repeated at the Conservatory Music Hall last night by 150 young people, with signal success, before a large and appreciative audience who seemed to find every moment of the production enjoyable. The presentation has been most successful in every way, and the young people and their instructors are deserving of the greatest credit.

The thanks of those taking part is extended to Mr. A W. Cressman for his kindness in supplying materials for decorating the stage.

THE CASEY MOUNTAIN COBALT MINING AND DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED

Incorporated under The Ontario Mining Companies' Incorporation Act. No Personal Liability.

CAPITAL: $250,000 - - - - - 250,000 Shares at $1.00 each, Not Subject to Call

HEAD OFFICE: 210 MANNING CHAMBERS, TORONTO. Phone Main 958.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: B. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; B. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 16 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16 ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENBOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level, and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

BOARD OF WORKS TO MEET

Will Discuss Sidewalk and Sewer Work For The Year.

The Board of Works Committee will hold another meeting to-night to deal with the question of the sidewalk, sewer and road work to be done this season, and a report will be made ready for the regular monthly meeting of the Council to be held on Monday night. The Legal Committee of the City Council will also meet to-night at 7.30 o'clock in preparation for the Council meeting.

DAN CUPID WAS BUSY IN APRIL

Weddings More Than During Same Month Last Year.

The record of vital statistics at the City Clerk's office for the month of April shows a decrease in the number of births and deaths, while on the other hand there has been an increase in marriages. Whether or not the fact that this is leap year is responsible or not, the figures remain to show that Dan Cupid has been hard at work during the month just past, succeeding in accomplishing the tying of thirteen knots, just six more than during the same month in 1907. There were two deaths more in April, 1907, than in the corresponding month this year. Following are the figures:

Deaths	22	20
Births	38	32
Marriages	7	13

Insurance and Investment

You take out life insurance for the comfort of others. Why not take out Bed Insurance for your own comfort?

The "BANNER" Spring Bed insures rest and comfort, because it fits the body from head to foot. So finely tempered is the steel—so accurately adjusted are the spirals—that the "BANNER" will "give" wherever there is pressure on it.

The "Banner" Spring Bed at $8.

is an investment, because it is the cheapest you can buy. It lasts a lifetime and gives a lifetime of service and satisfaction. The first cost is the only cost.

The "BANNER" Spring Bed is the right idea, carried out right. The sides are angle iron, to make a rigid foundation. To these are riveted flat steel bands, and the spirals are attached to them. The spirals are oil tempered, to retain their springiness—and japanned, to prevent rusting.

There is absolutely no noise to a "BANNER" Spring Bed—and no slats are required for iron beds.

The "BANNER" is the most restful, comfortable and durable spring bed—regardless of price. $8 is very little to pay for such a bed.

This trademark goes only on Springs and Bedding that are absolutely and unconditionally guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Look for it wherever and wherever you buy. 10

SLEEPY SOLDIER LEARNED LASSITUDE IN LINDSAY

Gambols of a Giddy Goat in Lindsay—A Diet of Hardware and Hymn Books Curtails His Career.

A gentleman lately resident in Lindsay, has furnished the Examiner with a tale of a goat, which will bear repetition. This animal, he states, was a particular favourite in the family, on account of its wonderfully limb-like qualities. Indeed, so remarkably docile was it that only one member of the family was required to milk it. This is deserving of record, as no other case seems to be known where less than three have performed so dangerous an undertaking. But friendly though she was to the family, the goat looked on the world at large with a jaundiced eye. She considered all that it contained fit objects for onslaught or provender. When she wasn't wandering on the street and butting inoffensive people into the gutter, she was making raids on neighbouring yards, and appeasing her hunger with the confidential garments that hung on the clothes lines. The neighbours did not like her, and there was great rejoicing when it was learned that she had breathed her last, after a heavy meal on sidewalk cement, topped with a few hymn books, purloined from the pews of a near by church. The combination proved too much for a system already enfeebled by riotous feeding on nails and clothing.

CELEBRATE THIRTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum Entertain Many Friends at Pleasant Function.

Yesterday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. J McCallum, of Gilmour street, celebrated the 13th anniversary of their marriage. About seventy-five guests were present and a most enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents, a sure sign of the high esteem in which they are held in this community.

MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

A veritable edition de luxe amongst railroad pamphlets has just been issued by the Grand Trunk, to proclaim amongst tourists the glories of the cities of Montreal and Quebec. The brochure is beautifully printed, and generally arranged in the artistic style of earlier days, when the ornamentation of a volume was regarded as an important incident to its presentation of reading matter. It is also very well written, and gives an interesting description of the two most interesting cities in Canada, with many illustrations from photographs that have not hitherto been published. LIBERAL MEETING IN SMITH Another Good Meeting Last Night in Interests of Mr. Gillespie—Three Fine Addresses.

THE POLITICAL QUESTIONS

In spite of the extremely inclement weather, there was a very good attendance at Mr. Gillespie's meeting at Hall's School House, Smith Township, last night, some of those in attendance walking as much as three miles. The chair was taken by Councillor J. H. Garbutt, who, in opening the meeting referred to the long standing friendship between Mr. Gillespie and the people of Central Smith and bespoke for him the hearty support they knew he deserved.

Mr. O'Connell Speaks

Mr. D. O'Connell was the first of the evening, and in opening referred to the efficient manner in which the riding had been represented during the time when Mr. Stratton was the representative, mentioning the fact that he looked closely after the needs of the constituents, giving personal attention to the various parts of the riding in the public service and kept his people in touch with public affairs from one election to another.

It could hardly be said the riding was as efficiently represented since his retirement. In 1905 the Liberal party was defeated at the polls, owing to a great extent to the support given the Conservative party by the Liberals themselves. The change came around after thirty-two years of the administration of public affairs by the Liberal party. The Conservative party had by general charges of extravagance, and upon promises of economy succeeded in winning to a great extent the support of the independent electors, as will as the support of a large number of the Liberal party. Mr. Whitney, prior to the last elections, had in strongest terms of denunciation, denounced the Succession Duties Act, the building of the Temiskamingue and Northern Railways and several other sources of provincial revenue. Yet upon his accession to power these sources of revenues, so strongly denounced by him, were retained and about three and a millions of dollars drawn therefrom for the needs of the province. Although extravagance was charged against the old government and economy promised, expenditure has increased from five and a quarter millions to eight millions of dollars, a greater increase per capita in three and a half years of Conservative regime, than during the whole thirty-two years of Liberal administration. It is quite evident that the promises of economy have not been kept, and that the charges of extravagance of the old Government have been ill-founded.

The guarantee of the Canadian Northern Railway bonds to the extent of $2,500,000 was criticized, as the guarantee was shown to be not in the people's interest, but having regard to the circumstances under which it was made, as calculated to benefit the private interests of a company, and to benefit the undertaking of a shrewd and aggressive railway promoter at the public expense. Having regard to the fact that the railway promoter is a person who availed himself of the offer of the purchase of the American Electrical Development Company's bonds, which had been previously turned down by the Whitney Government, which would have had the opportunity of commanding the situation of cheap power to consumers of Ontario, is likely to cause suspicion, for the guarantee was made for a quid pro quo for purposes of important assistance.

The Conservative Government has not only not kept its promises, but the manner in which it has dealt with the public questions, has been clearly incompetent and unstatesmanlike. They have invaded the principles of popular government by taking out of the hands of the rural school trustees the management of their local affairs and dictating from the city of Toronto, the way in which school money should be spent. They have marred the principle of responsible Government to some extent by taking the Ministers' salaries out of estimates and covering them by a special act. In the mismanagement of the business affairs of the province, they have not been economical but on the contrary, extravagant, and their honesty is not above suspicion in the expenditure of public money in such a manner as indicated by the Larose deal.

The Liberal party was in power for 32 years and many millions of dollars passed through their hands in that time. They had limitless opportunities for dishonesty and extravagance yet no well founded charge of extravagance was proved, nor a single case of dishonesty. The Conservative Government has now been in power three and one-half years, and in charge of the old Government's documents with full opportunity for a searching investigation. The supporters of the Liberal party, who were mislead by the Conservative promises, feel outraged at the unjust treatment received at the hands of the new administration, such as the spoils system and the gerrymander. The independent voter who gave his support in the last election feels the sense of justice and of fair play, shocked by the tactics of the Conservative party and will, in the next election, show his displeasure by voting against it. It is not to be unexpected that a great number of fair minded Conservatives themselves will repudiate the tactics of the party by condemning its action at the polls. The Liberal party in this riding is represented by a good standard bearer. He is a young man starting out on his political career and has already achieved for himself a standing in the business community by his integrity and sterling qualities of character.

With the unfortunate record of the Conservative party in the last three and one-half years, and the revulsion of feeling in this riding against its unjust record and with the energetic and excellent record of the Liberal party in West Peterborough, it is expected that not only this riding will be redeemed, but in all probabilities many such ridings in Ontario would not the same for the Liberal party at the close of the provincial elections on June 8th.

Mr. Gillespie followed with a short speech, referring to his connection with the Township of Smith and with the dairy industry—the most profitable of all industries of the country. He reminded them that in all his connection with them he had done, to the best of his ability, his duty to the public, and he declared that if he was honoured with the confidence of the constituency he would endeavour to do the same in the Legislature, and he would especially give attention to those matters of agricultural interest, not only because he was most familiar with them, but also because they were of supreme importance. The heartiness of Mr. Gillespie's reception could leave no doubt that Smith Township would render in the 8th of June one of the largest of the many majorities which it has ever given to Liberal candidates.

Mr. McWilliam's Address

Mr. R. F. McWilliams was the next speaker. In opening, he referred to the verdict given by the province, and by West Peterborough constituency four years ago, in response to the cry of "time for a change." Now, that the change had come, and that the Conservatives had been given an opportunity to demonstrate their capacity, it was the duty of the electors to carefully examine the manner in which they had discharged the obligations undertaken with so many proud boasts.

Mr. McWilliams briefly mentioned the main issues between the parties in this election, and asked the electors to consider carefully the following questions, upon which the Liberals challenged the record of the Government:

1. The imposition of the barrier to temperance reform in the three-fifths requirement for local option, and the unfairness of this departure from majority rule.

2. The failure of the Government to carry out its pledge to establish a non-partisan treatment of the license law. The substitution of Conservative commissioners and inspectors for Liberals, is in no sense a redeeming of this pledge, and the license administration is no less partisan now than under the old Government.

3. The failure to accomplish anything but talk in the distribution of power. Coupled with this is the refusal of the Government to take the opportunity to purchase the electrical development company's lines from the English bondholders — a step which would have placed cheap power on the market at once, but which the Government would not take, because tied to the Buffalo Power Company. It is also unfair that Peterboro ought and other places not affected by the ego power should be compelled to meet the deficits, which may arise from the failure of the commission to deliver power to the western municipalities at prices quoted, thus compelling Peterborough to aid its rival to underbid it for manufactures.

4. The introduction, for the first time in Ontario's history, of a scandalous "spoils system."

5. The carrying through of a redistribution measure, which would shame Sir John A. Macdonald. Under pretense of equalization of population the grossest unfairness has been committed, and the province given a taste of what will happen in 1911, if Whitney is returned to power.

6. The growth in provincial expenditures in four years, exceeding the growth in thirty years of Liberal rule.

7. The guarantee of two and a half million dollars for the construction of the profitable portions of the Canadian Northern Railway—a kind of bonus, which not even railway promoters have ever before ventured to ask.

8. The grant of $130,000 in connection with the Larose mine, to political favourites, on the ground of their having supplied "valuable information."

9. The failure to carry out the pledge of law reform, and on the contrary, enormous additions to the legal expenses.

10. The attempt to force the rural schools to pay salaries dictated from Toronto, and the refusal to permit the representatives of the people to have anything to say in the administration of the finances of the Toronto University.

Mr. McWilliams then took up in detail the redistribution bill, and the Canadian Northern guarantee, and dealt with the arguments advanced in defence of these measures. In conclusion, Mr. McWilliams eulogized the abilities of the Liberal leader, and of the Opposition in the House—small in numbers but strong in talent. He urged the people of Smith Township to give Mr. Gillespie the largest majority ever recorded a Liberal candidate, and thus to show their appreciation of a man who, in an unusual degree, represented and understood the interests of both the city and country parts of the constituency.

The meeting closed with cheers for the King, the Liberal leader and Mr. Gillespie.

ATHLETICS BALL TEAM TO PRACTICE

Players Are Expected to be at Boswell's Field To-morrow.

The Athletics baseball team will practise to-morrow afternoon at Boswell field, Charlotte street west. All players are expected to be on hand in uniform, as the opening of the Midland League is but two weeks away and the team must be in shape by then. The Athletics have signed "Dubbie" Shea, the popular shortstop of three years ago, who will catch for the amateurs. "Dubbie" was the star catcher of the Brantford City League last season and has played with the Night Owls of Toronto this year. Another good man secured is Linder, a former Tri-State Leaguer, who is now residing in Peterborough, and will be tried out at first base.

LADIES' GOLF CLUB MET YESTERDAY

Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs. Gardiner Were Appointed House Committee.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Golf Club held yesterday at the club house Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs Gardiner were appointed to the House Committee for the ensuing year. It was decided to hold the usual weekly teas on Thursday afternoons instead of on Saturdays, as last year. The first of these functions will take place on Monday, May 25.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

It would be a wise move on the part of the executive of the Intermediate League if official scorers were appointed for the games. Some of the players think that because they land on the ball and get to first they have made a hit, not taking into consideration a fielder's error. It would be interesting if the hits, errors, etc., could be compiled.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. outfit is looming up strong. Rumour has it that "Jim" Squires will be anchored at second and Len. Patterson will be one of the pitching staff, and, with Thornton receiving and Chris. Graham at first, the "Y" will give them all a go.

• • • •

With the Intermediate League games beginning on May 16th it is certainly up to the teams to get down to work at once. The Lakeviews have not had a hard practice yet this season and in the Strathconas they will be up against what looks to be the strongest team in the league. Manager Metheral has selected a trim infield and will probably pick his men as follows: Fred Heaslip, 1b; Weatherstone, 2b; Kendry ss; Craig or Dobson 3b, and McMillan, Shaw, Curtis and other good ones for the outfield.

With Chris Graham at the Y.M.C.A. helm, Joe Dwyer piloting the Lakeviews and the other teams in good hands the managerial duties should be well performed.

• • • •

A walking match is being arranged for boys between twelve and fifteen years of age to take place at Riverside Park on the morning of May 25th. The contest will be of two hours' duration.

• • • •

In regard to the letter signed "Amateur" in another column, it might be said that there could be no chance of amateurs participating in last week's race, which was an out and out professional race, the men racing for the gate receipts. Just how "Amateur" means that amateurs should be given a chance in such a contest is not easily seen. Charlie Stevens was probably the only amateur who started in the race and, of course, he has professionalized himself by doing so. The only way in which amateurs could compete in a walking contest would be to arrange one among themselves, with no cash prizes attached. Surely "Amateur" does not mean that a bunch of amateurs should compete for the gate money?

At the end of the day

"You can shoot SOVEREIGN shells all day and at the end not realize that you have been shooting, as the recoil is so slight," said an expert shot the other day. They have small breech and barrel pressure and give off no offensive gases, because loaded with Empire smokeless powder.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

THE EXAMINER welcomes all Items of Interest for this column. Phone 294 or send post card with name and address.

Mr. E. S. Clarry was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, is in the city to-day.—Belleville Ontario.

Mr. J. M. Eckhart, of the Eckhart Casket Company, Toronto, is in the city to-day.

Miss Florence Murray of Toronto is the guest of Miss Macfarlane, Homewood avenue.

Mr. Byrney, representative of the D. W. Thompson Company, Toronto, is in the city to-day on business.

Mrs. Austin and Miss Austin, 548 Weller street, will receive on Tuesday May 6th and not again this season.

Miss M. O'Brien has removed her dress making parlours from over McFadden's furniture store to 229 Hunter street.

Mr. Barton Earle left this morning for Belleville, to visit for some time his friend Dr. Coughlin, Superintendent of the Institution for Dumb Mutes.

Miss Irene Craig, who has just completed a course in the Peterborough Business College, left last night for Toronto, where she has accepted a responsible position.

The deepest sympathy of their many friends will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Weddell, on the occasion of the death of their only child, who died yesterday afternoon after a brief illness. The little fellow was eleven months of age.

Mr. Wm. Hill, Chamberlen street, has returned home from a trip to England. He has been away seven months, having spent the winter at his old home near Liverpool, and while there he travelled extensively in the south and west of the little Isle.

BRICKS FOR SALE

At this season of the year builders and contractors are frequently delayed in the delivery of bricks, owing to the yards not being able to supply them.

What should be a great convenience this spring is the offer of the Canadian General Electric Company to sell 100,000 brick (Welsh Make) for immediate delivery. No doubt the opportunity will be taken advantage of by parties who are looking forward to building and being supplied with material promptly.

PIANO RECITAL AT THE CONSERVATORY

Miss Newman's Pupils Will Render a Programme To-night.

The advanced piano pupils of Miss Newman will give a recital at the Conservatory of Music to-night, to which all lovers of music are invited. As the pupils are all finished players an enjoyable evening may be looked forward to. The programme will be interspersed with violin and vocal numbers, and a musical treat is assured. There is no charge for admission.

A GOOD ATTRACTION AT THE "GRAND" SATURDAY

Mr. Edmund Carroll will appear at the Grand next Saturday in Walker Whiteside's greatest success, "We Are King," a comedy in three acts by Lieut. Gordon Kean, author of "The Magic Melody." This play is one that appeals strongly to the lovers of clean, bright comedy. Mr. Carroll is possessed of unlimited talents, which have advanced him rapidly in his profession. He will be ably supported by Wm. McKegney, Edmund Deane, Thomas G. Carroll, F. H. Erbert, W. G. Maxwell, Miss Marie Chifter, Miss Leila Hill and Miss Parke Patton.

Mr. Carroll is under the management of A. W. Cross, who has given him a complete production.

MEETING OF LICENSE HOLDERS

A meeting of the tavern license holders of the city was called for yesterday but only nine of the hotel keepers of the city were present and the meeting adjourned without doing any business. One of the hotelmen informed the Examiner to-day that the meeting was called for the purpose of having the hotelmen of the city agree among themselves to strictly carry out the liquor laws with a view to be in a position to fight any local option measures that might be introduced. As all of the hotel keepers were not present, it was not possible to do anything along this line. It is stated that some of the hotels have been infringing the laws and action on the part of the License Commissioners would not cause much surprise.

THE WEATHER

Though the present cold weather and snowfall of last night are undoubtably unseasonable, there were still greater extremes last spring. On April 16 2 1-2 inches of snow fell; on May 4, 6 inches, and at as late a date as May 28 one-half inch of snow covered the ground. Trees began to leaf on May 17 last spring.

OBITUARY.

RUSSELL NORTON SILK

At his residence, 286 Edinburgh street, at 4 o'clock this morning, Russell Norton Silk the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs Wm. I. Silk, passed away. He had been suffering from rheumatism for some time, which is given as the cause of his death.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

ALBERT MAY BUTCHER

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Butcher, 282 London street, will learn with regret of the death of their daughter, Alberta May, aged six months and twelve days, who passed away this afternoon, suffering from convulsions. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

SNELL—COCHRANE.

A very pretty, but quiet wedding took place this morning at 11 o'clock, when Mr. David Snell, Gardner of Nicholls Hospital, and Miss Agnes Cochrane, of Port Hope, were joined in holy matrimony by Rev. J. R. Webb, at the parsonage, 344 Rubidge street.

MOTORMAN COLLAPSED.

Sight of Mangled Bodies Proved Too Much For Him.

Windsor, May 1.—The inquest into the accident on the Windsor, Essex and Lake Shore Railway near Kingsville, in which Mrs. Rees Fulner and her daughter Esther, aged 16, were killed outright, will be held at Kingsville to-day. In which evidence will be adduced to show that the particular car which struck the rig containing the unfortunate occupants was not equipped with airbrakes while other cars were.

When the bodies were picked up from the tracks, the mother and daughter were clasped tightly in each other's arms. The mother was mangled beyond recognition, while the daughter bore slight traces of disfigurement. The woman had tried in vain to protect her child in the last terrible moment.

Mrs. Fulmer had been in Kingsville shopping and was returning to her home. Just as she was driving across the tracks in the division road, the heavy suburban car called "Republic" came speeding eastward, ten minutes late. The buggy was covered completely. There was no chance for the occupants to look directly either way. The motorman, Broadwell, was unable to stop the car, which was travelling at a high rate of speed, and the trolley crashed into the vehicle, smashing it into kindling.

When the motorman saw the mutilated bodies he collapsed and had to be taken back to Kingsville in a buggy.

WEAR BIRTHDAY SUITS.

Doukhobors Are a Problem Hard to Solve.

Yorkton, Sask., May 1.—The Doukhobors still remain in the cars, eating peanuts and apples. The Canadian Pacific Railroad agent has received instructions to have the cars cleared and if this is insisted upon, trouble will surely ensue, as fully half of them are naked.

Frank Ford, Attorney-General at Regina, wired Mayor Patrick to the effect that he had referred the matter to the Immigration Department, Ottawa, at the same time advising the mayor to have those declared insane who show any signs.

Hon. Mr. Oliver has advised that the Doukhobor question is for the Provincial Government only. They will be unloaded by the C.P.R. this morning, but feeling is almost strong enough to prevent them coming off the cars.

The Saskatchewan Government has taken up with the Department of the Interior the question of Doukhobors shipped to Yorkton by the Ontario Government authorities.

In the Legislature yesterday the Attorney-General stated that he was advised that 19 of these men were insane and these were being ordered placed in charge. It is likely that the Dominion will be asked to care for the Doukhobors, as they are not citizens of Saskatchewan, having refused to accept local institutions.

Daring Express Robbery.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—Two men secreted on the New York-St. Louis express on the Pennsylvania, which left this city at 9.55 p.m. last night, entered the express car at Walker's Mills, ten miles west of this city on the Panhandle division, overcome the express messenger and escaped with four sealed bags containing currency.

Fire at North Bay.

North Bay, Ont., May 1.—The McCool block, owned by P. McCool and occupied by Scanlon & Co., furniture dealers, was gutted by a fire, which broke out about 10 o'clock and burned all night.

ON INCANDESCENT LAMPS

Progress Made Since Thomas A. Edison Made the Filament for the First Lamp.

AT A COST OF A FEW CENTS

The whole world applauded when Thomas A. Edison, after working steadily three days and two nights to make a filament for his first incandescent lamp, proved that the small electric light was possible and could be made for a price within reach of all. Since that wonderful day, now nearly twenty-five years ago, many noteworthy improvements have been made in electric machinery of all kinds and a great many changes for the better have taken place in the incandescent lamp, making it cheaper and more economical. To-day the incandescent lamp is one of the most common things in this electric age and although the process of manufacture has been so perfected that they cost but a few cents each, the total value of last year's output in the United States is estimated by the census bureau as over $7,000,000.

When the first incandescent lamp was introduced to the public it was a clumsy, expensive and inefficient affair compared with the lamps of to-day. These first lamps contained about thirty times as much costly platinum wire as the present types, as the platinum lead-in wires to the glass bulb were unnecessarily long and heavy. The exhausting of the air from the bulb in those days cost more than the entire lamp does to-day. In 1882, and for years after, the glass bulbs were blown by hand labour. Lately they are produced to a certain extent by mechanical means at less than 10 per cent. of the former cost. Even the testing of the finished lamps is done for less than one-tenth of the original expense.

The wire-like filaments in the first incandescent lamps were made of thin strips of carbonized paper or bamboo. At a very early stage cellulose material replaced these delicate and short-lived conductors. Such lamps of sixteen candle-power size required about 50 watts of electrical power to attain their full efficiency. This current consumption has recently been reduced by half in commercial lamps of practically the same type.

A Late Improvement

In perfecting the incandescent lamp the scientists and inventors are always trying to secure higher candle-power with less consumption of current and more light with less energy wasted in heat. One of the latest improvements in the carbon filament lamp is the "gem" unit with what is known as a "metalized" filament although it contains no metal. This lamp consumes only 2.5 watts per candle-power against 3.1 to 3.8 for the older type. The filament in this new lamp is improved and strengthened by baking it in an electric furnace at a temperature of 3,400 degrees Centigrade. The result is the production of an exceedingly pure form of carbon having greater density and lower specific resistance than the older filament.

Perhaps the most noteworthy advancement in incandescent lighting was the introduction, a few months ago, of the new metal filament lamps. In the early experiments metals which could stand reasonably high temperatures without melting, such as platinum, were tried but they broke down, or melted, before they attained the results of even a good carbon lamp. Experiments were continued along these lines utilizing several rare metals then slightly known but never existing in pure form. The first success was to the credit of German electrical and metallurgical experts. Several years ago, acting on the principle as a starting point that the light from an incandescent lamp filament increases progressively with the temperature of the filament, elaborate experiments were begun in Germany to discover a metal that would withstand a much higher temperature than carbon. After the rare metal tantalum was produced in its pure form it was found to give most satisfactory results.

ROMANCE FROM MERCANTILE WORLD OF A MAN WHO WAS TOO BIG FOR HIS BUSINESS

Amusing Advertising Tilt Which Necessitated the Rapid Removal of a Signboard—A Successful Dry Goods Man.

HE IS UP TO THE STANDARD

In the May issue of the Busy Man's Magazine appears a story of the romance of a business in Guelph, illustrating how a man became too big for his business.

It tells of G. B. Ryan, a Guelph business man, who, while he conducts personally the most successful dry goods business in the city, has found time to transform the street railway into a paying proposition, from a broken down private concern running a miserably poor service, and to revolutionize the Water Works Department, both of them run by the city now. The point of interest to Canadians is that we do not have to go outside of this country to find men who measure up, in point of personal worth and public attainments equally as large as men whom American magazines are continually glorifying.

The "Business Romance" was written by Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, editor of the Dry Goods Review, and formerly of Peterborough. It is as follows:

A dry goods business, with stocks aggregating in value nearly $200,000, in three of the live Western Ontario towns, and representing the best type of retail merchandising in those three towns, is not big enough to engage the activities of G. B. Ryan, the executive head of the firm of G. B. Ryan & Company, of Guelph, Berlin and Owen Sound.

In addition to directing the management of these stores, and doing it so well that they are doing a constantly growing trade, Mr. Ryan finds time to interest himself in the affairs of his home city, Guelph. He has brought the street railway system from a losing proposition to a revenue-producer for the city, and in a year has made the profit of the waterworks more than equal the total receipts of the year before.

The application of business methods to the operation of public utilities was, Mr. Ryan believed, as essential to their success as to that of private business enterprises. They were applied to the two branches mentioned, with the result as stated.

Starting in business thirty years ago with a cash capital of $9.00, the man who has demonstrated the practicability of public ownership to the people of the Royal City introduced some novel ideas in retail merchandising into his calling (one which he believes men are born to, like poets), with a degree of success which may be imagined from statements already made here.

I asked him a few days ago what he attributed his success to, and he said: "Back of all the successful business enterprises in the world are hard work and study. No man ever reaches the stage that he knows the whole story. Honesty and the square deal in every particular is my business policy, and I consider the confidence of the public the most valuable asset I can possibly possess. A man would be a business fool who would betray it; even from the low standpoint of policy. There should be a higher motive, of course. I never fool the public."

This is what he says has made him a successful dry goods man, and no one can say that the goal can be reached by one who will not work and who is dishonest.

There are other considerations, however, and Mr. Ryan has not neglected them, for later on he summarized his principles into a concrete sentence. To be successful, a man must be honest; he must like his business; must know it, and must push it.

Few, if any, dry goods stores in Canada are as highly organized as that of G. B. Ryan & Company, and it is this organization which makes it possible for the head of the concern to give the time to his city in connection with the waterworks and street railway systems. To his store he devotes all the time that it needs,

An Advertizing Joke

The organization which Mr. Ryan has built up is of such a character that, as he himself put it "the cost of each clerk for every dollar's worth of goods he or she sends out of the front door is known." Every morning at 10 o'clock a statement is laid on his desk, showing the sales in each department the day before, and a comparison with the corresponding day of the preceding year. By this means he is able to keep his hand on the pulse of the store, and if any one department shows an inclination to lag, he knows it at once, and a remedy is sought and applied. Weekly reports giving equally complete information concerning the progress of the branch stores are also received each week.

His day's work, however, is by no means ended when the store closes at 6 o'clock. His evenings are devoted to a study of his business; how it may be extended and made more successful.

His firm appreciates the value of publicity as a factor in the store's business, and in this connection an interesting happening is worth recording. A few years ago a number of painted signs with the store motto "A Square Deal for Every Man," and the firm name, G. B. Ryan & Company, were put in conspicuous locations in and near the city. Just at that time there was pretty keen rivalry between this firm and Macdonald Bros., the other big dry goods merchants in Guelph, and to secure some good advertising, the latter firm had signs painted with the words "And Woman, Too. Macdonald Bros.," placing them directly under the Ryan signs. The laugh was on Ryan's, but not for long. The next day on a location where everyone entering the city would see it, and near the Macdonald Institute, containing a couple of hundred young lady students, the "Square Deal" sign was replaced by one which read, "Pants for Every Man, G B Ryan & Co." The one below read, "And Woman, too, Macdonald Bros." The latter was soon removed. Fortunately, the heads of the two firms are sensible men, and are very friendly, and both enjoyed the joke.

Interested in Civic Progress

Mr. Ryan has long taken a deep interest in the welfare of his city. He served some years as an alderman, and while in the council was able to carry into effect a project which for some time he had in contemplation; the management of the water works department by a commission elected by the people and responsible to them. Twice within a year the proposal was submitted to a popular vote; the first time it was defeated, but, after an educational campaign had been carried on it was approved by a majority of over 700.

Results proved the wisdom of that decision, for, whereas in 1906 the total receipts of the department were $13,000, in the following year, under a commission, the profits equalled that amount. Mr. Ryan was elected to the commission and was later made its chairman by his fellow-commissioners. This remarkable increase in revenue was not effected by an increase in water rates; they were the same as in the preceding year, but an inspector who was appointed discovered some rather startling facts. He found that there were over one hundred water-takers who were not paying anything for the service; others were paying only a fraction of what they should pay. These discriminations were not allowed to continue. Every water user was put on the same basis.

The people showed their confidence in the commission by voting $125,000, which will be used in improving the system. Now the water is taken from the Grand River, and the health department, to say the most, is not very enthusiastic over its purity. It will soon be brought from an artesian well, several miles from the city.

This branch of the civic service does not, however, claim a monopoly of Mr. Ryan's attention. He is the treasurer of the municipality owned and operated street railway. This had for years been a losing concern, the deficit one year reaching $5,000. By the application of the same business judgment which has made a success of his private business and the water works system, the railway has been placed upon a paying basis, a deficit of $5,000 having been turned into profits of $4,800, representing a dividend of 1 1-2 per cent. on the entire capitalization of the road. In addition to serving the city in these two public capacities, Mr. Ryan is a member of the Hospital Board.

It is a fact not without significance that these services are given the city without remuneration. The commissioners were offered a salary, but Mr. Ryan refused to accept it.

Believes in Co-operation

In Western Ontario this merchant is in demand at meetings of retailers, and frequently delivers addresses in which he advises harmonious co-operation among merchants. I asked him as to his views on this question, and he said: Editors scrap, but they don't cut the price of space; lawyers scrap, but their bills provide for a large amount of brotherly love; bankers scrap, but raise the interest account; doctors scrap, but few ever get a reduced bill from them; merchants scrap and cut prices. This everlasting price-cutting among merchants plays havoc with profits, and should be eliminated."

In the management of his stores at Guelph and at Berlin, Mr. Ryan has the assistance of his sons, Harold being in the Guelph store with his father, while Norman has charge of the business in Berlin. In Owen Sound the store is conducted under the name of Ryan Bros., a brother of Mr. Ryan managing it.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR

Its Great Profusion Was Always a Cause of Wonder

Even at the age of 80 years, Queen Victoria's hair was a marvel of luxuriance. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, undoubtedly treated Her Majesty's scalp with a germ-destroying preparation, that was not made public. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ-destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. Without dandruff the hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

Little he knew the chance was coming up the street at that moment. He only saw Miss Mattie step out into the bed of flowers, her face looking unusually pretty and youthful under the big straw hat, and start to reduce the weeds to order. She glanced around as though in search of some one, and Red felt intuitively that the one was himself.

"Here's where I ought to act as if I wore long pants," said he. "Now, what's to hinder me from going out there and get a-talking?" And then he sat down hastily, more disgusted than ever, and smote the air with his fist. "You'd think the nicest, quietest woman that ever lived was a wild beast the way I act; yes, sir, you would!"

Meantime the chance drew nearer. It was not a pleasant looking opportunity. Its eyes, full of dread and dreadful, peeped out from beneath a brush of matted hair. A tough, ropy form hung from its mouth. If you put as much of that foam as would go on the point of a pin in an open cut, you would have an end that your worst enemy would shudder at, for this was the most horrifying of dangerous animals—a mad dog! Poor brute! As he came shambling down the road he was the grisly mask of tragedy.

It was near noon, intensely hot, and the street of Fairfield was deserted. No one saw the dog, and if his occasional rattling, strangling howl reached any ears they were dead to its meaning. He was unheeded until he lurched through the gate which Lettis had left open, as usual, and, spinning around in a circle, gave voice to his cry.

It brought Miss Mattie to her feet in an unknown terror; it brought Red from the barn in a full cognizance—he had heard that sound before when a mad coyote landed in a cabin full of fairly strong nerved cowmen and set them screeching like hysterical women before a chance shot ended him.

Red saw the brute jump toward Miss Mattie. Instinctively his hand flew to his hip, and instantly he remembered there was nothing there. Then with great, uneven leaps he sprang forward. "Keep your hands up, Mattie, and don't move!" he screamed. "Let him chew the dress! For God's sake, don't move!"

She turned her white face toward his, and through the dimness of sight from his straining efforts, he saw her try to smile as she obeyed him to the letter, and without a sound. "Oh, brave girl!" he thought and threw the ground behind him desperately.

At twenty feet distance he dove like a base runner, and his hands closed around the dog's neck. Over they went with the shock of the onset, and before they were still the hands had finished their work. A clutch, and a snap, and it was done.

The dog lay quivering. Red rose to his knees, wondering at the humming in his head. His wits came back to him sharply.

"Did he bite you, Mattie?" he cried. But she had already caught his hands and was looking at them with a savage eagerness one would not have believed to be in her.

"There is no mark," she said, suddenly weak. "He didn't touch you?"

"Answer me when I speak to you!" shouted Red, beside himself. "Did he bite you?"

She answered him, with a sob, "No." And then his question asked itself, and answered itself, although, again, he did not know it. He gathered her up in his arms, kissed her like one raised from the dead and swore and prayed and thanked God all in the same breath.

His old imperious nature came back with the relief. "Here!" said he, putting her away for a moment. "Take off that dress—that slime on there's enough to kill a hundred men—take it right off."

Miss Mattie started blindly to obey, then stopped. "Not here, Will—I'll go in the house," she said.

"You'll take it off right here and now," said Red, "and I'll burn it up on the spot. I'd ruther have forty rattlesnakes around than that stuff. Git with it! This is no child's play, and I don't care a d—n what the old lady next door thinks."

Miss Mattie slipped off her outer skirt and stood a second, confused and dainty. She took flight to the house, running as lithely as a greyhound.

"By jingo!" said Red in admiration. "Let's see you bring another woman that can run like that!"

He gathered some hay and piled it on the dress, firing the heap.

Then he turned to his antagonist. "Poor old boy! Hard luck, eh? But I had to do it," he said and gave him decent interment at the end of the garden, washed his hands carefully and went into the house on pleasanter duties.

"I'll ask her now, by the great horn spoon!" said he valiantly.

Miss Mattie was in a curious state of mind. There was an after effect from the fright which made her tremble, and a remembrance of Cousin Will's actions which made her tremble more yet. When she heard him coming she started to fly, although now clothed beyond reproach, but her knees deserted her, and she was forced to sink back in her chair. Red came in whistling blithely, vainglorious man!

He had his suspicions, generated by the peculiar fervor Miss Mattie had shown in regard to his hands.

"Mattie," quoth he, "I'm tired of living out there in the barn. I want a respectable house of my own."

"Yes, Will," replied Miss Mattie, astonished that he should choose such a subject at such a time.

"Yes," he continued, "and I want a wife too. You often said you'd like to do something for me, Mattie. Suppose you take the job?"

How much of glancing at a thing in one's mind as a beautiful improbability will ever make such a cold fact less astonishing? Miss Mattie eyed him with eyes that saw not. Speech was stricken from her.

Red caught fright. He sprang forward and took her hand. "Couldn't you do it, Mattie?" said he. There was a world of pleading in the tone. Miss Mattie looked up, her own honest self. All the little feminine shrinkings left her immediately.

"Ah, but I could, Will!" she said.

Lettis came up on the stoop unheard. He stopped, then gingerly turned and made his way back on tiptoe, holding his arms like wings.

"Well, by George!" he murmured. "I'll come back in a little while, when I'll be more welcome."

He spoke to Red in strong reproach that night in the barn. "You never told me a word, you old sinner!" said he.

"Tell you the honest truth, Let," replied Red earnestly, looking up from drawing off a boot, "I didn't know it myself till you told me about it."

They talked it all over a long time before blowing out the light, but then the little window shut its bright eye, and the only life the midnight stars saw in Fairfield was Miss Mattie, her elbow on the casement, looking far, far out into the tranquil night and thinking mistily.

THE END.

N.B. Legislature Opens.

Fredericton, N. B., May 1.—The opening of the first session of the fifth Legislature of New Brunswick was graced by Governor Tweedie's staff, consisting of Gen. Drury, ten colonels, a major and a lieutenant, as well as the officers commanding guard of honor and firing party.

Over half of the 46 members of the new Legislature are to-day making their bow to the country as legislators, and they spent yesterday morning looking around the legislative buildings and getting used to their surroundings. At noon they were sworn in at the Assembly Chamber before Chief Justice Barker.

The formal opening yesterday afternoon by the Lieutenant-Governor occurred at 2 o'clock, and Donald Morrison, M.P.P. of Northumberland, was elected Speaker on nomination of Premier Hazen, seconded by Provincial Secretary Fleming.

No prisoners had ever been sent to Canada from the Mansion House court.

Gomez Hailed by Electors.

Santiago, May 1.—Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, recently nominated for President of Cuba by the Miguelistaas, arrived here yesterday and was given an enthusiastic reception, not only by the residents of the city, but by country relegations. Many of these were negroes. Arrangements have been made for the feting of Gen. Gomez for the next three days.

PREMIER WANTS A FAIR REPORT

Marine Investigation Will Be Complete Says Sir Wilfrid.

MAKES SPIRITED ANSWER

Another Debate on Civil Service—Mr. Borden's Amendment Defeated Two to One—Hon. Mr. Brodeur's Defence—Opposition Leader Professes to Want Independent Commission For Enquiry.

Ottawa, May 1.—The Opposition yesterday returned to the proposed enquiry by Judge Cassels into the Marine Department. R. L. Borden, on motion to go into supply, submitted an amendment, declaring:

"That the investigation conducted by the Civil Service Commission was confessedly partial and incomplete.

"That the proposed enquiry before Justice Cassels is unsatisfactory and insufficient, inasmuch as it relates to only one paragraph of the report of that commission, and touches but a portion of the administration of one Department.

"That this House regrets the deplorable extravagance, waste, inefficiency and maladministration revealed by that report, and declares that immediate steps should be taken to reform and redress the same.

"That the public interest imperatively demands the appointment of an independent commission with full powers to make a thorough and searching investigation into several Departments of the public service."

The Opposition leader first observed that in looking into the report he was led unconsciously to believe that he was reading some of the campaign literature issued by the gentlemen opposite in the good old days. He read a comment of Mr. Fyshe with reference to "the demoralizing system of protection," and observed that this was a severe stricture on men who had come into power on the pledge to root out that system.

Referring to civil service reform, Mr. Borden believed the British system was on the whole the best, although in a new country like Canada our system had some advantages. Quoting the commissioners "that political pull had dominated appointments," he expressed surprise that no member of the Government had risen to give an explanation. The further statement that party was put before state was equally serious.

The examination by the commissioners revealed even a more aggravated form of these abuses in the outside service. They had "not only in appointments, but in subsequent promotions, in the outside service, the politics of the party is of greater importance than the public interests." The commissioners, he went on to say, recommended that the outside customs service be absolutely divorced from political influence and that appointments be put on the basis of merit. As to the Postoffice Department, it was found that "hundreds of postoffices are used for the benefit of politicians rather than the benefit of the state."

The same baneful influence was seen in the Marine and Public Works Departments. They had also found a general disregard of the Civil Service Act, no fewer than 50 of the votes passed last session bearing the condition, "notwithstanding anything in the Civil Service Act to the contrary."

As to the question of increased remuneration to the civil service Mr. Borden agreed that it should be taken into consideration at once. His own opinion of the civil service was that at the present time it was overmanned and underpaid.

Certain stalwart Liberals were not backward in stating that if Sir Wilfrid had been at home at the time of the order-in-council appointing the commission, it would never have been worded as it was.

Mr. Borden quoted from the report the statement that in Quebec the marine agent, when it was pointed out to him that he was paying $6.95 for flour that was selling in the same city for $4.50, said there was only one flour dealer on the patronage list and suggested that a couple more be added.

In reporting upon the Militia Department, the commissioners pointed out that its expenditure was "going up by leaps and bounds; that in four and three-quarter years the expenditure had increased by $3,000,000." What a cry was raised in Quebec to an expenditure of $1,000,000 for the Militia Department previous to 1896 and what did they now think of an expenditure of $6,500,000 for the present year.

The commissioners had stated that they had not investigated the Department of Railways and Canals because they had found there were other Departments which required more immediate supervision. Mr. Borden ventured to suggest that had they gone into that Department they would have found quite an abundant harvest of maladministration, extravagance and inefficiency.

Dealing with counsel employed to conduct the enquiry, it was not a question whether Mr. Aylesworth was satisfied with Messrs. Watson and Perron, but whether the country was satisfied. Mr. Aylesworth had said the functions of Judge Cassels were like those of a coroner's jury.

"If," said Mr. Borden, "you find the corpse of an honest and efficient Government, would you expect the coroner's jury to be guided by the friend and associate of one of the assassins? They should be men outside the ranks of party responsible for condition of affairs."

Mr. Borden, however, had confidence in these men and would be glad to see them prosecute their enquiries to a conclusion.

Sir Wilfrid said there had been three or four debates on the question already, and among the gentlemen opposite there seemed to be a wide difference of opinion. The last commission was appointed to make a report as to the efficiency of the civil service. In one Department they found there was not only inefficiency, but dishonesty, and the Government thought it their duty to complete the investigation for the purpose of getting hold of the guilty parties. As to whether Mr. Perron had been at one time an associate of Mr. Prefontaine, it made no difference to him. It was not to be supposed that gentlemen belonging to the legal profession ever carry their political opinions into court. This commission was appointed to get at the truth; the Government would have nothing to gain by having a garbled report. It was preposterous to ask that counsel be appointed to represent the Civil Service Commissioners. The commissioners were not on trial, and there was nothing in their report which it was proposed to controvert; the object was to have the investigation pursued in the direction of the parties for whom criticism was found in the report.

Sir Wilfrid asked if the civil service had been rendered inefficient by reason of political patronage, who was there to throw the first stone? According to the commissioners the civil service had fallen back during the past 15 years. The present Government had not been in office 15 years.

Although not disposed to criticize the commissioners, he thought their remarks about increase in expenditures of the Militia Department were uncalled for.

The member for Dundas (Mr. Broder) had appealed to the worst prejudices of the people when he compared expenditures for war with those for agriculture. Sir Wilfrid was a man of peace, but it was the duty of the Government to prepare for war, and he pointed out that some of the European countries spent at least 50 per cent. of their income on defence.

"And," said Sir Wilfrid, "when the leader of the Opposition stoops—I say stoops—to make political capital out of such a question he plays a part that is unworthy of himself."

Concluding, the Prime Minister said it was not the part of the Government to depart from its course, but it had a duty to perform in pursuing the investigation in its own way. There had been three commissions already to investigate the civil service and that was enough.

Mr. Foster continued at the evening session, answering the Prime Minister's complaint that the commissioners had gone beyond their duties. The Government were poor strategists. They were taking care of the attack, but forgot there was a rear.

Let the country clearly see the purpose for which this commission was appointed, continued Mr. Foster. The Prime Minister should take back his words that the second commission had been appointed to continue the work of the first.

Mr. Courtney and his colleagues gutted one-half of one Department and if they had time would have gone to the inside of every one of them.

The responsibility of the Minister was clear, yet Mr. Foster left it to the Prime Minister to deny that Judge Cassels had been appointed to investigate some subordinates who had sacrificed the country's interest. That would be the business of the counsel, to steer the whole investigation as far as putting the facts before the judge was concerned. This had been stated by the Minister of Justice. Judge Cassels had been stopped from looking into any transaction except what could be laid at the door of a subordinate. The least thing the Prime Minister wanted was the whole truth.

Hon. Sydney Fisher said it was no fault to compare the expenditures of the various Departments and his criticism was just. Although Canada spent only half a million on agriculture, France spent $9,000,000 and Russia $25,000,000.

Mr. Brodeur claimed that the Canadian Militia lacked permanency and that we were paying too much for the skeleton of an army which had only two and a half men for an officer.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur challenged Mr. Foster to make charges against him and risk his seat as the result. The attacks of Mr. Foster were uncalled for.

Australia Wants Whites.

London, May 1.—(C.A.P.)—Prof. Herbert Strong of Liverpool University writes to the president of the Immigration League of Australasia that the masses in Great Britain resent the Australian tariff, and have an idea that they are not wanted there, whereas they are welcome in Canada.

The Australians are foolish, he says, not to fill up the country with whites, because it is certain they will shortly have to fight for their lives against Japan or Germany. He urges strongly that the refusal of the colonies to participate in imperial defence has alienated many home imperialists.

His Sight Restored.

Chicago, May 1.—A supposed deaf and partly-blind mendicant, who had been arrested, was fined $30 and costs by Municipal Judge Wells. As if by magic the man's hearing and eyesight were restored and he took $80 from one of his pockets and counted out the amount of his fine. He was then searched by the police and a bank book showing deposits of $1,852 was found. He is 67 years old.

Company Charged With Negligence.

Brantford, May 1.—The coroner's jury which enquired into the death of Jonathan Marshall, who last Saturday fell off the Western Counties power plant roof while making repairs, returned a verdict of "death from electric shock," and charged the company with negligence in ordering a man who was not a skilled electrician to perform such work.

Sustains Scott Act.

Fredericton, N.B., May 1.—After the hottest temperance fight ever known in this province the Scott Act was sustained here yesterday by a majority of 178.

Though it was expected liquor license would be defeated the majority in favor of the act was larger than anticipated. An exceptionally large vote was polled.

Saskatchewan Redistribution.

Regina, Saskatchewan, May 1.—It is understood the Government's redistribution bill, to be brought down in the Legislature to-day, will provide for 35 members instead of 25 as at present.

Saskatoon city will be given a separate member.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THEIR NEW HOME TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

GAINED 15 POUNDS.

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

To Overcome Infertility In Eggs During Winter Months

Canadian Dairyman.

One of the chief difficulties poultrymen have to contend with is the infertility of eggs laid during the winter and early spring months. To overcome this, select birds for breeders that are fully matured, healthy, and free from vermin. Having assured yourself on these points see that the hen-house is thoroughly clean, dry, and well ventilated, and that it has from six inches to a foot of litter on the floor.

Look carefully after their feeding. As quality, not quantity, of eggs is desired, the manner of feeding will differ considerably from that of the stock kept for winter layers.

As exercise is one of the necessary adjuncts to good health nearly all feed should be hard grain fed in the litter so that the birds are compelled to work for every grain; by this method of feeding you over come huddling up in the corners. A good ration is two parts wheat, one part oats, one-half part corn or barley, one-quarter part buckwheat, and one-quarter part peas. Grit, oyster shells, charcoal and beef scraps or fresh meat should be before them all the time.

If obtainable, cut green bone should be fed three times a week in quantities of not more than one ounce a hen. They should, also, be kept supplied with vegetables—mangolds, sugar beets, red beets, or turnips—cut in half and nailed to the wall. These are excellent, so also is cabbage hung up about a foot above the litter. If clover hay be obtainable, make a pocket or rack of wire netting against the wall and stuff in an armful or two of clover and you will be surprised to see how eagerly the hens will strip the stalks of both flower and leaf. They should have plenty of fresh water.

The essential points are: first, healthy, vigorous stock, free from vermin; second, clean, well ventilated quarters; third, well balanced rations of good sound grain and a supply of water, grit, etc., and, fourth, as much fresh air and exercise as it is possible to give them.

Under these conditions the eggs laid will contain strong vigorous germs, that, in their turn, will produce healthy chicks if incubation be performed properly.

It is generally conceded that artificial incubation is the most practical method of producing chicks in quantities. If you do not own an incubator choose one made by a thoroughly reliable firm who guarantee their machine and stand by it. Don't allow yourself to be cajoled into buying an incubator because it is sold at a low figure, as it may be the dearest in the long run. After having selected and bought your incubator, test the thermometer and see that it is working properly. Upon this a great deal depends. Every incubator operator should have a spare thermometer, for then, in case of accident, there would be no delay in replacing it.

Taking it for granted that the incubator is set up and running according to the manufacturer's directions for a day or so, in order that the regulation of heat may be thoroughly understood, it is now ready to receive the eggs, which, in order to obtain the best results, should not be more than a week or 10 days old—the fresher the better. The eggs should be carefully selected and all misshapen, thin shelled, mottled (that is, eggs with thick and thin patches in the shells), very large and very small ones should be rejected.

If you are the owner of more than one incubator I would strongly recommend you to place the eggs of one class of birds into one incubator, and the eggs of another class into the other. By this I mean if you have eggs of the Mediterranean breeds and American breeds place the Mediterraneans in one and the American in another, as the germs from the Mediterranean breeds seem to be more vigorous, and when put into an incubator alongside the American breeds they invariably hatch out several hours before the others and also show a larger percentage of chicks. I have proved by experience, to my own satisfaction, and to that of other breeders, that the above method will give the best results.

The eggs should be tested as early as possible, because, if a smaller incubator be run as a tender to a large one, the remaining fertile eggs, if not too many, may be removed to the tender and the large incubator refilled, thus saving valuable time. A white shelled egg may be tested on the third day, especially after one has had a little experience.

In testing, the new operator should be most careful, in handling the eggs, not to give them any sudden twists or jars, and when testing to hold the egg horizontally, as the yolk is then held or suspended in a natural position. It must be borne in mind, that now life has started in the egg, any sudden jar or rough usage may cause a rupture of the blood vessels. Often, through careless handling, a chick will be put back in the incubator, dead, having bled to death from the causes stated above, and the next time it is tested the fatal red ring is seen.

When the twentieth day has arrived and the chicks have commenced to break the shell, the beginner needs to exercise some self-control and to refrain from opening the incubator as the sudden draughts caused thereby chill the newly hatched chicks and also cause the death of many just pipping. Never remove any of the chicks until the hatch is over, for by so doing the temperature in the incubator will drop about one degree for each fifteen chicks removed. It will be found much better to leave the chicks in the incubator for the first 48 hours, when they may be removed to the brooder, which has been previously prepared and heated to receive them.

THE PROPER WAY TO SET A HEN

Most People Do Not Take Enough Care In This Matter.

Canadian Dairyman.

Most people take little care of how they set a hen. They blame the hen, the eggs, or anything else they think of at the time. One should select a hen of medium size, with nice clean legs. Get one that is quiet, one that you can put your hand under, without her fluttering off the nest. Heavy hens are too clumsy on the eggs, and are very apt to step on the chicks. Having procured your hen, give her a good dusting with insect powder.

A good nest can be made out of a cheese box. Leave the lid on. Cut a fair-sized square hole in the side. Then lay in a couple of inches of soil, and shape it like a nest. Place in some nice straw on top of the soil. When all is ready, take your box to the hen's nest after dark. Slip her lightly into the box, with a couple of nest eggs. Put your box where you want it, and next night you can put your good eggs under her.

Give her a good feed early in the evening. After she is on, put a bit of sacking over the hole to prevent her being molested by the other hens. A good test of a broody hen, is to place a couple of eggs in front of her in the nest. If she pokes them under her and works them around with her breast, she will prove all right. Dust her again near the end of the hatch. Do not forget to feed and water her, and give her grit. Whole corn is a good grain to feed her while she is sitting.—Harry T. Lush.

Leap Year Dance a Form of Farewell to Departing Young People.

WITH THE VISITORS

Havelock, April 30.—Mr. Forde, of Ottawa, is home suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

Mr. Harry Roache spent Sunday with friends at Perth.

Miss Maude Kelly returned to town on Saturday, after spending the Easter vacation at her home in Brockville.

The remains of Mr. Robt. Beatty whose sad death occurred in Smith's Falls, on Friday last, were brought to town on Sunday morning, accompanied by the sorrowing friends and a number of the Brotherhood men of that place. The funeral took place at 3.30 in the afternoon, from the residence of Mr. Jas. Beatty, a brother of the deceased. The Oddfellows and Brotherhood Orders marched to the cemetery to convey remains to their last resting place. Both Mr. and Mrs. Beatty are well known in town, having resided here some time ago. The sympathy of all is extended to Mrs. Beatty and family in their sad bereavement. The many floral tributes received showed the high esteem in which deceased was held, both in Havelock and Smith's Falls.

Mr. W. Watson, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Alex. Rose.

Miss Emily Swann, of Warsaw, visited Mrs. Harry Taylor on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Loretta Bennett spent Monday in Peterborough.

A "Leap Year Party" was given in the opera house on Monday night, April 27th, by a number of the fair sex. A large crowd was present and a most enjoyable evening spent. At twelve o'clock a very dainty lunch was partaken of in the basement of the hall. The music was supplied by the young ladies, assisted by Mr. Joyner and Mr. Murphy. This party was given partly as a farewell to a couple of the young people, who are leaving town this week, namely, Miss Clara Dorricott, who leaves Tuesday for Toronto, where she will in future reside, and Mr. J. D. Paton, teller in the Bank of Toronto, who leaves next week for Toronto, where he will work in the head office. Their numerous friends regret to hear of their departure, both parties having won for themselves many friends during their stay in Havelock.

Mrs. Armstrong, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Jno. Toman for the past week, returned to her home in Toronto Junction on Tuesday.

Mr. Thos. Spilsbury, of Buffalo, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. H. Falkner, on Tuesday.

Miss Dema Johnson, of Norwood, visited Miss Rosa Darling on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Beasie Rose was in Lindsay on Monday.

The Misses Lula and Ethel Beatty, of Toronto, were in town on Sunday, attending the funeral of their uncle Mr. Robt. Beatty.

Mr. Allie Rose spent Tuesday with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorricott and children, Clara and Walter, left on the afternoon train on Tuesday, for Toronto, where they will reside.

Mrs. Innes and children are visiting with friends in Toronto and Sudbury.

All the local hotels have been granted licenses at the high fee of $750 a year. The license at this rate comes into force on May 1st, but application for same had to be made to the License Commissioners before April 1st. The license this year is $500 more than last year, the fee last year being $250.

Work has been commenced at Swift & Company's icehouse here, and a large number of cars are being iced daily. It is expected that a very large number of cars will be iced during this season, as the companies are shipping more dressed beef, and not so much live stock, and because this line of the C. P. R. has been used more exclusively for shipping dressed beef by the large meat manufacturing concerns of the States. Last year during the warm weather as high a number as 250 cars were iced in a week, and an average of 36 per day. When you consider that each one of these cars take from seven to fifteen tons of ice each, you can form an estimate of the large amount of that congealed moisture called ice, that is consumed in a season at the icing station here. Swift & Company is not the only firm that have their cars iced at this station, but all the large meat and fruit shippers in Canada and the United States have their cars iced here. The usual season for icing generally starts about the 1st of April, with only a few companies icing, but as the season advances and the weather gets warmer, the number of companies icing here increases. The season does not stop abruptly, but the number of cars decreases as the weather gets cooler. Only a very few cars are iced during the winter season, and the icemen are engaged filling the ice-houses for another season.

BABY'S TEETHING TIME IS A TROUBLOUS TIME

When baby is teething the whole household is upset. The tender little gums are inflamed and swollen, the poor little child suffers and often cry day and night, wearing the mother out, and keeping the rest of the family on edge. In the homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used there is no such worry. The Tablets allay the inflammation, sooth the irritation and bring the teeth through painlessly. Mrs. S. Williams, St. Joseph, Ont., says: "My first baby suffered terribly when cutting her teeth and the doctor could do nothing for her. I got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and they did her so much good that I cannot say enough in their favour. You may be sure that I always keep the Tablets in the house now." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. per box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OMEMEE PEOPLE TO ATTEND THE INSTITUTE

News From the Peaceful Village to the West.

Omemee, April 29.—Several travellers representing Peterborough wholesale and manufacturing firms have been here lately and got their share of trade.

Fishing for suckers with snares has commenced, and the "kids" are enjoying themselves.

There was a large quantity of stock shipped to-day by Mr. Richards and others.

We have been free from fires, burglaries and highwaymen as compared with other towns, but are always prepared for such emergencies.

A number will attend the missionary conference to be held in Peterborough next week.

The sudden illness and death of Mrs. Glass aged 67 years, wife of Mr. Wm. Glass, caretaker of the Omemee and Emily cemetery, has cast quite a gloom over the village. The deceased was stricken with paralysis and lasted only a few days, departing without pain or struggle on Saturday morning. The bereaved husband, her sister Mrs. Thornton and six brothers have the deep sympathy of all. The deceased was a daughter of the late Hamilton Best, of Mount Pleasant, and was an active and consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and all her life possessed many beautiful traits of character. The funeral took place on Monday and was very largely attended.

A "DEMON" DISEASE.

Doctors' prescriptions and strongest Liniments had no effect on Mr. Humphrey's Rheumatism—Two bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure cured what he is pleased to call "this Demon from the Lower Regions."

Henry Humphrey, of London, Ont., expresses himself very strongly:—"I think Rheumatism is a demon from the lower regions, judging by my sufferings before I began using South American Rheumatic Cure. Doctors prescribed the strongest liniments with no more effect than water, but this great remedy had me up and about my work, and as well as ever, after taking only a couple of bottles." (27)

Presentation Made To Mr. And Mrs. Payne By Warsaw People

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, April 28.—The Women's Missionary Auxiliry of the Methodist Church, gave their annual "At Home," on Easter Monday evening. Hot maple sugar buns, cake etc., were served, after which a very good programme was given. Mrs. Wm. Payne, of Peterborough, East City, assisted the choir and also gave two solos, which were very much appreciated. Mrs. Payne was formerly a member of the chair, and the people were pleased to have old and pleasant associations revived by again hearing her splendid voice. Miss Edna Payne, of Lakefield, also gave a recitation. The local talent did finely. The song given by the Mission Band is worthy of mention.

Rev. Mr. Spencer, the new English Church minister, who has taken Mr. Battersby's position at Young's Point, preached his first sermon last Sunday.

The Warsaw Methodist Sunday School Committee met last Tuesday evening, and appointed the officers for the ensuing year. Mr. S. R. Payne was re-elected superintendent and Mr. Thomas Clements, assistant Reports show the school to be in a healthy and prosperous condition, evidenced by the fact that instead of three there will be five classes. The average attendance is about forty.

A pleasant surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Payne on Wednesday evening, when Rev. Mr. Nickle and Thos. Clements came to their home and read the following address, and presented them with a clock. The address will explain. On account of Mr. Payne's illness it was thought well not to have any large number go, hence the above were commissioned to quietly make the presentation, in behalf of those contributing. The clock is a good one, and a beautiful ornament. The family are delighted with it.

The Address

To Mr. S. R. Payne,

Dear Brother.—For a long time past some of the members of the Methodist Church have felt that there should be given you some expression of recognition of the services you have, for so many years rendered the church, as superintendent of the Sunday School and as class leader of Warsaw, and local preacher on the circuit. Not only have you been faithful in the discharge of the duties of these offices, but we have always found you ready to assist in any worthy church enterprise. It would often have been very difficult to supply a local preacher had it not been for your ready willingness to either go yourself or furnish a conveyance for another. We do not wish to unduly eulogize your services, we desire simply to express our appreciation of them, and leave the rest to Him who alone knows the heart and knows its motives, promising grace mercy and blessing in this life of struggle against adverse conditions, ad hereafter eternal life to His loyal and true followers. During your long and trying illness we have felt for you a deep sympathy, have observed your strong faith in God's goodness, and your continued surrendering to His will. Our prayer is that you may find His grace sufficient to sustain you to the end of life, and that increased peace of mind and heart may be yours. We also pray that it may please God, in His love and wisdom, to restore you to your usual health and grant you many years of useful service in the Master's vineyard. Whilst, primarily, we are expressing our appreciation of your work, we ask Mrs. Payne to kindly allow us to associate her name with yours in recognition of her work in the church, especially her benign influence for good with the children in the catechism class, and ask you both to accept this clock as a small memento of our recognition of services rendered. When time ceases and clocks are not needed, our's "Welcome home."

our's "Welcome home."

Signed on behalf of the Circuit and Sunday School,

GEORGE NICKLE, Pastor,
THOS. CLEMENTS,
Assistant Sunday School Superintendent.

The following item, copied from the Gananoque Reporter, will no doubt be of local interest, as Mr. Reid is a native of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Reid spent Tuesday with Mr. G. W. Reid, and left for Gananoque, where they will reside. The young couple were the recipients of many hearty wishes for future happiness:

At the First Baptist Church, Adrian, Mich., on Wednesday last, the marriage occurred of Miss Minerva Eunice Nash, daughter of Mr. Edwin N. Nash, No. 2 Madison street, to Mr. Herbert James Reid of Gananoque, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Franklin Sweet, pastor of the church. The young couple were unattended, and only immediate members of the bride's family were present. Following the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Reid left for Detroit, Toronto and other points to spend a short honeymoon. On their return to Gananoque next week they will stay for a time at the Provincial, while the furnishing of the handsome residence recently purchased by Mr. Reid on King street west is being completed. The bride is popular with a wide circle of friends in Gananoque, formed during her residence here, and will be cordially welcomed when she returns to reside permanently. Previous to her marriage she was "showered" by her girl friends in Adrian, and was also the recipient of many other marks of esteem. Her gift from Mr. Reid was a diamond and pearl pendant. Both Mr. and Mrs. Reid have the heartiest congratulations and good wishes of many friends, in which the Reporter cordially joins.

The services in the Methodist church on Easter Sunday were of a very special character and were well attended. In the morning the music was furnished by the choir, and in the evening a musical programme was given by the "Sunbeam Choir," which consisted of over fifty children. The church was tastily and appropriately decorated in green and white, flowers and mottoes being the principal decorations. Mrs. Callander, organist and choir leader of the church, who had the training of the children, deserves great credit for the successful results of her time and efforts.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Douro, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

A pleasant surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Payne on Wednesday evening, when Rev. Mr. Nickle and Thos. Clements came to their home and read the following address, and presented them with a clock. The address will explain. On account of Mr. Payne's illness it was thought well not to have any large number go, hence the above were commissioned to call and make the presentation, in behalf of those contributing. The clock is a good one, and a beautiful ornament. The family are delighted with it.

The Address

To Mr. S. R. Payne,

Dear Brother.—For a long time past some of the members of the Methodist Church have felt that there should be given you some expression of recognition of the services you have, for so many years rendered the church, as superintendent of the Sunday School and as class leader of Warsaw, and local preacher on the circuit. Not only have you been faithful in the discharge of the duties of these offices, but we have always found you ready to assist in any worthy church enterprise. It would often have been very difficult to supply a local preacher had it not been for your ready willingness to either go yourself or furnish a conveyance for another. We do not wish to unduly eulogize your services, we desire simply to express our appreciation of them, and leave the rest to Him who alone knows the heart and knows its motives, promising grace mercy and blessing in this life of struggle against adverse conditions, ad hereafter eternal life to His loyal and true followers. During your long and trying illness we have felt for you a deep sympathy, have observed your strong faith in God's goodness, and your continued surrendering to His will. Our prayer is that you may find His grace sufficient to sustain you to the end of life, and that increased peace of mind and heart may be yours. We also pray that it may please God, in His love and wisdom, to restore you to your usual health and grant you many years of useful service in the Master's vineyard. Whilst, primarily, we are expressing our appreciation of your work, we ask Mrs. Payne to kindly allow us to associate her name with yours in recognition of her work in the church, especially her benign influence for good with the children in the catechism class, and ask you both to accept this clock as a small memento of our recognition of services rendered. When time ceases and clocks are not needed, our's "Welcome" home."

our's "Welcome home."

Signed on behalf of the Circuit and Sunday School,

GEORGE NICKLE, Pastor,
THOS. CLEMENTS,
Assistant Sunday School Superintendent.

The services in the Methodist church on Easter Sunday were of a very special character and were well attended. In the morning the music was furnished by the choir, and in the evening a musical programme was given by the "Sunbeam Choir," which consisted of over fifty children. The church was tastily and appropriately decorated in green and white, flowers and mottos being the principal decorations. Mrs. Callander, organist and choir leader of the church, who had the training of the children, deserves great credit for the successful results of her time and efforts.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Douro, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

SINKING OF JAPANESE WARSHIP

Cruiser Matsushima Shattered by Awful Explosion.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE

Two Hundred and Forty Sailors Go Down to Death—Calamity Occurred Off the Pescadores Islands—Cause of Disaster at Present Unknown —Some of Crew Were Saved Fifty Cadets Were Aboard.

Tokoio, May 1.—A terrible explosion in the stern magazine of the cruiser Matsushima off the Pescadores Islands at 8 o'clock yesterday morning sunk the vessel and about 240 officers and men went down to death.

The regular complement of the lost vessels was 355 men and that on her cruise she had about 50 cadets aboard, making a total of 415. About 175 are saved, which would make the loss of officers and men about 240.

The sons of Baron Chinda, Vice-Minister of the Foreign Office, and of Prince Oyama, field marshal, are among the lost. Captains Name., Yoshimori and Yasbiro are also thought to be lost.

The cause of the explosion is unknown.

The Matsushima is a protected cruiser. She was built in 1900. Her displacement is 4,237 tons, length 295 feet. She has two decks and twelve gun positions. Her armament consisted of one 12.6 inch canet gun, 26 quick-firing guns and six machine guns. She had also four torpedo tubes. Her complement is given in the books of record as 350 men.

The Matsushima took part in the Russo-Japanese war. She was instrumental in November, 1904, in sending Russian torpedo boats that were attempting to escape from Port Arthur to the bottom.

Accidents in the Japanese navy have been rare. There was an explosion of powder on board the battleship Kashima last September, in which 27 men were killed ,and in September, 1905, the battleship Mikasa, which was Admiral Togo's battleship in the Russo-Japanese war, was partially destroyed by fire and the explosion of her magazines at Sasebo. No men lost their lives in this accident.

The Pescadores Islands, the scene of the catastrophe, are a low island group between Formosa and China. They belonged to China until 1895 when they were ceded to Japan.

ARMED MEN CAPTURED.

Police Believe They Are Gang That Robbed Bank.

Emerson, Man., May 1.—Chief of Police Joseph Wilson and a posse of citizens shortly after noon yesterday rounded up and captured three armed men believed to be part of the bandit gang which looted the State Bank at Stephen, Minn., south of the line, and got clean away with $8,000 in currency, though one of the men is supposed to have been shot in the leg by a citizen awakened by the explosion when the safe was dynamited. The arrest of the three men was spectacular, as they threw up their hands after being covered by the guns of the posse. Two of the men, armed with pump automatic guns, were caught in the home of Wm. Robertson, a farmer living on the edge of the town, where they were getting a meal. The third man was run down in the railway yards. They had but $60 on them and claimed to be land seekers.

Early in the day it is claimed that five men composing the gang had sneaked across the boundary a short distance from here about daylight and that three, including one injured, had boarded a Winnipeg train.

Was Generously Supplied.

Ottawa, May 1.—G. F. O'Halloran, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was examined in the public accounts committee with reference to certain payments made to William Hutchison, exhibition commissioner. The witness stated that Mr. Hutchison was appointed by an order-in-council at a salary of $3,000, with a living allowance of $20 a day, and traveling expenses.

He had to do a considerable amount of entertaining, and every month rendered a statement to the Department, showing his expenditure. F. Chitty, accountant of the Department, said he was sent to England last year to supervise accounts generally and to settle any that were outstanding.

FORMER POLICY IS APPROVED

Has Been No Change Says Premier Asquith.

NAILS FLAG TO THE MAST

Liberals Express Loyalty to New Leader—Free Trade, Education, Licensing, and Old-Age Pensions Still the Platform—Home Rule Will Be Considered Later—Sustains Manchester Pledges.

London, May 1.—The Liberals held a party love feast at the Reform Club yesterday to welcome their new chief, Premier Asquith, and give him an opportunity of publishing a declaration of his policy.

Resolutions of loyalty to Mr. Asquith were adopted by acclamation, after which the Premier proceeded to outline his program. He nailed to the mast the flags of free trade, education, licensing, and old-age pensions, but he fought shy of home rule.

This is considered as confirmation of the rumors following the defeat of Winston Spencer Churchill in the northwest division of Manchester, that the Premier had notified him of his disapproval of Mr. Churchill's pledges to the Nationalists regarding home rule.

London, May 1.—Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Premier Asquith justified his omission to mention home rule in his speech at the Liberal meeting held in the Reform Club, and gave a somewhat roundabout, although practically complete adhesion to the home rule pledges given by Winston Spencer Churchill during the recent electoral campaign at Manchester.

The subject was brought up by Walter Long, Conservative, who asked the Premier if Mr. Churchill's pledges had his sanction and authority, and if so, whether he would give the House an opportunity of discussing this change in the Government's policy.

Mr. Asquith replied: "There has been no change in the policy of the Government, which was fully explained by the Chief Secretary for Ireland and myself in this House on March 30. I did not authorize Mr. Churchill to make, and I am satisfied that he has not made, any statements inconsistent with the previous declarations of the Government. He did not say anything which I have not said expressly or by plain implication in my speech, and, therefore, his statements represent what I said."

Pressed to explain why, if this were so, the speeches of himself and Chief Secretary for Ireland Birrell had failed to satisfy the Irish party, while Mr. Churchill's utterances had been quite satisfactory to them, Mr. Asquith muttered in reply a quite inaudible, but somewhat halting endorsement of Mr. Churchill.

Railwaymen Settle.

Winnipeg, May 1.—The new wage and working schedules drawn up in accordance with the agreement reached by the officials of the Canadian Northern Railway and the representatives of the company's shop employes have been signed.

This agreement embodies concessions on both sides, one of the most interesting of which is a reduction of 2 cents an hour for some classes of work, the men having given way with respect to the wage scale after fully considering the representations made by the officials, owing to the prevailing slackness of business.

The men receive a quid pro quo in the way of time and classification. The nine-hour days continues, with recognition of the union.

Mayor Killed Fighting.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 1.—A serious and fatal conflict broke out in this city Wednesday between hostile groups of politicians in connection with the present campaign for municipal elections. A band of men led by M. Labat, the vice-mayor of Fort de France, engaged in an armed conflict at the City Hall with another band under the leadership of the mayor, M. Severe. The mayor was killed in the fighting. Several other men also lost their lives and a number of persons were wounded.

Suicides on Railway.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 1.—A man found dead on the C.P.R. tracks one mile below the Soo was identified as Christopher Warren of Steelton. Death resulted from a deliberate determination to commit suicide. Besides a wife, he leaves two children. He had been unable to work for a couple of months through illness, and was of unsound mind.

Force to Punish Kurds.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—A despatch received here from Tabriz states that orders have been received from Teheran to organize a force of 10,000 troops to punish the Kurds. Recently Kurdish tribes have been pillaging the villages around Urumiah, in Persian Armenia, and, according to reports, have massacred several persons.

Strikebreaker Fined.

Brantford, May 1.—Roxy Farrell, a strikebreaker at the Buck Stove Works, was fined Wednesday afternoon $50 and costs for pointing a revolver at a union moulder, George Bettye.

The Buck company has given notice of the appeal of the case.

A Few Common Remedies.

Now that surgery has advanced to a point where diseased or defective parts of the human body may be removed and replaced with those from an animal, it is presumed that the following will no longer be regarded as mere nature fakes: The man with the eagle eye, the man with the lion heart, the man with the chicken liver, the man with the bull neck, the man with the pig head and the man with the dog face.

FORTY YEARS OF PROGRESS.

What Canada Has Done During Last Four Decades.

Canada has her eyes fixed upon a vision of future greatness, and no doubt finds therein all the inspiration she needs, says The Montreal Standard But if she needed aught to convince her of her high destiny, and inspire her to continued effort, she would find it in the proud story of the last forty years. In the eternal march of history, forty years is a short space—only the average working life of a man. But consider what Canada has accomplished in her short and busy life? How splendid a story of achievement is hers! How magnificent the tale of her progress and development!

In forty years she has multiplied her area over six times, spreading herself out from a thin tract of 600,000 square miles till now she covers 3,745,000 square miles of the earth's surface—one-third of the whole British Empire. In forty years she has more than doubled her population, and increased her foreign trade fivefold. In forty years she has multiplied her railway mileage ten times, increasing it from less than 2,500 miles to over 25,000 miles—more, in proportion to population than any country on the globe possesses. In forty years she has increased her bank assets from $82,784,000 to $901,500,000, or nearly eleven times; and her bank deposits from $36,000,000 to $538,000,000, or nearly fifteen times. In forty years she has increased her manufacturing capital from $75,000,000 to over $900,000,000, or over twelve times; her mineral output from a mere bagatelle to over $80,000,000; and her agricultural and forest products many times. She has, by deepening the St. Lawrence, increased the size of vessels coming to Montreal ten times; and by the extension and improvement of her canal system, made it possible for vessels that could not have come to Montreal at Confederation to proceed right on to the head-waters of Lake Superior. In short, she has laid the foundations of a great empire—opened up a country big enough and rich enough to sustain half the population of the globe.

And her achievements have not all been confined to the material order either. Vast as has been the development of her natural resources, great as has been the increase in all the elements of material prosperity, she may boast equal triumphs in the nobler spheres of human endeavor. She has organized a public school system scarcely second, in point of efficiency, to any other country, and established a chain of universities, colleges and technical institutes from Sydney to Vancouver.

TRUDGED THROUGH DEEP SNOW.

Patrol Returns to Dawson After Fifty-Six Days March.

Shaggy as Esau, muscled like gladiators and as tough as rawhide, five men, trudging behind 20 dogs dragging five toboggans, filed through the streets of Dawson a few mornings ago, fresh from the uttermost rim of the earth.

It was the Fort MacPherson patrol of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. The men left here the day after Christmas, traveled 31 days northward through unexplored wilds to MacPherson, remained there 24 days, and were 25 days returning. All told they were "mushing" 56 days.

Every man came back in the pink of condition, but four of the dogs were missing. One slipped from the teams and returned from a point 200 miles north of Dawson alone, the other three died en route from the hardships of the trip.

The men started with 1,500 pounds of food and other material and 300 pounds of dog supplies. This lasted them until well near the end of the outgoing journey with no other replenishment than one caribou killed, but on the return not one caribou or big animal was secured.

There was no suffering from want of food either going or coming and the rare oxygen and the vigorous exercise put muscle and flesh on the men, notwithstanding their hard trip on snowshoes following the toboggans.

The snow was very deep and on many of the rivers there was water covering the ice, having surged up from the springs in the river beds, owing to the mild winter.

Warranted to Keep.

The playful element was never entirely absent from Professor Drummond's class in natural science at Edinburgh university, and Dr. T. Hunter Boyd in his book, "Henry Drummond," ascribes its frequent cropping out to the professor's own sense of humor, which encouraged naturalness. On one occasion Professor Drummond announced that unfortunately he could not meet the class next day, as he had an important engagement. The students heard that he was absent on account of his sister's wedding.

On the day following when a geological specimen was passed round the class it was prominently labeled: "Drummond's wedding cake."

It is said that the professor was as quietly appreciative as any member of the class.

TRIES TO KNOCK CANADA.

Harsh Criticisms of Australian Sore-head Warmly Resented.

"Australian papers veil their hostility towards Canada and the States, but on the whole they do not like either country. They do not like the Canadians or Americans. They are jealous of the success of the Canadians. The principal cables that come to Australia are derogatory to Canada and the States."

It seems incredible that such a state of affairs as is described by an Australian correspondent, quoted above, should exist. Verification, however, is found in The Sydney Telegraph of March 3, just come to hand, where a long article appears headed, "The Real Canada: What a Returned Australian Says."

It is in the form of an interview with Mr. R. G. Gordon, late architect to the City of Melbourne Council and the Melbourne Tramway Trusts, who had just returned from "that much advertised country." He declared that, compared with Australia, Canada was a poor place.

"I spent two years and a half in Canada," Mr. Gordon is reported as saying, "and my advice to Australians is to keep away from there. They can grow wheat, barley, oats and beet-root sugar; when you have said that there is nothing more to be added."

Canada, however, was not without a champion. Mr. William Hyslop, of Toronto, was in Australia at the time the article appeared, traveling with Mrs. Hyslop for his health, and the next day's issue of The Telegraph finds him in a half column letter, very ably defending Canada and discrediting the erroneous and misleading statements of the gentleman interviewed the previous day.

Some of Mr. Gordon's remarks were as follows:

"One day in January last the thermometer registered 95 degrees above zero and during the same week it dropped to 10 degrees below zero."

"When the thermometer is low the Canadians says the instrument is wrong."

"The Alberta farmer has only four months in which to produce a crop. During that time he has to work his utmost to gather in prairie hay with which to feed the stock during winter."

"After stock has been wintered on the prairie it takes the whole summer to bring them back into condition. Then the meat is worse than that of an old dairy cow."

"From the lakes to the foothills of the Rockies not a single orchard can be established; a fruit tree is a novelty."

The reason these things are not generally known, Mr. Gordon said, was that Canadians were very patriotic. Everything detrimental to the country was kept out of the newspapers. A settler was burned out in a prairie fire and barely escaped with his life. Yet not a line of it appeared in the papers.

In replying to these statements, Mr. Hyslop referred to the world-famed apples of Nova Scotia, the fruit of Niagara and Grimsby the finest on the globe, the fruit of British Columbia, the grain of the West, the four million people of Ontario and the general progress of Canada in a way that put all to rights before our Australian brothers and sisters.

OIL IN THE FAR NORTH.

Keeps Oozing From Ground, But Its Source Hard to Find.

"The country that one passes from Athabasca landing down to the Arctic Red River is full of vegetation," says a writer in The Geographical Journal, "and will, in my opinion, one day be settled. In all the mission gardens at the different posts that I passed I saw wheat and barley growing, potatoes, lettuce, turnips, carrots and every kind of vegetable that one grows in one's own garden at home.

"The country is thickly timbered near the banks of the river, and there are few places in which you do not find large patches of prairie. You pass by a great outrush of natural gas, and oil is oozing out for miles along the river bank. An earth movement has taken place, resulting in a line of fault, which is marked for more than one hundred miles along the banks of the Athabasca river.

"Out of this oil has been ooing we do not know for how long, and no one has yet found the reservoir of oil which may exist there. A German noble, the Count Von Hammerstein, has spent a great deal of his own money and time in trying to find the reservoir, and I most sincerely hope that he may be successful.

"Coal and asphalt are to be seen everywhere, and there are great salt plains not far distant"

Funeral on Skates.

Among the Wends, a remnant of the ancient Slavonic race inhabiting the Spreewald, a region inclosed by an arm of the Spree river, about fifty miles south of Berlin, are seen the most curious funeral processions of the civilized world. As in Holland, the thoroughfares are waterways. In the winter time, when these are frozen over, funeral processions pass along the ice on skates. The coffin is carried on a sledge drawn by six mourners on skates. The immediate relatives of the dead, men and women alike, skate along behind the coffin surrounded by their friends. The women carry a Bible in one hand and wear the ancient national costume.

THE WEEK of PROBATION.

By MARTHA C. SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by the Associated Literary Press.

Dorothy's love affairs had come to a crisis. Three proposals in as many weeks put literally a stop to her coquetry. A decision had to be made.

So she composed a form letter, brief and noncommittal, and mailed a copy to each of the three anxious aspirants. It read as follows:

My Dear Mr. —: Please do not come to see me again for a week or until I give you permission. I am thinking things over. Very cordially yours, DOROTHY BRETT.

Not that Dorothy seriously meant to do any till amount of thinking. The week of probation would save her all that trouble. The test would be simple enough. Of the one whose absence should make her heart grow fonder—of that one Dorothy would feel sure. She wondered dreamily why all girls did not resort to a solution so commendably automatic. It was so silly to allow oneself to be consumed for a prolonged period with nerve racking doubts and feverish fantasies. All one had to do was to assume a passive frame of mind—and wait.

When Reginald Warren received Dorothy's laconic instructions he laughed long and confidently.

"So Dorothy actually believes it's necessary to think it over," he commented. "Bless her heart, she shall be allowed that privilege if she wants it. As if there could be the least doubt!"

Right here Reginald broke off his soliloquy and whistled, for in sorting over his mail he had come upon another envelope in Dorothy's handwriting. It bore the name of Mr. Robert Butler, but was addressed by accident to Reginald's street and number.

Reginald balanced the letter tentatively in his hand. "How many more, I wonder?" he asked himself. "Shall I forward it to Butler or return it to Dorothy?" In a misguided moment he decided upon the latter alternative.

Dorothy was furious when the letter came back to her. She recognized Reginald's handwriting and immediately consigned him to the oblivion he deserved. How did he dare treat her slip of the pen humorously, for that was what he had done, of course! She could tell it from the rollicking style of the penmanship. Had he been a gentleman he would have forwarded it to Robert and spared her the humiliation of knowing what a telltale blunder she had made.

SHE WAITED IMPATIENTLY FOR CENTRAL TO GET THE NUMBER.

Robert Butler of course profited by his rival's hasty faux pas—temporarily, that is—for, receiving no warning to the contrary, he continued to call upon Dorothy and found her so engagingly gracious that his emotions soared once more to the point of a proposal. Simultaneously Dorothy's hospitality fell to the freezing point, and the following morning she mailed Robert his delayed ultimatum.

The week of probation went by with no word or sign from the third bandie of Dorothy's overfull loving cup. This unpardonable negligence piqued her not a little.

"Ned might at least have taken the trouble to find out if I really meant it," she argued, with proverbially feminine logic. "It's positive proof that he's indifferent. Well, he'll find out that I can be indifferent too. I'll write to—I'll write to Reginald Warren this very night and tell him"—

She took up her pen with an air of determination. One beginning after another was dashed boldly off, read over with misgivings and finally discarded.

Reginald himself interrupted these spasmodic outbursts.

"Oh, I was just writing to you, Mr. Warren!" was Dorothy's more or less fluttering welcome.

"Dorothy—my own!" Reginald exclaimed jubilantly.

She saw the gleam of happiness that lighted his eyes and quickly drew her hand away from his ardent clasp.

"How did you dare to come before I had written to tell you?" she asked defensively.

Reginald laughed easily.

"Because I knew what you would write, dearest, and the week of my enforced absence is up tonight, you know."

The amazing assurance of this lover struck Dorothy dumb for the moment. It was as though the man's real character had revealed itself in a flash. He had taken her answer for granted. Dorothy's vacillating little heart grew hot with rebellion and prompted her to take recourse in very daring strategy.

"I was writing to tell you that I am engaged to some one else," she announced bravely.

Reginald stared at her. Slowly the situation dawned upon him.

"So Mr. Butler is the lucky man, then?" he answered sneeringly. "I did not realize that he was a rival until I got his letter by mistake. Doubtless that was your acceptance of him, Miss Brett, that I remailed to you. I shall certainly take pleasure in congratulating him at my first opportunity. Good night."

"No, no; wait!" called Dorothy as soon as she could recover from the shock of this man's anger. But it was too late.

"Heavens!" she gasped. "Suppose he announces my engagement to Robert Butler!"

She rushed to the telephone and waited impatiently for central to get the number.

"Is this Mr. Butler? This is Dorothy Brett. What? You recognized my voice the very first word? You were expecting me to call up?" (Dorothy made a very little face.) "Well, I just wanted to tell you that I am engaged to Ned Hamilton. What? You say he denied it this very afternoon? Well, you see, I wanted to tell you about it myself! Why, thank you, Mr. Butler. I'm sure we shall be. Come to see me. Good night."

Again Dorothy waited with the receiver close to her little pink ear, this time with almost dancing anticipation.

"Oh, Ned, is this really you? Where have you been all this week? It seems a month. It's my own fault. Well, Ned, could you possibly come over this evening? You can't? Got to take whom to the theater? Oh, your sister! Goodness! I thought you said Leicester somebody. Well, do find some one else to take her. You see, I just telephoned Mr. Butler that you and I are engaged and— That's what I said—engaged! I had to. Um-hum. Now hurry!"

Ned put on his "seven league boots" and hurried.

"Dorothy," he gasped when he reached her, breathless, but happy, "do you really mean that I'm the lucky dog?"

"Of course!" she answered, laughing at his boyish incredulity. "Who else did you s'pose?"

"Why, I don't know, dearest. I guess I was a bit shaky about Butler and that Warren fellow. Warren's been boasting, in fact, that you'd soon announce your engagement to him."

"The little beast!" exclaimed Dorothy, flushing. But her anger died down as suddenly as it came.

"Oh, Ned, I'm so happy!" she whispered, for by this time Ned had her in his arms and was making up for lost time. "It was awfully risky of you leaving me alone for a whole week," she chided. "I came very near accepting Reginald Warren not more than an hour ago."

Ned loosened his hold of her slightly.

"Out of spite," Dorothy added roguishly, "'cause you didn't care enough to come for your answer."

"But you asked me not to come till you gave me permission," he reminded her.

"Didn't you see the special postscript on the inside of the envelope—on the flap?"

Ned drew the envelope from his pocket. It had been cut open at the top. He folded back the flap.

"If you get very anxious," he read, "you needn't wait."

"Dorothy," he exclaimed, kissing her rapturously, "if I had only known!"

"Men have no curiosity," she sighed happily, "and no imagination. They lose a lot of fun."

CUSTOMS OF THE HOUSE

RULES AND PRECEDENTS FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

Members Not Allowed to Read Their Speeches—Some Expressions That Are Barred—Catching the Speaker's Eye—When Several Members Rise to Speak at Once — Sergeant-at-Arms.

The customs and amenities of debate in the Ontario Legislature are laid down by well-established rules and precedents. Of course, new members and even occasionally one who has been there for years, will make an unintentional slip, which will be overlooked or dealt with leniently by Mr. Speaker. As a rule, however, they are enforced with the greatest strictness. In fact, this is a matter of necessity often in order to preserve the necessary decorum and dignity of that august assembly.

A member is not in order in attempting to address the House when there is no motion before it, or unless he is about to conclude with a motion A personal explanation made with the permission of the House, is the only exception.

It is "de riguer" to address the Speaker only, or the chairman if the House is in Committee of the Whole. The speech must not be directed to the House, or to any party on either side of the House, or to any member, unless he is referred to by his official title. All remarks about and references to any member must be made solely through the presiding officer.

A member is not permitted to read his speech, but may use copious notes. Every member addressing the House must rise in his own place, and stand uncovered to do so.

When any member objects to words used in debate, and desires them to be taken down, the Speaker will, if it appears to be the pleasure of the House, order them to be taken down by the Clerk.

When a member interrupts the proceedings of the House, and refuses to come to order, he may be called by "name" by Mr. Speaker, and directed to withdraw.

Any member against whom a charge is being made having been heard in his place shall withdraw while any such charge is under debate. A notable instance of this procedure occurred in the debate over the Gamey charges, when Hon. J. R. Stratton withdrew.

A member may require the question under discussion to be read at any time of the debate.

When several members rise to speak the Speaker calls on the member who "first caught his eye." If the House dissents from his view a motion may be made that one of the members "be now heard." A new member is generally given the preference by the Speaker.

At least twenty members, including the Speaker, are required to constitute a quorum. If the House has to be adjourned for want of one, the names of the members present are entered in the journal.

Any stranger admitted to any part of the House, or gallery, who shall misconduct himself, or shall not withdraw when strangers are directed to withdraw, which may be required to be done at the request of any five members, shall be taken into custody by the sergeant-at-arms, and shall not be discharged without the special order of the House.

No member is allowed to speak disrespectfully of His Majesty—or any of the royal family, nor of the Governor-General or Lieutenant-Governor; nor shall he use offensive words against any member of the House.

Among some of the expressions which have been ruled out by the Speaker as not permissable are:

"He is a party of a scandalous act."
"Maliciously false."
"Meant neither what he said, nor knew what he meant."
"He spoke with his usual insolence."
"Hypocritical and dishonest."
"Impertinent censure."
"Keep your mouth shut."
"He is not a gentleman."
"Filled with benzine and tanglefoot."
"Idiotic style."
"Lost to all sense of shame."
"Nothing too mean for this Government."
"Parliamentary babe and suckling."

The statement that,

"He prostitutes the seat of justice," and similar expressions must not be applied to a judge.

The "calling in" of the members ends the debate.

Gift to McGill.

McGill University (Montreal) will shortly benefit through the generosity of the Prussian Government, and will receive a donation of scientific works and publications which will go far towards replacing those lost in the disastrous fire of a year ago. The library of the applied science faculty contained a large number of German works of literary and scientific value, works which, it was feared, could never be replaced. Many of them were university publications, which were not to be brought, so that the consideration was more than a monetary one.

Through the efforts of Dr. Frankson, Imperial German consul, however, the Prussian Department of Education has taken steps to secure additional copies of these works from the various German universities and elsewhere, and has been very largely successful.

New Zealand Oddities.

The crow in New Zealand strikes as sweet a note as any bird in the woodland. The robin has no song and no red breast. The native hen is the greatest of rat killers. There is a caterpillar which turns into a plant. These and some other productions of nature have done for New Zealand what the kangaroo and the ornithorynchus have done for Australia—given it the suggestion of oddity and the marvelous.

Taking Notice Again.

"Pa," said little Tommy, "what does it mean when the paper says a widow is in her second mourning?"

"Usually, my son," replied pa, "it means she is looking for a second."—Philadelphia Press.

An Extraordinary Dinner.

Sir Frank Lascelles had some exciting experiences in the course of his diplomatic career. He was with Sir Edward Malet in Paris in 1870 during the siege and the commune and told the story of an extraordinary dinner which they had at the embassy shortly after a cannon ball had driven in the front wall and reduced the kitchen to ruins. A general retreat was made to the cellar. And here the two Englishmen solemnly arrayed themselves in dress clothes and sat down to dine in as much "state" as possible, amid a hopeless jumble of treasured bric-a-brac, valuables, clocks, china, etc., for not a scrap of the usual ceremony and etiquette was waived despite the incongruous surroundings. "It looked like the haunt of brigands," Sir Edward wrote to a friend, "who had just ransacked a stately castle and brought the booty hither, while in the center in vivid contrast of neatness with disorder was the table laid out for dinner, with its white tablecloth and silver candlesticks and, to crown incongruities, Frank Lascelles and myself in evening dress and white ties, waited on by the stately butler and embassy servants."—London Tit-Bits.

A Human Oddity.

Most men are queer, but some are queerer. A prize winner in the second class drew the eyes of the entire company upon him in amazement as they sat around a table in a downtown restaurant at luncheon. They had been discussing apartment house life when one of the party turned to the man next him and asked:

"By the way, Jim, how many rooms have you in your flat?"

"Blessed if I know," said Jim. "My wife can tell you. I can't. Never counted 'em."

"Well, isn't he a bird?" whispered a man opposite. "Wonder if he knows how many fingers and toes he has?"—New York Globe.

It is a miserable thing to live in suspense. It is the life of a spider.—Swift.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent, or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

MANY RAINS ARE PREDICTED FOR THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY BY PROFESSOR IRL HICKS

Warm Weather For The 24th, Followed Closely By Rain Storms —Tornadoes In Some Parts.

FORECAST FOR THE MONTH

The month of May, according to Professor Irl Hicks, will be one of many rains and of warm weather. In "Word and Works," he says:

A regular storm period is in progress as we enter this month, being central on the 2nd and extending to the 5th. The centre of the Mars period falls on the third, within three days of the centre of the Venus period on April 29th. Threatening storm conditions will appear in western sections by the 1st. The temperature will be high, with rapidly falling barometer, much humidity, south winds and growing cloudiness. From Saturday the 2nd. to Tuesday the 5th, notably the 3rd and 4th, violent if not tornadic storms need not be a surprise to any student of these forecasts. A very low reading of the barometer, with sultriness, fitful south winds and restless clouds should be regarded as almost positive indications of danger at this time. Heavy downpours of rain and hail will visit many parts of the country, and as the western tangents of the storm areas come with rising barometer from the northwest, late squalls of snow and sleet are more than probable to the northward. Change to much cooler generally, with frosts over many sections, will be natural between the 3rd and 4th. As stated in the April forecasts, this is also a period of marked seismic probability.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 7th, 8th and 9th, with the moon at apogee and at first quarter. On the dates named look for decided reaction to warmer, with falling barometer, southerly winds, cloudiness wand rain. At this and all other periods during this month the astronomic causes are sufficient to excite careful watchfulness on the approach of the storm clouds. Change to rising barometer, much cooler, and probably frost in many sections central and northward, will come progressively from about the 8th to the 11th. Let observers in southern, central and eastern sections watch for reports from the northwest about the 8th, and one to three days later, according to locality, see if change to much cooler doesn't reach their local patches.

A regular storm period falls on the 12th to the 16th. The moon is on the celestial equator on the 12th, and full on the 15th. At the very beginning of this period, look for high temperature in all western extremes, attended by low and falling barometer, cloudiness and sudden thunder storms. A series of daily rain, wind and thunder storms, with probable tornadoes, during the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th, will be most natural results. If rains have been general and copious thus far in the Mars period, excessive downpours, and floods over wide sections, will result at this period. Another time of seismic strain lies between the 13th and 17th, being central on the 15th. Change to rising barometer, northwest winds and much cooler will be due from about the 16th to the 19th, progressively from the northwest to the east and south. Remember this law of progression in storms and weather changes. Ask your local "official sceptic," if he expects an express train to pass his station, and all other stations, and reach the Atlantic coast on the same day and the same hour in which it is scheduled to start from Galveston and Seattle.

A reactionary storm period centres on the 19th, 20th and 21st, the moon being near last quarter, at extreme declination south and in perigee. All who are familiar with the astronomic causes upon which we base our forecasts will remember the fact we have often explained, that the "focus of solar energy," in its annual swing from south to north, lies along the belt of central states from west to east during the month of May. This fact, beyond all other causes, accounts for so many tornadoes, as a rule, during this month. The period, 19th to 22nd, is not especially threatening, but the presence of the Venus and Mars periods, blended with those of Jupiter and Saturn, should incite cautious watchfulness at this and all other periods in May. From about the 21st to the 23rd, higher barometer and change to much cooler may be expected generally. Of course, it is understood that fair to clear weather as a rule comes with rising barometer and change to cooler, not only in this month, but at all seasons of the year.

A regular storm period extends from the 23rd to the 27th. The moon is on celestial equator on the 25th, the central day of the period. Change to much warmer, with falling barometer, will appear in western parts of the country on the 23rd and 24th, followed closely by cloudiness and storms of rain, wind and thunder. As these storm conditions move eastward they will grow in extent and violence, and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 25th, 26th and 27th, storms may reasonably be expected to assume very threatening, if not tornadic forms. This is one of the periods in which a good barometer will prove inestimably important and valuable. With such an instrument at hand and consulted in timely and proper ways, no one can be surprised by tornadoes or other dangerous storms. As new moon falls on the 29th, followed immediately by a reactionary storm period, continued high temperature, with threatening weather will be most natural into the storm period following. The conjunction of the moon with the earth and sun, which is new moon, holds the temperature higher and as a rule prolongs or precipitates storm conditions.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 30th and 31st. If storms continue from the last period over the 29th, they will take on renewed energy during the last three days of the month. Another seismic period is central on the 29th, extending from the 27th to 31st.

MANY CASES HERE OF RHEUMATISM

A Mixture Which Makes The Kidneys Filter Out Poisons And Waste

TRY THE MIXTURE ANYWAY

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased, then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigourous, one must have good clean blood and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver, which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the recipe for making it up is as follows:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling

Having Children's Eyes Examined

People suffer through life with the disadvantage of impared vision as a result of neglect of the eyes in childhood. Children considered dull or effected with brain trouble.

It's a familiar fact that the acuteness of vision varies extremely among adults, and that certain defects of the eye—such as shortsightedness — can be as completely remedied as to restore to the individual almost perfect sight. Now, there exists among children just such differences in the acuteness of vision as is observed in adults, and many of the defects of the eye originate in the failure of parents to appreciate those differences.

It's a pity to put glasses upon a child, but a greater pity to neglect such when the future well-being of the eyes depends upon their help. It's safer to do as many are doing now—having the children's eyes examined to know whether or not glasses are necessary.

A GOOD MUSKRAT SEASON

Examiner Special.

Keene, April 30.—Mr. J B McWilliams spent Sunday in Keene.

We are pleased to note that Miss Margaret Miller who was obliged, owing to illness, to give up her position as assistant teacher in the public school, is again able to resume her duties.

Mr. P T Pilkie is visiting friends in the vicinity.

Mr. John Hore left Tuesday on a business trip to the Northwest.

A number of Keene people attended the funeral of the late Patrick Doris in Peterborough, Monday.

Mr. R J McCamus attended the meeting of the Provincial Fish and Game Protective Association held in Toronto last week.

Miss Agnes Campbell left Monday to resume her studies at Kingston.

The water in the Indian River, which has been higher than for many years, is gradually sinking. Last week's warm weather started the fish running and Sunday many muskinonge could be seen in the marsh, basking in the sun.

The muskrat trapping is about over, the rats being pretty well thinned out. This has been a record season both as regards the number of rats caught and price.

Mr. James Lang has purchased a lot from his brother, Mr. John Lang, ex-M.P., part of the Curtin lot which he bought recently, and will build on it this summer. We understand that Mr. Lang has sold several other building lots. Mr. Lang has opened a street on the south side of the property and the building lots on this property will be the best situated lots in the village.

Miss Renwick returned last week from visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. John Lancaster, Westwood, was in the village Friday.

Mr. James Dickson is spending the week in Toronto.

WEDDING BELLS

ARMSTRONG-HARRIS

A very interesting event took place at "Sunnyside Farm," Smith, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harris, on Wednesday evening last, when thir eldest daughter, Pearl, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Armstrong, of Smith Township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Metzler, in the presence of about 75 guests. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Gertie Northey, the bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her father. The bride, who was attired in a costume of white silk, was assisted by her cousin Miss Irene Munro, of Peterborough, who was attired in a dress of pink silk. Mr. John Armstrong, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. After the ceremony the assembled guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding repast. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful gold watch and chain to the bridesmaid a gold brooch, to the groomsman, a gold stick pin. The many beautiful presents to the bride showed the esteem in which she is held by her many friends. The guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosborough, Smith, Mr. and Mrs. N Harris, Miss Maud Clifford, Mr. and Miss Munro, Peterborough; Mr., Mrs. and Miss Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McBride and Mr. R Conkey, Lakefield.

Prisoner Murray Goes To Toronto To Spend Rest Of His Term In Central

Murray, the man who drew the revolver on P. C. Newhall, at the C. P. R. station about the beginning of last November, bade farewell to Peterborough last night, on the occasion of his departure for Central Prison, Toronto, where he will finish out his term of one year. Since committing the crime he has spent the intervening time in the county gaol.

He left its peaceful precincts yesterday afternoon in charge of Turnkey Ray, who took him to the station. There, Provincial Bailiff Ryan, with ten other prisoners, whom he had collected along the line from Ottawa was met, and Murray was left in his charge.

Machine Telephone Company To Instal New Desk Phones In The Places Of Business

Mr. B. A. Lillie, local manager of the Machine Telephone Company, received this morning a sample of the new desk 'phones which will be shortly installed in all offices and places of business now using the machine 'phone. The new instrument is apparently a decided improvement on the last one, and presents a very neat appearance. It stands about one foot in height and the top part is made of steel, while the lower part is of black aluminum.

The works of the 'phone are encased in a black aluminum box at the lower part of the 'phone, and not in the middle, as in the case of the last 'phone. These instruments are being installed in Lindsay and are proving satisfactory in every particular.

GOVERNMENT WILL BE ASKED TO CONSTRUCT A DRY DOCK ON THE CANAL AT PETERBOROUGH

Council Will Also Request That Entrances at Mark Street and Wolfe Street be Repaired—A Deputation From Otonabee Navigation Co.

BEFORE BOARD OF WORKS

The Board of Works decided last night to memorialise the Minister of Public Works with a view to having the Wolfe street and Mark street wharves repaired, and the Minister of Railways and Canals to have a dry dock build here. A deputation representing the Otonabee Navigation Company was present at this meeting to ask that this step be taken, and the Board seemed thoroughly in favour of the scheme.

Mr. W. H. Robertson of the Otonabee Navigation Company appeared before the Board to ask them to pass a strong memorial urging upon the Dominion Government the necessity of rebuilding the wharves at Wolfe street and Mark street, and also of building a dry dock at Peterborough. He pointed out that such a dock could be built, at little cost, on the canal, just above No. 6 Lock. It would be of vast benefit to the owners of boats in this district, as it would render the repairing of boats an easy matter.

Captain Trewer of the same company also emphasized the need of a dry dock in this city.

On motion, it was decided to ask the Council to memorialize the Government in the matter.

A WONDERFUL CATCH OF MUSKRATS THIS YEAR

The first of May closes the season for muskrat trapping. This has been the best year the trappers have ever had, the catch being large and the prices extra high. Thos. Barrie & Company secured 15,400 muskrat skins from Rice Lake, Chemong Lake, Cameron Lake and Pigeon Lake districts. The largest individual catch made by any trapper who has come this way was that of Alfred Crowe of Hiawatha village, on Rice Lake. He secured 780 skins, for which he received forty cents each, which makes $312. A number of other trappers secured almost as many.

Local Firm Gets Contract For The Supply Of Sewer Pipe

R. Hicks & Company's tender for the supply of sewer pipes to the city was accepted by the Board of Works last night, the figure of the firm averaging half a cent per foot lower than that of the only other tenderer, the Ontario Sewer Pipe Company of Mimico, Ontario. Hicks & Company's tender was lower for both 6 and 9-inch pipe and slightly higher for 12-inch pipe. As more of the former sizes is used, and as the local firm's tender was lower on the average, it was decided, on motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, that the contract be awarded to R. Hicks & Company.

Board Of Works To Take Steps To Re-build Smith Street Bridge

The Board of Works decided last night to take steps to proceed with the building of a new bridge across the river, to replace the present structure at Smith street, which is said to be in bad shape. The Board seemed unanimous in the opinion that a new bridge was necessary, and a motion by Ald. Buller and Elliott that steps be taken at once to provide for the building of a new bridge, was passed, and the City Engineer instructed to report upon the cost of the work.

Some time ago the Engineer estimated that the bridge would cost in the neighbourhood of $37,000.

Tom Slater Says That The Walk Will Prove Boom To The City

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received a letter from Tom Slater, the Oswego N. Y., walker, who took part in the six-day contest last week, and who left for home on Tuesday, in which he says that he, as well as every other outside pedestrian who visited Peterborough, would not soon forget the many kind favours they have received at the hands of the people of this city. His letter in part says: "They were really working overtime trying to make our visit one that we should always remember. The contest was a big boom for your city, as I have been asked many times since my return home about Peterborough and people say it must be a fine place, because of the way the crowd turned out to the contest. But the one question I am constantly asked is, 'How did they use you over in Canada?' You know the answer. I or any of us, who were there would give."

I am feeling better now, and should you have another walk in Peterborough, I hope to be in condition to show the people what I can do when at my best."

OBITUARY.

RUTH ANNA HILL

The death occurred last night of Ruth Anna Hill, the wife of Mr. A J Geddye, of Otonabee. Mrs. Geddye was 75 years of age and was one of the oldest residents of the township.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the family residence, lot 25, con. 13, Otonabee, to Little Lake Cemetery.

Has Been Gazetted Lieutenant In The Canadian Dragoons

Joseph Duffus, of the Firm of Drummond & Duffus, Makes Another Advancement in Military Circles.

GO TO STANLEY BARRACKS

The announcement has recently been made of the gazetting of Sergt.-Major Joseph Duffus as provisional Lieutenant in the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons. Mr. Duffus leaves on Monday to take a course at Stanley Barracks to secure his certificate as lieutenant. He has also been appointed lieutenant in command of the signalling corps of the Dragoons.

While in Toronto Mr. Duffus will attend the Military Tournament which will be held in the Toronto Armouries from May 12th to the 16th, and is open to the world. Mr. Duffus will enter the sabre contest at the tournament and probably in the officers' contests with foils and bayonets. In these contests he will have to meet some of the best men in the Militia. Mr. Duffus has already had considerable experience in fencing. At the annual camp at Kingston last year he won the only prize in the bayonet contests which were open to the whole camp. This was a fine showing for a cavalryman, who is not supposed to be as capable in this branch of self-defence as an infantryman. Mr. Duffus learned the art of fencing from Sergt.-Major Brittain and has indeed shown himself a zealous and able pupil.

Similarly in connection with signalling he was one of the few men who obtained the highest certificates after the course of lessons last year. He is now qualified to give instruction in signally and alone holds this honour in the Dragoons.

MR. JOSEPH DUFFUS,

Gazetted Lieutenant, and will attend Stanley Barracks for qualifying course.

Fourteen Men Are Placed On Farms Within Two Days

Mr. Geo. Howson's Work Keeps Up With Undiminished Regularity — Men Want Work On Farms.

MORE ARE COMING OUT

Mr. George H. Howson, Dominion Immigrant Agent, for Peterborough, has been successful in placing about fourteen men among farmers of Peterborough county, during the past few days. He received word this morning that Albert Hadley was coming out on the Kensington and T. W. Ovey on the Empress of Britain.

This morning he had a number of men looking for work call at his office, to await farmers who wanted help. One of them said that he had been busy nearly all winter. He walked to Peterborough yesterday from Campbellford and Mr. Howson told him that he had passed the homes of farmers who were looking for men. The man stated that he wanted a fair wage or he would not go on a farm. Fifteen dollars is about the limit the farmers will pay but the man wanted at least $20 a month and board.

Mr. Howson has always some one to look after in respect to work and bettering his condition.

HOW INDIANS SPENT THEIR MUSKRAT MONEY

The muskrat season was short and sweet and the Indians are now enjoying the results of their two weeks' toil. At Hiawatha, as at other places, a large sum of money was made in the short period during which the catch is made. The animals were caught, killed, skinned, dried and sold, and now comes the time for rest and enjoyment.

The Indians in most cases spent their money wisely. Several new organs have been purchased by families at the village, and many new guns have also been lately seen. New clothes and boots, a canoe here and there, and many other necessities which, in themselves, are small luxuries, were purchased. Some of the Indians took a trip to Toronto and other places and not a few of the wiser men banked a fair portion of their rolls.

Thursday Night's Cyclone A Peculiar Disturbance In The Ethereal Regions

That the rain raine on the unjust as well as the just," was not exactly realized in the case of the big storm on Thursday night. It appears that the storm was only a local one as the following despatch from Toronto to indicates:—Mr. R F Stupart, of the Observatory stated there were no indications of wind storms locally, the atmosphere all through last night being undisturbed.

"The Peterborough storm was of the character of a sudden tornade," he said, "and practically local. There was no general travelling wind storm. In Toronto there were absolutely no indications of a great blow anywhere."

Brutal Attack Made By Ruffians Upon Daughter Of A Former Peterborough Man

Miss Ethel Skitch, a young lady well known in Peterborough, and whose father, Mr. John Skitch, was a tailor in the establishment of Mr. Duncan Cameron, city, some years ago, was the victim of a brutal attack from an unknown ruffian in Toronto last evening. Miss Skitch, who is employed in the store of a fruit dealer, near the corner of Queen and Yonge streets, was seized by the throat and beaten over the head with the man's fists. As a result of the onslaught Miss Skitch's nose was broken and o of her eyes completely closed up. She fainted from the shock. Frightened by the girl's screams, the brute escaped. The desperate nature of the attack may be judged from the fact that the street was crowded with people at the time. Nothing was taken from the till.

Foreman For The Sewer Work Was Appointed Last Night

Mr. Martin Neary was last night appointed foreman of sewer work for the year by the Board of Works. The only other applicant for the position was Mr. W. J. Nelson, Sheridan street, East City, and on motion of Ald. Elliott and McIntyre, Mr. Neary was appointed at the same salary as last year.

Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the pole on the corner of Weller and Park streets be removed, under the supervision of the Engineer.—Carried.

Ald. Tovey moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the matter of where to begin building sidewalks this year be left in the hands of the chairman and Street Commissioner. Also that the order of constructing sewers and the placing of stones on the streets be left in the hands of the Engineer.—Carried.

Ald. McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that the construction of sewers be done by day labour.—Carried.

YOUNG MAN PERISHES IN LINDSAY LOCK IN FULL VIEW OF MANY SPECTATORS

Swift Current Carried Away The Plank He Was Holding—Fell Backwards Into The Water And Disappeared.

RESCUERS UNSUCCESSFUL

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Ont., May 2.—In full view of nearly a dozen men, Joseph Torrance, aged 22, a native of Fenelon Falls, was drowned this morning about 8.30 o'clock. With William Parkin, Alfred Jewell and Lockmaster Thos. Jenkins, Torrance was placing the stop-logs in position in the lock chutes. A scow, owned by Mr. Charles Burgoyne, was passing through, and an effort was being made to stop the rush of water. The current was responsible for the drowning, as the water, pushing against the plank which Torrance was holding at the time, proved too strong, forcing him off his footing. Falling back into the water, he was carried by the current over the falls and out of sight. He went down in plain view of a number of men standing about, and though frantic efforts were made to save him, he perished. Young Torrance had lived all his life in Fenelon Falls with his father and mother, and was well liked.

ARTICLES FROM PENS OF PETERBOROUGH MEN

The Busy Man's Magazine for the month of May contains some excellent articles, written by Peterborough men, as well as others known here. Among these are "Canadians Should Indulge in More Boating," by N. A. Howard-Moore; "Who Stole the Organizer's Handbag?" by F. H. Dobbin; "The Adoption of Automobiles in Business," by G. C. Keith, a brother of Rev. H. J. Keith.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION AT "MY VALET"

Cleaning Room Destroyed—Mr. Fred. Wesley Injured.

A fire caused by an explosion of a gasoline can occurred in "My Valet's" store, Charlotte street, this afternoon and the cleaning room was almost destroyed. Mr. Edward Wesley, father of the proprietors, was the only one hurt by the explosion. His hands and face were badly burned and his hair was singed from off his head and face. He was removed to St. Nicholls Hospital.

COMMISSION MEETS AT OTTAWA

Mayor Rush and City Solicitor Hall Will Look After City's Interest

The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada will meet on Tuesday next at Ottawa, when the question of protection for the G.T.R. crossings at Reid street and the C.P.R. crossing at Aylmer street, will be taken up. The city's interests will be looked after by City Solicitor Hall and Mayor Rush.

THANKS EXPRESSED.

To the Citizens of Peterborough—As I am giving up the meat market business, I desire to express my thanks to the general public for the generous patronage extended during the many years in which I have done business in Peterborough, and I bespeak for my successor, Mr. Robert Cox, the same patronage which I have enjoyed.

J. J. HOWDEN.

FAREWELL SERMON OF REV. A. H. BRACE

Will be Preached To-morrow Night at Park Street Church.

To-morrow night the Rev. A. H. Brace closes a most happy and successful five years' pastorate at the Park street Baptist church with a farewell sermon. Mr. Brace has accepted an unanimous call to the Baptist church at Cobourg, and will begin his work there on Sunday, May 10. His goods will be shipped on Thursday by special car, and he leaves on Friday morning with Mrs. Brace.

POLICE TO SUMMON DOG OWNERS

The police department have consented to allow another day to the dog owners of the city in which to get their dog tags, as this was the last day of the week. There are 1,000 dog owners in the city and up until noon to-day only 607 tags had been secured. The city has begun to issue summonses and in all probability there will be a host of persons to face His Worship some day next week.

THE MISSIONARY INSTITUTE.

On the three first days of next week a missionary institute will be held in Peterborough. This represents a new movement in missionary enterprise and enlightenment, and is intended to be a chiefly educative movement, trusting, no doubt, to knowledge to stimulate zeal and interest in mission work. Addresses will be delivered by missionaries who have had practical experience in the fields of which they will respectively speak. It is expected that these addresses will give information relative to the character of the people, the resources of the country, the needs of the country and the best way of dealing with the problems presented. No doubt the sessions of the institute will be largely attended. The forward mission movement is undenominational in that it is inter-denominational, and represents a spirit of unity that might, with advantage, be carried much further than missionary co-operation. While the arousing of an intelligent interest in foreign mission fields, is in every way desirable, it is to be hoped that the greatest attention will be given to the wants of the home mission fields. We are building a nation and in the process we have to use material which requires to be moulded to the most desirable shapes. The means to be employed are the twin forces, education and religion. People are flooking into our Northwest in thousands. If educative advantages both secular and religious are not provided, the conditions of strong Canadian citizenship will not have been supplied. Our first duty is to our home missions.

PURE PATRIOTISM.

Hon. Mr. Whitney claims that he made the sudden-death guarantee of Canadian Northern Railway terminal bonds in order to supply adequate protection of a guarantee given to bonds for the main line. Of course, in that event, Mr. Whitney suggested to Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, that the Government in the public interests intended to introduce legislation to pledge the credit of the province to the extent of $2,500,000 to make the bonds to cover the cost of profitable branch lines and terminals in Toronto, more saleable. Of course, Mackenzie & Mann could not refuse an offer so uniquely in the provincial interests. Mr. Whitney is, however, a little to blame. The idea of guaranteeing these bonds evidently came as an after-thought, and the bill was introduced so near the end of the session that there was no time to produce the correspondence which it is to be assumed took place. Mr. Whitney owes it to himself to make public the letter in which he proposed to Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, that upon the high grounds of public interest, they should consent to have an additional guarantee given their bonds. Such simon-pure patriotism should not fail of due recognition.

LITTLE CANADIANS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The recent discussions in the House of Commons on the Government's immigration policy have disclosed the existence of a new combination, which has not yet been given a name, but which can be aptly dubbed "Little Canadians." These people show their littleness by a jealousy of the growing importance of the West; and an endeavour to thwart the satisfaction of its needs. They thereby are doing their best to foster a feeling of hostility in the East against the settlement of the West.

There was a time when the Conservative party was decidedly favourable to the larger view of the Canadian nationality and the speedy achievement of its trancontinental development; but, if the recent utterances of members of the Opposition bear any relation to the general opinion of the party, they must now be all classed as "Little Canadians."

Conservatism, as exemplified by them, has become a narrow creed, consistent with a pettiness that would disgrace a municipal council. It is, in fact, in a state of arrested development itself; and it seeks to arrest the development of the country also. Its exponents are croakers and mugwumps. They carp and criticise and slander. They haggle for hours over a few hundred dollars for drift bolts and granolithic paving around a public building, and let through votes, involving the spending of millions, with hardly a word of comment. To so low a level have they degraded the proceedings of the House of Commons that the discussions of the Winnipeg City Council stand on a much higher plane.

They have no policy, except one of retrogression; and their political weapons are slander and misrepresentation. They hope to rise to power by sowing the seeds of suspicion in the minds of a, perhaps, too suspicious electorate by exciting prejudice and creating dissension between the people of the eastern and western provinces; and, further, by working on the feelings of many who, being too busy to be able to travel or to inform themselves of the great problems of development, take somewhat limited and over-cautious views of public questions as they affect the West. These men are "Little Canadians" in every sense of the word; they have little faith and they are small-minded.

The cry set up by the "Little Canadians" is that the East is being sacrificed to the West. They contend that the East should receive more attention; but they do not show in what way the East is being neglected. Why all this hurry to settle up the West? they ask; the land won't run away. Let the West wait. Why allow it to be taken up by hordes from Europe? There will be none left for our children. Let us keep the land for our children. And by so doing, as Mr. McIntyre, of Strateons, pointed out, the West will have to wait two hundred years to be anything like settled up; and the Eastern industries, which have been equipped in anticipation of a growing demand from the West, will shrivel up, and failure and despondency stalk the land. For everything depends on keeping things on the move.

At the next election the people will have to decide between the "Little Canadians" and a Government which, with all its faults, has done much to build up that Greater Canada for which dead pioneers hoped and toiled so long and the splendor of whose vision, coming like the rising sun out of the east, gave a faith to their latter days that consoled them for their labour and gave them peace.

DEER HUNTING AND OTHER EPISODES IN THE BACKWOODS

(By F. M. Dela Fosse)

Notwithstanding our constant work on the farm, we managed to find time for a goodly amount of deer hunting, both in and out of season. Fresh meat was hard to obtain in that country, and we felt ourselves quite justified, wrongly perhaps, in getting a bit of venison whenever we felt so inclined. Even the most rigid upholder of the game laws would have been converted to our way of thinking if he had been forced to live on a constant diet of Chicago pork, as we were compelled to do. Occasionally we got into trouble over this propensity for hunting, and once our revered instructor was forced to appear in court, on the evidence of an informer and fined. "We got even with the garrulous gentleman, however, by catching him one day in our neighbourhood and half drowning him in the lake. It was an unkind and dangerous method of retaliation, as not only did we render ourselves liable to a charge of assault, but we ran the additional risk of killing him by flinging him into an element to which he had previously been an utter stranger. It cured him of any further wish to pry into our affairs, however, for he never informed about us again.

An Exciting Still Hunt

It was about two months after my arrival in the district, that I had my first experience in the art of still hunting. It was a terrifically hot night, I remember, and the mosquitoes were holding high carnival. Manufacturing a lantern out of birch-bark, placing therein a tallow candle and providing ourselves with a rifle and a belt of cartridges apiece, two of us sallied forth in a dug-out canoe to hunt for game. The night was one of inky blackness—not a leaf was stirring, Wilkie, my companion, sat in the bow with the lantern on his head, and I in the stern, did the paddling. Silently and slowly we glided past the shores of the lake, the lantern casting a broad stream of light ahead, and showing up every shrub and tree that appeared in its path in the most eerie manner imaginable. Not a sound was to be heard, save when the paddle struck a bewildered bullfrog on the head, and caused him to vomit forth his indignation in a volumte basso profondo. Fully a half hour must have passed and I was getting very tired of my arduous task, when suddenly far ahead of us we heard a crashing of bushes, followed almost immediately by a loud splash in the water.

"By George," whispered Wilkie; "that must be a deer." Slowly we glided on, looking eagerly ahead for our quarry. Suddenly something loomed up in our avenue of light. There he was, a magnificent buck, up to his breast in the water, blinking his eyes wonderingly at the strange apparition that was approaching closer and ever closer towards him. When about fifty yards off, Wilkie levelled his rifle, took aim and fired. With two or three bounds the beast was out of the water and hustling away through the bushes.

"I've hit him. I've hit him," cried Wilkie, exultantly. "Didn't you see how he ran?" "A mighty good proof that you never touched him at all." I cried wrathfully. But our little altercation was cut short by the sound of another splash along the shore. The deer had returned to the water. "Now, for heaven's sake," I whispered, "shoot him this time." "Stop your drivel and paddle," exclaimed my excited companion. On we went, and again we sighted our game, standing much as before, silently, alert, and gazing towards the light. Nearer and nearer we came—fifty yards, twenty yards, ten yards, five yards. Ah! the scene rises vividly before me now. I see Wilkie laying down his rifle and seizing his dirk. I see him with one hand stretched toward the deer's tail, the other holding aloft the shining dagger—and then!

Well, we were both in the water. For as soon as the buck felt a human hand touching his tail, up went his hind legs, kicking Wilkie clean out of the canoe, and as a natural result of the unexpected onslaught, over went the canoe with its contents—including myself. It was a humiliating ending; to what gave promise of a successful evening's hunt. Wilkie, as was his custom, whenever anything went wrong, laid the blame on me, saying that if I had kept the canoe still, and not been in such an absurd state of excitement, he could have stabbed the deer. It really is funny how wonderfully clever some people are in laying their faults at other people's doors.

A new Method of Drying Clothes

While I am on the subject of hunting, another incident comes to my mind which was not without its peculiar features. One of our comrades had been absent for two days, and as there was a certain amount of anxiety as to his whereabouts, two of us offered to make a search for him. We discovered him just at dark, half way across a portage, on his way home, accompanied by a settler and two deer hounds. "By George, you chaps," he cried, "this is the luckiest meeting out. Let us all go back to Edworthy's and have a good time." It didnt take much coaxing for us to agree, so we journeyed on to the shores of the lake, across which they had just paddled. There were two canoes at the landing, and into one went my two friends with the dogs, whilst Edworthy and I got into the other. We had about two miles to paddle to reach the settler's shanty. It was a dark, stormy night and the waves were roaring. We had lost sight of each other in the dark, but suddenly about a hundred yards in front of us arose a tremendous uproar. My friends were both shouting and the hounds giving tongue as though they were possessed. Hurrying towards the noise we found the canoe turned over, my friends hanging on to it and singing "God Save the Queen," whilst the dogs were circling round and round baying ceaselessly. The mishap had occurred through one of the occupants attempting to sit on the gunwale of the canoe. We left the craft to its fate, for the night, let the dogs find their own way home and towed our two companions ashore. Accommodation was limited at Edworthy's shack, but by sleeping three in a bed, and Edworthy sleeping on the floor, matters were adjusted satisfactorily.

Thompson, of whom we had been sent in search, had borrowed my coat and waistcoat prior to starting out for Edworthy's and of course, they were soaked through and through with the water. Like the genius he was, in place of hanging them both up to dry, he chose, unknown to myself, to adopt an entirely original method. On my return from hunting the cows the following morning, I noticed my coat hanging at the back of the stove, but looked in vain for the waistcoat. "I say, Thompson, old man, where have you put my waistcoat?" I asked. "By George!" he ejaculated, "I put it in the frying pan to dry and hanged if I hadn't forgotten all about it!" He rushed to the stove, and took up the frying pan. Six charred buttons were all that was left of what had once been a comforting and resplendent garment.

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—Though I am only a girl, perhaps you will print my complaint. I was at an entertainment on George street last night, and as it was stormy and sloppy, I decided, with many others, to take a Park car home. It was half-past ten, or a little less, and I waited, hours it seemed to me, for a green car. All the while, a white light car was standing in front of the Opera House waiting for the crowd, while I and my crowd waited for a car. Don't those who attend a church entertainment deserve some consideration as well as play-goers? Anyway, the car service was managed badly, for me and many others at least, last night.

Yours truly,
ONLY A GIRL.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble, Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 61, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

12 BLADES 24 SHARP EDGES

The Wonder of It.

Can you conceive of a razor blade only 6-1000 of an inch thick! Think of this blade being so flexible that it may be bent in the fingers and yet do better work than the ordinary thick blade. A handle and blade so perfect in a practical way that shaving is made a delight to the novice or the experienced, old method, "self shaver." When you think of these features in one razor, you marvel at the wonders of the "Gillette."

The GILLETTE Safety Razor consists of a Triple Plated Holder (will last a lifetime)—12 double edged flexible blades (a keen edge)—packed in a velvet lined leather case—and the price is $5.00. All the leading Jewelry, Drug, Cutlery, Hardware, Sporting Goods and Department Stores carry them. Write or ask your dealer for free booklets. If he cannot supply you, write us. 6

Eight Thousand Dollars For An Uncontested Seat

What "Party of Purity" Offers For Seats By Acclamation For Minister of Crown.

FIRST OFFICE, THEN CASH

North Bay, May 1.—Some startling explanations were made at the Nipissing Liberal convention here to-day regarding the political engineering which enabled Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Mines, to be elected by acclamation in the district which he has represented in the Legislature. According to the revelations, surprising as they may seem, there was a promise, or at least an understanding, that if certain Liberal officeholders were allowed to retain their positions there would be no opposition to Mr. Cochrane's candidature at his last election. One of the men who, it is said, was affected by this bargain was Mr. John Loughrin, who held the position of Registrar. Hardly had the election day safely passed than Mr. Loughrin fell a victim to the Whitney spoils system. Such was the meaning of a little speech made by G. A. McGaughey, whose name was placed in convention here to-day, and who is secretary of the Nipissing Liberal Association. For thirteen sessions Mr. Loughrin was a Liberal member of the Legislature, and then he accepted the Registrarship and was later dismissed.

Offered Money to Stay out

The entire story, however, does not end there. John Loughrin, is again in active politics, and to-day was the unanimous choice of the Nipissing Liberals as their candidate. Bluntly he stated he had been offered $8,000 in cash in J. R. Booth's office in Ottawa if he would not oppose Mr. Cochrane. These statements, deliberate as they were, created hardly any perceptible sensation in to-day's large convention, because they have been the subjects of common gossip in Nipissing for some time, and it only needed a public political meeting to bring them out.

The convention was one of the largest ever seen in North Bay, besides being representative of every part of the riding. Ten prominent party stalwarts were nominated, but every one, including Dr. James, ex-M.P.P., retired in favour of Mr. Loughrin, who was generally conceded to be the strongest candidate.

Mr. McGaughey, in addressing the convention, said he had a surprise to spring. He said there had been a promise that if this riding should be allowed to go by acclamation at the last election, Mr. Loughrin would be allowed to remain in his position as Registrar. "We had the words of the Minister of Mines at that time," said Mr. McGaughey, "and a letter sent by him to that effect. That letter will probably be produced before the campaign is over in this district. No sooner had Mr. Cochrane been elected than Mr. Loughrin was dismissed. Then the Minister of Mines had not the courage to come to this constituency."

Who Offered This Money

Mr. Loughrin promised to do his best to win the election, and in this connection he made a characteristic fighting Irish speech. "If," he said, "Frank Cochrane were to get this seat by my acceptance of $8,000 in cash in J. R. Booth's office in Ottawa, money offered if I would not oppose him, I say he would have no right to be a Minister. He sent a letter here that no man would be dismissed without having a chance to defend himself, but they did not give me that chance."

Mr. McCool, the Federal member, said that Hon. Frank Cochrane had, perhaps, several constituencies to choose from in which to run, and in Mr. McCool's opinion the Minister had acted wisely. The people of Nipissing, he felt certain, would surely have shown that they, at least, did not want Hon. Mr. Cochrane as their member. During Mr. Loughrin's tenure of office there had not been a complaint against him, and the people of Nipissing would resent the treatment handed out to him. Though Mr. McCool had not seen the letter from the Minister, he had the assurance from others that Mr. Cochrane had practically pledged himself to leave Mr. Loughrin in the Registry Office if there was no opposition put up at the election.

"It was decided," said Mr. McCool, "not to put up a candidate, and Mr. Cochrane was elected. Hardly had he assumed office when Mr. Loughrin was dismissed. In view of that, I do think Mr. Cochrane acted wisely in not offering for this district."

"South Ward" Does Not Approve Of New Mission Suggestion

He Defines The Limits Of The Anglican Parishes—Congestion Not General, He Says.

THINKS NO CHURCH NEEDED

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir—My attention has just been called to a report in your paper that a Reverend Mr. Seward has drawn up a petition to be presented to his Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, by members of the Church of England living in the south end of the city asking "for the erection of a new parish to be formed from the southern limits of St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints'."

Who the reverend gentleman is I do not know. He evidently must be a stranger and knows not wherein he speaks, but derives his inspiration from other sources. What utter nonsense to say that the territory in question forms part of St. John's and St. Luke's parishes as well as that of All Saints' when as a matter of fact the southern boundry of St. John's parish is defined by Charlotte street; and as for St. Luke's parish, it is confined exclusively to thee east side of the Otonabee river. His further statement that the three churches named have overflowing congregations, is just as wide off the mark, when only one of them is suffering from that cause and is seeking to build a much larger edifice in order to relieve the congestion. He alleges three reasons for his petition, first, that many reside at inconvenient distances from the churches named, whatever he means by that. He certainly cannot mean long distances, for all the churches have attendants who come further than do those from the locality in question. Indeed some people find it inconvenient to attend church when it is at their doors. I once knew an old lady who attended church here, eight miles from her place of residence, and walked both ways, and did not seek to evade her religious duties on the ground of inconvenient distances. His second reason that many in this locality attend no church and might be gathered in by a zealous and competent clergyman, if a mission was opened." This applies with no more force than it would to any other locality, and is on a par with reason number one. While the third and last reason has even less to recommend it, can it be said that the church militant would be strengthened by another church at a point where "the Roman Catholic and Methodist bodies have already taken steps for the erection of new churches"? Such a step, apart from affording too much of a good thing, would derogate the chances of church unity, so dear to the heart of no less an Anglican than the renowned Rev. Dr. Symonds, our late fellow citizen, who has endeared himself to us all, not only by reason of his fine personal qualities, but also because of his being a broad churchman. With three churches already in existance in the south ward and two more prospective ones, besides the one further south on the bank of the river, the levy on the poor southenders is heavy indeed, and now to propose another church is the last straw to break the camel's back.

As already intimated All Saints' congregation is making a strenuous effort to build their new church, so badly needed, and while in the midst of their struggle, this proposal to lop off a substantial part of their parish, and thus cripple their efforts, is not one that will commend itself to one's intelligence. I am sure that not one of All Saints' people will approve of such a scheme, nor will the good people of St. John's and St. Luke's interfere with the business of a sister church, and seek to carve up its parish to such an untoward end. If these medlers are sincere in their zeal, let them turn their attention to localities which are more entitled to their consideration and at greater inconvenient distances, for instance such localities as Jackson Park, the Normal School, Downer's Corners, Auburn, Blythe and Nassau.

Apologizing for your valuable space I am, dear sir, Yours truly,

SOUTH WARD

FAST ALERTS WILL PLAY PETES HERE ON SATURDAY NEXT

The first big ball game of the season will be played here next Saturday, when Manager Johnston's Peterboroughs will stack up against the Alerts, of Toronto. The contest should prove decidedly interesting, inasmuch as it will give local fans a line on the Peterborough team for this season. The Alerts, who belong to the Senior Intermediate League of Toronto, have a strong, well-balanced team, who will give Manager Johnston's men the hardest kind of a battle. Fred Smith, the well known Toronto amateur twirler, will be on the slab for the visitors, and Dalzel will be behind the bat.

Clemente will do the twirling for Peterborough, and Jerry Edmunds will be behind the bat. Clements' slab work is well known here, and it is said that Edmunds will satisfactorily fill Burridge's place behind the bat. Thorne will play first base, either Micky McDermid, of the Royal Canadian, or Jimmy O'Hearne, of the St. Mary's team, second; Maddox, short stop, and the reliable "Red" Cheetham, who was at short last year, will be shifted over to third base. The outfield will be composed of Corney Burns, right field; "Lux" O'Brien, centre field, and Corbie Murphy, left field. On paper this team looks very strong. Maddox, Murphy, O'Brien, Edmunds and Burns are here now, and have been working out every day in Central Park.

Next Saturday's game will be played at Riverside Park, which will be ready for use next week. Work will be started on Monday and the diamond will be in good shape before the end of the week.

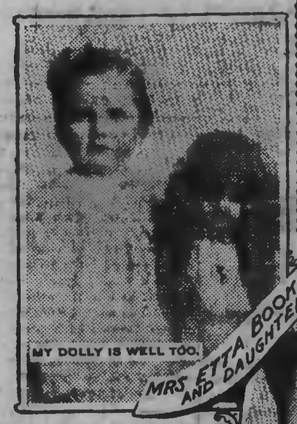
ONE OF THE HAPPY HOMES IN CANADA WHERE PE-RU-NA IS USED IN THE FAMILY.

A Great Many Mothers Have Discovered That a Few Doses of Peruna Given at The Right Time Prevent Much Sickness.



The fatality of acute diseases during hot weather among children, is well-known to the medical profession. From year to year the average practicing physician changes his tactics and his remedies. One year the physician uses certain remedies with confidence and enthusiasm. The next year he is liable to adopt new remedies. But through all the changing vicissitudes of the medical profession in their treatment of infantile ailments, Dr. Hartman has clung with unwavering confidence to Peruna. Thus it is that Peruna has become a household word in many thousand families. In catarrhal derangements of the bowels resulting in summer complaint, diarrhoea and sometimes cholera infantum, a few doses of Peruna given in the early stages check the disease before it has reached a threatening severity. Many mothers, from Canada to Mexico, give cheerful testimony to the benefit of Peruna in the many catarrhal ailments to which the family is liable, both summer and winter.

Mrs. Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Can., writes: "I suffered with internal catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised I can say I am now cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I think Peruna the best medicine for catarrh. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."

In a later letter Mrs. Booker says: "I can truthfully say from experience Peruna is a most wonderful medicine, and in the case of my little daughter, Elsie Booker, it did all I could wish for, and I am entirely willing that you may publish a testimonial in regard to her cure."

Ailing Children.

Mrs. Schopfer, 5620 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"In the early part of last year I wrote to you for advice for my daughter Alice, four years of age. She was a puny, sickly, ailing child since she was born. She had convulsions and catarrhal fevers.

"I was always doctoring until we commenced to use Peruna. She grew strong and well.

"Peruna is a wonderful tonic; the best medicine I have ever used.

"I was in a very wretched condition when I commenced to take Peruna. I had catarrh all through my whole body, but thank God, your medicine set me all right. I would not have any other medicine.

"Peruna cured my baby boy of a very bad spell of cold and fever. He is a big, healthy boy fifteen months old. I have given him Peruna off and on since he was born. I think that is why he is so well.

"I cannot praise Peruna enough. We have not had a doctor since we began to use Peruna—all praise to it."

Child Now Healthy.

Mrs. G. W. Heard, of Howth, Texas, writes to Dr. Hartman in regard to her baby girl, Ruby:

"My little girl was two years old this January. She had some derangement of the bowels. She was a mere skeleton, and we did not think she would ever get well.

"She had been sick three or four months, and after giving her less than one bottle of Peruna she was sound and well.

"I found the Peruna splendid for wind colic, with which she was troubled when she began to improve in strength and appetite.

"Now she has a good appetite and is a picture of health."

Baby With Indigestion.

Mrs. J. M. Brown, Dunnegan, Mo., writes:

"My little daughter, three years old, was troubled with a very bad cough, which remained after an attack of catarrhal fever, which was a great deal worse at night. She would wake up out of her sleep and cough until I feared she could not stand it. Nothing that we gave her seemed to do her any good.

"I then concluded to send for Dr. Hartman's book, entitled 'The Ills of Life,' which I promptly received. I at the same time commenced giving her Peruna. She has taken one bottle in all, through which she has obtained a complete cure.

"She also since her birth was troubled with indigestion, but since she has taken Peruna she can eat almost any kind of food without any bad results.

"She is now as well and happy as any little girl can be. When our friends say how well she looks, I tell them Peruna did it. I shall always be a friend of Peruna, as I consider it the best medicine for coughs and indigestion we have ever tried, and will recommend it to any one similarly afflicted."

Child Benefited by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Fritz Roethe, Pinckneyville, Ill., writes:

"I feel real well, and am glad I am able to say this. One of my children had a fever for five months, nothing would help him. The doctor said it was malarial fever, but his medicine did not help him at all.

"I then gave him Peruna, and it helped him immediately, and so far he has not had another attack of it.

"When I wrote to Dr. Hartman I was unable to do my housework, now I am entirely relieved."

WAS AN UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

Miss Avery, Who Had Just Returned to Toronto, Was Injured.

While crossing Bay street about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, in company with her sister, Mrs. Mayhew, of Ottawa, Miss Anna Avery had the misfortune to slip, and falling to the pavement, fractured one of her legs and two of her ribs. Miss Avery had returned Monday from Peterborough, where ten days ago she buried her brother, and was herself ill with pleurisy, and had only returned preparatory to her marriage, which was to have taken place in a few days.—Toronto World.

All the members are urged to be ent, to consider the question of the annual attendance of the order at divine service. Owing to the 24th of May falling on Sunday, the members will go to church in a body on that day.

NEW LOCKS AND A DAM FOR HASTINGS

Surveys Are Now Being Made for Their Erection.

The Hastings Star says: Final surveys are being made for the erection of a new concrete dam and locks for the Trent Canal System at Hastings, and it is expected that as soon as the survey is completed the estimates will be made out and tenders called for the work.

The present dam is but little better than a temporary structure and it is only a matter of a short time before it would have to be rebuilt, and then necessitates constant repairs, but a new concrete dam, properly built will stand for almost an age.

The present locks were built in the early days of the canal, just previous to the rebellion of 1837, and on account of being directly under the highway bridge, are very inconvenient for traffic in summer, as the bridge must remain open and block the highway as long as a steamer is in the lock. The new lock will be farther down, so that the bridge can be closed immediately a steamer has gone through, and will be much larger in order to be able to handle the traffic on the canal, as soon as the system is complete.

Brought Up As A Girl And Thought He Was A Woman

An Amazing Story From Chingford, England—No One, Not Even He Himself, Suspected.

APPEARS IN POLICE COURT

London, May 1.—(Special) — An amazing case of a young man who has lived twenty-four years as a girl has just come to light in Essex. The case is not one of a masquerade. It is a most extraordinary one of a man who all his life has, under peculiar circumstances, honestly and perfectly believed himself to be a girl, and has acted in every way as such. He was registered at birth as a girl; given a girl's name; baptized as a girl; dressed as a girl; allowed to wear his hair as a girl, and in every other respect treated as a girl. His name is Beatrice Alger. He was born 24 years ago of poor parents at Walthamstow, and attended the girls' department of the local board school. After leaving school he assisted his parents by earning money as a female coster, and with his long hair, feminine feature, and dress, was a familiar figure. No one, least of all himself, suspected his real sex. The discovery that he was not a girl came about in an extraordinary manner. Whilst working as a flower-girl in Chingford he got to know a labouring man. Early in March they were pushing a bassinette together along the main street of Chingford, when a police constable named Illman, who knew the man, stopped both and began to make inquiries concerning the bassinette. There were pieces of lead in the vehicle, and as a result both were taken to the Chingford police station. To the officers at Chingford police station Alger had been known as a flower-girl for years.

Known as a Flower Girl

The police had not the slightest suspicion. They had no cause for it Accordingly he was entered in the charge book in his real name of Beatrice Alger, and after the police court hearing, was committed for trial at the Essex quarter sessions at Chelmsford. In prison the real sex of the girl-man was discovered.

BOARD OF WORKS TRANSACTED MUCH ROUTINE BUSINESS

Several Deputations Were Present to Ask for Sidewalks and Other Things.

PETITIONS WERE MANY

The Board of Works Committee of the City Council transacted a considerable amount of business at its meeting last night. Several deputations were heard and a long list of petitions for sidewalks and sewers dealt with, and the Board will have a lengthy report to present to the council on Monday night.

There were present Ald. Phelan, chairman; Ald. Buller, Morgan, Elliott, McIntyre and Tovey.

Mr. McKenzie, on behalf of Knox Church, was heard in regard to a sidewalk on the east side of Reid street, in front of Knox Church. He explained that a petition for the sidewalk had been sent in. Mr. McKenzie asked for a sidewalk on Wolfe street, from Park street to Aylmer street, and was advised to get a petition signed for the work, when the other request will be considered with the rest.

The city engineer reported that a sewer on Park street, from Cedar street to London street, as requested by Mr. G. M. Roger and others, was practicable, and that it was possible to extend the same to London, far enough to be of service for the new houses on that street, and that, therefore, the extension would have to be deferred.

It was decided, on motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, that the sewer on Park street be built, and that the motion recommending a sewer on McDonel street be rescinded.

It was decided that notice be given for the construction of a sewer from Park street to Downie street, on London street, provided that water service be provided for that street.

A deputation, which Mr. J. T. C. Lang headed, waited upon the Board to ask why the sidewalk was not being built on the west side of Rubidge street, between London street to Edinburgh street. The council had advertised the sidewalk, but it had not been built.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Buller, that the sidewalk on Rubidge street should be constructed as soon as possible.

The city engineer will report as to whether the sidewalk will be built outside or inside the tree line.

MISS ROSELLE KNOTT,
Who comes to the Grand next Thursday in "Alice Sit By The Fire."
Plan opens Tuesday morning at 10 a.m.

A TRIPLE HONOUR FOR CANADIAN ACTRESS

In a spirit of patriotism, the governing committee in theatrical matters for the Ter-Centenary at Quebec, has requested Roselle Knott—the representative Canadian actress—to present her English success, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," before His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, upon the occasion of the royal visit to Quebec this summer. Coupled with this distinction comes the news that Miss Knott, on account of her great popularity throughout Canada, is now booked at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, as the special race week attraction—sharing, in this particular—the honours with Lillian Russell, who occupies the boards the other week.

Contracts are now signed between Rokselle Knott, and Australian managers, whereby Roselle Knott presents "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," "Cousin Kate," "When Knighthood Was in Flower," and other successes throughout the Antipodes; at the same time bearing the distinction of being the first Canadian star of any degree of magnitude to visit the sister colony.

Andrew Robson, who is already widely known in Australia by his excellent co-starring tour with Nance O'Neil, will, in all probability, accompany Roselle Knott to the land of the Kangaroo.

ITCH, Mange, Prairie Scratches, Barber's Itch and every form of contagious itch on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails sold by Nugent Drug Company.

PLENTY OF MUSIC ON MONDAY

—Primrose's Big Minstrel Aggregation will arrive on the noon G. T. R. train, Monday, direct from a week's engagement at the Grand, Toronto. The parade will leave the depot on arrival of the company and proceed up George street, to corner of Hunter street, where a short open air programme will be given. The Primrose Minstrels is the best company of its kind on the road, and no doubt will be greeted with a bumper house on Monday night.

SLEEPY SOLDIER LEARNED LASSITUDE IN LINDSAY

OLD ESTABLISHED MEAT BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

I have pleasure in announcing to the public that I have bought out the long-established "Central Meat Market," carried on by Mr. John J. Howden, at No. 461 George street, and that I will continue the business in the same premises.

Having had a life-long knowledge of the cattle business, I can confidently solicit the patronage of the customers of the old firm, as everything will be conducted in the most up-to-date manner.

I have also engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood as manager. He is a thoroughly experienced man, well known to the patrons of the store, and he will be pleased to serve all in a satisfactory manner.

ST. LUKE'S A.Y.P.A. HOLD CONCERT

In the East City Town Hall Last Night—Excellent Programme Rendered.

GOOD SKETCHES PRESENTED

At the East City Town Hall last night a splendid concert was given under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church. The programme was splendidly rendered and the concert was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. Rev. Dr. Langfeld occupied the chair and after giving a short address of welcome, Miss English opened the programme with an instrumental solo.

The two special features of the programme were the sketches, "That Rascal Pat" and "Won by Strategy," which were presented by able performers. In the first sketch Mr. E. Whittaker made a great success of the title role, and Mr. H. Moore was the shining light of the second sketch. The actors all interpreted their roles in a creditable manner.

The programme was as follows:

Part I.

Instrumental solo—Miss English.
Solo, selected—Miss Ruth Dawson.
Humorous sketch, "That Rascal Pat."
Characters represented:
Pat McNoggerty, a handy servant, Mr. E. Whittaker.
Major Puffjacket, on half pay, Mr. H. Packenham.
Charles Livingstone, poor, but ambitious, Mr. H. Potter.
Laura, in love with Charles, Miss Clara Mitchell.
Nancy, her maid, in love with Pat, Miss Lucy Baxter.

Part II.

Violin selection—Miss Ethel Girven.
Recitation, "The Dandy Fifth"—Mr. J. Runnett.
Humorous Sketch, "Won by Strategy."
Characters represented:
John Rorer, an irascible old uncle, Mr. G. Butcher.
Nell, his niece and ward, Miss Carry Whittaker.
Tom Sutherland, in love with Nell, Mr. G. Quartermain.
Jenks, servant to Rorer, Mr. H. Moore.
Solo, selected—Miss Olive Howell.

T. A. S. YOUNG MEN GIVE CONCERT

Glee Club Made a Hit on its First Public Appearance—Assisted by Best Talent.

WAS A LARGE ATTENDANCE

The Young Men's Debating Club of St. Peter's T.A.S. finished their season last night with a concert that was most creditable. They were assisted in their programme by some of the city's best talent who really bore the brunt of the entertaining. Mr. Geo. Ball's protegee, the Glee Club made their first and last public appearance and were given an enthusiastic reception. The songs were such as every young man likes to sing, and although the practices were not frequent enough, the Club did well. Mr. Will Cahill made his debut as a vocalist and surprised his friends by the manner in which he conducted himself. With training and experience he should develop into a good singer. He took the solos in "Captain Willie Brown" and "Somewhere in the World" from the "Vanderbilt Cup," the rest of the Club taking the choruses.

The programme as announced by Mr. Geo. Ball who acted as chairman, was as follows—:

Song and chorus—Glee Club.
Violin selection—Miss Kathleen McCarthy.
Mandolin due—Messrs. Cranfield and Brightman.
Vocal solo—Miss Pearl Morgan.
Recitation—Miss Maggie Derocher.
Song—Mr. James O'Brien.
Banjo selection—Mr. Frank Clark.
Instrumental duet—Misses Picard and Hatrick.
Vocal solo—Miss Lavina Hallihan.
Recitation—Mr. Coleman.
Vocal solo—Mr. Harry Quinlan.
Vocal solo—Mr. Jno. King.
Vocal solo—Mr. James Browne.

The large audience appreciated the programme as they were very liberal in their encores. Special mention is deserving Mr. James Browne, Mr. John King and Harry Quinlan for their vocal solos. Each of these singers are favourites at the T.A.S. concerts and maintained the reputation they had gained. Miss Lavina Hallihan's beautiful soprano voice was well adapted for Luigi Denza's Waltz Song. Although suffering from a slight cold Miss Hallahan's number was offered with splendid expression. She sang "Mavourneen" as an encore. Mr. Frank Clarke has lost none of his cleverness with the banjo. Miss Maggie Doherty's accompaniments were most generous and her playing was in perfect sympathy with the singer.

The members of the Club are most grateful to those who so kindly assisted them on this occasion.

WANTS MONEY FOR A WOODEN LEG

Asked the Magistrate If He Would Sanction a Petition.

A middle-aged man, minus half his right leg and supporting himself on a pair of crutches, entered the police station yesterday and presented a lengthy petition to His Worship. The object of the petition was to secure the unfortunate man a new wooden leg, and he wanted the magistrate to sanction the document. His Worship gave the man a donation towards the wooden leg, but refused to give him anything in writing.

"BLACK HAND" FEARED IN BELLEVILLE

Police and Detectives Seeking Writers of Anonymous Letters.

A traveller fro Belleville informs the Examiner that there is a mild species of Black Hand fever prevalent in that town at the present time, owing to a number of threatening letters that have been received by various citizens. One young fellow received a demand to deposit five hundred dollars in a certain place in the Public Library on pain of being sent sky-high with a bomb, and another was informed that if he did not instantly send $200 to a place specified by the communication he might as well say farewell to this glad and sunlit world. Women are afraid to go out in the dark. Many people regard the whole affair as a hoax, but the police and detectives are moving in the matter, with a view to placing the perpetrators of the frolic, if it is one, on a straighter path to humour than they seem to be following.

SHIP MAMMOTH SAIL TO PICTON

The Largest Ever Made by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons shipped to-day to Picton the largest sail they have ever manufactured during their 21-year business career. The sail is for the "Reliance" steamer, a large boat plying between Montreal and Duluth. It was so large that the work of cutting it out had to be done on the Opera House stage, no room in their large manufacturing establishment being big enough in which to perform the work.

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES CONSIDERED

Legal Committee Held an Important Meeting Last Night.

At a meeting of the Legal Committee of the City Council last night, six claims against the city for damages were considered. In the case of the following claims, no action was taken, the City Solicitor having recommended that, in his opinion, the city is not liable:

Miss Brown, who had a limb broken on January 27, by a fall in front of the postoffice.

Mrs. Hinds, who was injured by a fall on George street, between Antrim and Edinburgh streets.

Chas. Johnston, who claimed damages on account of his cellar being flooded.

A. J. Warne, who had goods damaged by water.

The case of Andrew Graham, who is claiming costs for damage done to goods in his store by water, and that of Wm. D. Morris, who had his horse and outfit damaged on Lock street were referred to the City Solicitor to report upon.

Pupils' Recital At Conservatory

The Conservatory of Music is becoming a favourite centre of entertainment, and with many, it is now a habit to attend the musicales and recitals, which are conducted under the direction of Mr. Gliddon or the members of his staff. Last night the piano pupils of Miss Lora Newman, assisted by Miss Jessie Allen, vocalist, and Miss Kathleen Wallis, violinste, gave a delightful entertainment. The pianoforte numbers were performed by Miss Newman's pupils, with fine expression and a fluent and easy technique. In Miss Hill's Mendelssohn number, Miss Wood's Prelude by Bach, Miss Campbell's interpretation of Raff's "La Fileuse," and in Miss Taft's and Miss McCaw's numbers the individual ability of the pupils was heightened by the musical character of the teacher. Miss Jessie Allen's selected song was much enjoyed. Miss Kathleen Wallis, a very promising violinste and a pupil of Miss Lina Adamson, of the Conservatory, delighted her friends by her finished style, as displayed in Ovide Musin's Mazurka. The tone qualities of her notes were well pronounced, and the spirit of her playing very appealing. Miss Wallis has a bright future as a violinste, if opportunities for the development of her undoubted talents are presented.

The quality of the programme may be understood from the following copy:

Spinning Song, Mendelssohn; Miss Jean Hill.

(a) Prelude, Bach (b) Song from the Sea Pieces, MacDowell; (c) A. D. MDCCXX, MacDowell; Miss Wood.

Song, selected; Miss Jessie Allen.

(a) La Fileuse, Raff; (b Waltz in E minor, Chopin, Miss Campbell.

Violin. "Mazurka," Musin; Kathleen Wallis.

Caprice, "Espagnol" Moszkowski; Miss Taft.

(a) Nocturne, Chopin; (b) Polonaise, Chopin, Miss McCaw.

TO PREVENT A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills When the First Symptoms Are Noticed and Save Yourself Much Suffering.

Are you troubled with pallor, loss of spirits, waves of heat passing over the body, shortness of breath after slight exertion, a peculiar skipping of the heart beat, poor digestion, cold hands or feet, or a feeling of weight and fulness? Do not make the mistake of thinking that these are diseases in themselves and be satisfied with relief for the time being.

This is the way that the nerves give warning that they are breaking down. It means that the blood has become impure and thin and cannot carry enough nourishment to the nerves to keep them healthy and able to do their work.

There is only one way to prevent the final breakdown of the nerves and the more serious diseases which follow. The blood must be made rich, red and pure, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only medicine that can do this promptly and effectively. Every dose of this medicine helps make new blood and strengthens the weak or worn-out nerves.

Mrs. David J. Tapley, Fredericton, N.B., was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after suffering from nervous breakdown, which resulted in partial paralysis of the face. She says: "The trouble came on quite gradually, and at the outset I did not pay much attention to it. Then it grew more serious, and there was a general breakdown of the nerves, which was followed by partial paralysis of the face, one side being completely drawn out of shape. I was under a doctor's care for a couple of months, and one treatment after another was tried without benefit. By this time I was confined to my room, and the doctor told me he could not cure me. Almost in despair I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The improvement was slow, but the building up of a run down nervous system naturally is slow. Slowly but surely this medicine did its work, and after a time I was able to again come down stairs. From that on the improvement was much more rapid and now I am as well as ever I was in my life. My friends look upon my cure as almost miraculous. Dr. Williams Pink Pills did for me what the best medical treatment failed to do—they brought me back good health.

It is the blood building, nerve restoring power in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that enable them to cure such troubles as anaemia, rheumatism, the after effects of la grippe, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis and the secret ailments of girlhood and womanhood. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TROUT FISHING SEASON OPENS

Many Take Jaunts in Search of the Finny Tribe.

Yesterday was the opening of the trout season, and several citizens took advantage of the first opportunity. They went down the river in small crafts loaded with the necessary fishing implements. Mr M. C. Tooley and a party of local gentlemen left for Millbrook and will remain a couple of days. All are experienced with the rod and they will no doubt bring back a big catch of speckled trout.

PLANING MILL FINISHED AT LAKEFIELD

Messrs. Moore & Son Have Finely Equipped Establishment

The new planing mill erected by Messrs. Moore & Son, at Lakefield, to replace the one that was destroyed by fire last January, is now finished, and the firm is better prepared than ever before to execute all orders for general planing mill work. Messrs. Moore & Son will also have, as formerly, a large supply of all kinds of builders' supplies on hand.

Amongst the many improvements inaugurated by this firm on their premises, is a heavy pump, capable of throwing three streams of water in case of fire.

OBITUARY.

MISS MARGARET LANG

The remains of Mrs. Margaret Lang who died in Toronto on Monday were interred in Riverside Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Among the many friends and relatives of the deceased who were present were Mr. Parker Davis of Bobcaygeon, Mr. R Lang of Peterborough, Mr. A W. Jewett of Toronto and Mr. Chas Smith of Moosejaw, Sask.—Lindsay Post.

BRICKS FOR SALE

At this season of the year builders and contractors are frequently delayed in the delivery of bricks, owing to the yards not being able to supply them.

What should be a great convenience this spring is the offer of the Canadian General Electric Company to sell 100,000 brick (Welsh Make) for immediate delivery. No doubt the opportunity will be taken advantage of by parties who are looking forward to building and being supplied with material promptly.

REV. CANON TUCKER FIRST SPEAKER

Will Give the Address on Monday Night at Opening Meeting

EXPERIENCE IN THE WEST

Everything is now in readiness for for the three days of the Missionary Institute which begins on Monday.

The programme for that day is as follows:

2. p.m., to 8 p.m., Registration of delegates and visitors.

Inspection of exhibit.

6 p.m. to 7 p.m., Tea in George street Methodist church.

8 p.m., Evening session; opening message, Rev. J R Webb.

Address, "The Call of the Canadian West," by Canon Tucker, D.C.L.

Mayor Rush is expected to welcome the delegates to Peterborough at the opening of Monday night's meeting.

Rev. Canon Tucker, D.C.L., of Toronto, who delivers the lecture on Monday night on "The Call of the Canadian West," is a speaker of force adn power. His present position is that of secretary of the General Missionary Organization of the Anglican Church. His field extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and in his present sphere he has manifested great organizing ability. There has been a large increase in the missionary offerings of the Anglican Church, due, largely, to his efforts. Before his present appointment he was a successful clergyman in Vancouver and last year received the degree of D.C.L. from Bishops College Lennoxville. He has published a book on the Canadian West. A hearty welcome should be extended to him on Monday night.

Major Young, when seen by the Examiner, stated that he hoped to have one of the best batteries to visit Quebec. He would only take down with him the very best men now enlisted and especially those whom he could depend upon to do honour to the city they represented.

OBITUARY

MRS. WALTER RENNICK

Keene, May 2.—At the age of 83 years, Mrs. Walter Rennick, an esteemed Otonabee resident, passed away yesterday morning. She is survived by her husband and four sons, Zachariah, Walter and John of Otonabee and William of Dakota, and two daughters, Mrs. Hugh McFarlane of Otonabee and Mrs. Fife of Dakota. She was a life-long resident of Otonabee, and in religion was a Presbyterian.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MRS. JOHN ROGERS

The death occurred about three o'clock this morning at Nicholls Hospital, of Mrs. John Rogers, of Belmont. The deceased lady had been ailing for the past five years, and general debility was given as the cause of her death. She entered the hospital some time ago, and while there injured her hip. Her condition never improved, and she gradually grew worse until death relieved her of her suffering this morning.

The deceased lady was 77 years of age, and came to this country from Bristol, England, when a child. She leaves behind her a family of seven, Mrs T. Massey, of Leroy, N. Y.; Mrs. John Scriver, of Hastings; Mrs. Felix Lidgold, of Barrie; John, of Dummer; George, of Hastings, and Stephen and Henry, of Muskoka.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Mrs. John Billington, 177 Edinburgh street, to the C. P. R. station, Monday morning, and the body will be expressed to Norwood for interment.

MR. PHILLIP ELMHIRST

Keene, May 2.—The death occurred last night at 5 o'clock of Mr. Phillip Elmhirst at the age of 87 years, one of the best known farmers and cattle buyers in Otonabee. His wife predeceased him several years ago, but he is survived by several sons, Arthur, William and Francis of Otonabee, Phillip of Apsley and John, Alfred and Fred of Manitoba. He was a Methodist in religion and a Conservative in politics.

The funeral will likely take place on Sunday to the Westwood Cemetery.

THOS. ANDERSON

At his residence, 213 London street, at nine this morning there passed away in the person of Mr. Thos. Anderson, one of the most widely known and highly respected citizens of Peterborough. The deceased gentleman had been ailing since Christmas from locomotor ataxia, and his condition did not improve. About two weeks ago he took a turn for the worse and death finally ended his sufferings this morning. The intelligence of his death will be learned with deep regret by all who knew him, and he will be deeply missed by a legion of friends.

The deceased gentleman was 51 years of age and was born in Manchester, Ont. He was proprietor of a general store in Newbury for three years, after which he opened up a confectionary story in Lindsay, where he remained for nine years. He came to Peterborough about seven years ago and worked at his trade as a carriage maker. He was always noted for being upright and honest in all his dealings, and his business career was marked with success.

Mr. Anderson was an active member and regular attendant of St. Paul's Church. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Lindsay, and the Independent Order of Foresters, of this city. He leaves behind him, besides his wife, one daughter, Winnie, and two sons, Stewart and Leighton. Three sisters Mrs. Colville and Mrs. McQuarry, of Brussels; Mrs. Kennedy, of Blythe, and one brother, Robert, of Brussells, also survive him.

A funeral service will be held at the family residence, 213 London street, on Sunday evening, after church, conducted by Rev. R. Pogue, and the body will be conveyed to Harriston, Ont., on the early C. P. R. train, Monday morning, for interment.

FUR STORAGE DEPARTMENT

This is the season of the year when Furs should be stored away from all danger by moths or fire. More or less risk is always taken by storing Furs at home where there are no proper facilities for the caring of them, causing a lot of worry and anxiety through the summer months. We have lately fitted up a splendid Fur Storage Department, where special attention can be given to the care of your Furs, ensuring their return in a bright, fresh condition. By inquiring you will find our charges very moderate. Ring up No. 94 Bell or Machine Phones and we shall be pleased to send a messenger for your Furs. :: :: :: :: ::

BLIND BROTHER WON AT McGILL

While His Noble Assistant Took the Second Place.

M'GILL STUDENTS CHEERED

A Remarkable Story of the Achievement of Two Brothers — Sightless Young Man Was Coached by His Brother—Dean Walton Pays a High Tribute to Both Who Won Scholarships.

Montreal, May 2.—An interesting story of brotherly love and courageous work under the affliction of total blindness was unveiled at McGill University Thursday, when two brothers, Thomas S. and William Stewart, graduated in Law, coming respectively first and second in their class, and winning two out of three scholarships.

Thomas S. Stewart is totally blind, through the carelessness of an oculist.

Nine years ago he injured one of his eyes with a knife, and specialists declared that to save the sight of the other the bad eye must be removed.

Stewart underwent the operation, but by some extraordinary piece of carelessness the operator took out the good eye, with the result that when the patient came out of the ether he was completely blind.

Undismayed by this, he undertook to pursue his studies in law at McGill, and ever since then his brother has devoted himself to him, making the studies with him and accompanying him to college sports and through all the phases of university life—practically making himself a seeing medium for his blind brother.

As a result of this unusual devotion the blind Stewart came out at the head of his class, while his brother came second, and each won the Sir William Macdonald scholarship, which entitles them to a year's residence in Paris to perfect themselves in the French language and study law in the Montpelier Law School.

Dean Walton paid a warm eulogium to the two brothers in conferring the degree, and the two were heartily cheered by the audience as they came forward.

Called Him Satan.

Medicine Hat, May 2.—The case against the Dreamers took a new form yesterday when August Nieman, son of Frederick, was discharged on a charge of arson and conspiracy, and re-arrested on a warrant for perjury. Evidence given during the hearing by Nieman was produced, showing him to have stated that he had never spoken to John Lehr, that he had not read the Bible or been present at the meeting on April 11, and that John Reib was not present either.

Corpl. Humbyand and Rev. John Siklak, interpreter, testified as to the correctness of the evidence as recorded. John Lehr swore to two occasions when the prisoner had taunted him, calling him accursed Satan. Frederick Nieman swore that his son, the prisoner, was at the meeting on April 11 in the afternoon and read the Bible. Young Reib was also there. Witness knew of no reason why his son should have sworn to the contrary. Jacob Reib testified to the same effect as did his son John. The latter also testified regarding the prisoner shouting to John Lehr at the coal mine. The prisoner was committed to trial by Inspector Parker.

Real Tragedy This Time.

Middleton, N.Y., May 2.—James H. Wallick, formerly an actor and owner of the play "The Bandit King," in which he toured the country, committed suicide in the Commercial Hotel here yesterday.

He had declared that he would never take an anaesthetic which was necessary in order to perform a surgical operation on an injured arm, and this is believed to have been the reason for his suicide.

He left several letters, one of which was addressed to Eleanor Merrpn Cowper of New York City, who wrote several of his plays.

Bomb Fiend Busy.

Cincinnati, May 2.—A diabolical attempt was made shortly before midnight Thursday night to destroy the palatial quarters of the fashionable Phoenix Club at Ninth and Race streets, by placing in the main entrance an infernal machine, so constructed that it would explode at the time the door was opened.

The bomb was fired, but beyond the permanent maiming of one man, no great damage was done.

Dead Number 207.

Washington, D.C., May 2.—Commander Dougherty, American naval attache at Tokio, yesterday cabled the Navy Department that the total casualties by the explosion on the cruiser Matsushima Thursday were 207 dead.

Divers have discovered a huge rent on the port side. The after deck is shattered and the interior wreckage prevents the removal of many bodies.

Two Little Boys Drown.

Montreal, May 2.—The bodies of Alexander and John Terrall, brthers, aged 10 and 12 years, were recovered from a quarry full of water at Blue Bonnets yesterday, where they went fishing Thursday afternoon.

One of them fell over the bank and pulled the other in.

Their House Blown to Atoms.

Wardner, Idaho, May 2.—From their home, blown to atoms by dynamite, E. A. Carlson and wife have reached Kingston, eight miles below Wardner. The Carlsons had just completed a large house on their ranch on the North Fork river.

Winnipeg, Man., May 2.—A sensational law suit, involving over a quarter of a million dollars of Winnipeg property, known as the Foulder estate, was decided yesterday by Justice Cameron against the legitimate children of an old Winnipeg pioneer, who had left a holograph will.

A holograph will is one written entirely in the hand of the person signing it.

JAPANESE HAVE TAKEN ACTION

Ask Britain to Intervene in the Chinese Boycott.

SITUATION BECOMES SERIOUS

Trouble Arose Over the Tatsu Maru Incident—Japan Charges That Action of Englishmen in East Is Against Anglo-Japanese Alliance —U. S. Said to Be Championing China's Independence.

Pekin, May 2.—It was understood here yesterday by Chinese officials that the purpose of the Washington authorities in dividing the American battleship fleet into two squadrons is to enable the vessels to visit Japan and China simultaneously and the disappointment in a measure has been lessened.

An impression prevails among the Chinese that what they call the definite purposes of the fleet's presence in Asiatic waters have been foiled by an attempt to neutralize the political interpretations that have been given to the fleet's movements in the far east, particularly at this time when China's difficulties are increasing.

Japan is feeling a serious situation as a result of the boycott arising from the Tatsu Maru incident. This was the steamship that was seized by the Chinese authorities last February on the ground that she was carrying arms and ammunition to Chinese revolutionists. Japan forced China to give up the ship and salute the Japanese flag, and this crystallized the ill-feeling against Japan in China and resulted in a boycott of Japanese goods.

Admiral Ijuin of the Japanese navy, whose cruiser squadron is anchored off Taku, was received in audience by the Emperor and Empress Dowager yesterday. Coincident with this occurrence Japan is seeking the support of Great Britain to put a stop to the boycott by joint representations. The boycott is increasing, and Japan is not satisfied with Chinese efforts to put a stop to it.

China, by means of a campaign in the foreign and native press, is making an intelligent and consistent effort to bring western influence to bear on Japan, but Japan, it is said here, regards this course as hostile and connects it with what the Japanese call the American championing of China's independence, and the action of Englishmen in the Far East against the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Found Diamond In Hen.

Spokane, Wash., May 2.—This is something about four ordinary hens, representing an investment of $2.48, which yielded Mrs. J. F. Hanifen, living at 98 Augusta avenue, a clear profit of $150, besides supplying her family with roast chicken and other delicacies for a week. While dressing one of the hens, Mrs. Hanifen discoved a cut diamond of three-quarters karat in the bird's gizzard, a jeweler placing a value of $150 to $200 on the stone.

The hens were raised in Spokane, Mrs. Hanifen buying them from a neighbor three months ago. Where the stone came from is not known. Mrs. Hanifen is of the opinion that it came from a bag of wheat, probably having been dropped by one of the thresher-men working in the Palouse district last fall, but there are others who believe it was picked up in the street while the hens were allowed to scratch. Mr. Hanifen is making efforts to find the owner of the gem, which is clear and brilliant.

A Great Grain Fleet.

Port Arthur, May 2.—Never in the history of the past has there been witnessed such a rush for grain as there has been in the past two days. At the head of the lakes yesterday was a fleet of forty-three boats with a carrying capacity of four and one-half million bushels of wheat.

It is believed that by the close of Saturday that over six million bushels will have been shipped from here. The elevators are lined with vessels waiting to get under the spouts.

An Action Entered.

Port Arthur, May 2.—E. S. Hunt has entered action against W. O. Robins of this place for $5,000 for slander. This is a result of evidence given by Robins in the liquor license investigation, in which Robins stated that instead of Hunt having given commissioners money that he, Hunt, kept $600 which was alleged to have been put up by Rivers, an applicant for the license, as the result of an investigation at a meeting of Conservatives.

Sir F. Bridge Honored.

Toronto, May 2.—The degree of doctor of music, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges appertaining thereto, was yesterday conferred upon Sir Frederick Bridge, organist of Westminster Abbey, by the University of Toronto. Convocation assembled for the purpose in Convocation Hall. Members of the various faculties of the university were present and President Falconer presided.

Leopards Took Revenge.

Baltimore, May 2.—During the performance at the Zoo two leopards jumped the barrier, landing among the audience. Louis Tong, a boy, was badly clawed about the face and neck and probably a serious stampede was averted by the prompt action of a policeman in closing the exit door and allowing only one or two of the terrified people to descend the stairs at a time.

Elopers Captured.

North Bay, May 2.—Peter Pelangio, an Italian, eloped from Orillia with Alice Southern, a 15-year-old girl, came to North Bay and was arrested by Chief of Police Raynor on leaving the train on account of his suspicious actions.

The girl's father was located by wire and came on the next train. Pelangio was allowed to go on payment of costs, and the girl returned with her father. Pelangio stated he intended marrying the girl in North Bay.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: R. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; H. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 16 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16 ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENCOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level, and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

Government Not to Blame For Handling of Doukhobors.

ANSWER CHARGE IN HOUSE

Hon. Messrs. Oliver and Aylesworth Show That the Ministry Is Not Responsible For the Wanderers or Their Conduct—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Denies Story Concerning Late Hon. Mr. Blair.

Ottawa, May 2.—For a while yesterday afternoon the House discussed the wandering and eccentric Doukhobors. The Opposition attempted to fix the responsibility for the latest trick of the crazy colony, but Ministers Aylesworth and Oliver denied stoutly that this Government was to blame for the Fort William offence against decency.

Mr. Lake referred to the statement of the Prime Minister on Thursday night that the disposition of the band, who had been returned to Saskatchewan and were offending the ordinary laws of society, was in the hands of provincial authorities.

Detailing the circumstances in connection with the arrest of the Doukhobors he said when they were pardoned they slipped out of jail triumphant in that they had successfully defied the laws.

The release of these people was a public scandal, according to Mr. Lake.

Mr. Aylesworth disclaimed any responsibility except for the release of the prisoners.

It proceeded on the direct request of the Attorney-General of Ontario. In this case the offence was against social order and good morals, but there had not been any intention to commit crime. The petition for their release from prison was very strongly supported, it being shown that those of the party who were not in jail were not willing to return to their homes unless accompanied by their fellows.

Mr. Aylesworth said he had acted just as he would have in the case of Canadians. Once pardoned, they were free to go where they pleased. There was no disposition to take these people out of the hands of the Province of Ontario and saddle them on Saskatchewan.

Mr. Borden observed that the Province of Ontario had a perfect right to desire to get rid of these people. Suppose they were incarcerated in Saskatchewan and again released, would they be assisted to a warmer climate, say in British Columbia? Mr. Borden commented on the bundling of the kind from place to place, and thought it time the Government put a stop to this national scandal.

Mr. Oliver claimed the immigration department had no responsibility for the conduct of the people they bring in. In the past nine years the Doukhobor colony had been law-abiding and had given little trouble. They had been welcome wherever they had gone, except during this last pilgrimage, and the people heard their songs and admired their peculiarities.

Mr. Oliver thought the trouble was brought about by the provincial authorities attempting to be relieved of the responsibility of carrying out their own laws.

Dr. Roche commented on the change of tone of Mr. Oliver, who some years ago before he was a Minister wrote some very caustic articles on these people. He hoped Dr. Cash would support the people of Yorkton in protesting against this outfit being unloaded on the community. The peculiarities of them during their stay in Fort William were such as to show the whole community. In fact ever since those pets of Mr. Sifton came to the country they had been a nuisance, exactly as Mr. Oliver had stated a few years ago in his own paper, The Edmonton Bulletin. This article, strongly condemnatory of the Douks and their pilgrimages and methods, was read in full by Dr. Roche to the intense enjoyment of the House, especially the passage in which Mr. Oliver's article declared their principles to be a mixture of theocracy, socialism and anarchy, and demanded their return to Russia, as did also The Toronto Globe.

Dr. Roche concluded by protesting in the name of the West against the special treatment accorded to these people. Dr. Sproule suggested that they be placed on Mr. Sifton's numerous estates in the West, and be looked after by W. T. R. Preston.

Mr. Taylor brought up the matter of the purchases of fire-extinguishers at the request of the Minister of Marine, and the curious fact that the brother of the Postmaster-General was prevented from being the Liberal candidate in Ottawa by the fact becoming known that he, although a lawyer, had received a commission of $3 each on 196 extinguishers sold the Government.

It was when Sir Wilfrid was shown the cheeks for the commissions that he called Mr. Lemieux off. Mr. Taylor wanted to know how it came that the Public Works Department paid Mr. Lemieux $15 for each extinguisher which had been bought by the Marine Department for $14 each.

"We remember," continued Mr. Taylor, "when the late Minister of Railways left his seat on account of the transcontinental project, and it was supposed he was going to take the stump against the Government that the Prime Minister called the late Mr. Blair and asked him his intention, and then Mr. Blair said:

"I am going to run in Opposition to this scheme," and the information is that "the Prime Minister put his hand in his pocket and pulled out some checks that a big contractor had paid to Mr. Blair with the latter's name signed on the back of them."

At this point Sir Wilfrid rose and said: "In justice to the memory of Mr. Blair, I must say that there is not a word of truth in that."

"I am glad to hear it," rejoined Mr. Taylor. "I thought it was my duty however, to mention the matter to the right hon. gentleman."

Mr. Knowles (West Assiniboia) brought up yesterday the failure of the C.P.R. to construct branch lines for which they had received charters. He referred to the Moosejaw-Lacombe branch, a charter for which had been held for years. Two years ago the company built fourteen miles, but had not laid any steel since, and last summer fifty miles more were graded. From time to time the company announced that it would proceed with the line, and, relying upon these promises, settlers went into a district remote from transportation facilities. These settlers were hanging on by their teeth. Across the Saskatchewan Railway there were many settlers from fifty to one hundred and fifty miles from any railroad.

Mr. Knowles had seen Mr. White of the C.P.R. who authorized him to say last year that the company would lay fifty miles more steel and grade at least seventy more miles, but nothing had been done. Last fall the company let the contract for seventy miles, but in the most cavalier fashion the C.P.R. had sent out the announcement that it had seen fit to cancel the contract.

"Although I cannot expect the Government to build this road," Mr. Knowles, "or do anything severe with the C.P.R., I do think this condition of affairs should be exposed, and that the railway company should be censured for playing fast and loose with the settlers in that way."

Mr. W. F. Maclean thought Mr. Knowles and his friends should go to the Minister of Railways and insist on his using his influence with the C.P.R. and the Government as a whole to compel the company to complete its obligations.

To Cook Stomach Over.

Munich, May 2.—The problem of direct observation of the interior of the human stomach during life has been solved by Dr. Rihl, according to a medical weekly. The method which is employed includes the passing of a double tube through the oesophagus to the stomach, the inner tube being fitted with a small electric bulb. Water is passed by means of a subsidiary attachment through the outer tube filling the stomach.

The light is then turned on, permitting the medical paper says, the closest observation of the movements of the organ.

Not Merry Widows.

Windsor, May 2.—The delivery wagon of William Englander, a local grocer, was seized by the customs officers, who found in a bread box two feminine hats which were pronounced to be last year's styles.

It was suspected that the owners had smuggled over new millinery creations, probably "merry widows," from Detroit. Englander's story is that the hats were placed in the box as a joke.

Nansen Resigns.

Christiania, May 2.—The Cabinet yesterday accepted the resignation of Fridtjof Nansen, the Norwegian Minister to Great Britain.

Dr. Nansen, who has desired to retire for some time, has consented to remain until after King Edward, who is now in Copenhagen, visits Christiania. Nansen will be succeeded by J. Irgens, at present secretary of the legation in London.

Dies In Dentist's Chair.

Morrisburg, May 2.—Mary Jane Pruner, a well-known lady of this town, suddenly collapsed while under the influence of chloroform, which had been administered by a doctor while a dentist was pulling some teeth for her, at the residence of her parents, and she expired.

Indian Committed Suicide.

Brantford, May 2.—John Fischerrier, a member of the Six Nations Band, committed suicide Thursday by jumping into a 40-foot well. He had trouble over some property and became despondent. He was 45 years old, and leaves a wife and family on the reserve.

May Come on Indomitable.

London, May 2.—(C.A.P.)—It is stated the prince may sail to Canada on the new huge 28-knot cruiser Indomitable, four warships escorting. Another squadron will precede the prince, who will reside at the Quebec citadel.

LOST THEIR LICENSES.

Throughout Ontario 129 Hotels Cease Business With New License Year.

Toronto, May 2.—Throughout the Province of Ontario yesterday the licenses of one hundred and twenty hotels were cut off. Most of the hotelkeepers affected are given from one to three months to sell out their stock, but they are no longer licensed to purchase any more liquors for sale.

Ninety-four of these licenses are cut off as the result of local option campaigns. The remaining twenty-six have been dropped by reason of license reduction votes by the people, or the order of the License Commissioners.

Local option bylaws are responsible for the cutting off of these licenses in the thirty-one municipalities indicated: Ancaster, four; Asphodel, one; Beverley, three; Brighton, two; Brunel, one; Caistor, one; Campbellford, six; Colborne, three; Creemore, three; Durham, three; Eldon, five; Erin, three; Hamilton, five; Howick, four; McKellar, one; Medonte, six; Millbrook, four; Mulmur, two; Murray, two; Norwood, two; Norwich, three; Omemee, two; Orillia, eight; Pittsburg, five; Saltfleet, five; Schreiber, two; Seymour, one; Somerville, two; Stirling, three; Woodville, two.

Four of the licenses reduced by the commissioners are in Toronto. The remainder are scattered through various districts of Ontario.

THIEF'S BIG BOOTY.

Jewelry Robber Makes Substantial Haul at Toronto Residences.

Toronto, May 2.—Three remarkably daring burglaries were committed between 4 and 6 o'clock on Thursday evening, but were not reported by the police until yesterday.

The victims are:

Mrs. W. R. Riddell, 109 St. George street, jewels to the value of from $5,000 to $8,000.

Mrs. Geoffry Clarkson, 1,735 Brunswick avenue, watches, rings, bracelets and jewelry to the value of about $600 and a purse with $35.

C. D. Warren, Walmer road, a number of valuable old stamps.

On account of the similarity of the operators and the time all three operations are credited to one man, and that fellow a king-pin in the Raffles fraternity.

His "dash" followed an evidently well studied plan of campaign, for a stranger had been observed hanging around the Riddell residence for several days. His description is about as follows: Well dressed, about 5 feet 11 inches in height; dark, sallow complexion, clean-shaven, black hair, black Christy hat, no overcoat, a grey, checked tweed suit and grey gloves.

Shot Woman.

Lethbridge, Alta., May 2.—A horrible crime was committed here at 11.30 yesterday morning, when Mella Zagaly, a Servian miner, shot Mrs. Mike Barcedi, an Italian woman, on the road between the town and mine. He shot her three times and then cut her throat, severing the jugular vein. He then shot himself three times.

The man used to board with the woman, and had given her money to keep for him. She refused to give it back when he asked for it on the road. The woman's nine-year-old boy was with her and had the money. The woman had eight children, and her husband works in the mine and is respectable. The murderer came here a few months ago and was engineer on a screen engine.

Carried Off Safe.

Newark, N.J., May 2.—Burglars yesterday entered the Union Avenue Hotel at Irvington, carried off a safe weighing 700 pounds and said to contain $3,000 worth of jewelry and rare coins, dragging it across lots a distance of 600 feet, blew it open with nitro glycerine and escaped with the contents.

The burglars entered the hotel by the rear door and got away without being detected.

WILL SIT FOR DUNDEE.

Churchill Secures Active Support From the Irish League.

Dundee, May 2.—Winston Spencer Churchill, President of the Board of Trade, whose recent failure to be returned to Parliament from the northwest division of Manchester has forced him to seek a "safe" seat, arrived here yesterday morning to contest the vacancy caused by the elevation to the peerage of Edmund Robertson.

F. Scrymgeour, of the United Irish League, is urging the Irish voters to give their complete support to Mr. Churchill on the ground that Premier Asquith has adopted Mr. Churchill's pledges at Manchester regarding home rule for Ireland as representing the policy of the Government.

A Sensational Charge.

North Bay, May 2.—John Loughrin, merchant of Mattawa, as the choice of the Nipissing Liberal convention for the Legislature yesterday. Loughrin sat in the Legislature under Premier Ross, resigning to accept the position of registrar of Nipissing. He was dismissed from office by the present administration, and succeeded by Charles Lamarche, ex-M.P.P., who resigned his seat to make room for Frank Cochrane on elevation to the Cabinet.

Candidate Loughrin made a sensational charge that he had been offered $8,000 in J. R. Booth's office at Ottawa not to oppose Frank Cochrane at the bye-election. This he refused, but consented to keep out of the way if his position was assured.

Fairbanks to Represent U. S.

Washington, May 2.—Vice-President Fairbanks will officially represent the United States at Quebec during the visit there of the Prince of Wales—July 22 to 29—on the occasion of the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the arrival of Champlain. This Government also will be represented at the ceremonies by a man-of-war, which probably will be the new battleship New Hampshire, under command of Capt. Winslow.

The decision to have the Vice-President represent the United States at Quebec was arrived at yesterday's Cabinet meeting, and was responsive to an invitation extended by the British Government on behalf of Canada by Ambassador Bryce under date of March 19 last.

Diabolical Deed of Drunken Man.

Brockville, May 2.—A story of vile brutality to animals comes from the rural district across the river from here. Going home drunk, a farmer went out to feed his young stock, and, finding that ten calves, which he had been fattening to sell, did not eat fast enough, he drew a knife and cut their throats. Then, continuing in his drunken rage, he started to cut the throats of his horses. The first animal he slashed at kicked him with both feet, and he was thrown back upon the floor with sufficient force to render him unconscious. On recovering he came to a speedy realization of what he had done.

British Beat All Records.

Glasgow, May 2.—It is unofficially reported that the new cruiser Indomitable, which is now undergoing her speed trials, has beaten all records, making 26 knots over a measure mile on the Clyde and 26 1-4 knots in the continuous steaming trial. The Indomitable is fitted with turbines and her contract speed is only 25 knots. She is 17,250 tons and 530 feet in length.

Liverpool, May 2.—The corporation has authorized the construction of an office building 300 feet high, opposite the Princess land stage on the banks of the Mersey. It will be the first skyscraper ever built in England.

A Lake Ontario Freak.

Mr W. G. Gooderham sends a clipping from the Toronto Mirror of Oct. 8, 1845, copied from The Cobourg Star: "On Saturday last a most extraordinary occurrence was noticed in the lake at this place. Shortly before noon some gentlemen walking on the wharf happened to cast their eyes upon the water between the piers and were struck with the very unusual appearance of a current or tide as it were setting directly out to sea. It seemed as if the whole lake were going away. In a few minutes nearly a third part of the inner harbor, with a corresponding portion of the shore on either side, was left entirely bare, when suddenly the tide turned, and came as rapidly back again, filling the harbor at least two feet higher than it ever was before. The extraordinary action of the lake was continued at intervals of every eight or ten minutes, until after dark—the highest tide noticed being a little before six in the evening, when the water rose seven inches higher than it was last spring, and just two feet and one inch above its present level. We understand the same occurrence was noticed at other places on the lake, and hear that at Port Hope the effect was so great that the steamer Princess Royal could not get into the harbor at all, running aground when more than her length outside the entrance to the piers. The cause of so extraordinary a phenomenon is at present a matter of various conjecture, but the general opinion seems to be that it could only have been produced by a violent earthquake in some part of the continent which we shall probably soon hear of."

The Young Idea.

The following are specimens of some absurd and amusing answers made by schoolboys and schoolgirls in examination papers:

Iron is grown in large quantities for manufacturing purposes in southern France.

Gravity was discovered by Isaac Walton. It is chiefly noticeable in the autumn, when the apples are falling from the trees.

The diet of Worms is the grub that blackbirds and thrushes feed on.

Dog Smugglers.

Smuggling by dogs is greatly in vogue on the frontier between Italy and Switzerland notwithstanding all the efforts of the preventive men stationed along the hilly country north of Como. The dogs are trained for smuggling by first inculcating within them a mortal terror of the customs officers. This is done by dressing up a man in the custom house uniform, who thrashes the dog severely whenever he sees him, and the animal, having thus acquired a wholesale dread of the uniform, will fly for his life at the sight of a douanier. The smuggler on the Italian side, who owns the dog, pets it and treats it well, and when the dog is taken to the Swiss smuggler, whose tobacco is to be taken across the frontier, it is first kept chained up without food for some days, then packed round the body with a belt containing the contraband goods and hunted off with blows and cries. Needless to say, the dog's miraculous instinct makes him head straight for home. He rushes off at full speed, and once across the frontier he finds his beloved master and a warm welcome awaiting him.

Two Cambridge University Jests.

The fellow commoners were always at Cambridge called empty bottles, from the following circumstance that occurred at Emanuel: Wine merchants send their porters occasionally round the colleges to collect the bottles. One of these men, during the hour of lecture, knocked at the lecture room by mistake and called out "Empty bottles!" The tutor, then out of humor at being attended only by one fellow commoner when there were twenty in college, cried out: "Call again another time. I have now but one." This soon gathered wind, and these young gentlemen of the first class went afterward throughout the university by the name of "empty bottles."

As to professional students (some very few excepted), they are worse scholars leaving college than at their admission. I heard one tutor once censure a young man at lecture who had been nearly three years at college by saying that he knew less than a freshman who sat next him.

"Well, and what of it?" retorted the youth. "He is but just come from school!"—Cornhill Magazine.

THE GOLF BALL.

How Gravity is Foiled in its Flight Through the Air.

Professor Petrie Guthrie Tait had little skill at golf, but a vast deal at science. Among the many problems to which he applied his genius were some concerning that apparently simple thing, the flight of a golf ball. And here he found difficulties so baffling that, though he worked over them for years and called on other scientists for assistance, many mysteries still remained. One question that he solved, however, is of curious interest.

The force of gravity is the one force we know as most constant and inevitable. To defeat gravity is almost to suspend one of nature's laws. In his investigations Professor Tait suddenly became aware that gravity was defeated by the golf ball. The fact admitted no doubt. On timing the flight of the ball he discovered that it remained in the air almost twice as long as it should have under the influence of gravity. Thus, with gravity acting as usual on other things, a drive of 200 yards would be completed in three and a half seconds. A thrown ball, for example, describing the same trajectory, would remain in the air only that length of time. The golf ball in passing over that 200 yards floated serenely through the air for six and a half seconds.

It was clear, then, that in some manner the gravity was thwarted. Professor Tait attacked the problem of the means, and in the end he solved it. After searching long he found the cause of the prolonged flight in the rotation given to the ball by the club's impact. The secret lay in the manner of the stroke from the tee.

The first principle of the explanation is in the simple fact that an object poised in the air has an equal atmospheric pressure on it at all points. The second principle is that when a sphere rotates in a current of air the side of the sphere which is advancing to meet the current is subjected to greater pressure than is that side which is moving in the direction of the current. To illustrate, when the golfer slices his ball it is made to spin in such fashion that its front side is constantly in movement to the right. Therefore the pressure of the air is greater on the left side than on the right, and the ball curves to the right. When the ball is pulled, the operation is reversed, and the flight bends away to the left. So if the ball is topped the spinning direction of the front is downward. Thus the pull of gravity is aided and the flight is swiftly checked. But every properly driven ball receives an undercut. By the underspin thus imparted the front side of the ball is made to spin upward; the added pressure is from below and is in consequence directly opposed to gravity. The result is a flight sustained, but little less than twice as long as it would be without this underspin. Moreover, Professor Tait demonstrated that without this undercut when driving the ball would travel only about half its usual distance.

The ordinary golfer is quite unaware that he gives any underspin to his best drives, but he does. Without the undercut his driving would be a continuous failure.

THE RACCOON.

In Its Habits This Animal Greatly Resembles the Bear.

A coon seems to be a composite animal, made up of parts of bear, fisher and monkey, with considerable devil thrown in for luck, says a writer in Forest and Stream. He can use his fore paws as handily as a monkey, and what he cannot undo with his hands he can gnaw off with his teeth. As Miss Murfree—Charles Egbert Craddock—says in one of her stories, he has "a great deal of head stuffing." Any one who disbelieves in original sin had better keep a raccoon for a pet or try trapping one.

In captivity raccoons are very cleanly, often washing their hands and always washing every kind of food except eggs before eating. They know all about eggs without any teaching. One will take a hen's egg and, lying on his back, will toss it up and catch it as if it were a ball until, becoming tired of this amusement, he will hold it in the left hand and by tapping it lightly with one nail will drill a small hole in one end and then suck the contents. Its holding capacity is considerable, as I have known a tame one which got loose to kill a sitting hen and suck thirteen eggs. In this case thirteen was an unlucky number for the owner of the hen.

Raccoons love the vicinity of water, where they catch frogs and pick up some dead fish. In their habits they greatly resemble bears, and, like bears, they eat any kind of flesh or fish and most sorts of berries, nuts and grain; but, unlike bears, they do not remain steadily in their dens, but often, at any time in winter when there is a warm spell or a thaw, they will come out and travel for miles, sometimes going into open water to dig for frogs. A number of times when there were several feet of snow I have caught them in traps set for otter both in springs and in water too swift to freeze. Although I never trapped coons purposely, because they are not worth it, I have caught them in traps set for nearly everything else. One of the most comical sights I ever saw was a large coon caught by both fore feet in a beaver trap. He was standing on his hind feet, turning the trap first one way and then another, seeming to be studying what it was that had caught him.

With yawns or with a blushing face
He hears it all. He dares not raise
A single word of all the case.
What has he done to merit this?

A Chaotic Child.

Surely the mystery of life was greater than the mystery of death in the case of a five-months-old child which has been the subject of an inquest at Battersea. It had what the doctor calls "dumstick" fingers and toes, its heart was on the right side instead of the left, the position of the lungs was reversed, the aorta curved down the right side instead of the left, there was no spleen, the liver was on the wrong side, and there was no division between the two chambers of the heart, while the artery which should have supplied the lungs with blood was closed, the blood passing through a communication between the aorta and the remaining portion of the pulmonary artery. With all this jumbled anatomy the child lived, and the medical evidence proved that its death was not directly due to the disarranged organs, but to an attack of bronchitis. Still, death came mercifully, for the medical view was that if the little one had lived until it could stand it would have died of heart disease. That it breathed at all proves the tenacity of life and forms a comment on the vast sacrifice of healthily constituted children which annually results from negligence.

She Acquiesced.

The wife of one of the directors of the line was a passenger. She was an imperious woman, accustomed to having her own way, and when the ship began to roll she sent forthwith for the captain. A steward came instead. She scorned the steward and demanded the captain's presence immediately. The purser was the next sacrifice, and after he, the third officer and the first officer had all retired discomfited, with a flea in the ear, as the saying is, the captain came. By this time the rolling had increased, and the lady's voice was beginning to sound far away.

"I wish you to stop this rolling at once," she said to the captain.

"Madam," said the captain, "a ship, as you know, is feminine, and if she wants to roll I fear that I can no more stop her than I could help coming here when you wished to see me."

It was a naive bit of flattery directed at her weakest point, and, despite the green tinge of her complexion that foretold an immediate attack of mal de mer, the woman smiled.

"Very well, sir," she faintly murmured, closing her eyes. "Let—let her roll."

Value of a Laugh.

The value of a good natured laugh may be rated low by some people, but many writers have attested its worth in no measured terms.

It is not surprising that the merry Charles Lamb should have said, "A laugh is worth 100 groans in any market," but from the lips of the somber Carlyle one is scarcely prepared to hear, "No man who has once heartily and wholly laughed can be altogether or irreclaimably bad."

It was Douglas Jerrold who boldly stated that "what wit talked of as the golden chain of Jove was nothing but a succession of laughs, a chromatic scale of merriment reaching from earth to Olympus."

"I am persuaded," wrote Laurence Sterne, "that every time a man smiles, but much more so when he laughs, it adds something to his fragment of life."

Last of all comes the verdict of Dr. Holmes, given with his own inimitable humor, "The riotous tumult of a laugh I take it, is the mob law of the features, and propriety the magistrate who reads the riot act."

"Hold the Rudder True."

If you have enemies, go straight on and don't mind them. If they get in your way, walk around them regardless of their spite. A man who has no enemies is seldom good for anything. He is made of that kind of material which is so easily worked that every one has a hand in it. A sterling character is one who thinks for himself and speaks what he thinks. He is always sure to have enemies. They are as necessary to him as fresh air. They keep him alive and active. A celebrated character who was surrounded by enemies used to remark, "They are sparks which if you do not blow will go out of themselves." "Live down prejudice," was the Iron Duke's motto. Let this be your feeling while endeavoring to live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute, you do but as they desire and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellows talk. There will be a reaction if you perform your duty, and hundreds who were once alienated from you will flock to you and acknowledge their error.—Selected.

Interesting Collection.

Capt. Edward Gander, of the 19th Regiment, St. Catharines, Ont., is the proud possessor of a complete collection of badges of regiments throughout the British Empire. This fine collection is the result of years of patient effort and it is no doubt the best of its kind in America. A short time ago Capt. Gander received two solid silver "skull and crossbones" badges of the famous Seventeenth Lancers (Death and Glory Boys) from his friend, Maj.-Gen. Cooke, who was at one time in command of the regiment. When asked by a would-be purchaser what price he put on his collection, Capt. Gander stated that money could not buy it.

Sold Prince Rupert.

Prince Rupert townsite has been sold outright. The sum involved is $100,000, and a substantial sum has been paid down to bind the bargain. The purchasers are Capt. Matthew Machatter, J. R. Patton, and associates, who are said to be New York capitalists.

There is ample capital behind the purchasing association, and work will be commenced at once on the construction of wharves, streets, approaches, etc. Arrangements have been made by which a regular first-class steamship line will call as soon as the wharves are ready to be tied up to, which will be in the near future.

THE GREAT INTERNATIONAL MISSIONARY INSTITUTE OPENS IN PETERBOROUGH ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

ARRANGEMENTS are now completed for the Missionary Institute, to commence on Monday evening, May 4, at 8 o'clock.

While delegates are to be present from outside the city, the committees are desirous of allowing the public to have the benefit of these meetings, and an urgent appeal is made to the citizens of Peterborough to give their sympathy and prayers, as well as their presence, at all sessions.

The address of the Rev. Canon Tucker, D.C.L., on Monday evening, on "The Call of the Canadian West," will be very inspiring, and from all other speakers a treat is expected.

Many kind friends have opened up their homes to the visitors who will attend, and at this time of the year it is great appreciated by the committee.

Y. M. C. A. REPORT FOR APRIL

From Spiritual, Physical and Outdoor Sports Standpoint—Many Meetings Held.

A CAMP REUNION HELD

The report of the work at the Y. M. C. A. during April is as follows:

Spiritual.—Four Sunday afternoon meetings were held, the total attendance being 300.

Bible Classes—W. B Warne, teacher; four classes, average attendance 10, total 45. A Poe, teacher; four classes, average attendance 8, total 33. H C. Wright, leader; one class, attendance 7. J C. Ellis, leader; three classes, average attendance 7, total 20. W J. Dunlop, leader; two classes, average attendance 5, total 11. Dr. Middleton, leader; two classes, average attendance 27, total 55.

One class has closed for the season, but two new ones have started. This shows an increase over our average attendance of last month.

Social.—A very successful reception was held by the B.Y.P.U. of Murray street church to about 150 of our members and friends. Dr. Middleton's Bible Class held a banquet, at which nearly thirty were present, and which closed a most successful season of Bible study in this department. One Strangers' Fellowship Club tea has been held and seven strangers' tickets issued. The Debating Club closed another successful season with a banquet, at which a large number were present.

Physical Work

Junior School Boys' Class, four meetings, total attendance 53, average 13.

Senior School Boys' Class, seven meetings, total attendance 64, average 9.

Senior Men's Class, six meetings, total attendance 155, average 26.

Intermediates' Class, seven meetings, total attendance 127, average 18.

Fencing Class, eight meetings, total attendance 64, average 8.

Total number of meetings, 32; total attendance, 463, total average, 74.

Two outside games of basketball have been played, in which our teams made an excellent showing. The first was with the Toronto seniors, when they succeeded in defeating the local team by only seven points which were gained on fouls, and the second when the local team defeated Midland by 45 points to 23.

Our closing exhibition was held on April 23 and proved a success in every way.

Outdoor Sports

Outdoor sports have been organized. Football, baseball and lacrosse clubs have been successfully launched. A tramp club and a canoe club have also been started.

A camp reunion was held and things look rosy for a good summer camp.

The Y. M. C. A. Building will be used as a rest room during the Missionary Institute.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE INSTITUTE

Missionary Exhibit Will be Ready by Monday Afternoon.

The missionary exhibit in connection with the Missionary Institute of next week will be under the supervision of Miss Winnifred D. Crouch of Toronto. She will arrive in the city on Saturday to see that all arrangements are perfected before the Institute opens. There will be a meeting of all the members of the Exhibit Committee at 3 p.m. on Saturday in the Y.W.C.A.

A final meeting of the General Committee, which has in charge all the arrangements of the Institute, will be held on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in the Y.W.C.A. It is expected that all arrangements will be ready for the opening of the exhibit on Monday afternoon, May 4, at 2 o'clock. Curios that are being locally contributed will be received at St. John's Sunday school room after 9.30 Monday morning.

AUTOGRAPH SOCIAL WAS A SUCCESS

Given by the Willing Workers of Murray Street Baptist Church.

The autograph social, given by the Willing Workers of Murray street Baptist church last night was attended by two hundred and fifteen persons, and, therefore, was a great success. The programme was an interesting one from beginning to end, and greatly appreciated. The chairman was Mr. Dunlop, who, in opening, explained the work of the society. After singing the Diadem hymn, and offering prayer, the following programme was presented:

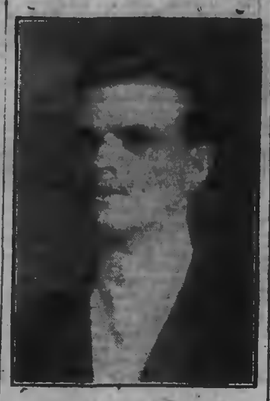
Piano Duet—Misses Hope Miller and Viola Fraser.

Dialogue — "Country Cousins" — Misses Hazel Kidd, Edna Yelland, Amy Hardwicke, Lottie Mollmoyle, and Messrs. John Hardwicke and Percy Blade.

Solo—Miss Olive Howell.
Recitation—Miss Greta LeBar.
Solo—Mr. Edwin Hooker.
Recitation—Master Batley.
Solo—Mr. H. C. Wright.
Solo—Miss Greta LeBar.
Solo—Miss Clara Kidd.

Dialogue—"Applications for a Country School Master"—Messrs. W. Garbutt, R. Lang, W. Shiner, W. Yelland, F. Webber, H. Cross, J. Ellis, A. Stabler and John Hardwicke.

After the programme, refreshments consisting of lemonade and cake were served by the young ladies, closing an enjoyable evening. The proceeds amounted to more than $40.



REV. A. E. ARMSTRONG,
Of Toronto, Assistant Secretary of the Mission Society of Presbyterian Church in Cadada.

The Y.W. C. A. Young Women's Christian Association, which will provide a resting place for Visiting Delegates.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The following are the questions relative to the Sunday School lesson for Sunday, May 3rd:—

"Our Heavenly Home" John 14

Golden Text—In My Father's house are many mansions. John 14-2.

Verses 1-3—What were the disciples troubled about?

Was there any need for trouble?

Is there any need for trouble when our friends leave earth for heaven?

What reasons are there against being troubled; and in favour of being comforted when a Christian dies.

From what the Bible says of Heaven, how many good things can you say concerning it? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Will there be any sex in Heaven?

How large a place do you conceive Heaven to be?

Would you think that the citizens of Heaven know what is going on on earth?

What did Jesus mean when He said He would come back for them?

Verses 4-5—What is the road to Heaven?

Verse 6—What did Jesus mean by saying He was "the Way, the Truth and the Life?

What is your idea of the meaning of being reconciled to God, and admitted to Heaven, only through Jesus?

May those who have never heard of the historic Jesus be saved by Him?

What does it imply to ask anything in Jesus name?

Is it literally true that anything and everything we may ask in Jesus' name will be done, and if not what is the limit?

Verses 15-17—Do all who love God keep his commandments?

Who is the Comforter, the Holy Spirit?

Who are those who can and those who cannot see and know the Holy Spirit?

Verses 18-24—What method does God take to comfort his people?

Which ministers most to spiritual life, seeing Jesus in the flesh or seeing him in the spirit?

Is it literally true that Jesus lives in God, the Christian in Jesus and Jesus in him, and if so explain it?

Verses 25-27—Does the Holy Ghost teach us really as Jesus did and what is the proof that he does so teach?

Lesson for Sunday May 10th, 1908; The Mission of the Holy Spirit. John 15: 26-16; 24.

EVOLUTION OF EVIL, THE SUBJECT

Sunday Meeting at Y. M. C. A.—Other Meetings Announced.

Rev. H. J. Keith will speak on "The Evolution of Evil" at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be special music, and every man is invited to attend. Mr. Walter Maguire, assistant physical director of the Y.M.C.A. of Montreal, will be present and take part.

The Saturday Night Bible Club, led by Mr. A. Poe, meets as usual tonight at 8 o'clock.

On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock any young man is invited to attend the Bible classes. The subjects under study by the different classes are: 1. The Sunday School Lesson; 2. Personal Christian Work; 3. The Training of Teachers; 4. (Boys), Life of Christ.

REV. CANON TUCKER, D. C. L.,
Will Speak on "The Call of the Canadian West" at Missionary Institute on Monday Night in St. Paul's Church.

Verses 7-11—Is it true, that all who were true to God accepted Jesus when they met Him?

Do all those to-day who harmonize with God, also believe in Jesus when they know him?

State your views as to Jesus being in all particulars a full and sufficient revelation of God when he is fully known?

What did Jesus mean by, "I am in the Father and the Father in me"?

Is it true of all lovers of God, that they are in the Father and the Father in them?

What is the proof to the world that any particular man is a Christian?

Verses 12-14—Was this statement of Jesus that his followers should do greater works than he had done, confined to the Apostles or meant for all his followers in all time?

What limit can you put to-day upon

Queen Esther

—There will be a rehearsal of the cantata, "Esther," the beautiful queen, at the Conservatory Music Hall on Monday evening. Members of the chorus who are unable to attend are requested to return their vocal scores.

DOES GOD PERMIT SIN?

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—An editorial in the Review of the 30th April on the "drinking" habit has the following sentence:

"It must be remembered that the Creator Himself permits sin."

Truly, "a little learning is a dangerous thing." The Lord, He is God; with Him is no consciousness of evil. The Scriptures say: "He created all things, and pronounced them very good." How could He create and permit anything so unlike Himself as sin?

Whatever comes not from God, has its origin in the human senses. Evil is, therefore, only real to mortal man. Do not the Scriptures declare that "God is too pure to behold iniquity"?

But man says God must know sin and evil because He knows all things. Now, Holy Writ declares that God told our first parents that in the day when they should partake of the fruit of evil they must surely die. Would it not absurdly follow that God Himself must perish if He knows sin or evil? and evil necessarily leads to extinction.

If God knows evil at all, He must have had foreknowledge of it; and if He foresaw it, He must have ordered it afore-time. Can it be possible that evil was among those things that He pronounced very good? If man must be destroyed by the knowledge of evil, then his destruction comes through the knowledge from God, and the creature is to be punished for this likeness to his Creator!

God is sinless, and man is called sinful: but, if the thought of sin could be possible in Deity, would Deity then be sinless?

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. ANDERSON

The Remains Taken to Harriston This Morning.

The funeral of the late Mr. Thomas Anderson, who died on Saturday, was held this morning from the family residence, 213 London street. The remains were conveyed to the C. P. R. station and expressed to Harriston, Ont., on the 5.26 o'clock train. A funeral service was held at the home last night, Rev. Robt. Pogue and Rev. H. J. Keith officiating.

The pall-bearers were Bros. W. Miles, D. Wallace, W. G. McKee, and J. W. Buyers, of the I. D. F., and Messrs. J. W. Carey and R. McGill. There were many beautiful floral offerings received from friends of the family, including tributes from the C.O.F. and I.O.F. Mrs. Anderson, Miss W. Anderson, Mr. S. Anderson and Leighton Anderson accompanied the body to Harriston, where interment took place.

MR. J. J. HOWDEN SELLS OUT TO MR. ROBT. COX

The Central Meat Market Changes Hands After a Long and Prosperous Business.

Attention is called to the announcement in another column of the purchase by Mr. Robt. Cox of East City of Mr. John J. Howden's meat business at No. 461 George street, known as the Central Meat Market. This is an old-established business, having been successfully conducted by Mr. Howden in the present premises about a quarter of a century. The new proprietor, Mr. Robt. Cox, is a son of Mr. Henry Cox of East City. He is a young man who has devoted special attention to the breeding, feeding, buying and selling of cattle, and should be well posted in his business. He has engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood, as manager, who is well known as a thoroughly practical man in the cutting and handling of all kinds of meats.

ADVANCE OF LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT

$12,000, in Cash, Placed on Collection Plates at One Service

As an evidence of the great influence which the Laymen's Missionary Movement exerts upon the churches, it is very pleasing to note that the missionary contributions of St. Paul's, Toronto, of which Rev. Canon Cody is the rector, have increased from $5,400 to $13,000. At a service recently held at St. Paul's $12,000 in cash was placed on the offertory plates during the service. This is merely one instance among many others.

Rev. A. H. Brace Bids His Congregation Farewell

Briefly Reviews the Results of His Pastorate in Peterborough at His Final Service at Park Street Church—A Large Attendance.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP

Rev. A. H. Brace concluded his pastorate at the Park Street Baptist Church last night and formally bade farewell to the congregation, for whose spiritual welfare he has laboured successfully during the past five years. Mr. Brace's leave-taking was a very pathetic one, as he is severing bonds of friendship which only a minister realizes. He goes to his new field in Cobourg, bearing with him the best wishes of the many friends who have made his acquaintance since his coming to this city.

An unusually large congregation was present to bid the pastor farewell and to assist in the last service at which he officiates in Peterborough.

Before commencing his sermon, Mr. Brace made a brief review of what the church had accomplished while he had been its minister. He had baptized one hundred and five persons. Of these, many were heads of families, a most encouraging fact. He had officiated at forty marriages, and his was the longest pastorate since the church was opened. There were seventy-two members on the roll when Mr. Brace entered upon his duties, and during his term this number has been more than doubled. He has performed more than three times as many marriages as any of his predecessors. Two members of the church had entered the ministry and two others are at college taking preparatory courses.

Treasury Strengthened

Mr. Brace said he had found the treasury empty and the church premises mortgaged. All the debts have been removed, and $1,000 is now in the bank at interest, and other money has been promised.

Mr. Brace's text was from the second epistle of St. Paul, 13; 11.—"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you." A farewell, he said, is full of pathos. Life is made of meetings and partings, and the removals are the pathetic side of a minister's life. To leave one's friends is a wrench to his emotional nature.

Rev. Mr. Brace thanked the congregation for their assistance in the past and the good will they had always shown him.

REV. A. H. BRACE,
Who preached his farewell sermon at the Park Street Baptist Church last night. He leaves for Cobourg to-morrow.

SHOTS STACCOED IN THE NIGHT

And North End Residents Are Trying to Find Out the Reason Therefor.

The residents in the vicinity of Reid and McDohel streets are still scratching their wisdom bump in an effort to arrive at the cause of the six shots that were fired on Thursday night, about eleven o'clock. Some of the householders are inclined to think that it was an attempt to shoot a dog, as the howls of some canine immediately followed the shooting. Dogs, however, naturally howl at sudden noises and it might have been some one with a new revolver, amusing himself with the explosions. Whatever it was, the neighbours are at a loss to understand the real cause.

"DEGENERATE'S OPINION" AGAIN TO THE FRONT

Mr. W. A. Bailey Writes About Sunday Ball Playing.

"HIKING CLUB" VISITED CHEMONG

Dauntless Four Make the Journey in Disagreeable Weather.

The Y. M. C. A. Hiking Club were out for a jaunt on Saturday, despite the disagreeable nature of the elements, and made Chemong Park and back. Four of the members braved the threatening skies, leaving the city at 3 o'clock and doing the six miles out in one hour and ten minutes. They had tea at Sergt.-Major Brittain's cottage, and returned in one hour and twenty minutes, which, considering the weather and roads, was pretty fair.

The club intend next Saturday to "hike" to Springville, a distance of seven miles and return. They will visit Dr. Marsh and study astronomy for an hour.

OLD ESTABLISHED MEAT BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

I have pleasure in announcing to the public that I have bought out the long-established "Central Meat Market," carried on by Mr. John J. Howden, at No. 461 George street, and that I will continue the business in the same premises.

Having had a life-long knowledge of the cattle business, I can confidently solicit the patronage of the customers of the old firm, as everything will be conducted in the most up-to-date manner.

I have also engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood as manager. He is a thoroughly experienced man, well known to the patrons of the store, and he will be pleased to serve all in a satisfactory manner.

ROBERT COX,

Successor to John J. Howden.

CITIZEN COMPLAINS TO POLICE

Says That Dalhousie Street Boy is Constantly Throwing Stones.

A Dalhousie street resident complained at the police station on Saturday that a young lad, about ten years of age, who also resides on the street, has been throwing stones at different persons. On one occasion, the complainer stated, the boy struck his son on the head with a stone and he has not been the same since. Shortly afterwards his little daughter was struck, but did not fare so badly.

The police advised that an information be laid against the boy, but the man refused and left the station.

A Girl In Politics.

By LESTER GREY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by the Associated Literary Press.

If the Hon. Tom Paxton had been making out a schedule of his personal property a portion of it would have read as follows:

"Sole owner and proprietor of the Steenth congressional district.

"Sole owner of one spinster sister.

"Sole owner of one charming daughter."

The honorable Tom secured possession of the Steenth district during a brain storm of reform, and he immediately started in to make it a life job. At the rate of this record he was serving the last weeks of his fourth term and laying his wires for a fifth. He was keeping an eye on the interests of the country and neglecting few opportunities to advance "the cause," when he received a letter that started him off for home. He arrived there to face his sister and daughter and demand to know what it was all about.

Fate may have nothing to do with a kettle of hot soft soap boiling over and blistering the feet of a farmer's wife, but everybody knows that it has all to do with love. If Arthur Clayton hadn't graduated in law and been in Lexington one day to see what the chances were of hanging out his shingle, and if Jennie Paxton hadn't been acting as chauffeur of her own auto, the young man and the auto would not have collided on the street.

He was taken to a hotel to get the better of the shock and the cuts and bruises, and the conscience stricken girl sent him flowers and messages of regret. Had she had the business instincts of her father she would have sent him a five dollar bill instead and told him to sue for the balance. The spinster aunt saw romance, admiration and love mixed up with the accident, and after the victim was able to limp out and had made a call she wrote to her brother that the danger signal was out. This letter brought him home as he was in the midst of a nice little deal, the particulars of which would never find their way in the Congressional Record.

The honorable Thomas came home to smash things. He was no orator. He had never yet even moved that the house do now adjourn. He did fairly well, though, on this his maiden effort. He said he would be hanged and be durned and be blowed if he would have it so. He would burst the aspirations of that gander shanked lawyer in a day. He would lock his daughter down cellar or upstairs, and if she dug her way out with an old case knife and married Clayton she and her thirteen wailing children might freeze and thaw and starve for all of him. Then he wound up his oratory with:

"Drop it! Drop it right now! There's nothing in love, but there's a heap in politics. I've brought home a griptul of my private papers, and I want you to overhaul and classify them. A politician's daughter should know something about politics."

Jennie was silenced, and therefore the father took it that she was convinced and cowed. The honorable Tom was deceived. He knew men, but he didn't know girls. If he had, he would have realized that they are the most dangerous when they cease to argue and protest. Not that his daughter could have told him, had she been ever so frank, that she was really in love with the briefless young lawyer who had been knocked into the gutter by her auto, but she might have hinted that fate had a great deal to do with such things and that she should abide by fate.

Having smashed things to his own satisfaction, the sole owner of the Steenth congressional district went back to the capital and his desk, while his daughter sat down in the library to overhaul the papers, and things ran on peacefully. Not that there were no more meetings, but the spinster aunt did not know of them; not that romance and fate fell down, but Jenule did not do any talking in her sleep and played the artful dodger when leading questions were asked.

The honorable Tom had packed up the papers in a hurry and had put in what ever came to hand first, and some of them made very interesting reading. The day after the last one had been read and classified under the head of "Danger! Look out for the locomotive!" the young lady and the young man went for a ride in the vehicle that had played fate with him.

At a proper moment he asked a question that greatly concerned the future of both, and at another proper moment she blushed and said "yes." Then she proceeded to tell him that her father would see her in her grave before consenting to the match, and she held up such a vision of paternal wrath and obduracy that he dropped back from the seventh heaven to the first. Then he was taken into partnership as a conspirator and lifted back again, and there was much rejoicing during the remainder of the ride.

A few days later the honorable Tom arrived home to tinker up his political fences and lay his ear to the ground. He had about concluded to bestow the hand of his daughter on a member of the house who was serving his first term and stealing government lands in the west at the rate of 5,000 acres a week. He was no monopolist and was willing to help the honorable Tom to go and do likewise.

"Oh, daddy, but you'll be surprised to learn how much I know about politics!" announced the demure daughter after receiving the fatherly kiss. "I haven't been studying three months yet, and still I know almost as much as you do about them."

The father grunted his approbation and said he would see her in the library that evening. When the hour arrived he suddenly remembered the event of three months previous, and in a benevolent and jocular manner he asked what had became of the milksop of a lawyer that had been hanging around after her when he was home last.

"You mean Mr. Clayton," she replied. "It was about him that I wanted to speak to you. He will be here tomorrow night to ask your consent to our marriage.

"The devil he will!"

"We dearly love each other, and I'm sure you will consent. He comes of a fine family and is going to work hard and do his best to get to the top."

"Drop it!" said the honorable, with a wave of his hand.

"But you won't be so cruel, daddy. I have been engaged to him for almost three weeks now, and it will break my heart if you oppose me."

"Cut it out. I thought you wanted to talk politics with me."

"So I did, daddy, dear. I have looked over and classified all those papers and learned all about politics. I think I could run a campaign now with Mr. Clayton's assistance. You must know he is quite an orator. You have probably heard that Mr. Fillington is going to be your opponent this time, and Mr. Clayton may take the stump for him?"

The honorable Tom grunted. Mr. Fillington was a strong man.

"You know, daddy," continued the daughter, "those letters from the two railroads asking you to use your influence to kill certain bills would be ammunition if they fell into the hands of the enemy. And you seem to have done something for a certain trust for which they write you that you will find stock inclosed, and you appear to have acquired 50,000 acres of government land in a rather mysterious manner. There's a letter about it calling it the land 'whack.' Is 'whack' something like 'addition, division and silence?'"

The honorable Tom hitched uneasily on his chair and grunted some more.

"Then I found shares in three or four corporations, an agreement about a mine, a copy of a letter from you stating that a certain bill would be killed in committee and various other interesting things. I couldn't sleep nights if I thought that Mr. Fillington might get hold of this evidence of your loyalty to your party and country."

"Humph!" grunted the honorable Tom as several files that had been buzzing around the room suddenly lit on him.

"And one thing more, daddy. This is in strict confidence. The editor of the Argus is on the snoop. He says you are with the coal roads and down on all investigations and that you've made a million dollars in your four terms. You see, daddy, if he should get hold"—

"What do yer want?" interrupted the father as he brushed at the flies.

"Why, we want your consent. I think that will keep Mr. Clayton off the stump. I think it will."

"What else?"

"And then I think you might draw me a check for at least $5,000. It was worth that to learn the game of politics."

"Darned if I don't!" replied the honorable as he drew his check book toward him. He owned the Steenth congressional district, but he knew when he was a licked man.

"And about politics?" asked Jennie when she had received her check. "Shall I study them any more?"

"Guff! I used to think that if the question of woman's rights came up in the house I'd vote in the affirmative, but now I'll be hanged if I do!"

And then he smiled grimly and put on his hat and went out to make all necessary arrangements to bury the ambitious Mr. Fillington so deep that the seventh generation of American patriots couldn't find his political skeleton.

A Wayside Wedding.

"One Sunday afternoon," says Elder J. W. Cook in his book, "Forty-five Years a Minister," "as I was traveling along the road I chanced to meet a young couple who were carrying a bucket of provender to the hogs.

"I knew they had been neighbors and sweethearts for years, and as I came up I could see that he was urging her to do something which she bashfully opposed.

"When I reached them, however, she appeared to have been won over, for they dropped their pail, and the young man said:

"'Sallie's just said yes, parson. How'd it do to jine us right where we're at?'

"I suggested perhaps we'd better go into the house, but he seemed to be afraid she would change her mind. So I called a passing horseman—a stranger—to act as witness.

"The bride and the bridegroom wiped their hands on their clothes and stood up there, with a field full of hogs for a background and a wayfarer whom nobody knew as a witness, and were married as safely as in a house of wealth.

"The young man said, 'Thank you,' and kissed his bride. They picked up their bucket and resumed their errand.

"It just happened the girl had been over on a neighborly visit to the young man's folks, and by reason of my appearance at the critical moment the boy was able to sweep away her scruples.

"You see," the elder adds, with humorous appreciation, "in those days preachers were so scarce in the back settlements that whenever one appeared in a community they always expected him to do something."

THE CHARM OF ISLANDS.

What Is Missed by Those Who Live Far From the Sea.

No men of the world are so to be pitied, I think, as those who dwell far from the sea. They shall never know but a piece of life. A plain, to be sure, is very well. It responds delicately enough to the humor of the seasons, changing from green to gold, from gold to dun, from dun to white. It has, too, its moods, its laughters, its melancholies, its rushings of the wind, its illimitability of the dark. A hill, though, is better—that is, a hill that looks across a plain, never one that is huddled among its fellows, for there one is caught like a beetle in a cup. A hill gives one a sense of freedom and a perspective upon the world. It is something to look down on the parquetry of field and town and wood and stream, to keep vigil upon the drama woven invisibly below one's eyes. And it has moments—a hill; certain nights of stars, certain bursts of storm, certain iridescent afternoons, when the whole tragedy of autumn is unrolled at one's feet.

But above all else in the world give me an island! There is your true microcosmos! There you hold in your hand, as it were, the essence and epitome of the universe. Your own earth spreads under your feet. Your own sky hangs over your head. Your own sea encircles you. Your own portion of life is meted out to you day by day, distinct from that of other men. For not the least charm of an island is its privacy. An islet, of course, I mean—one from which you may catch the glint of water on every side. Otherwise your island is no better than a pasture. Whether you be a hermit or whether you have a book of verses underneath the bough—and the requisite concomitants—or whatever be your personal circumstances, you are yet divided from a hostile or indifferent world. You are at liberty to feel and to test your own personality. You are not overborne by the rush of humanity which is the burden of terra firma.

Inheritance of the Blind.

The blind child—the deaf blind child—has inherited the mind of seeing and hearing ancestors, a mind measured to five senses. Therefore he must be influenced, even if it be unknown to himself, by the light, color, song, which have been transmitted through the language he is taught, for the chambers of the mind are ready to receive that language. The brain of the race is so permeated with color that it dyes even the speech of the blind. Every object I think of is stained with the hue that belongs to it by association and memory. The experience of the deaf blind person in a world of seeing, hearing people is like that of a sailor on an island where the inhabitants speak a language unknown to him, whose life is unlike that he has lived. He is one; they are many. There is no chance of compromise. He must learn to see with their eyes, to hear with their ears, to think their thoughts, to follow their ideals.—Helen Keller in Century.

Sheridan's Star Actor.

When Sheridan was a manager he even indulged in such catering to the public taste as offering to the public a dog piece by Reynolds, entitled "The Caravan; or, The Driver and the Dog." Of its first presentation it is recorded that Sheridan after witnessing the performance suddenly entered the greenroom, shouting: "Where is he? Where is my guardian angel?" Presuming he meant to congratulate the author, Reynolds replied, "Here I am!" "Pooh," replied Sheridan, "I don't mean you; I mean the dog." Later one Dignum, who played in the piece, approached Sheridan one night with woeful countenance, saying: "Sir, there is no guarding against illness. It is truly lamentable to stop the run of a successful play like this, but really"— "Really what?" cried Sheridan, interrupting him. "I am so unwell that I cannot go on longer than tonight." "You!" exclaimed Sheridan. "My good fellow, you terrified me. I thought you were going to say the dog was ill."

THE ENCHANTED MESA.

Story of Great Disaster Which Wiped Out the Population.

The story of the enchanted mesa was but a tradition when in 1541 the Spaniards first visited the pueblo of Acoma, in what is now Valencia county, N. M. Powerful tribes inhabited the region. These tribes or nations were constantly at war with each other, which accounts for the fortified character of the villages of the natives. The Queres, whose descendants now occupy Acoma, held this region and dwelt in small fortified towns, the capital of which was Acoma. It was not, however, the Acoma of today, but a city perched upon the top of the great rock now called Mesa Encantada. It was the magnificent city of the nation, and there dwelt the great men of the tribe, together with their families.

The rock then, as now, was unscalable, save at the one point where a narrow and precipitous trail led up the dizzy height. While not the most convenient dwelling place, for neither water nor vegetation was to be found upon the summit, it was safe from the attacks of foes. One man at the top of the trail could defend the city against the warriors of the entire west. One day, while a large number of the inhabitants were at work in the fields on the plain below or attending to the affairs of the tribe in the various neighboring villages, something within the rock or in the earth beneath it awoke to life and motion. There was a heaving, a squirming and a shivering of the great rock, and, with a mighty noise, it parted in twain, and a portion fell in fragments to the plain below.

Such persons as were carried down in the debris were crushed to death. A worse fate remained for those left prisoners on the top of the mesa, for that which fell carried away the narrow trail, the only means of ascent and descent. The stranded ones perished from thirst and starvation. The present Acoma family are the descendants of disaster. Ethnologists who visited the top of the rock some years ago found unmistakable evidences that it had once been the site of habitation. The story of the disaster had previous to that time been discredited and considered but an idle Indian legend. The discovery of the ancient ruins, however, seemed confirmatory of the tale, and it has since been credited.

HARDNESS OF DIAMONDS.

The Stones Can Be Forced by Pressure Into Steel Blocks.

A word as to the hardness of diamonds. They vary much in this respect. Even different parts of the same crystal differ in their resistance to cutting and grinding. So hard is diamond in comparison to glass that a suitable splinter of diamond will plane curls off a glass plate as a carpenter's tool will plane shavings off a deal board. Another experiment that will illustrate its hardness is to place a diamond on the flattened end of a conical block of steel and upon it bring another similar cone of steel. If I force them together with hydraulic power, I can force the stone into the steel blocks without injuring the diamond in the least. The pressure which I have brought to bear in this experiment has been equal to 170 tons a square inch of diamond.

The only serious rival of the diamond in hardness is the metal tantalum. In an attempt to bore a hole through a plate of this metal a diamond drill was used, revolving at the rate of 5,000 revolutions a minute. This whirling force was continued ceaselessly for three days and nights, when it was found that only a small point one-fourth of a millimeter deep had been drilled, and it was a moot point which had suffered most damage, the diamond or the tantalum.

After exposure for some time to the sun many diamonds glow in a dark room. One beautiful green diamond in my collection when phosphorescing in a vacuum gives almost as much light as a candle, and yoh can easily read by its rays. But the time has hardly come when we can use diamonds as domestic illuminants.—Sir William Crookes in North American Review.

Good Reasoning.

"I don't see, madam, how you can expect us to pay any claim under your husband's accident policy."

"Well, you see it was this way: When he asks which it was, a boy or a girl, and the nurse said that he was the father of triplets, he dropped. Now, his death was due to an accident."

"How do you make that out?"

"It was an accident of birth."

Stropping a Razor.

In stropping a razor the blade should be drawn across the strop from the heel to the point, at the same time going the full length of the strop. In shaving this motion should be reversed, the blade traveling from point to heel. The reason of this is that the edge of the blade has tiny, sawlike teeth, and the opposite movements use these to the best advantage.

Opened by Mistake.

Absentmindedly the young woman yawned.

"Pardon me," she said. "I didn't mean to do that."

"I see," responded Mr. Lingerlong. "Opened by mistake."

A Vast Difference.

"Don't I give you all the money you need?" her husband complained.

"Yes," she replied, "but you told me before we were married that you would give me all I wanted."—London Tatler.

Thomas paused to wipe the sweat stretched himself.

Why do you stop for such an in-nificant thing as a midday meal?"
ried Desmond amusedly, and then words died on his lips at the sight the girl who was bringing Thomas' ner pail. She wore a pretty blue co gown which gave a glimpse of white throat. Her eyes were gray frank as a child's. Brown hair

No!" This guessing game was mak-
Desmond most uncomfortable.
Oh, then, you're on the street clean-forces!" she laughed triumphantly.
Nonsense, Kitty!" her uncle inter-
ed. "What's the good of all these estions? He's what I told you he s—a gentleman of leisure."
Kitty's face grew grave.
You've been ill maybe and not fit work?" She turned to Desmond dictously.
I don't work at all except when I to!" he blurted.
Oh!" said Kitty, and Thomas' iced was not half so cold as her voice.
d best be running home now," she d to her uncle. "The children will ald," she added, with a half glance er her shoulder at the miserable Desnd.

She's a great one to hustle, is Kit-
" observed her uncle, his proud eyes tching her retreating form.
Do they need extra men at this ?" was Desmond's abrupt query.
They do," replied Thomas, and Desnd went to work next day. It was y hot, and his muscles ached, and began to think how refreshing it uld be to be sprawled on a park nch drowsily reading a paper and ening to the sparrows twittering out the fountain. Shoveling at the mp was the hardest work that Desnd had done in the course of his enty-five years.
Bad luck to me for tackling it!" he ttered. "And wou't I get out of it the mischief of a hurry!"
With noon came Kitty and Thomas'
ner pail.
It is only for a sight of you that I'm re," announced Desmond.
Did you kiss the blarney stone for akfast?" said Kitty. Her look of proval brightened Desmond some-at, but he was still in a disgruntled od.
What's the use of a man's having rock at all?" he complained. "That's at I don't see! Of course it's differ-if you have a fine, easy job. I wish ad one like Matthew Carroll—no work and plenty of pay—or Jim Joan-son's, boaning a lot of ditch diggers.
That's a comfortable thing! 'Twas by pull he got it, and I wish I had his luck. Then," with a meaning glance at Kitty—"then I'd have a wife and live in fine style."
Kitty's cheeks flamed and her eyes flashed.
"The man I marry," she cried, "will fight his own way up. He'll have a backbone, not a wishbone, Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald."
The phrase dwelt with Desmond the rest of the day. He shoveled venge-fully.
"A backbone instead of a wishbone," he kept repeating. "The cheek of the girl to say a thing like that to me!"
His anger at Kitty became more and more poignant, and when Thomas spoke to him he made it apparent that he wished to have nothing further to do with any member of the family of Macdonough.
Next noon a tousle headed youngster brought Thomas' dinner pail.
"Where's Kitty?" Desmond ventured to inquire.
"Sick." Thomas was huskily laconic.
Desmond's anger cooled with a suddenness astonishing even to himself. A lump rose to his throat and a quick mist to his eyes. Sick, was she, the poor girl! Like as not she had overworked helping her aunt and the children. What she needed was some one to watch over her and take care of her.
He would buy her some flowers that very evening. But when he came to turn out his pockets he found that 50 cents comprised his worldly store.
"It will buy a dozen of some kind of posies, though," he thought, "and what's a bite to eat compared to that?
I'm not hungry, anyhow."
He found his way to Kitty's tenement with a box of pink carnations, and Kitty's aunt opened the door.
"Who will I say they're from?" she questioned in the subdued tones people use in sickrooms.
"Tell—tell her they're from Desmond," he stammered, swallowing hard. He groped his way down the rickety stairs, inwardly determined to send her roses every other day. As for the money, he could work evenings. There were always plenty of odd jobs for a man who was willing.
So each morning Thomas told him how she was, and all day long and far into the night Desmond worked with passionate energy, an energy which helped him in part to forget two dreadful questions: What if Kitty didn't get well? And what if there were another man whom she loved?
"And not the lazy vagabond I must have seemed," reflected poor Desmond, musing bitterly on his wasted years.
But Kitty gained and gained and was sitting on a rocking chair by the window when Desmond went to see her, a box of roses under his arm. She was as pale as the soft white wrapper that she wore, yet she flushed at sight of him and held out a thin little hand.
"Oh, Desmond," she said, "you've been so good to me, and the flowers were lovely. I couldn't have got well without them. They made my room like a garden when I used to lie there and look at them. And they tell me—they tell me you're doing fine!"
"If I am it is all owing to you, Kitty," said Desmond, fumbling in his pocket.
"What have you there?" she cried.
Desmond looked a bit shamefaced and drew out a wishbone.
"Do you mind what you told me about a backbone being the best thing in life? I've brought you this as a sign I'll win my own way up instead of wishing."
Kitty's eyes danced.
"But, Desmond," she objected, "the bone was meant to be broken, so suppose you take one wish more, the last of all, and then have done with it forever? 'Twill be a kind of celebration."
"Right you are!" cried Desmond.
"Here goes!"
They pulled.
"I win!" cried Desmond breathlessly,
"I win! And do you know what it was that I wanted? I wished that I might marry Kitty Macdonough, the sweetest girl in the whole wide world."
Kitty hid her blushing face on Desmond's shoulder.
"And I wished the very same thing," she whispered.

Montaigne's Chateau.

The upper room in the round tower of the chateau of Montaigne, in Perigord, is practically unaltered since the lord of the chateau housed his books there and wrote his essays. On the walls and on the ceiling are traces of the paintings that once adorned them. A visitor to the tower says in the London Globe:

"On the ground floor was Montaigne's chapel, above were his bedchamber and private apartments, while on the third story was a beloved book room. 'There,' says the essayist, 'I turn over now one book and then another on various subjects without method or design. One while I meditate, another I record and dictate, as I walk to and fro, such whimsies as these I present to you here.' The walking to and fro seems to have been essential to production. Montaigne says his thoughts slept if he sat still. His fancy only went as his legs moved. Round the walls of the room stood the ordered ranks of books arranged upon five rows of shelves, while from the three windows the peripatetic essayist could not only overlook his own family and household concerns below, but could let his eyes range over fine and varied prospects."

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT.

The Romantic and Exciting Career of Porfirio Diaz.

President Diaz of Mexico is rapidly approaching his eightieth year and has held his present position for nearly a quarter of a century. He took part in resisting the French invasion in 1863 and headed an insurrection against the government a dozen years later. He has probably had a more romantic career than any public man of the present day.

Out in Mexico his position is unique, for his influence is as great as that of the czar. The power of his personality is such, however, that in spite of his iron hand he is a popular hero.

Diaz first sprang into fame at the age of twenty-four, when he was a professor of law in Oaxaca, by practically raising a revolution through a vote. He was called upon to vote for a certain measure, but excused himself from doing so, explaining that he preferred not to exercise his right of voting. Upon this remark his companion said, "Yes; one does not vote when one is afraid."

"This reproach burned into me like fire," wrote President Diaz in his diary at the time, "and made me seize the pen which was again proffered me. Pushing my way between the electors, I passed up to the room and recorded my vote, not for Santa Anna, but in favor of Senator Don Juan Alvarez, who figured as chief of the revolutionary movement."

Diaz hastily fled from the town and gathered round him a little force of fierce revolutionaries spoiling for a fight. He gave battle to the troops sent to arrest him and won his first victory. From that day he was a made man. His rise was rapid. Before he was thirty he had already become a colonel and a famous leader. Then his party came into power, and he was made a "general of brigade."

It was not long before the country was again in a state of civil war. Diaz of course was in the thick of the fighting, and no sooner had he crushed the opposition than he found himself obliged to start a fresh campaign against the French, who were invading the country. In all Diaz fought in no fewer than fifty engagements. He was twice seriously wounded and often slightly hurt.

Three times he was made a prisoner and three times escaped. After the country had somewhat settled down and the French troops which had been poured into the country had withdrawn he was elected president. He has been unanimously elected seven times since.—London M. A. P.

Japan and Horses.

During her last war with Russia Japan found that one of her weak points was in the matter of cavalry and attributed the lack of success of her mounted troops to the inferior grade of horses with which they were supplied. Now the Japanese wish to develop a superior breed of horses and have decided that an effective means of reaching that end lies in the encouragement of horse racing, as it is indulged in by occidental countries. The government is doing all it can to advance the equine sport which we are trying to discourage in this country, and the idea has been enthusiastically received by the people. More than 200 race tracks have been sanctioned in Japan since the movement started. Since the Japanese have a way of doing pretty well whatever they undertake, the world may yet see some Japanese thoroughbred finishing first in the English Derby or galloping home two lengths ahead at Sheepshead Bay.

What's in a Name?

That the sea has no favorites, neither regard for vessels whose names might be supposed to entitle them to special consideration, is shown by the fact that during the last year the following named vessels were lost: The Archangels, Guardian Angel, Galilee and Leo XII. The R. P. Chase was wrecked on a reef in Maine called Jordan's Delight, the Ohio was lost in Port Safety, the Dart struck on Holy Island, and two vessels of the name of Glad Tidings were wrecked. The following ships were burned at sea: Thorn Hill, Silver Ship, Milos, Thistle, Sophia, Fortunatus and Taifu Maru.—Marine Journal.

Greatest Lumber Section.

Probably no place on earth will average acre for acre the timber that the region known as the "Puget sound country" can furnish. Fir, cedar, spruce, hemlock, alder and other woods are to be found in amazing quantities. The Douglas fir, the most common variety, has been found superior to yellow pine and other woods heretofore used in car and house building. The standing timber of the Puget sound region is estimated at 114,000,000,000 feet, of which only some 40,000,000,000 have been cut within the past fifty years. The growth is very rapid, thirty years being sufficient to produce a fair sized tree.—New York American.

No Silver Dollars Coined Since 1905.

A clerk at the Bingham House who has been blessed with a boy baby during the last year wanted, among other little gifts, to give his young hopeful a silver dollar marked "1907," which could be suspended about his neck on a string and used to help cut the little teeth which were beginning to show signs of appearing. He inquired among all his friends for a 1907 silver dollar, and it was not until he had been on the vain search for nearly a week that some one told him to call at the mint, and there he received official information that under advices from Washington they had not coined any silver dollars since 1905, and therefore there had never been nor would be any silver dollars for 1907.—Philadelphia Record.

THE CASEY MOUNTAIN COBALT MINING AND DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED

Incorporated under The Ontario Mining Companies' Incorporation Act. No Personal Liability.

CAPITAL: $250,000 - - - - - - 250,000 Shares at $1.00 each, Not Subject to Call

HEAD OFFICE: 210 MANNING CHAMBERS, TORONTO. Phone Main 958.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: D. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; D. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 16 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENCOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level, and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

When the letter from Aunt Salina was received announcing that she would arrive on a visit the next week, mother and daughter looked at each other for a long minute, then the former said:

"We must keep it from her."

"Yes."

"If we don't she will certainly talk right up to the deacon and make things worse than ever. Your Aunt Salina is not afraid of any living man. You just act as natural as you can, and don't let her catch on to a thing."

And yet five or six days later, when the guest in question arrived, she had not been in the house half an hour before she set her jaw and said to Mrs. Thompson, her widowed sister:

"Now, Ruth, while Mary is upstairs I want to hear all about it. There's some skulduddery been going on here, and I want to get at the root of it. It's no use to put on that innocent look, for I'm a woman that can't be deceived."

Then the widow had to fix it up. Her daughter Mary, now twenty years old, had been "keeping company" with Deacon Bromley's son James, and the marriage day had once been set. Deacon Bromley had then favored the match. The widow had a fine farm adjoining his, and if she took forty acres off of hers and he forty off of his the young folks would have a good start in life. She as well as he could also contribute considerable cash toward building the new house and barn. Yes, it would be a good match all around, and everything was going swimmingly when the deacon took in a summer boarder.

He was what might be called a half cash boarder—that is, for two weeks he paid half the price of board and lodging in cash and the other in information which changed the deacon's nature all over. The boarder had made a study of family trees, so he asserted, and after scratching his head and consulting the signs in the family almanac for a fortnight he announced that the Bromleys were direct descendants of Lord Bromley of England, while Lord Bromley himself was a grand-nephew of William the Conqueror.

The deacon had always been rather a stiff necked man toward the community, and this information added to his pride. He did not question the stranger's information, and after a time it began to get in its work. He wasn't rich, but he had the blue blood in him, and that was even better. In four weeks he was walking as if he had a poker down his back, and at the end of four more he said to his son:

"James, there is nothing that hurts a family more than a misalliance. What is the world going to say when it hears that a Bromley has married a Thompson?"

"Are you talking about Mary Thompson, father?" asked James.

"I am. I am seeing things a great deal different from what I did a few weeks ago. Where did the Thompsons spring from? Who are they? Was the first Thompson a lord or duke or only a cooper?"

"But, you know, I'm engaged to Mary Thompson, and you know that the family is respectable. No one can say that there has been anything against them, from grandfather down."

"Um, um! None of them has been in jail that I know of, but I ask again, 'Who are the Thompsons?' We know who the Bromleys sprang from, and I cannot consent to any plebeian alliance. Until I know who the first Thompson was I shall feel justified in opposing this match. It will be no use whatever to argue the matter with me. I am determined to preserve the purity of our blood as it has come down to us."

James did not cease to call at the widow's, but it was not long before she realized that he had something on his mind, and he was finally prevailed upon to state it. He held in direct opposition to his father, but that did not satisfy the insulted mother or the high spirited daughter. Strained relations followed. Such was the situation when Aunt Salina arrived. She listened to the story with a grim look on her face, and when it was finished she said:

"Ruth, you were never any good at handling cases like this, and you must leave things to me. I know all about the Thompsons and the Bromleys, too, and I've heard a thing or two about William the Conqueror since I went to Michigan to live. You just keep out of the fuss and let me settle it my own way."

"But you won't go to the deacon and call him an old idiot?" protested the widow.

"I can't tell what I'll do. Providence generally takes a hand in cases like this, and I shall depend a good deal on Providence. We won't say a word to Mary about it."

Providence didn't wait long before taking a hand. December had come. Instead of being married on Christmas day, as the young couple had hoped for, they were as good as estranged.

Between the house and the barn was a goose pond of a considerable depth, and, though this had been frozen over solid for two or three weeks, a recent south wind had gone far to weaken the ice, and the hired man had skirted the pond in going to and fro.

On the forenoon of the very next day after the story had been told Deacon Bromley came walking toward the widow's house. He was taking a short cut across the fields, and when he reached the pond he stepped boldly on the ice. It began to crack, and, though a direct descendant of Lord Bromley and through him of William the Conqueror, the deacon didn't consider it derogatory to his dignity to make a rush for the head of a barrel appearing above the ice. He dared not go back and he dared not go forward, and he [illegible] to come and shove a plank out on the ice to save his blue blood from being chilled.

"My soul, but there's Deacon Bromley standing on that barrel in the middle of the goose pond!" exclaimed the widow as she heard the shouts and looked out of the window."

"It's Providence," answered Aunt Salina, "and now you keep hands off. Providence and I are going to run this show. Get my hood and shawl and mittens, for the conversation may last some time."

Five minutes later she stood on the bank of the pond, sizing the deacon up, and after a bit she said:

"I am Mary's Aunt Salina from Michigan and here on a visit. Did you want to see any one in particular?"

"Why—why, as I was just going by, you know, I thought I would stop and ask for any letters James might have written."

"And did James know you were going to ask?"

"N-o, I can't say that he did. I see a twelve foot board there by the wood shed. May I ask you to kindly bring it here and shove it out on the ice?"

"What! What!" exclaimed Aunt Salina as she glared at him. "Sir, I want you to know that I was a Thompson before I married!"

"Yes?"

"And how dare you, sir—how dare a Bromley ask a Thompson to drag boards around? It's an insult, sir—an insult to our blood!"

"I didn't mean it so. I didn't know—I never heard that the Thompsons had—had"—

"Had any blood at all, you mean, sir! Another insult! Who do you think you are, sir?"

"You may have heard of Lord Bromley of England?" queried the deacon, trying to look dignified, but making a failure of it, as any man must have done, perched in the center of a goose pond.

"Yes, sir, I have and with good reason. He stole a horse from a Thompson and was hanged for it!"

"You—you don't say!"

"In the next generation two Bromleys were branded on the palms of their hands for cattle stealing. In the third one of them went to prison for arson. He sought to burn down the castle of a Thompson."

"Can it be possible?"

"And in the fourth, fifth and sixth generations the Thompsons got together all their detainers and drove all the Bromleys out of the country, and the king rewarded them for it. Is it possible that you never heard that Lord Grassy was a Thompson? Doesn't history tell you that the Duke of York was a Thompson? Why, man, there isn't a noble in England today that wasn't a Thompson first. He had to be."

"I—I have been told that I descended from William the Conqueror," faltered the deacon, as he felt that he had lost his case.

"But who was William the Conqueror? When he landed in England it was the Thompsons that lent him money and paid his house rent until he could strike a job. Deacon Bromley, do you want that board to get ashore on?"

"If you please."

"And is it to save an idiot or a sensible man?"

"Um! I think I would like to talk with the widow a little while. I didn't know, you know"—

"No," replied Aunt Selina as she went after the board, "but you do now. It's Thompson. It's Thompson with a 'p.' It's the Thompson family, descended directly from Adam and Eve. [illegible] been singled out [illegible] sings and emperors and dividing up the earth for the last 6,000 years and are not through yet. There's the plank, and now you come in and have a talk and get over your foolishness."

The marriage took place a month later, and Deacon Bromley hasn't had a chance yet to thrash the genealogist who paid half cash for his board.

Bathing an Elephant.

If there is one thing which an elephant enjoys above all things else, it is his bath. In India elephants are used to draw the great guns of the heavy batteries. They take their baths in the barracks at the troughs where they drink, and they behave much better about it than many children. They have to lie down and be patient while they are washed by their attendants. They turn themselves about very promptly to suit their convenience. The attendant rubs the hide with a piece of stone instead of a sponge, and if the stone slips out of his hand the elephant politely picks it up with his trunk and hands it back. After they have been well scrubbed the elephants give themselves a shower bath, using their trunks to dash the water upon themselves, and they can hit any part of their bodies with ease.—London Mail.

Clever Birds.

A gentleman tells the following in regard to the cleverness of two goldfinches upon which he kept a close watch while they were building a nest on a small branch of a tree. When the nest was finished he noticed that the weight of the birds and the eggs was too great for the strength of the supporting branch. The goldfinches also perceived that the nest would fall unless something was done, and, after a great deal of bird talk, they flew away and came back with a stout string. Then they cleverly fastened the bending twig to a stronger and higher branch of the tree, and thus preserved their nest and its contents from destruction.—London Standard.

Changed His Mind.

A gentleman who once served on an Irish jury tells an amusing story of his experiences. When the hearing was over and the jury retired to their room to consider their verdict they found that they stood eleven to one in favor of an acquittal, but the one happened to be a very complacent old gentleman who rested his chin upon the head of a thick bamboo cane and announced defiantly that he was ready to stay there as long as any of them.

The hours dragged on, evening arrived, and the old gentleman obstinately held out. The other jurors wearily arranged themselves to make a night of it. From time to time the old gentleman would contemplatively suck the head of the cane.

Finally he fell asleep, and the cane dropped heavily to the floor. Then one of the jurymen picked it up and found, to his surprise, that it was nearly full of Irish whisky. The eleven passed the cane round, relieved it of its contents and then awakened its slumbering owner. Slowly he lifted the cane to his mouth, looked at his watch and then arose with the announcement, "Boys, I'm afther changin' me moind."—London Telegraph.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalising, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

ROUGH DIAMONDS.

The Tyranny That Marks Their Sale to the Retailer.

We talk about our American financial kings being dictatorial, but they are mild and acquiescent when compared with Julius Wernher, the diamond king, who controls the syndicate which holds the diamond market of the world in its hands. Many people think that men at Amsterdam hold a monopoly on the crystallised carbons, but this is an erroneous impression. Practically the whole rough diamond output of the world is under the hand of the English syndicate.

The most rigid rules concerning the sale of the gems in the rough state are adopted, and under no circumstances whatever will any change be made for a customer. The syndicate will not sell diamonds according as customers want them. The customers have to suit the diamond sovereigns' will in the matter. The prospective purchaser has to write to the syndicate and name the quality and weight of the rough stones he wants to buy, and if he is a regular customer he must after this advance information wait several days or even weeks and if an irregular purchaser must often wait months before being allowed to see samples of the gems he wishes to buy. A date is given, and punctually at the hour the diamond sellers receive the retail dealer and show him a certain number of little envelopes in which are the diamonds. Perhaps, since writing to the big dealers, he has changed his mind and now wants to see a different grade of diamond, but he won't see it. For no one will the diamond kings change their rules. They are inexorable.

They also name the price, and the man who goes to the diamond office expecting to get a reduction had as well give it up at once. There is absolutely no discussion as to the price. If the customer wants $8,000 worth of diamonds and is offered a lot at $12,000, he must take the gems at that price or go away without them, and if he does go away without purchasing he will be punished by being refused another interview for a long time. This inflexible way of dealing with the public has led to the birth of the term "a sale in the dark." When a purchaser buys, he does not get immediate possession of the diamonds, and he even sells to others without showing them the gems, but merely by giving them the quality of the stones. The syndicate is very accurate in its grading, and when it names a diamond as being of a certain class it is pretty sure to be as represented.—Pathfinder.

Ice in Dentistry.

The first use of ice in dental operations was in what the public term the "freezing system." This application is still in use in provincial towns, but it has for several years past been discontinued in London and other large cities. The first use of ice in this way was in America. The ice was cut up fine, placed in small bags so shaped as to fit each side of the jaw, and the wretched patient held these in his mouth until the desired temperature was reached, when the operator extracted the offending molar or molars. Today cold air is pumped into the mouth with more effect and without any of the pain and inconvenience that must have attended the more primitive style. Iced water is always used by dentists in America, but is never used anywhere else. — Ice and Cold Storage.

Portugal's Valuable Crown.

When King Manuel of Portugal will be crowned the ceremony will include his assumption of the most valuable crown in Europe. Taken at a jeweler's estimate, the Portuguese crown is recorded as being worth £1,600,000. In shape and size it is almost a facsimile of the Spanish and the old Polish crowns, though in the value of its jewels its nearest rival is the czar's diadem, which is supposed to have cost £1,300,000. The crown placed upon the English king's head is valued at a mere £360,000.—London Chronicle.

A Censored News Item.

The methods of up to date journalism have not yet penetrated as far as Turkey. This is how the Stamboul announced the assassination of the late king and crown prince of Portugal: "The king and the crown prince of Portugal after their return from Villaviciosa met with an accident and were killed." And on the following day the journal announces, "Prince Manuel was today proclaimed king of Portugal in place of his father, who died last night."

Premature Burials.

In England there is an association for the prevention of premature burial, which offers the following statistics regarding people who were buried alive or suffered otherwise from being judged dead when they were not: Buried alive, 149; narrow escapes therefrom, 219; dissected alive, 10; narrow escapes from being dissected alive, 3; embalmed alive, 2; burned alive, 1.

RABIES APPEAR IN ENGLAND.

Authorities Believe Outbreak Is Caused by Hydrophobia.

The appearance of rabies in Northamptonshire is seriously perplexing the officials who are charged with investigating the outbreak, which, there is now only too much reason to believe, was caused by genuine hydrophobia.

The difficult point to settle is, How did this terrible disease reappear in this country? Hydrophobia was stamped out by Mr. Long's muzzling order, and there has been no case since.

In most other European countries hydrophobia is not uncommon, and in some it is raging seriously. While it is not possible as yet to ascribe the present outbreak to any connection with the appearance of the disease elsewhere, it would not be surprising to find there is some close relation.

"In my opinion," said an expert who is well qualified to judge, "rabies may be brought into this country at any moment through the widespread custom of smuggling dogs.

"Few people have any idea of the extent to which animals are thus introduced from abroad to escape quarantine. Most of them are small dogs. They are brought in in muffs, hand-bags, and under cloaks; often, too, in light luggage, because the customs examination cannot be so thorough in this respect as in the case of heavier baggage.

"Many of the dogs brought in are chloroformed so that they will not bark when passing through the customs. Occasionally cases are detected, and there is always prosecution, but not 1 per cent. of the dogs thus brought across ever are noticed.

"One would like to make an appeal to individuals who are smuggling dogs, and more particularly women of position, to realise the gravity of the action they are taking. Rabies easily can be introduced into this country by means of dogs which have not been properly quarantined, and if there are any further outbreaks there is always the probability not only of a local renewal of the muzzling order but of a general one.

"One great benefit of Mr. Long's action was to save the person bitten by a strange dog the alarm and suspense which in days gone by nearly drove persons out of their minds.

"Those who have seen the terrible character of the malady well know what it means to those who have been bitten by mad dogs, and this consideration should from the point of humanity be sufficient. But if it is not, women should put before themselves the peril to which they are exposing the entire community of dog lovers by the possible re-establishment of the muzzling order, which caused so much popular resentment a few years ago, and so much suffering to the animals themselves, but which entirely fulfilled its object from the health point of view."

There is no doubt that in consequence of the Northampton outbreak all cases of dog illness are being watched most carefully, and the supervision of dog smuggling at all the ports will be enforced with much greater care than hitherto.

People grumble at the strictness of the quarantine regulations, but they should remember there are about 2,500,000 dogs in the country, and the number of people who want to take their dogs abroad is limited to a few hundreds. May not this small minority be fairly asked to suffer a little for the greatest good to the greatest number?

PALMISTRY IS ABSURD.

Whole Thing Beneath Contempt, Says Prof. Stirling of Manchester.

"Palmistry is an absolute absurdity; the whole thing is beneath contempt," declared Prof. Stirling, dean of the medical faculty and professor of physiology at Victoria University, Manchester, in the course of a recent lecture at the Royal Institute.

"Look at your palms," he continued, "and you will find certain classical lines. These lines—the so-called lines of life, heart, and head, and the girdle of Venus, and the bracelets of life around your wrists—what do you suppose they really are? They are nothing more nor less than creases or folds produced by the action of the muscles. The line of heart, for instance, is the flexure of the four fingers. The line of life is the result of the action of the thumb. All these lines that have been given astronomical names by palmists are characteristic flexures. You will find the same lines on the palm of the Barbary ape. Humanity is daily gulled through its extraordinary ignorance of the elemental facts of physiology."

Britain's Sea Empire.

This incident between the German Emperor and England reveals the weakness of our Imperial system. To guard a promiscuous set of colonies and possessions scattered over all parts of the world, England claims the dominion of the seas. She seems to think that the other nations will respect that claim and be content to limit their navies so that her supremacy may be assured. No expectation surely could be less reasonable or less likely to be fulfilled. England may feel maternal pride in her colonies and be requited by affection. But to suppose that the other nations will concur in making her securely empress of the ocean is absurd. She will remain as she is, assailable in her dependencies, which do not seem likely ever to contribute much to Imperial defence. Meantime her own people will be subjected to a severe strain, and the community of nations will never be free from the danger of war.—Goldwin Smith.

What Becomes of Old Silk Hats.

People who wonder what becomes of old silk hats will be surprised to know that in England, at least, many of them are shipped to Africa. When silk hats get out of style the dealers also have resort to the African trade, which does not mind minor variations in shape.

The negro dandy is thus enabled to appear in Bond street headgear at perhaps a tenth of the expense to which the Londoner is put if he wishes to be in the fashion.

Practical.

"I didn't notice you at the mothers' congress."

"No," replied the woman addressed. "I'm not a theoretical mother, you know. I have six."—Philadelphia Ledger.

LOUNGERS IN LUXURY

The Life of the Gilded Youths of Great Britain.

FADS OF MODERN SYBARITES.

They Surround Themselves With the Highest Products of Civilization and Make Idols of Their Bodies, These Twentieth Century Epicures.

In a case that came before the bankruptcy court recently the debtor, a young man in the early twenties, gave in his accounts an item of £6,000 which, he said, was the amount he had lost owing to the compulsory sale of the furniture in his flat. The original cost of the furniture in question is left to the imagination. The truth is that our "golden lads" do themselves remarkably well (to use their own expression) and think that nothing in the world is too good for them. We are always reading in the papers allusions to the luxury and extravagance of women of the smart world. Now and then we may come across some reference to the elaboration of self indulgence in which the young men of our wealthy class luxuriate. Some years since we had a description of the wardrobe of a New York "dude." It appeared in an American paper, and much of it had been communicated by the young man himself, especially some information as to the prices of the garments he affected. Not long after a paragraph went the round of the papers about a certain Italian poet and the little comforts with which he loved to surround himself. They were described as in no way inferior to those of the New York young man. It is not alone in England that the dandy surrounds himself with the highest products of civilization and makes a god of his body.

The luxury of a woman of fashion pales almost to insignificance when compared with that, for instance, of her brother in the guards or heir to the family estates. The young man who was £6,000 to the bad in consequence of "the bankruptcy sale" of his furniture is a case in point. He probably lavished between £8,000 and £10,000 on the plenishing of the rooms. This is not much beyond the usual with young men of the kind. Carpets alone make a large hole in £1,000. Something very special in wall hangings is proportionate in cost. Each piece of furniture is a gem in its way. The tradesmen know the kind of customer they have to deal with and that—for the present—there is plenty of money. They bring forth their richest and rarest and not in vain. The high ambition of the young man is to "go one better" than any other fellow he knows in every detail of his surroundings. The civilized world is ransacked in order to provide him with the latest refinements of costly luxuriousness in such appointments as bed and bath, glass, china, ornaments, silver and dexterously shaded lights. His florist's yearly bill would keep two or three poor families.

As to dress, a single fact may throw some light on the relative values of the young man's wardrobe and that of the smart woman. The valet of one such gilded youth having complained to his master that in his large and luxurious west end flat there was no proper accommodation for his clothes, the resource of renting a second flat equally large for the housing of the wardrobe was suggested and at once adopted. A small room is devoted to clothes and brushes and certain preparations for the treatment of shoe and kid and boot leather. A larger room is given to the boots and shoes themselves and their familiar trees, and so on with the more important articles of dress. Country clothes have spacious quarters devoted to them. They include riding gear, cricket and tennis suits, sporting get-up and traveling kit. Here are his portmanteaus and traveling bags, an imposing array. A large wicker basket standing among them elicits smiling inquiry from the interested relatives whom he has invited to tea and to whom he is showing his new "diggings." "Oh, that?" he says. "That basket ought to know its way to France alone. It goes every fortnight with my washing. English laundries ruin silk things. We tried 'em. Tore them to pieces and made the sheets yellow in no time."

"Silk sheets?"

"Oh, yes! No one ever has any other now."

"And you send this huge basketful once a fortnight?"

"Every week," he corrects us. "One is on its way back now."

It is interesting to see the young men of the day at our smart restaurants, each seated alone at one of the tables, intent on doing himself thoroughly well. His whole mind seems occupied with the menu and its component parts.

In a novel written by a man the opening chapter shows us a ruined youth leaving London for Monte Carlo. He gives the guard 5 shillings to keep the rest of the world out of his first class carriage and regards with satisfaction three small hampers with which he has provisioned himself for the journey. One contains his dinner for that evening, another his luncheon for the next day, and the third holds the wine that is to accompany these two meals and a neat contrivance by the help of which he makes himself a cup of superlatively excellent after dinner coffee. He has left London to escape his creditors.

Such is the golden youth of our day. He denies himself nothing, and his expenditure upon the luxuries of existence far exceeds that of the most extravagant of the women of the fashionable world.—London Queen.

DUELING STORIES.

Girardin's Satisfaction and a Winning Choice of Weapons.

M. de Girardin, the father of the statesman and author, Emile de Girardin, on one occasion entered a place where several men were firing at a target. A gentleman present, whom M. de Girardin did not know, hit the bullseye at every shot. Several bystanders expressed themselves in very great admiration of the gentleman's precision.

"Yes," said De Girardin, "he shoots remarkably well, but it's quite a different thing to hit a man in a duel from hitting a piece of pasteboard."

The marksman overheard the remark and was offended.

"I think you are mistaken, sir," he said to De Girardin. "I assure you that if I had you before me I shouldn't miss you."

"You can have me when you like," said De Girardin.

"Let it be immediately, then," said the other.

An attempt was made to patch the matter up, but neither man would agree to an amicable settlement. The seconds were chosen, and the men went to a locality favorable for the duel. It was decided, that they should fire separately, and it was left to a decision by lot which fired first.

The lot fell to the mysterious marksman. He fired at M. de Girardin and missed him. De Girardin stood still, making no sign as if to fire at his antagonist.

"Come, why don't you shoot?" asked his seconds.

"Why should I shoot?" asked De Girardin. "There is no reason why I should kill this gentleman. I maintained that even a crack shot could easily miss his man at twenty-five paces. This gentleman maintained the contrary. He must now be convinced that he is wrong. I owe him no ill will for having discovered that."

A better method of meeting a dueling challenge was no doubt one which was employed on a certain occasion by a French statesman against M. Victor Noir, an illiterate bully of the press in the time of the second empire. The statesman received from Noir, for no real reason whatever, a challenge to fight a duel.

Noir was a densely ignorant man, and nearly every word in the challenge was misspelt. The statesman responded with the following letter:

Dear Sir—You have called me out without any good reason. I have therefore the choice of weapons. I choose the spelling book, and you are a dead man.

The duel was never fought.—London Tit-Bits.

In Another Voice.

As the pastor of the Zion's Hill church looked down at his parishioners, to whom he had been giving thirty-five minutes of sound doctrine, his face took on a less benignant expression.

"Bredren an' sisters," he said, "I want to warn you against one t'ing, an' dat is t'inkin' ebery man dat don't hab jes' de same views you got is a no-'count religionist.

"I don't want to hear so much talk about 'wolves in sheep's clothing' as I bene hearin'. You don' want to settle it in yo' minds dat a man's a wolf in sheep's clothin' jes' because he don' bl'at exactly like you do."

Gout the Foe of Consumption.

Sir Dyce Duckworth in his address to the faculty of medicine said that many persons were constitutionally predisposed to rheumatism and gout, but an important characteristic in such cases was the antagonism of the tissues to the bacilli of tuberculosis. The more rheumatic or gouty a person was the less pronounced was his tendency to consumption.—London Post.

Relic of the Past.

"So, woman, you treasure another man's photograph?"

"Don't be foolish, Henry. This is a portrait of yourself when you had hair."

POISONING AS A FINE ART.

Scale of Prices Submitted to the Venetian Council of Ten.

Venetian poisoners first came into notoriety in the fifteenth century. At that period the mania for poisoning had risen to such a height that the governments of the states were formally recognizing secret assassination by poison and considering the removal of emperors, princes and powerful nobles by this method.

The notorious council of ten met to consider such plans, and an account and record of their proceedings still exists, giving the number of those who voted for and who voted against the proposed removal, the reasons for the assassination and the sum to be paid for its execution.

Thus these conspirators quietly arranged to take the lives of many prominent individuals, and when the deed was executed it was registered on the margin of their official record by the significant word "factum."

On Dec. 15, 1543, John of Raguba offered the council a selection of poisons and declared himself ready to remove any person whom they deemed objectionable out of the way. He calmly stated his terms, which for the first successful case were to be a pension of 1,500 ducats a year, to be increased on the execution of further services.

The presidents Guolando Duoda and Pietro Guiarni placed this matter before the council on Jan. 4, 1544, and on a division it was resolved to accept this patriotic offer and to experiment first on the Emperor Maximilian. John, who had evidently reduced poisoning to a fine art, submitted afterward a regular graduated tariff to the council. The highest fee was for poisoning the sultan, 500 ducats; for the king of Spain, 150 ducats, including the expenses of the journey; for the Duke of Milan, 60 ducats; for the Marquis of Mantua, 50 ducats; for the pope, 180 ducats.—Health.

New Light on the Zones.

A class of boys averaging about twelve years of age had been examined in geography, which had been preceded the day before by grammar. Among the questions in the geography paper was the following:

"Name the zones."

One promising youth of eleven years wrote this answer:

"There are two zones, masculine and feminine. The masculine is either temperate or intemperate; the feminine is either torrid or frigid."

Then He Subsided.

"I never saw such a woman in all my life," said Bass. "You are never satisfied with anything."

"People who know the man I took for a husband," replied Mrs. B., "think, on the contrary, that I am easily satisfied."—Liverpool Mercury.

How to Be Happy Though Married.

Wives, make much of your husband. Flatter him discreetly, laugh at his jokes, don't attempt to put down his club, never tell him home truths and never cry. Husbands, praise and admire your wife, and let other men admore her too. Don't interfere in her department. Be reasonable about money if you cannot be generous and not overfond of your own voice. And both of you: Be very tolerant, expect little, give gladly, put respect before everything, cultivate courtesy, and love each other all you can. If you do all this you are sure to be happy though married.—Maud Churton Braby in Grand Magazine.

Saving Himself.

"You don't mean to say," remarked Wise, "that you made a present of that $5 to Borrowman?"

"Yes," replied Markley. "I had to to save my own self respect."

"I don't understand. I thought you loaned it to him?"

"So I did, not knowing any better. But now I don't want anybody to believe I was ever foolish enough to expect it back."

THE MAGIC PAINTING

When the Room Was Darkened the Cow Went to Sleep.

IT WAS A VERY SIMPLE TRICK

How the Transformation Was Effected and How Some Other Seemingly Wonderful Effects May Be Produced by the Aid of Chemicals.

The Chinese Emperor Tai Tsung possessed among other treasures a picture known as a magic painting. It represented a pastoral scene with a cow standing in a field and mountains beyond. When the picture was shown to strangers or guests and they admired it, the emperor would say:

"Yes, this is a remarkable painting. The cow, as you see, is standing, but if the room was darkened the cow would think it night and would lie down."

Then the emperor would order the room to be darkened, and the cow would be seen to be lying down, apparently asleep.

The picture was a water color, over which was painted in colorless phosphorescent paint a similar picture representing the cow lying down. In the light the standing animal was seen, but at night or in a darkened room only the phosphorescent picture was visible. So the magic picture was, after all, a very simple trick.

A Dresden chemist named Schade discovered a method of imitating it which can be accomplished as follows:

First paint in ordinary colors the picture of the cow standing. Then melt some Zanzibar copal over a charcoal fire and dissolve fifteen parts of it in sixty parts of French oil of turpentine. Filter this and mix with twenty-five parts of pure linseed oil which has been previously heated and cooled.

Now take forty parts of the varnish so obtained and mix with six parts of prepared calcium carbonate, twelve parts of prepared white zinc sulphide and thirty-six parts of luminous calcium sulphide, all of which can be obtained from any chemist.

This emulsion should be ground very fine in a color mill. The result will be white luminous paint, which should be used to paint the cow lying down.

Many seemingly wonderful tricks can be performed with the use of a few simple chemicals. One of them is the ball of fire. Take for this barium sulphate (CP) one part, magnesium carbonate (CP) one part, gum tragacanth q. s. This should be mixed and rolled into marbles and kept at a red heat for about an hour, then allowed to cool slowly and placed in a glass stoppered bottle. A few hours before using place in the sun, and the marbles at once become luminous.

At the entertainment ordinary marbles are passed among the audience, one or more of the luminous marbles being concealed in the hand. The exhibitor then takes a marble from some one in the audience, holds it between his thumb and forefinger, blows upon it and asks to have the lights turned down. As this is done he substitutes the luminous marble, and the mysterious light is seen. This is handed around and changes again as the light is turned on, when the magician presents to the audience several of the ordinary marbles as souvenirs.

Another trick is very effective. Take two similar bunches of artificial flowers. Brush one over with glue or mucilage and powder it with the dust from one of the marbles described. Then place in the sun. When taken into a darkened room, luminous flowers are seen. The magician exhibits the flowers that have not been prepared and shows that there is nothing peculiar about them. Then as the light is turned down he substitutes the concealed bunch, blows upon the flowers and, presto, displays to the astonished observers a luminous bunch, each flower of which stands out as if at white heat.

Luminous letters can be written and exhibited in the dark to the wonder of the audience. Luminous ink is made by placing a piece of phosphorus about the size of a pea in a test tube with a little olive oil. Place the tube in a water bath until the oil becomes heated and the phosphorus liquid. Shake well and pour into a bottle with a glass stopper. Admit air just previous to using it, and the fluid will become luminous tracery in the dark.

Water can be rendered luminous in a very simple manner. Dissolve a small piece of phosphorus in ether for several days in a glass stoppered bottle. In this place a lump of sugar, then drop the sugar in water, which will at once become luminous.

Luminous paints can be made any color—green, yellow, violet or blue—and if applied to various objects make a wonderful display at night.

Odd Names of Maryland Farms.

The curious names given to tracts of land by the owners in olden times are illustrated in a conveyance recorded in Libet W. G., No. 60, folio 57. It was executed in 1790 and conveyed from Joshua Stevenson to Richard Gettings five tracts of land in Baltimore county, the consideration being £200. The name of each tract and its dimensions are as follows: My Sweet Girl, My Friend and Pitcher, 62 acres; Here Is Life Without Care and Love Without Fear, 41¼ acres; The Unexpected Discovery, 262 acres; Hug Me Snug, 15 acres, and Stevenson's Cow Pasture, With Little I am Content, 22 acres.

There is one good thing about the gas bill. It is a monthly lesson in punctuality.—Washington Times.

Powerful Explosives.

"What are the most powerful explosives known?" queried the young man.

"Two prima donnas in one opera company," replied the ex-theatrical manager.

SHOE SIZES.

The Way They Were Arbitrarily Fixed by a Frenchman.

Stockings have always been measured by the inch from heel to toe, but the numbering of shoes was fixed a long time ago by a Frenchman, and it's so long ago that only one New York dealer could be found who knew anything about it. Even he didn't know the inventor's name.

The Frenchman permanently fixed the numbers of shoes for all Europe and America. He arbitrarily decided that no human foot could possibly be smaller than three and seven-eighths inches, so, calling this point zero, he allowed one-third of an inch to a size and so built up his scale. Consequently a man cannot find out the number of his own shoe unless he is an expert at exact arithmetic. And even then he is likely to go wrong, because all shoe experts allow for the weight of the individual and the build of his foot before they try to determine what size shoe he ought to wear.

As far as women's shoes are concerned the problem is still more difficult, because many of the manufacturers, instead of keeping to the regular scale, have marked down their numbers one or two sizes in order to capture easily flattered customers. For this reason most dealers ask out of town customers to send an old shoe with their orders.

The system of measuring hats is much simpler. Any man can tell what size he wears by simply adding the width and length of the inner rim and then dividing by two. Orders can also be sent to the storekeeper by stating the circumference of the head

THE JAPANES ARE TAKING ACTION

Making Plans to Crush Out Rebellion in Corea.

WILL POLICE THE COUNTRY

Press Censorship Is Established Over Foreign Newspapers — Bandits Are Three Thousand Strong—Scatter Themselves In Active Bands Oppressing and Robbing the Farmers — Trouble Brewing.

Seoul, Corea, May 4.—The Government of Corea, acting in co-operation with the office of the Japanese resident-general at Seoul, Prince Ito, is preparing plans for an active and final campaign against the disorderly forces in Corea. These forces, insurgents and bandits, are making much trouble, they prevent the Corean agriculturalist from disposing of their produce and hamper general business.

The concensus of opinion of unprejudiced foreigners, merchants, missionaries and officials, Japanese as well as Koreans, is that business must be restored to normal conditions by whatever power undertakes to administer to the country, be it Japanese or Corean. The disturbing element to-day is composed largely of men out of employment, discharge Corean soldiers and regular bandits. It is the practice of these marauders to oppress and rob the farmers, to attack villages and to kill Japanese. The bandit element probable numbers altogether not more than 3,000 men. The real Corean patriot, who are irreconcilable toward the idea of a Japanese protectorate, do not exceed a total of 1,000, but it undoubtedly is a fact that there exists a deep feeling of unrest and hatred toward the Japanese among many of the Corean people. The Japanese residency general, however, is convinced that it can overcome this ill-feeling by a gradual, but persistent demonstration of its good intentions, of its desire to benefit the masses of the people, and its purpose to prevent injustice.

Japs Greatly Hampered.

Japanese officials say that the Japanese administration has been greatly hampered by the actions of certain irresponsible Japanese, and that even the Japanese soldiers have committed serious offences. Assurances have been given that every case was investigated and that all offenders were being punished rigorously.

The residency has just issued some stringent press regulations directed against the Japanese, Corean and foreign-owned vernacular newspapers. It proposes to confiscate these journals to prevent the circulation of inflammatory articles.

Another evidence of the unrest is found in the fact that the American missionaries recently received letters threatening them with death if they aided the Government against the insurgents. The casualties in the recent encounters with these armed bands, however, have been insignificant. They move in small bands, seldom exceeding one hundred, and when they are pursued they scatter and hide their arms.

The Government now proposes to police the entire country with a force of about eight hundred men, including four hundred Coreans.

Man's Inhumanity.

Windsor, May 4.—In the Assize Court Saturday Mrs. Mary Spiers, plaintiff in an alimony suit against William Spiers of Owen Sound, said that once her husband knocked her down and beat her into insensibility because she asked him for two dollars. The judge awarded $5 a week alimony.

John Guilfoyle, who drives an ice wagon, was arrested Saturday night. He took two Detroit girls for a ride to Belle Isle, and is alleged to have attacked one of them, leaving her senseless from blows administered by the butt of a revolver.

Boy's Legs Cut Off.

North Bay, May 4.—William Featherly, aged eight years, while trying to mount a moving freight train in the C.P.R. yards fell and had both legs severed below the knee.

RESULT OF FIRE WAS DISASTROUS

Fort Wayne Hotel Destroyed by the Flames.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST

Inmates Leaped From Windows to Their Death—Others Were Victims of the Blaze—Many Missing and Buried Under the Debris—Register Was Burned and List of Guests Is Not Obtainable.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 4.—At least 12 persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the new Avelline Hotel early yesterday. The entire interior of the building is a smouldering heap of ruins, and how many dead are concealed by the debris can only be conjectured.

The hotel register was consumed by the fire and there is no accurate means of determining who is missing. The known dead are: R. S. Johnson, Chicago; M. Hirsch, New York; H. B. Miller, Sheboygan, Wis.; J. E. Ellis, Chicago; J. W. Pitcher, Fort Wayne; J. W. Devine, Philadelphia, and three unidentified men. The known missing are: Max Wassem, a wrestler, Fort Wayne; Frank Baxter, Auburn, Ind.; companion of Frank Baxter, Auburn, Ind.; E. B. Alty of Washington, Ind.; Charles Benjamin, Detroit; Mrs. Sarah Hathaway, Mishawken, Ind.; unknown woman, companion of Mrs. Hathaway.

The complete destruction of the interior of the hotel makes the work of recovering bodies a difficult task, as bricks and twisted girders, piled up between the walls to beyond the second storey, must be removed piece by piece before the roll of the dead can be completed.

Some of the bodies taken out are mangled and charred beyond recognition.

Fireman Saved Many.

The fire was discovered at 3.30 yesterday morning in the elevator shaft by Night Clerk Hopkins. He rushed to the upper floors alarming the guests, until the flames drove him back. His efforts, however, saved many lives.

The hotel was erected half a century ago and the woodwork was as dry as tinder. It burned like matchwood, and within a few minutes from the time the fire was discovered the whole interior of the hotel was a mass of flames and the only means of escape left was by the windows.

The fire department rescued many persons by means of ladder but some frenzied by the rush of the flames, leaped to the street.

R. S. Johnson of Pana, Ill, jumped from the fifth storey. His body struck a balcony and bounded far into the street. He was badly crushed and died in a short time.

As the flames increased men and women were seen in the windows of their rooms, imploring help. Some did not wait for the assistance of the firemen and leaped into the street.

Those who left their rooms before the flames cut off their retreat were able to make their way to the fire escapes and were saved with comparative ease.

Whole Family Perish.

New York, May 4.—An early morning fire in a four-storey brick tenement in Humboldt street, Brooklyn, caused the death of six persons and the serious injury of four others. Every member of one family, a mother and four children, are among the dead.

There were many thrilling rescues by police and firemen, and it was due to their brave work that the death list was not larger. A half dozen or more persons, who were trapped in the upper stories, were saved by jumping into life nets. The financial loss caused by the fire is estimated at $10,000.

Those who met death are: Mrs. Dora Abrams, aged 62 years; Sadie Abrams, 26 years of age; Carrie Abrams, 20 years of age; Annie Abrams, 13 years of age; Charles Abrams, 23 years of age.

The fire started in the cellar of the building at about half-past two yesterday morning when eight families were asleep.

It had gained much headway before it was discovered and three policemen, who arrived on the scene about this time, repeatedly risked their lives in dragging people from the lower floors. When the firemen arrived the terror-stricken inmates of the upper floors had been driven to the front rooms where they were hanging from windows shrieking for help. Ladders and life nets were quickly brought into use and most of the imperilled people thus were rescued.

The Abrams family lived on the third floor. The flames swept through their apartment so that the only way to escape death was by jumping from the windows. Charles A. Abrams and his sister Anna chose this manner. Both struck an iron railing and were killed. Mrs. Abrams and her other children, were burned to death, clasped in each others arms.

Deaths In Chicago Fire.

Chicago, May 4.—Five bodies were recovered Saturday from the ruins of the Chicago Reduction Co.'s plant at Thirty-Ninth and Iron streets, which was destroyed by an explosion and fire Friday night. The death list totals six, and seven men are still unaccounted for, five seriously injured are at the hospital, and seven others are at their homes suffering from wounds and burns.

At the time of the explosion the six naphtha tanks holding the 78,000 gallons in the plants were more than three-fourths full.

May Go to London.

Montreal, May 4.—There is a report that the new position of agent of the Province of Quebec in London, created during the last session of the Legislature, with an annual stipend of $10,000, will be given either to Sir Louis Jette, now Lieutenant-Governor of the province, or to Hon. W. A. Weir, Provincial Treasurer.

Mail Bag Missing.

Belleville, May 4.—A mail bag was either lost or stolen from the train which reached here from the west at midnight Friday night.

JUDGE CASSELS COMMENCES

Enquiry Into Civil Service Report Is Opened—The Minister Exonerated—Both Mr. Fyshe and Mr. Bazin Refuse All Particulars About Individuals—A Large Array of Counsel—Court Adjourned.

Ottawa, May 4.—Judge Cassels opened his enquiry as a result of the report of the Civil Service Commission on Saturday, the evidence of Commissioners Fyshe and Bazin being taken.

"We shall present," said Mr. G. H. Watson, before evidence was begun, "all the evidence which is available bearing on the subject of this enquiry, and I am especially pleased that the proceedings are to be conducted in open court and with the dignity which belongs to a judicial form. We desire especially the co-operation of everyone who is possessed of information which may be considered material to the subject of this enquiry."

Mr. Watson gave an outline of the organization of the Marine and Fisheries Department, and of the various public services which it administers, a list of the officials who negotiate or recommend expenditures, and produced also a series of bulky files of paper containing particulars of all the Department expenditures and contracts.

J. L. Person, K.C., Montreal, appeared as junior counsel; Senator Choquette appeared on behalf of Capt. J. N. Gregory, Marine Department agent at Quebec, who has been under suspension for some weeks past; and among others present in the court room were Hon. J. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries; Col. F. Gourdeau and J. F. Fraser, commissioner of lights for the Marine Department, who was placed under suspension by the Minister at the same time as Capt. Gregory; J. M. Courtney, former Deputy Minister of Finance, who served as chairman of the Civil Service Commission of enquiry, and Dr. James Mills of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Senator Choquette, addressing the court, said that Capt. Gregory, who is past 75 years of age, was anxious that any evidence relating to him be heard without delay. Judge Cassels pointed out, however, that at present there were no charges against him.

Commissioner Fyshe declined emphatically to name any officials as coming under the charge that there is a lack of conscience in the Department and that some of the officials are serving two masters.

"I refuse either to excuse or exculpate," said Mr. Fyshe; Mr. Bazin reiterated the objection.

Asked specially as to Col. Gourdeau, Deputy Minister of Marine, Mr. Fyshe said the evidence was all in the report and it was open to any court that wished to confirm or set aside the report to consult the extracts from the files of the Department and see if the judgment of the commissioners was correct. There was not one word that they would alter or withdraw.

"Do you realize the gravity of the charge against the whole body?" asked Judge Cassels.

"Most emphatically I realize it," replied Mr. Fyshe. "I take the full responsibility and my colleagues also."

"We charge nobody with anything."

"Our report," said Fyshe, "must be taken as a whole and we decline to go into the merits or demerits of any officers of the Department."

Mr. Watson read some extracts from the report and asked if there was anything that was intended to reflect upon Col. Gourdeau's honesty.

Mr. Fyshe said Mr. Watson could form his own opinion.

The conclusions were based on the general nature of those extracts.

Mr. Watson asked if he meant that the remark that there was a lack of conscience in the Department was applicable to the Deputy Minister. Mr. Fyshe declined to say.

Mr. Fyshe maintained that the commissioners were not appointed to investigate the conduct of individuals.

"You must necessarily have in mind some particular officers of the Department," asked Mr. Watson.

"I have."

"To whom do you refer?"

"I can't name them."

Judge Cassels: "It is not fair to the character of the men you do not blame to refuse to exculpate them."

"We neither accuse nor exculpate."

"Did you intend that this report should carry with it condemnation of the officials."

"Yes."

"That was an accusation."

"It was not."

In answer to further enquiries Mr. Fyshe said he thought his report did not justify any further investigation.

Mr. Fyshe was excused and Mr. Bazin called. He asked to be examined in French and read a memorandum stating his position.

"I beg not to be examined upon the execution of my duties as a commissioner," he pleaded. "The Government of Canada did me the honor to name me as a member of the royal commission on the civil service.

"With my colleagues I have executed my mandate to the best of my ability. We have examined as much as possible into the state of things as a whole and made our report to he Governor-in-council. This is now in the hands of Parliament, who should be our sole judges."

Examined by Mr. Watson, the witness declined to name any officials.

He was asked if he did not want to exculpate the guiltless officials, and he answered: "I don't think I can exculpate, because I don't accuse."

Mr. Bazin took pains to exclude the Minister from the general condemnation. He was explicit in saying the criticism meant the Department as a whole, and added:

"If you mean from the Minister down I do not include the Minister."

Judge Cassels remarked that apparently what the witness was trying to say was that he had found the system to be wrong.

Mr. Bazin said he did not have anyone in his mind when he spoke of the lack of conscience. He could not put his finger on any official.

This was all the evidence and Judge Cassels said he would arrange for a further hearing. Court business would have first call and his only open dates for some weeks were May 11 and 12. But he asked, "What is there to do now?" As the enquiry adjourned the judge remarked, "We have relieved the officials to a certain extent. I mean they won't feel so depressed."

On the opening of the enquiry Judge Cassels outlined the scope of the enquiry. He said the Civil Service Commission's report had contained the statement that evidently some of the officials of the Marine Department were serving two masters and succeeding with both, Scripture to the contrary notwithstanding. No individual was accused in this report, but it was charged that officials had profited by the receipt of commissions on contracts into which the Department had entered.

This was a very grave charge and the purpose of the present enquiry was to ascertain what foundation there was for the statements made to free the innocent members of the Department staff from all suspicion of wrongdoing and to report the guilty.

For this purpose they would have to make an examination of all contracts into which the Department had entered either for work performed or for supplies purchased.

The statements in the Civil Service Commission report related apparently to transactions of the past three years, and for the present at all events the enquiry would content itself with transactions of the same years, unless it became necessary to go farther afield.

FLESH BURNT BADLY

Clothes of Mr. Edward Wesley Caught Fire From Gasoline on Saturday Evening---Saved by Passer-by Who Smothered Flames With Oilcloth Overcoat

CAUGHT BY EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE MR. ED. G. WESLEY WAS TERRIBLY BURNED

Accident in the Cleaning Room of "My Valet" Establishment on Saturday Afternoon---Consequent Fire Resulted in Damage of $500 to Building and Contents

MR. JOSEPH GREER HAD A VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Caught by a sudden explosion of gasoline, Mr. Edward G. Wesley, 360 Stewart street, was terribly burned in the cleaning room of "My Valet' on Saturday afternoon and had the narrowest possible escape from meeting death in the flames. He is now in Nicholls Hospital where his condition to-day is reported as being very favourable to his recovery.

The accident occurred shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon. It has been Mr. Wesley's custom to drop into the establishment almost every afternoon for a chat and since the business ,which was formerly operated by his two sons, has been purchased by Mr. W B Rickey, he has still continued to visit the plant. On Saturday afternoon he came in as usual, and after speaking to Mr. Jas. Greer, who was at work in the cleaning room, which is situated in the small brick building at the rear of the establishment, sat down in the corner farthest away from the door. To the Examiner, Mr. Greer stated that the flash came within a few minutes of Mr. Wesley's arrival. He was hard at work and recognizing Mr. Wesley's voice when he came in, did not raise his head to speak to him. Suddenly there came a flash and the room seemed to be filled in an instant with flames. Mr. Greer was near to the door and got outside quickly, then, realising that Mr. Wesley was still in the building he plunged back after him and succeeded in getting the unfortunate man out into the lane. His clothes were burning, "blazing like a log," Mr. Greer said to the Examiner, and seizing some grain sacks, he endeavoured to smother the flames with them, but without much avail.

Threw Coat Over Him

At this moment Mr. Andrew Cameron who happened to be passing on Charlotte street, came to the rescue. Stripping off his rubber rain coat, he wrapped it around Mr. Wesley and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, not, however, before he had received terrible injuries. When the rubber coat was removed, portions of his clothes dropped to the ground and it was seen that his face and ears were badly burned, while his hair, eyebrows and beard were singed.

Dr. Neal was summoned and attended to his injuries and the Dan Spence Ambulance was quickly on hand and conveyed Mr. Wesley to Nicholls Hospital, where it was found that his back, legs and feet were badly burned as well as his face nad head. He is resting as easily to-day as could be expected under the circumstances.

Room Was Gutted

The cleaning room was gutted as a result of the blaze, the fire having gotten such a start by the time the brigade arrived, that they could not extinguish the flames until the contents of the building were destroyed. They, however, confined the fire to the cleaning room and saved the stables, situated to the north. Mr. Rickey, proprietor of the establishment, estimates his loss at about $500, which will likely be covered by insurance in the Rimouski Fire Insurance Company. The room contained a sewing machine, pressing machine and cleaning apparatus. The business of the company will not be interfered with, however, as a temporary cleaning room has been fitted up and work was going on as usual.

It is not known how the blaze originated. Several vats of gasoline, which is largely used for cleaning purposes, were in the room, and in some way they caught fire, filling the room with flames in an instant. So sudden was it that Mr. Wesley would have undoubtedly perished in the building had it not been for the efforts of Mr. Greer, as the unfortunate man was cut off from the door by the flames. Mr. Greer escaped almost uninjured, some slight burns on his hands and face being the only evidence of his experience.

A LARGE NUMBER WEAR THE WHITE BADGES

The great International Institute opened in Peterborough today with bright prospects. Several delegates from outside places arrived this morning, and many more are expected on the evening trains, to be here in time to listen to the addresses at St. Paul's Church, by the Rev. Canon Tucker. The delegates are the people in the city wearing the white badges.

APPLICANTS FOR FARM WORK ALL SECURE PLACES

All those who had applied to Mr. Geo. Howson last week for work in the country, secured positions on Saturday to the last man. On the "Dear Old Farm" they will find plenty of work to do, as the farmers are turning over the sods and dropping in the grain with undefatigable activity. Those who are new to the soil will find their row no easy one, while to many it will be a delight. The farmers are being well supplied with men.

WILL RETURN FROM ENGLAND THIS EVENING

After spending three months with his parents in Reading, England, Bandsman Hensley, accompanied by his wife and family, is expected to arrive on a special train this evening. The Salvation Army Band have arranged to meet their comrade at the station, and a parade will take place to the barracks.

NO EVIDENCE TO CONVICT THE HOTEL KEEPER

This morning a local hotel-keeper was arraigned in Police Court, charged with selling out of hours. Considerable evidence was taken in the case, but there was nothing adduced to show that the hotelman had committed in any way a breach of the Liquor Act. Mr. Jas. Haverson of Toronto acted for the hotel-keeper.

AUNT OF LOCAL WOMAN PASSES AWAY IN TORONTO

News of the death of Mrs. Walter Sterling, 206 Carleton street, Toronto, was received in the city to-day by Mr. J. S. Knapman, by telegram. Mrs. Sterling, who is an aunt of Mrs. Knapman, passed away yesterday. Her daughter, Miss Amy, has often visited friends in Peterborough. Mr. Knapman has gone to Toronto, where he will attend the funeral to-morrow.

MEN ALLEGED TO HAVE FISHED WITH NETS IN MUD LAKE

Mr. Peter Nicholls, fish inspector, has a complaint against a number of young men from Smith, whom he alleges were not fishing at the head of Chemong Lake. One, at least, will likely be charged with illegal fishing and the rest may be implicated.

PETER WARNER FOUND GUILTY THIS MORNING

In the police court this morning, Peter Warner, who was charged with having stolen some plumbing material, from the residence of a well known citizen, was found guilty by His Worship, and judgment was reserved for a week.

The Magistrate allowed the prisoner to go in the meantime and warned him that his judgment would be governed according to the restitution made by the defendant.

ANOTHER CURLING RINK AND SWIMMING BATHS WILL BE ERECTED IN PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough is to have another new curling rink in addition to the new structure that will be erected to replace the Charlotte street building. A company has been formed to be known as the Mechanics' Curling Rink Company, a site has been secured, and the building will be ready in plenty of time for the opening of next season. The intention is to have four sheets of ice available for curling purposes, with comfortable clubrooms and conveniences, and to have the membership fee as low as it can be made in order to give the mechanics and working people of the city an opportunity to enjoy the game at prices that will not be almost prohibitive.

Another long-felt want will be filled in the erection of the building, as it is the intention of the promoters of the scheme to convert the building into swimming baths in the summer. There will be separate swimming pools for ladies and gentlemen and separate dressing rooms. A pool will be built on each side of the rink 165 feet in length and 16 feet wide, making an admirable place for swimming. The lack of such opportunity for swimming has been often lamented, and the new building will be gladly welcomed. The baths will be ready for use by July of this year.

A lot has been secured as a site for the building about seven minutes' walk from the Market Square, and just a block from the car line, so that the new curling rink and natatorium will be easy of access, and no doubt will prove most popular.

Plans are being prepared, and work will be commenced in a short time. The promoters of the scheme are for the most part members of the Peterborough Curling Club, who wish to give working men a chance to participate in the game.

Cheese Factories Of The County Commenced Their Operations This Morning

The county cheese factories began operations for 1908 to-day. Mr. Geo. Gillespie, who is always in touch with the dairy business, stated that the factories were now in full swing with every prospect for a prosperous season. The first cheese will be offered for sale on May 20th. The farmers have had many lessons during the winter on how to make cheese and butter, and they should be prepared to surpass former years. The experience of patrons and makers should be invaluable and the best quality is expected from Peterborough County this year.

WILL HURTUBISE THROW GERMAN FOUR TIMES IN THE HOUR?

The wrestling match between Eugene Hurtubise of Peterborough and Frank Kennedy of New York at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, night is causing the greatest excitement among the sporting fraternity, and promises to be one of the hardest battles ever seen here. The conditions of the match are that Hurtubise must throw his German rival four times in one hour. His task is a hard one, but local people are confident that he can accomplish the feat. Additional interest is given to the match by the appearance here of Artie Edmunds, the "Pocket Hercules," who will give his famous physical culture exhibition, and will, in addition, engage to throw Jack Wilson of Peterborough in fifteen minutes, or forfeit $25.

The programme will be as follows:

Eugene Hurtubise of Peterborough versus Frank Kennedy of New York, for a $50 purse and $100 a side, Hurtubise to throw Kennedy four times in one hour or lose the match; pin holds of five seconds to count, and strangle holds barred.

Artie Edmunds, the "Pocket Hercules," holder of the Rich. K. Fox physical culture belt, and one of the most perfectly developed men in America, will give an exhibition of physical culture.

Wrestling — Corney Burns versus Jack Crough; best two in three falls, for 145-lb. championship of Peterborough.

Wrestling—Artie Edmunds versus Jack Wilson, Edmunds to throw Wilson in 15 minutes or forfeit $25.

The Missionary Institute Promises To Be Great Success

The Missionary Institute was opened this afternoon by the registration of the visiting delegates at St. Paul's Church, and the inspection of the exhibit at St. John's Church.

Mr. Harry Wilkie is in charge of the reception of the visitors, and is assiduously carrying out his work. At all the trains there were groups of boys wearing white badges and carnations. They conducted the delegates to St. Paul's wheret hey registered, and this feature was much appreciated by the visitors. They have not all arrived yet, many being expected to-night.

The missionary exhibit in St. John's Sunday School Room should not be missed. On every side are things of interest, and the large number of persons who inspected the exhibit found objects and books which are instructive of missionary work in every known field. Miss Winnifred D. Crouch, of Toronto, is in charge of the exhibit.

The first great meeting will be held to-night in St. Paul's Church, when Rev. Canon Tucker, D.C.L., will speak on the Call of the Canadian West. It is unnecessary to state that there shoul dbe a large attendance.

Trent Canal Bridges And Locks Are Officially Opened

This morning the locks and bridges along the route of the Trent Canal were officially opened. This means that navigation for the season has begun, and as the various navigation companies have considerable work on hand, a big season's work is anticipated.

The steamer Majestic left her moorings at Young's Point this morning and made a trip to Lakefield and return.

The life lock did not open this morning, but it is expected that before the end of the week it will be in readiness.

Was Successful In Limerick Contest And Receives A Lot

Mrs. N. E. McWilliams has received word from the Laurentian Land Company of Montreal that she was one of the successful competitors in the recent Limerick contest of that company, which was published in the Examiner some time ago. The prize awarded to her is a building lot at Newaygo, a summer resort on the C.N.Q. Railway. She was one of a hundred of these who secured lots each valued at $25.

MANY ROUSING ADDRESSES AT MR. GILLESPIE'S COMMITTEE ROOMS ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Political Questions Of The Day Dealt With—Candidate Given Cordial Reception.

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES

Gillespie's committee rooms on Simcoe street, presented an animated appearance on Saturday night on the occasion of a grand rally of the supporters of the popular Liberal candidate for West Peterborough in the coming provincial election contest. Before eight o'clock ,men, young and old began to arrive and shortly after that hour the chairs were all filled by an audience which listened intently to the several addresses on the provincial political questions of the day. The rally was an enthusiastic one, showing the interest displayed in the coming campaign by the electors in Peterborough and that Mr. Gillespie has many staunch friends in the city.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. J Hartley, president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association, and before introducing the speakers, gave a spirited address. For thirty-two years, he said, the Liberal Government held power in the Province of Ontario, and for the greater part of that time the Conservatives kept telling the people that it was time for a change until finally—three and a half years ago—the people of the province hearkened to their cries. But it the people had known what the record of the Conservatives, during that three and one half years was going to be, he did not believe they would have done what they did at the polls at the time of the last election. The Conservative party have had their chance and what have they done? Not content with a majority of 42 in the House, they have betrayed the confidence of the people who voted for them, in their unfair gerrymander—an action contrary to the first principles of government by the people and a betrayal which should receive the hearty condemnation of the public.

The Liberals of West Peterborough were starting out on a brief campaign and he exhorted them to begin it with an idea that they were going to win, even in the face of the large majority which Mr. Bradburn secured three and half years ago. To do this all must put their shoulder to the wheel and help on with the work.

Mr. F. D. Kerr

The organization work of the executive was next referred to by Mr. F D Kerr. The executive made a number of recommendations which the meeting heartily endorsed. They included the appointment of a chairman and secretary for the whole city and chairman for each ward who were to look after the work of their wards.

For the city Mr. Adam Hall was appointed chairman with (Mr. E L Goodwill as his secretary, and the chairman for the wards were decided upon as follows:—

South Ward—Mr. W. H White.
Centre Ward—Mr. R R Leary.
West Ward—Mr. Andrew Macfarlane.
East Ward—Mr. Wm. Scott.
North Ward—Mr. Geo E Elliott.

Mr. R. R. Hall M. P.

Following Mr. Kerr, Mr R R Hall gave an address on the manner in which the trust, the majority of electors had placed in Mr. Whitney at the last election, had been betrayed. Our minds, he said, should be made clear that the Whitney Government is unworthy of the confidence of the electors of Ontario and that Mr. Bradburn who was elected with a majority of about 1200, was unworthy of the trust the electors of West Peterborough reposed in him. Naturally one would expect that he would not have, right at the start, sanctioned the spoils system and treacherously abused the confidence of his supporters.

Mr. Hall referred to the removal from the positions which they occupied, of Mr. Cochrane, Mr. Moore, Mr. Elliott and others, all gentlemen with the highest qualifications for the positions which they occupied. The ungenerous way in which they were treated deserved condemnation from the electors and he believed they would show their disapproval. Such actions would not have been done by any Government which had received the confidence of the public, the Whitney Government received.

Succession Duties

Referring to the Succession Duties Act, he pointed out that the $833,503 revenue which the Conservative Government received this year, which they never would have received but for the foresight of the Liberal Government. When in Op-

BAND WILL AID SELF DENIAL CAMPAIGN FUND

The Salvation Army have commenced their self-denial campaign in earnest, and the officers expect that the amount raised this year will be much larger than last year. The Army band will be out several nights a week serenading the different places of importance about the city in the interest of the fund. It is hoped the citizens will subscribe liberally towards this cause.

BOX OF CIGARS FOR BEST BATTER

Mr. W. Talbot Has Offered This Reward For City League Players.

Mr. W. Talbot, the George street tobacconist, in order to encourage the players of the Intermediate City Baseball League, has offered to donate a box of cigars to the player with the highest batting average for the year. This should result in keen competition for the honours, as there are some splendid batters in the ranks of the league, and it will take a pretty good average to carry off the smokes.

COMMERCIAL MAN DIES IN LINDSAY

His Home Was In Toronto—Attacked With Pneumonia Which Proved Fatal

The friends of Mr. Alex. Weir will learn with regret of his death in Lindsay. He was one of the oldest travellers on the road, being a representative of the Dominion Tobacco Company. At one time he conducted a boot and shoe store in Toronto, afterwards representing W B Reid, and finally the Dominion Tobacco Company.

He had a host of friends throughout the country who will regret his unforeseen death. He was forced to go to the hospital in Lindsay suffering from pneumonia, which caused his death. His family live at their home in Toronto.

OBITUARY

PETER SHEEHAN

The remains of the late Peter Sheehan, who died in Montana, were brought to the city to-day. The funeral took place at three o'clock this afternoon from Mr. M. McFadden's undertaking parlours to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from there to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment.

St. Paul's Church

The meeting of the Session of St. Paul's has been postponed on account of the Missionary Institute. The Session has decided to make an addition of six members to the eldership, four from the city and two from the country. These will be balloted for next Sunday.

Anniversary services will likely be held on Sunday, May 17th.

Monthly meeting of F.M.S. on May 15th.

OPS YOUTH SHOOTS OTTER IN MISTAKE FOR A POLE CAT

Lindsay, May 2.—(Special.) — William Eggleton, a young hired farmer, last night shot an otter in mistake for a skunk. At least that is his contention. While wandering through the premises of Mr. Horatio Moor, lot 28, con. 6, of Ops township, with whom he is employed, he was startled to see a small animal running swiftly over the ground in the orchard. Concluding that the skunk ,or whatever it was, might cause some damage to poultry, he at once proceeded to get a gun He returned and shot the animal. Upon picking up the carcase he was considerably surprised to discover that he had committed a serious breach of law, which he thought next, might entail a large fine. However, to remedy the matter as far as was in his power he brought the otter in to Inspector Bradshaw, who, of course, was forced to confiscate the animal and bring the matter before the notice of Police Magistrate Jackson. It is said that in view of his ignorance of what the animal really was, he will probably get off.

Farm Operations Reported To Be Making Good Progress

Many reports are being received regarding the results the farmers are attaining in their agricultural work. Those whose lands are high and dry have finished seeding and are busy preparing the rest of their ground for the hoe crop. Others, who have low, wet farms, have made but little progress, and, in fact, some have not yet begun to seed. These, however, are happily in the minority, and the feeling most generally expressed is one of satisfaction.

The market gardeners have also been busy. Those who have seeds and roots planted in sheltered places state that the growth has been very rapid. Potatoes, onions, lettuce, beets, etc., have all sprouted and are doing well. With fine weather nature's conditions should unite to favorably perform her yearly duties.

Have Purchased 18,000 Rat Skins During Season Just Passed

The season for trapping muskrats closed on Thursday last, and on that day the firm of Messrs. Wm. Lech & Son purchased 7,000 skins, the Chemong Lake Indians bringing in their complement just as the end of the open season. Messrs. Lech and Son have purchased altogether 18,000 rats, the largest amount ever secured by a local firm, representing an outlay of $7,200. There are enough skins piled up in the basement of their establishment to give every person in Peterborough one, and then have 2,000 to spare. In addition to the muskrat skins, there are many fox, mink, skunk and racoon pelts, all the animals having been trapped within a radius of two score miles of the city. The firm will use a large amount of the skins in their local business and sell the remainder.

WHAT IMPELLED MR. WHITNEY?

(The Globe.)

The Hamilton Spectator treats with incredulous contempt the insinuation that the guarantee of Mr. Mackenzie's bonds had some connection with campaign funds. Will The Spectator favour the public with some other supposition that fits the facts better? Mr. Whitney knew just as well as a man can know anything that such a transaction would be unpopular all over the Province. Why should he brave the displeasure of the electorate? Does The Spectator swallow the Premier's explanation that the additional guarantee of $2,500,000 was intended to increase the security of the Province? If it accepts the hypothesis that Mr. Mackenzie and his lieutenants were spending their time about the Legislative buildings in order to induce Mr. Whitney to improve the position of the Province as the holder of the mortgage on his railway, its credulity can only be regarded as childlike and bland.

As a retort, the Conservative newspapers are asking whether the guarantee extended by the Ross Government was also given for a consideration in the shape of a campaign fund. As a matter of fact, the situation was then wholly different. A proposition to supply a large section of country which has no railway facilities with a new road can always bring a variety of influences to bear on a Government. The constituencies along the line at once become factors in the situation. Their members, or would-be members, beset the Administration to aid the project. Even the powerful influence of Toronto's business men was thrown in the scale in this particular case. Better connection with the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway to and from the West was felt to be a desideratum. It is true that the management of that railway had a charter for such a line, and had long been making motions as if contemplating construction, but nothing had so far come out of it. The line for which aid was asked would also give railway accommodation to a section of the Province that was without it. Mr. Ross was fairly entitled, therefore, to regard it as a colonization railway.

Not one of these incentives was present to Mr. Whitney. The line was built. Whatever public advantage arises from its construction and operation has already been secured. The reason he puts forward, namely, that he desired to improve the Province's security for its money, is so puerile that we must give The Spectator the credit that it puts its tongue in its cheek when it pretends to accept it.

What, then, impelled the Premier to go into partnership with William Mackenzie when he knew that he would offend many of his best friends in the Press and in the country by doing so? The electors may be left to give the right answer.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT MR. GILLESPIE'S COMMITTEE ROOMS

position Mr. Whitney had opposed the proposition, making the threat that if he got into power "this robbery of the dead" would be done away with. In fact, his boast of a large revenue was largely due to the courage and foresight of the Ross Government.

Mr. Whitney had also opposed the tax on breweries and distilleries while in Opposition, but he has made no move to remove that tax since assuming power three and one-half years ago—another instance of the false pretences made before the last general election. He obtained the support of the breweries and distilleries by promises which he has not, during his three and one-half years regime, fulfilled. And yet, added Mr. Hall, the Whitney Government boasts of a large, financial surplus.

Mr. Whitney was also opposed to buildings new railways into New Ontario, in which Mr. Ross had high hopes of a vast productive territory. And now Mr. Whitney would have the people believe that he was responsible for the discovery of Cobalt and the vast territory of northern Ontario, which he was wont to dub while in Opposition, "the land of the stunted poplar." He also guaranteed the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway to the extent of two and one-half millions of dollars, with the terminal facilities in Toronto—one of the most important cities in the province. He had thus failed in the primary object, that of the colonization of New Ontario to the north.

These unfulfilled promises of the Whitney Government, as well as many equally as suspicious at the beginning of the last elections should, said Mr. Hall, cause every Liberal in the city, and the country to show their condemnation by returning Mr. Gillespie at the head of the polls on June 8th.

Mr. Whitney also boasts he trusts the people, yet in the "Tory" city of Toronto, in his recent redistribution bill, he has given each elector in each constituency the right to vote for two candidates, thus making sure of eight candidates. Had he been at all fair, if he considered Toronto deserved a larger representation, he should have divided the city into eight constituencies. But he wanted to be secure, and so, despite his boast, he mistrusts the people. Mr. Hall hoped that as far as West Peterborough is concerned, the people would eshow their repulsion of such tactics, and he believed that if the Liberals put the old time vigour and old time fight into the campaign they would redeem the riding and carry Mr. Gillespie at the head of the polls.

Mr. G. M. Roger

Mr. Roger was glad once more to be present at a Liberal meeting during this campaign, as believed the Liberals were putting vigour into the fight. He referred to the old time cry of Mr. Whitney and his colleagues that it was "time for a change." But not satisfied with the big majority he had in the house during the past three years, he has conceived an unfair redistribution scheme to attempt to prolong his lease of power.

At the time of the last election, the Rev. Mr. Hossack, a Presbyterian minister, who had taken a course against the Liberals, but recently again he had written a letter to the press, condeming in many cases the course of the Whitney Government, stating that they had abused the confidence of the people. They have made mistakes, and they are directly responsible to the people for them. The gerrymander alone, said Mr. Roger, condemned Mr. Whitney, if nothing else will. For example, redistribution usually taken place after a decennial census, which does not come until after 1910. Yet in the city of Toronto, where there has always been four constituencies which have always elected four Conservatives, the Government has, instead of making eight constituencies, they have decided to allow each constituency the right to send two members to the House, thus making it practically almost impossible to elect a Liberal in such a Conservative city.

In distributing constituencies, it is desirable, as far as possible to make them equal. Yet, in the contiguous ridings of Cardwell and Peel, which had only a difference in population of about 500, instead of adding to the smaller, the Whitney Government has made a difference in population of 7,000. How can this be justified on a plea of equalizing the population? They have earned the condemnation of the people of this province.

In the three and a half years in power Mr. Whitney has increased the expenditure by $1.00 per capita, which increase is greater than during the whole thirty-two years of Liberal rule.

Mr. Roger had had a visit from a Conservative recently who wanted to know why the Liberals were making such a vigourous fight. He believed the Conservatives were afraid the Liberals were going to elect Mr. Gillespie, even in the face of a big majority, and that they realized that their party has done things during their three and a half years' rule that they should not have done. He advised all Liberals in the city and in the riding to put their shoulders to the wheel, as other speakers had said, and go into the fight with determination to win.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams

In opening his address Mr. McWilliams showed how that there was a great difference between the two political partiess. He wanted to demonstrate to his hearers that there are far stronger reasons why the Liberals should unite against the Whitney Administration, than a great many supposed.

The Liberals take issue with the Whitney Government on the spoils system; their financial policy; the manner of conducting the university finances; their policy on the question of the payment of salaries by rural school districts and stright upon the question of fair dealing and honesty in the ruling of the province.

They have given the people an unfair treatment in the redistribution scheme. They have given a railway company a guarantee to build the most profitable part of their road—something never heard tell of in all the history of Canada or in the United States.

The Larose Mine

The Liberals take issue with the Conservative Government on the grant of $130,000 to the proprietors of the Larose mine, for the "giving of "valuable information" — which, by the way, has never yet been made known.

The Liberals are not merely fighting a battle of to-day in this election. They are members of a party which had ought for honesty and advance on this continent since the time of Confederation. The Liberal party is in alliance with that party by which have stood such honourable men as Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other great statesmen, including the great Pitt, the first great Liberal who lived and made the British Empire the great Empire that it is. There is just as much need for a great Liberal party now to look after the destiny of this Province of ours as there was in the great past, which has reflected such credit upon the history of our Dominion. The Liberal party is not the party in Peterborough to send a representative to the Whitney Government to be a tool to aid Mr. Whitney in his unfairness in dealing with the people of this Province. The Whitney Government has given us the gerrymander, which is a sample of the way in which British fair play has been contorted to suit the interests of the Conservative party.

In conclusion, Mr. McWilliams stated that it was up to every Liberal of this riding to see that no stone was left unturned to make certain that a Liberal representative is sent to the next Legislature, and each man should do everything in his power to see that Mr. Gillespie should be given every assistance in the coming campaign. If this is done the Liberals have every opportunity of giving Mr. Bradburn and his over-confident friends something to keep them in wonderment, from which they will not recover for twenty years to come.

Mr. Stratton's Address

Hon. Mr. Stratton, after a few introductory remarks, dealt with the open letter of Rev. D. C. Hossack, and pointed out that three years and three months ago, Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Burnham—the two B's—the two busy B's at that time—were marching up and down the concession lines with their pockets bulging with Rev. D. C. Hossack's manifesto against the Ross Government. They then declared their most implicit belief in every word, line and insinuation of that now celebrated document. He wondered if they were now circulating as persistently the new manifesto of Mr. Hossack, from the point of view of the broken pledges of the Whitney Government. In 1905 Mr. Hossack had great confidence in Mr. Whitney and his promises. Like thousands of others he was deceived. He accepted his promises. He did all in his power to make the public accept them, too. But the public had found, as well as Mr. Hossack that every pledge made had been broken. Fair play was to be meted out to all parties. But like Mr. Bradburn, the Whitney Government seemed to be returned with such a majority that they felt that they could do as they liked. Heads were chopped off of Liberals, all over the province, for no other offence than because they were Liberals. Places were wanted for others. These places had to be found. Good men were sacrificed. Fair play was not considered—the heads must go. Peterborough officials suffered with the others. Mr. Bradburn was the lord high executioner for the Government in West Peterborough. He went into the job with as much zeal as if he liked it. But there was one official head chopped off, and the bearing of this action was not understood. Mr. White, of this city, was appointed to succeed Mr. Thos. Walters, Lindsay, on the latter's death as Superintendent of Public Works for Eastern Ontario. Mr. Walters, a resident of Lindsay and Victoria County, had held the office for over forty years—ever since, if not before, Confederation. The advantage of having a superintendent living in Peterborough were many and plain. Supplies would have to be purchased, and our merchants and business men would profit. Men had to be employed and naturally Peterborough workmen would have been chosen. From a local point of view, we had everything to gain by having the superintendent reside in Peterborough. One would think that a live representative would have thought of this. Mr. Bradburn did not think of it, at least he acted that way. Mr. White's head had to come off. Mr. Bradburn stood by and saw the job done, without protesting, or at least protesting effectively. He consented to see a Peterborough man turned out of a lucrative position from the town and county view. That was not the worst feature of his neglect of duty. If Mr. White had to go, well and good, that was a part of the spoils system. But if Mr. Bradburn had been loyal to Peterborough, he would have resigned his seat before consenting to the replacing of a Peterborough official by a man living in Victoria county, which had had the honour and profit of having the office for over forty years. Liberals did not so much complain that for political reasons a good official was dismissed; that was to be expected. But Liberals, and Conservatives, too, complained and found fault with good reason, because he was not replaced by another Peterborough man. Let him be as strong a Conservative as possible, that was to be expected; but above all let him be a Peterborough man.

Mr. Stratton went on to deal with the series of pledges similarly broken by the Whitney Government, and concluded a brief but effective address by referring to the absolute necessity of proper organization. Every Liberal should throw off his coat and throw himself into the work. Mr. Gillespie could not win alone, no matter how energetically he worked. He was a first class candidate and would make a good representative. He should be elected, and the prospects were good if his friends rallied around him and backed him in the present contest.

The Candidate Speaks

Mr. Gillespie, on rising, was given a very cordial greeting. He was glad to see so much enthusiasm displayed, and he desired that, as the campaign was short, every man should assist as much as possible.

As a member of the Liberal party, he was proud of their standing and of being their standard-bearer in West Peterborough. There was never a time in the history of the Province when the people were voting as independently as they are at the present time. This was so at the time of the last election, when so many Liberals hearkened to the cry of time for a change.

He had no reason to regret the acceptance of the nomination, and he was prepared, under all conditions, to accept the duties incident to the carrying through of the campaign. It was not necessary for him to enter into the details of the political questions, as the previous speakers had thoroughly dealt with them, but he requested all loyal Liberals to assist in the work with all their hearts and help to bring to a successful issue the campaign between now and June 8th.

Other Speakers

Mr. Adam Hall, the chairman-elect of the committee, then took the chair and explained briefly the work before the committees of the various wards in the city, requesting diligent work.

Mr. Walter Davidson was another of the speakers, who referred to the work of organization, in which he asked all to take a part. He also referred to the letter which Mr. Gillespie had written to Mr. Bradburn for a straight, clean election, and which Mr. Bradburn had answered by a refusal.

Mr. R. H. Leary stated that he was anxious to assist in every manner possible towards the election of Mr. Gillespie, whom, he said, could not be beaten in the riding as a worker.

Mr. Robt. Scott, East City, was another of the speakers, who agreed with the idea of unity in the work during the campaign.

Mr. Andrew MacFarlane wanted thorough organization in the city to see that Mr. Gillespie would be elected on June 8, and asked his colleagues in the West Ward to unite with him.

Mr. Joseph Duffus believed that if the riding had been searched from end to end, there could not have been found a more honourable man than the West Peterborough Liberal candidate, and he had yet to find any person who could say a single thing against the character of Mr. Gillespie. The Whitney Government had taken so many unfair advantages of the trust of the public, that there was already time for a change, and he would do all in his power to lend assistance.

Mr. Andrew Cameron was another of the men who referred to the excellent character of Mr. Gillespie. He was a Liberal and a worker, and there would be no hesitation in saying that if the others worked like Mr. Gillespie he would be elected at the coming elections in June.

Mr. Borland also spoke in most favourable terms of Mr. Gillespie, whom he had known since he was a boy, and he believed no better man could be secured as a candidate.

The meeting was then brought to a close by cheers for the King and for the candidate.

Strike Averted.

Cleveland, May 4.—After voting 1,452 to 128 in favor of a strike, the motormen and conductors of the Municipal Traction Co. Saturday night practically reached an agreement with the mayor and traction officials that will eliminate the prospect of a cessation of work.

The men failed to secure outright the two-cent an hour increase in pay demanded, but are given an assurance that they may anticipate an advance after the Municipal Traction Co. shows a sufficient surplus.

Exactions of Paper Trust.

Washington, D.C., May 4.—According to figures submitted by John Norris, representing the American Newspaper Publishers Association, to the select committee of the House on wood pulp and paper investigation regarding the increased cost of labor per ton of paper produced, the increase amounted to but 52 cents a ton. The paper makers had put on an increased price of $12 a ton, alleging the higher cost of labor.

Accidentally Shot.

Brampton, May 4.—While a number of young men were engaged in rifle shooting at Eldorado, John Richardson, a young Englishman, employed by Thomas Reeve, having discharged his rifle, was examining the target when one of his companions, not realizing how near Richardson was to the target, fired, the bullet lodging in the shoulder.

A DEAF AND DUMB TRAMP WAS IN COURT

A man rather hard of hearing, was charged with being drunk and disorderly this morning in police court. Upon the Magistrate's usual query, he looked vacantly about the court in reply. His Worship repeated the charge and it was then discovered that the prisoner was deaf. P. C. Mohatry made him understand and the prisoner pleaded not guilty.

P. C. Newhall, who made the arrest, said that he found the prisoner chasing his daughter about the market square and put him under arrest. He had been drinking, and, according to what the daughter said, he had raised a row at his home.

The prisoner said that he tried to keep his daughter in the house, but she wanted to go out. He hit her a little slap and she ran out the front door. While going after her P. C. Newhall, he said, placed him under arrest.

His Worship fined the prisoner $2 to be paid in ten days.

Sporting Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In regard to the letter in your columns on Friday, signed "Amateur," I would like to say that the wrong impression was taken. By giving the amateurs a chance, was meant as a suggestion to the promoters of the walking game to get up a contest for amateurs only, and to give prizes, instead of gate receipts. I remain,

Yours truly,

Both the Ontario trial and the final all-Canadian Olympic Marathon test will take place in Toronto, and looking at it from down this way, Hamilton has received rather shabby treatment. Surely the ambitious City is entitled to one of the trials, for what city in Canada has done more for long distance running than the City of the Mountain? What chance would Canada have in a Marathon event had it not been for the manner in which such contests have been fostered in Hamilton? Surely the city that produced Sherring, Bennett, Caffery; the place where Tom Longboat made his debut; the scene of the most famous long distance event of the continent, should have been considered in choosing a location for the Olympic trial. That cry of "Hogtown," as applied to Toronto, may be an old one, but it contains more than a faint shading of truth at that.

A few days like to-day with bright sunlight will soon put Riverside Park in good shape for the season, and at any event it will be ready by Saturday, when Manager Johnston's Peterboroughs will open the season with an exhibition game with the fast Alerts of the Toronto Senior Inter-Association League. The game is already attracting a lot of attention, as the fans are anxious to see the new bunch Manager Johnston has corralled for the season, which is said to be the fastest line-up that ever wore the Peterborough uniform. From centre field to the plate there does not appear to be a weak spot, if the men live up to their past performances, and as they are getting lots of practice, they will be in good shape for the opening battle. The Alerts have a strong team on which several members of last year's Peterborough team are playing, including Haliburton, who was at third for the locals last year, and Spence, who played one game at first. The batteries will be Clements and Edmonds for Peterborough, and F. Smith and Dalzell for the Alerts. The game will be pulled off at Riverside Park.

Limited Power.

The judge of a county court in northern New York not long ago invited a friend who is a lawyer to join him for a sail on his honor's new yacht.

The wind was brisk at the start, and it soon freshened, with the result that the small craft evinced a tendency to toss and roll in a manner most distressing to the attorney.

The judge, observing his friend's inward uneasiness, asked:

"My dear Blank, can I do anything for you?"

"Yes," replied the unhappy Blank. "I wish your honor would overrule this motion."—Lippincott's.

He Had Heard of It Before.

A mother of a seven-year-old lad, who was daily expecting a visit from the stork, found the little fellow's conduct so trying that his father was called upon to interfere.

"Bobby," said papa, "mamma is quite ill, and we are afraid that if you are not a better boy and mind your mother it will bring on a crisis. Now, my son, perhaps you do not know what a crisis is."

"Oh, yes, I do, papa," said Bobby blithely. "It's either a boy or a girl."—Judge.

Bliss.

"Music is the food of love," she breathed.

The lovesick youth started up quickly.

"Dearest," he whispered, "I have saved up just $9.69. Do you think we could get a phonograph and start in light housekeeping?"—Pittsburg Post.

Fear an Earthquake.

Catania, Italy, May 4.—Prof. Ricco, director of the observatory, has ascertained the exact position of the new eruptive mouths of Mount Etna. They are situated 1,900 meters east of the observatory.

The eruption proper has almost ceased, but the shocks and the emission of smoke from the central crater continue, and it is feared that a violent earthquake will follow the cessation, similar to the one in 1883.

Cary of Virginia surveyed the Metropolitan Opera House tier and parterre with critical eyes; then he turned to Monks.

"When is a beauty not a beauty?" he asked.

"Give it up," said Monks.

"Ninety-nine times out of a hundred," said Cary.—New York Tribune.

TO BE HEARD IN COURT.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane Demands Retraction of Statements.

Toronto, May 4.—The charge of Messrs. Loughrin and McCaughey that the Minister of Lands and Mines had offered the former $8,000 to secure his seat in 1905 by acclamation will be carried to the courts unless there is a retraction.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane just returned from Sturgeon Falls and made the following brief statement:

"The statements made by Lawyer McCaughey and John Loughrin in reference to me, as published in The Toronto Globe to-day, are made out of whole cloth and with no shadow of foundation.

"Unless the statements are retracted the parties who made them will be afforded an opportunity of being heard in the courts."

Steel Works Idle.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 4.—The Algoma Steel Co. Saturday followed the recent shut down of the rail mill by blowing out blast furnace No. 1. No. 3 will blow out this week. This will leave every branch of the steel industry here idle, shutting 1,500 men out of employment.

The company in a statement says that owing to financial troubles Canadian railroads refuse to place orders for rails. No promises are made as to when the plant will resume, although it is said they hope to resume in June.

The plant is the second largest in Canada.

A Barge In Danger.

Kincardine, May 4.—About eight o'clock Saturday evening a large tow barge was sighted a short distance north of this harbor displaying signals of distress. There was a stiff westerly gale blowing then and the sea ran very high. Two tugs started out and towed the disabled barge into harbor. The barge turned out to be the S. B. Pomeroy of Detroit, commanded by Capt. H. Fowler. Her tug became disabled Friday night and started back to get another, and the Pomeroy was driven over to this shore.

Assaulted and Robbed.

St. Catharines, May 4.—High Constable Boyle spent all yesterday afternoon searching for two men named Eddy, who are said to have assaulted and robbed Patrick Steep at his home in Merritton early yesterday morning. The men called at the house about 4 o'clock, saying they came to settle for chickens they had purchased. Steep, who is an old man, let them in. As he was about to draw a roll of bills from his trouser pocket he received a heavy blow on the head and the men took the money.

Validity of U.S. Divorce to Be Tested.

Vancouver, B.C., May 4.—Question whether re-marriage in British Columbia on an American divorce is legal will be discussed in the Police Court.

Mrs. Peter A. O. Arsith, aged 57, is charged with bigamy. She was for many years a resident of Vancouver and has ten children. She was granted a divorce in 1905 at Tacoma and the second marriage occurred in Vancouver two weeks ago. Arsith is 20 years the junior of his wife.

BRITAIN UNEASY.

Conditions of Unrest In India Cause Much Anxiety.

London, May 4.—India is a source of considerable uneasiness to the British Government at the present moment.

The difficulty with the Mohmauds seemed on the eve of settlement when on Saturday, according to reports received here, a new danger threatened in an attempt by an Afghan force, numbering from 13,000 to 20,000, which crossed the border divided into two bodies, to seize the blockhouses on Khyber pass, near Lundi Khotal.

The attacks were repulsed with trifling casualties on the part of the British, but the Afghans remained in from Lundi Khotal and another body is reported moving into Bazar valley by way of Lisote pass.

Gen. Willcocks, who is in command of the British forces recently despatched to quell the trouble, has gone to Jamrud, about ten miles west of Peshawur, at the entrance of Khyber Pass, and is hastening forward his troops to meet the new development.

All frontier telegrams are severely censored at Simla.

From Calcutta comes the news of the discovery of a plot to murder Europeans by means of bombs. The conspiracy appears to be of an extensive character and many arrests have been made. The responsibility for the plot is placed on the natives, a number of incriminating documents having been seized, together with a supply of bombs and other explosives.

The discovery of the plot was made through the arrest and confession of the author of a bomb outrage at Muzafferpur, the capital of the province of the same name, in Bangal, in which two Europeans were killed.

An Eight-Year-Old Thief.

St. Catharines, May 4.—An eight-year-old boy named Howell was caught stealing on the city market Saturday by J. A. Dalrymple, formerly warden of Lincoln County. Dalrymple noticed the boy standing beside a wagon and missed a large ham and a number of rolls of butter. Chief Parnell recognized the boy as a former offender. He admitted having sold the ham to a woman for forty cents, and said he had disposed of the butter for five cents a pound. He will likely be sent to Mimico Industrial School.

Crime to Alter Telegram.

Washington, May 4.—As a result of the investigation of the Fassett-Cassidy telegram, alleged to have caused the defeat of Governor Hughes' racing bill through the insertion of the word "not" in the telegraph office at the capitol, Representative Fassett will introduce a bill making it an offence to alter a telegram.

The district attorney's office is understood to have been unable to find any law covering the offence.

HOME ADDRESSES.

Britons Have to Use a Lot of Words to Write Them.

Have you ever observed, asked the man who crosses twice a year, how we have it on the British in the matter of addresses? For instance, a New Yorker will give his address in this compact fashion:

Philip Robinson,
200 W. 51st street, N. Y.

But your traveling Briton may have to inscribe himself somewhat after the following style:

Mr. Herbert R. Eustace W. Pimketon Ferguson,
Q. C., C. C. M. G., C. B.,
The Shrubbery,
3 Tankerville Terrace,
Blenheim road, Mowbray street,
Kensington, W., London, Eng.

In olden times, before the system of street numbers had been introduced at all and cities were still a maze of little streets, addresses were a very complicated affair. I once saw an authentic specimen of a professional card of the year 1760. It was that of a celebrated French engraver. It ran like this:

Papillon,
Engraver on Wood of the Society of Arts,
Paris: Blevre street, near the place Maubert,
Next door to the porte cochere on the right,
In the long alley,
On the second floor up the grand staircase.

By Experience.

Quietly Jackson crept upstairs. No light was burning in the drawing room, by which he knew that his wife had been waiting for him. But he thought that if he could possibly slip into bed unheard he might gull his adored one when she arrived with the story that he had been in bed for hours.

Strains of music reached his ears. What perfect madness! One o'clock in the morning and a piano being thumped was not conducive to the friendliest relations with one's neighbors!

Hark! His wife was singing—singing some familiar song.

He strained his ears to catch the words. They floated up to him:

"Tell me the old, old story"—

He proceeded on his way.—London Scraps.

It keeps a fellow short.

The Rain Caused The Market To Be Small On Saturday

Another drizzling rain for market day on Saturday was most discouraging to farmers and citizens alike. As a result there was a small attendance but prices were not materially affected. Many complaints were made about the unsheltered square, but no one listened except the wind and raindrops.

Eggs and butter were a cent or two cheaper. Potatoes and apples were shown in large quantities and young pigs were plentiful.

Prices were as follows:—

Dressed Hogs	7 00
Live Hogs	6 00		6 15
Hay, bale		to	20 00
Hay, per ton	16 00	to	18 00

A BAPTIST LAYMEN'S CONVENTION

To be Held in Toronto on May 14th and 15th—Baptist Brotherhood Into Closer Bonds.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

The following circular, received by the Baptist ministers in the city, will be of interest to the laymen of the Baptist churches:

It is proposed to hold in the city of Toronto, on Thursday, and Friday, May 14 and 15, 1908, a Baptist Laymen's Missionary Convention, for the special purpose of bringing together the laymen of the Baptist churches of Ontario and Quebec, in order to perfect the organization of the movement and place it on a sound and permanent foundation.

As you are aware, the laymen of the various evangelical denominations have been meeting together in districts and in individual churches for months past, considering the question of the evangelization of the world, and their obligation in respect thereto, and we believe the almost unanimous conclusion they have come to is, that the world not only should be but must be evangelized in this generation.

We desire to bring our Baptist Brotherhood into closer bonds of fellowship and prayer in connection with this latest movement, for the extension of Christ's Kingdom, and for this purpose we are inviting the laymen of all our churches to meet in convention in Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, on the dates above mentioned. The convention will begin on Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m., and continue during the afternoon and evening, and on Friday, commencing with a luncheon at 12.30 p. m., will continue throughout Friday afternoon and evening. An excellent programme has been prepared, which will be of great interest to all concerned in the advancement of Christ's Kingdom, including addresses by prominent speakers from both sides of the line.

A Special Meeting of the White Rose Lansdowne Lodge, S.O.E. will be held to-night after the regular meeting on account of special business.

RUN-DOWN PEOPLE OF PETERBORO' NEED VINOL

The Modern Strength Creator and Body-Builder.

Many people right here in this vicinity are all run down and hardly able to drag about—don't know what ails them.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred this is caused by overwork, too close confinement, or continued strain and worry.

Our local druggists, McDermid & Jury, say: 'Such people need Vinol, our cod liver preparation without oil, which contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but from which the useless oil has been eliminated, and tonic iron added."

Vinol cured conditions like this because, in a natural manner, it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood and strengthens every organ in the body.

We ask every man, woman and child in this vicinity who is run down, tired and debilitated, to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough.

SHEFFIELD MAN FOR THE FARM

Ennismore His Destination to Begin Agricultural Work.

More immigrants passed through the city on their way to western homes yesterday. They were from the steamer Lake Erie, which arrived in port the latter part of last week. Of those whose destination was Peterborough, one was a young man who said he had come from Sheffield. He had never worked on a farm before, but he was looking for Mr. Michael Flood of Ennismore, with whom he had been engaged. He was quite optimistic of making a success of his work, in spite of his inexperience. He was directed to the Peterborough House to await the stage from Ennismore.

THE SERVICES AT THE GOSPEL HALL

Mr. McMurdo Gave Elaborate Account of Work in Norway.

Yesterday at the Gospel Hall was a day of good things. Mr. McMurdo and Mr. Murdock occupied the platform at both afternoon and evening services. Mr. Murdock addressed the Sunday School on Matt. 6; 33: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his Righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you." The speaker divided the text into three divisions: The geography of the Kingdom within the heart of the believer, where God should reign supreme; the arithmetic of the text, "Seek first," then all these things are added, and lastly, the Kingdom of God always adds to the Righteousness of those who enter into it. Jesus was King, the Bible was the Book of the Kingdom, and the church was the weekly parade of the members.

At the evening service he continued the same theme, showing that the King had a right to say how people could become members and that was by being born again from above. Mr. McMurdo gave a most elaborate account of the work in Norway and also spoke with much power at the evening service from Exodus 12. — Com.

UNWORTHY VIEWS OF A "CITIZEN"

To the Editor of the Examiner:

When a community reaches the state of prosperity—both industrially and commercially—that Peterborough has attained, no one thinks of crediting party politics with the result. Rather will it be said that the public-spirited citizens, who have given their time and talents in the best interests of the city, have done so, apart altogether from their political bias, and have had regard to the growth and advancement of their municipality separate from party politics. Most of us, I think, will concede that men of different political leanings, as well as men of different nationalities and religions, have contributed to our city's making; and we realize their good work without the least thought of whether they were "Grit" or "Tory." What sort of a citizen, then, must "Citizen" be who inspired the letter printed in the Review of Saturday? It is to be hoped that he will never be asked to contribute his talent along with those selected to sit at our civic Council board, unless he changes his miserable views and becomes imbued with higher ideals of citizenship. Such narrow-minded views would most likely retroact in the progress of our city. I am ashamed to ask you, Mr. Editor, to reproduce the picayunish sentiments of "Citizen," as they appeared in the Review:

"Will those Conservative citizens who worked so hard for Mr. G. A. Gillespie's election to the Council, now that they have found out where he stands, rally and undo the work they made so successful, and see to it that he has a sure and certain defeat in his contest with Mr. T. E. Bradburn."

Most of our citizens who voted for Mr. Gillespie as alderman did so chiefly because they knew him to be a man who was under the tongue of good report; and, in the public eye, he had become marked as a safe man to assist in looking after the city's interests. Why, therefore, should he not be a safe man to look after the interests of the whole riding?

To Peterborough's credit, it can be safely said that our municipal elections are not influenced by politics, but are conducted on broader lines, viz.—to elect the best men available, so that the interests of the city will be safeguarded. Surely the electors of West Peterborough will be broad-minded enough to resent the views of this unworthy "citizen."

Yours respectfully,
TRUE CITIZEN.

WEDDING BELLS

FROST-OVAS

Winnipeg, May 4, (Special.) — The Free Press of a recent date contains the following account of the marriage of Mr. Ralph Frost, a former resident of Peterborough, Ont.:

St. Stephen's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding last night at 8 o'clock, when Miss Bertie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ovas, was married to Mr. Ralph E. Frost, of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frost, Otonabee, near Peterborough, Ont., where he formerly resided. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Andrew Chisholm, assisted by Rev. Mr. Cooke. Miss Grace Mitchell presided at the organ, and played softly during the service.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of white Apollo satin, made in princesse and finished with a bolero of duchesse pointe over a yoke of tucked chiffon; her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Dorothy, who wore a pretty frock of yellow silk colienne, with yoke and undersleeves of white pointe d'esprit. She wore a wreath of flowers, and carried marguerites. She also wore a pearl ring, the gift of the groom. E B Lindsay acted as best man, and H. Wicks and E Wilson as ushers.

After the service a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Furby street. Mrs. Ovas received in a becoming gown of green figured poplin, trimmed with appique, and bands of mauve Dresden silk, with large black hat. The house was prettily decorated with palms and white blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost left for Vancouver, B.C., the bride travelling in a becoming suit of navy blue broadcloth, trimmed with military braid, the coat opening over a lace blouse; her hat was of blue straw with green silk and blue wing.

Among the many beautiful gifts received were a piano from the bride's father, and a cut glass salad bowl from the officers and teachers of the St. Stephen's Sunday School.

ROBB-MORRISON

Norwood, May 4. — (Special.) — A quiet wedding was celebrated last Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, at the residence of Mr. E P Cuffe, when his sister-in-law, Miss Mary Morrison, one of Norwood's most popular young ladies, was married to Mr. Jno. Robb of this place. The bride who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Cuffe, wore a pretty dress of white silk colienne over white silk. Mr. and Mrs. Robb left on the afternoon express for Toronto and parts west, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit of ladies' cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Robb have the best wishes of a large circle of friends for their future happiness.

OBITUARY.

THOMAS CORKERY

About noon on Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital there passed away, in the person of Thomas Corkery, one of Peterborough's most widely known and highly respected citizens. The intelligence of his death will be learned with deep regret by all who knew him. He had been ill for about a year and a half, suffering from spinal trouble, and entered the hospital about a year ago. His condition did not improve and very little hope was entertained for his recovery, death finally ending his sufferings yesterday.

The deceased gentleman was 57 years of age. He was born in Peterborough, and had lived here the greater portion of his life. He was a carpenter by trade and had charge of the erection of several buildings about the city. Mr. Corkery was a Roman Catholic and a member of the T.A.S. He leaves behind him two daughters, Mrs. Wm. H. McDonald and one attending college at Kingston, and four brothers, John of the Peterborough post-office staff; Michael, of Trout Creek; James, of Toronto, and Peter, of Campbellford.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Wm. Henry McDonald, 175 Perry street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from there to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

LADIES TO GIVE AT HOME IN NEAR FUTURE

Members of the Sodality Decide to Hold Social.

The ladies of the Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral purpose holding an "at home" some time during May. It will likely be held in the hall of St. Peter's T.A.S., and with the ladies' usual energy and care in this regard, a successful affair should be enjoyed.

DEATH OF MR. J. B. ORMOND IN VANCOUVER, B.C., TO-DAY

A Former Well Known Peterborough Resident Passes Away.

The many friends of Mr. James B. Ormond, eldest son of Mr. J. R. Ormond, of Victoria, B. C., and a former resident of Peterborough, will learn with regret of his death, which took place at noon to-day at his home in Victoria. Mr. Ormond and Mrs. Ormond left for British Columbia to take residence there, on Jan. 4, 1907. Since that time Mr. Ormond's health has not been satisfactory. While the climate of British Columbia is usually regarded as healthy, still, the dampness did not agree with Mr. Ormond's constitution, and he had been complaining for some months. It was his intention to return to Ontario as soon as he disposed of the business which he had recently established. Mr. Ormond gave up business in Ottawa to be near his parents and other relatives in the West. About two months ago Mr. Ormond's illness took a serious form, and his friends became concerned, but did not anticipate any immediate serious results, so that his sudden demise today came as an unexpected shock. Mr. Ormond will be remembered, while in Peterborough, as a very enthusiastic musician, giving his musical services, both vocal and instrumental, at many local entertainments. Through his exertions, many musical and entertainment companies were organized for enjoyment purposes. Mr. Ormond leaves behind him a wife, father and mother, two brothers and four sisters, all residing in Victoria, except Mrs. Gooding-Kenora, and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Peterborough. The many friends of the family of Mr. Ormond and his wife in Peterborough will heartily sympathize with them in their bereavement. Interment will take place in Victoria on Wednesday.

Receives Munificent Bequest of $800 From Former Canadian.

The Church Army, in connection with the Church of England, has been relieved from any financial want by the munificent bequest of $800,000 from the late Sir H. W. Tyler, well known to Canadians as former president of the G. T. R. company for a long period.

WILL GIVE CONCERT ON FRIDAY EVENING

The Catholic Order of Foresters have arranged to give a benefit concert on Friday evening next in St. Peter's Hall. The society's motive is most praiseworthy and should receive Liberal support. Two of the members are in need of immediate assistance, and by a large number patronizing the concert the necessary help can be supplied. The Foresters have been promised the services of some excellent talent, and a fine programme may be expected.

CHURCH SERVICES AND NOTICES

Friday, 7.30, Junior Boys' Guild.

Sunday next, May 10, will be anniversary services, when Rev. D. R. Drummond, M.A., B.D., will preach.

The annual congregational reunion will be held on the Monday following, when a banquet will be given by the Shredded Wheat Biscuit Company.

GIFT TO CANADA FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Scheme for Helping Canada in the Tercentenary Celebration.

An important and interesting movement is on foot for making a national presentation to Canada at the time of the Quebec ter-centenary celebrations, in connection with which the Prince of Wales will visit the Dominion in July.

Five ex-Governors-general of Canada, (the Duke of Argyle and Lords Aberdeen, Derby, Lansdowne and Minto) recently issued an invitation to a number of distinguished persons suggesting that a fund should be raised in the country as a substantial public contribution towards the £250,000 understood to be necessary to clear the historic battlefields of Quebec and convert them into a public park.

A meeting of the promoters of this movement was held on Tuesday afternoon at the Mansion House, under the chairmanship of the Lord Mayor. An executive committee was appointed, with Viscount Midleton as chairman, while among the members are Lord Strathcona and Lord Mount Stephen.—Overseas Daily Mail.

No Danger Anticipated From High Water Along The Trent Valley Canal

Water Has Lowered Below the High Mark — Trouble Looked For On The Ottawa.

DAMAGE ON ST. LAWRENCE

High water is general all over the Province of Ontario, according to reports observed in various exchanges. The cause is undoubtedly due to the unusually large amount of snow that has fallen during the past winter. On the Ottawa River it is probable that the electric power companies will suffer from rising waters. The Ottawa is swelled by the Gatineau and other tributaries, reducing the falls at Big Kettle. The Ottawa Free Press says that if reliance can be placed on present indications, there is danger of an enormous flood on the Ottawa River about the middle or end of May. The water is rising fast, and the precipitation—greater than has been recorded for a long term—continues unceasingly.

The rain and snowfall has been 17.1 inches since December of 1907. The volume of flow at Kettle Island, just below the city, is 136,000 cubic feet per second, which is only 7,000 cubic feet per second less than that of the great flood year, 1876, at the same date.

At the foot of the Rideau locks the water rose eleven inches on Wednesday, eight inches on Thursday and seventeen inches on Friday.

Damage to Thousand Islands property by the present high water in the St. Lawrence River is estimated at from $200,000 to $300,000. Two architects of this city, who have just returned from a trip of investigation on board a private yacht from Lake Ontario to the rapids below Ogdensburg, a distance of 65 miles, report that hardly a dock, bothouse or cottage built close to the water's dge escaped damage, while many structures have collapsed, being washed away or torn to pieces.

No Danger Here

Inquiry from officials of the Trent Canal by the Examiner this morning elicited the information that all danger is past in connection with the high water on the Trent Canal. The water is going down rapidly all along the route, and at present it is below the high water mark, so that no damage is anticipated.

The conservation of the waters of the Trent last year has prevented similar floods to those on the Ottawa, and has been responsible for the passing of the spring season without damage to property, even in the face of the large quantity of snow that fell last winter.

Roselle Knott, who appears at the Grand next Thursday evening in "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire." Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BRIGADIER POTTER AT THE BARRACKS

Splendid Attendance at All Services—Inspiring Address on Japan.

Seldom before have the Salvation Army Sunday meetings been so well attended as they were yesterday, when Brigadier Scott Potter, Financial Secretary for Ontario, conducted the three services. In the morning the Brigadier spoke on Fruit, and in the afternoon, before a crowded hall, he delivered an inspiring address on Japan. Mr. Potter was a missionary to that Eastern Empire for some time, and in his remarks were chiefly based upon the customs and religions of the race. The Brigadier gave several of his very interesting experiences in that foreign land, and his address was very much enjoyed.

In the evening the seating capacity of the hall was taxed to its utmost, and another splendid address was given, after which eight persons came forward and announced their desire to live a new life.

The Brigadier left this morning for Toronto, but should he ever return to Peterborough again he will receive a warm welcome.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND IS FORTUNATE

Receives Munificent Bequest of $800 From Former Canadian.

The Church Army, in connection with the Church of England, has been relieved from any financial want by the munificent bequest of $800,000 from the late Sir H. W. Tyler, well known to Canadians as former president of the G. T. R. company for a long period.

WILL GIVE CONCERT ON FRIDAY EVENING

The Catholic Order of Foresters have arranged to give a benefit concert on Friday evening next in St. Peter's Hall. The society's motive is most praiseworthy and should receive Liberal support. Two of the members are in need of immediate assistance, and by a large number patronizing the concert the necessary help can be supplied. The Foresters have been promised the services of some excellent talent, and a fine programme may be expected.

CHURCH SERVICES AND NOTICES

St. Luke's Church

The following meetings will be held at St. Luke's Church during this week:

Wednesday—2.30, Ladies' Aid

Thursday—2.30, Women's Auxiliary.

Friday—4.15, Mission Band; 8, Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Next Sunday an ordination service will be held at St. Luke's. Right Reverend Dr. Reeve, Assistant Bishop, will officiate, and Ven. Archdeacon Warren will preach the ordination sermon. The examinations will begin on Thursday and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.

Park Street Baptist

All the services for the week at the Park Street Baptist Church will be given up in favour of the Missionary Institute gatherings.

All Saints

Monday—Rev. Canon Tucker will give an address in St. Paul's Church, at eight o'clock.

Tuesday—Missionary Conference in St. John's School Room at 3 o'clock; Confirmation Class at 8 o'clock; Men's Association at 8 o'clock.

Wednesday—Cottage meeting at 8 o'clock, at Mrs. Winch's, Crescent street.

Thursday — Monthly meeting of Women's Auxiliary at 3 o'clock; week night service, 7.45; choir practise, 8.30.

Friday—Junior Auxiliary at 4.15; Boys' Club at 7.30.

On Sunday evening next Bishop Reeve will preach and confer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Mr. Keith, of Knox Church, addressed the young men's meeting at 4.15 in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance. Mr. Keith spoke earnestly and was listened to with great attention. The George Street Church male quartette sang, "Save the Boy," with splendid effect. Mr. Walter Maguire, Assistant Physical Director of the Montreal Y. M. C. A., was present and took part in the service.

Gospel Hall

Messrs. McMurdo and Murdock will continue the meetings this week in the Gospel Hall. Meetings will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights, and next Sunday again. All are cordially invited. Good, hearty singing at every meeting.

St. Andrew's Church

Thursday, 8 p.m., Board of Managers; choir practice.

Friday, 7.30, Junior Boys' Guild.

Sunday next, May 10, will be anniversary services, when Rev. D. R. Drummond, M.A., B.D., will preach.

The annual congregational reunion will be held on the Monday following, when a banquet will be given by the Shredded Wheat Biscuit Company.

GIFT TO CANADA FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Scheme for Helping Canada in the Tercentenary Celebration.

An important and interesting movement is on foot for making a national presentation to Canada at the time of the Quebec ter-centenary celebrations, in connection with which the Prince of Wales will visit the Dominion in July.

Five ex-Governors-general of Canada, the Duke of Argyle and Lords Aberdeen, Derby, Lansdowne and Minto) recently issued an invitation to a number of distinguished persons suggesting that a fund should be raised in the country as a substantial public contribution towards the £250,000 understood to be necessary to clear the historic battlefields of Quebec and convert them into a public park.

A meeting of the promoters of this movement was held on Tuesday afternoon at the Mansion House, under the chairmanship of the Lord Mayor. An executive committee was appointed, with Viscount Midleton as chairman, while among the members are Lord Strathcona and Lord Mount Stephen.—Overseas Daily Mail.

No Danger Anticipated From High Water Along The Trent Valley Canal

Water Has Lowered Below the High Mark — Trouble Looked For On The Ottawa.

DAMAGE ON ST. LAWRENCE

High water is general all over the Province of Ontario, according to reports observed in various exchanges. The cause is undoubtedly due to the unusually large amount of snow that has fallen during the past winter. On the Ottawa River it is probable that the electric power companies will suffer from rising waters. The Ottawa is swelled by the Gatineau and other tributaries, reducing the falls at Big Kettle. The Ottawa Free Press says that if reliance can be placed on present indications, there is danger of an enormous flood on the Ottawa River about the middle or end of May. The water is rising fast, and the precipitation—greater than has been recorded for a long term—continues unceasingly.

The rain and snowfall has been 17.1 inches since December of 1907. The volume of flow at Kettle Island, just below the city, is 136,000 cubic feet per second, which is only 7,000 cubic feet per second less than that of the great flood year, 1876, at the same date.

At the foot of the Rideau locks the water rose eleven inches on Wednesday, eight inches on Thursday and seventeen inches on Friday.

Damage to Thousand Islands property by the present high water in the St. Lawrence River is estimated at from $200,000 to $500,000. Two architects of this city, who have just returned from a trip of investigation on board a private yacht from Lake Ontario to the rapids below Ogdensburg, a distance of 65 miles, report that hardly a dock, boathouse or cottage built close to the water's edge escaped damage, while many structures have collapsed, being washed away or torn to pieces.

No Danger Here

Inquiry from officials of the Trent Canal by the Examiner this morning elicited the information that all danger is past in connection with the high water on the Trent Canal. The water is going down rapidly all along the route, and at present it is below the high water mark, so that no damage is anticipated.

The conservation of the waters of the Trent last year has prevented similar floods to those on the Ottawa, and has been responsible for the passing of the spring season without damage to property, even in the face of the large quantity of snow that fell last winter.

Roselle Knott, who appears at the Grand next Thursday evening in "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire." Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BRIGADIER POTTER AT THE BARRACKS

Splendid Attendance at All Services—Inspiring Address on Japan.

Seldom before have the Salvation Army Sunday meetings been so well attended as they were yesterday, when Brigadier Scott Potter, Financial Secretary for Ontario, conducted the three services. In the morning the Brigadier spoke on Fruit, and in the afternoon, before a crowded hall, he delivered an inspiring address on Japan. Mr. Potter was a missionary to that Eastern Empire for some time, and in his remarks were chiefly based upon the customs and religions of the race. The Brigadier gave several of his very interesting experiences in that foreign land, and his address was very much enjoyed.

In the evening the seating capacity of the hall was taxed to its utmost, and another splendid address was given, after which eight persons came forward and announced their desire to live a new life.

The Brigadier left this morning for Toronto, but should he ever return to Peterborough again he will receive a warm welcome.

FUR STORAGE DEPARTMENT

This is the season of the year when Furs should be stored away from all danger by moths or fire. More or less risk is always taken by storing Furs at home where there are no proper facilities for the caring of them, causing a lot of worry and anxiety through the summer months. We have lately fitted up a splendid Fur Storage Department, where special attention can be given to the care of your Furs, ensuring their return in a bright, fresh condition. By inquiring you will find our charges very moderate. Ring up No. 94 Bell or Machine Phones and we shall be pleased to send a messenger for your Furs. :: :: :: :: ::

Nine Days Clearance Sale of Cancelled Orders

Thursday, May 7th, to Saturday, May 16th

Many Merchants in Manitoba and the North-West, anticipating their usual Spring business, ordered as lavishly as ever, but were later, through the crop failure and the peculiar trade conditions, obliged to cancel their orders right and left; this so overstocked some manufacturers, they in turn were obliged to seek relief and were willing to unload at big discounts. We were able to handle a big lot of these lines and we saved a heap of money; these savings we are going to share with our customers in this Big Nine Days Sale.

SILK GLOVES

Although these are not cancelled lines, a manufacturer who had many Gloves returned filled our order twice and sacrificed rather than have them returned by us, enabling us to quote the following prices:—

75c and 85c Long Gloves 39c

Black and White, only sizes 6 to 7½, length 18 ins., regular 75c and 85c a pair.....9 Days 39c

$1.00 Long Gloves 69c

$1.25 Long Gloves 79c

Black, White and Champagne, sizes 6 to 7½, length 24 ins., regular $1.25.....9 Days 79c

PARASOLS

Our Special Black Parasol, and several odd lines, with natural and horn handles, worth up to $1.50.....Choice 98c

TABLINGS

One merchant cancelled an order for 500 yards of Table Linen, and his action makes this saving:—

60 Inch Tablings 22 1-2c

10 designs Heavy Linen Tabling, 60 inches wide, best 35c line.....9 Days 22½c

CORSETS

These lines we are now discontinuing:—

Odd Corsets, 3 styles in the lot, all sizes, but not in every style, 18 to 26 inches, regular $1.00. .....9 Days 59c

SATEENS

These ends were used in decorating and are more or less faded and soiled. While they last, to clear, per yard.....Choice 5c

CANCELLED ORDERS IN WOOL CARPETS

This lot of Wool Carpets consists of 40 pieces in four different qualities, made for a western dealer who afterward cancelled the order, and we secured them at such a liberal discount that we are able to offer them to you at less than the usual maker's prices.

PULPIT EXCHANGE ON MAY 24

Arranged at Meeting of Ministerial Association—Hospital Appointments —Farewell to Rev. Mr. Brace.

PAPER BY REV. MR. PEARSON

The Ministerial Association had a full attendance yesterday of all its members in the city and of Rev. Mr. Burns of Lakefield. Rev. Canon Davidson referred to the street services held during Easter week and the success which had attended them. The general public had appreciated the efforts, and as a result there was a general uplifting and deeper appreciation of the significance of the Crucifixion of Christ and a closer fellowship of ministers and people.

Appointments for hospitals and the House of Providence were Rev. Mr. Keith, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Rev. Mr. Steuernagel and Rev. Mr. Bonnar.

Rev. Mr. Pearson referred to the coming visitation of Dr. A. C. Crews in connection with the Sunday school work, and a committee composed of Revs. Pearson and Pogue and the president was appointed to arrange for his services on Sunday, May 31, and Monday, June 1.

The annual exchange of pulpits was arranged as follows:

St. John's, Dr. Langfeldt.
Charlotte street, Rev. R. Pogue.
St. Andrew's, Rev. J R Webb.
George street, Rev. H J Keith.
Bethany Tabernacle, Rev. C H Coon.
St. Luke's, Rev. Canon Davidson.
Murray street, Rev. J G Potter.
Mark street, Rev. J R Bonnar.
Gilmour Memorial, Rev. E A Steuernagel.
Knox church, Rev. E A Pearson
St. Paul's, Rev H M Manning.

The exchange will take place on Sunday, May 24.

It was the last meeting at which Rev. A H Brace was to be present, as a member, and Rev. Canon Davidson expressed his warm personal regard for him. His going would be a distinct loss to Peterborough, and all his friends here would have a warm interest in his new field in Cobourg. He has been loyal to the association, and his warmth of heart and kindness of spirit were noted in the city. He desired to move that the association express its deep regret at the severing of the ties, and for the loss to the city, and desired to assure him of its warm personal feelings for him and keen interest in his new charge. The motion was seconded by Rev. J G. Potter, and passed by a standing vote. Mr. Brace was also presented with a volume, "The Heart of Christians," concerning which there were some very touching associations. Mr. Brace was deeply affected, but made a brief response of appreciation of the gift and of the kind words spoken.

The paper of the morning was read by Rev. E A Pearson. It was a very thoughtful review of Dr. Orr's new book, "The Virgin Birth of Christ." It proved most interesting to the members of the association, and was followed by a discussion, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE WEATHER

The thermometer goes down quite low, every night, although the days are warm and pleasant. Last night the thermometer went down to 28 degrees, and ice was to be seen this morning, as well as a heavy white frost.

Funeral will leave his late residence at one o'clock Thursday afternoon, for Centreville Presbyterian Cemetery.

The Go-Between Alleged To Be Lumberman In The Noted Loughrin Case

Prominent Lumber Merchant of Webbwood Said to be One of the Parties Who Approached Ex-Registrar With View of Securing Promise Not to Oppose Hon. Mr. Cochrane.

It is understood that the party who approached Mr. John Loughrin, ex-M.P.P., in the office of Mr. J. B. Booth, in this city, and offered him $3,000, together with the security of his position as Registrar of Nipissing, if he would give his promise not to oppose Hon. Frank Cochrane in the bye-election following Mr. Cochrane's entry into the Whitney Cabinet, was a member of a lumber form at Webbwood, Ont.

Although Mr. Booth or his associates claim to have no knowledge that the alleged negotiations took place in their office, it is a well known fact that lumbermen often congregate in Mr. Booth's outer office, and there discuss matters affecting the trade and their own personal interests. These conferences could easily take place and their object never come to the knowledge of Mr. Booth and others in the office. Therefore, the professed ignorance of such a conference may signify but little.

There is, however, no one who would not promptly acquit Mr. Booth or any of his associates with knowingly allowing their office to be made the scene of such disreputable negotiations as are alleged by Mr. Loughrin.

It is understood that other parties approached Mr. Loughrin as well, on other occasions and that Mr. Loughrin will welcome any suit in a court of law to afford him an opportunity of proving his allegations.

In response to a Free Press enquiry by telegram, Mr. Loughrin today wired the Free Press from Mattawa: "Am prepared for Cochrane. Shall say no more till case proceeds in court."

Hon. Mr. Cochrane has just returned to Toronto, from Sturgeon Falls, and makes the following brief statement: "The statements made by Lawyer McCaughey and John Loughrin in reference to me, as published, are made out of whole cloth, and with no shadow of foundation. Unless the statements are retracted the parties who made them will be afforded an opportunity of being heard in the courts."—Ottawa Free Press.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Of St. Luke's Has Been Elected Rural Dean

Meeting of Rural Deanery of Northumberland Held This Morning—Was Elected on the Eighth Ballot.

INVITATION TO HASTINGS

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of St. Luke's church, at the meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland, was this morning elected Rural Dean on the eighth ballot. The election of the presiding officer was the most important business to come up before the meeting, which was held in St. Luke's Church.

Rev. Canon Davidson of St. John's church, whose term of four years had expired, stated that he did not wish to be re-elected. Eight ballots were taken, and on the eighth Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was elected to the position.

There were present at the meeting Rev. Rural Dean Davidson, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Rev. Wm. Major, of Peterborough; Rev. W J Creighton of Lakefield, Rev. C R Spencer of Young's Point, Rev. Wm. Burns of Hastings, Rev. H. Caplan of Havelock, Rev. E. Soward of Peterborough, and the Secretary, Rev. E W Pickford of Norwood.

Preceding the meeting there was a celebration of Holy Communion, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt officiating, and being assisted by Rev. Wm. Burns.

After transacting the regular business in connection with the Deanery, an invitation was received from the Rev. Mr. Burns to meet in his parish in August, when the new church at Hastings, which is in course of erection, will be completed.

REV. DR. E. A. LANGFELDT,
Elected Dean of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland this morning

City Must Pay One-Fourth The Cost Of Maintaining Railway Crossing Protection

Ottawa, May 5.—(Special.)—The city of Peterborough applied to the Railway Commission this morning for orders to instruct the C.P.R. and the G.T.R. to provide and maintain protected crossings at Aylmer and Reid streets.

For the C.P.R., Mr. A R Creelman, K.C., argued that, according to precedent, each party should bear an equal part of the cost, although the Board's engineer suggested three-fourths for the company and one-fourth for the city at the Aylmer street crossing.

City Solicitor E H D Hall argued that this was not an ordinary crossing, and that the company should pay all costs.

Judge Mabee said this matter had been disposed of before, but that both parties had been dissatisfied with the apportionment of the cost. The city could not now ask gates instead of a watchman, but only a reapportioning of the cost. Mr. Hall had questioned the jurisdiction of the Board, and if he wished, he could appeal from it, but the court held that there was jurisdiction. So far as the city was concerned, it had contributed to the necessity of the protection of the crossing by increased traffic, and should pay some, though the railway company had increased the necessity much more. The Board therefore agreed that three-fourths of the cost should be borne by the C. P. R. and one-fourth by the city.

Mr. Hall then offered to withdraw the Reid street application, as it was practically the same case against the G.T.R. Mr. Cowan, for the railway company, then submitted to him a draft order for his consideration.

WAS IN CHARGE OF NINETY FIRST-CLASS EMIGRANTS

This morning Mr. Ernest Hensley arrived back to Peterborough, after a four months' trip to his home in England. He returned by the steamer Lake Erie and was in charge of ninety emigrants sent out by the Salvation Army, all of whom had positions awaiting them on their arrival. Mr. Hensley states that the emigrants were of a superior class to many that have come here, many of them being good mechanics and some of them barristers.

CITIZENS WARNED BY THE POLICE

Must Have Their Yards Cleaned Within Forty-eight Hours.

The police have started to work in earnest on sanitary inspection, and P. C. Newhall was sent out this morning to warn the citizens that they had forty-eight hours in which to have their back yards cleaned. At the end of that time, if they do not comply with the requirements of the health by-law, they will be brought to court. The officer did not find the back yards in good shape.

AN EVIL ACT.

The Brantford Expositor says that the section of the "Redistribution" Act creating practically eight constituencies in Toronto might properly be styled "an act to disfranchise Liberals in Toronto." The four constituencies are retained, but each has been given two members, and each elector two votes, so arranged that it seems impossible for either a Liberal, Labour or other independent candidate to have a ghost of a chance in an election contest. Toronto has the only double-member representation in the Province; it has, besides, a disproportionate number of members, compared to other cities. London, with a population of 50,000, has only one member, while Toronto has one member to every 26,000 of population. This is centralization in its worst form. London stands just as it did at Confederation, while Hamilton and Ottawa, with less population, have long had two members. Why Mr. Whitney discriminates against London is not explained, except by the fact that at present, London, from a party point of view, is Conservative, and that any division of the riding might give something like a fair chance for the election of one Liberal candidate. By the Whitney gerrymander, Toronto, with its eight elective members, and its eight resident cabinet ministers, is placed on a voting parity with sixteen country constituencies. The gerrymander is an unfair advantage to be taken by any Government, not to speak of a Government with a majority of forty-two, and all the advantage possession of power gives to the Government party. Mr. Whitney poses as a brave man, but his manner of appeal to the electors, hedged around with unfair treatment of his political opponents, and undue advantages to his own party looks like cowardice.

IRRESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.

In its short term of office—since 1905—a little over three and a half years, the Whitney Government has achieved a dark record of destructive administration. It has broken almost all the pledges made in Opposition as the basis of the policy upon which it sought the public confidence, and upon which it proposed to govern the Province. A part of that policy was to reduce the "alarming expenditure"; it has increased it in an alarming way. License administration was to be removed from politics; it has been saturated with politics to a degree unparalleled in the history of the License Law. Fair treatment was to be meted out to the electorate, especially the Liberals, to whom Mr. Whitney acknowledged his indebtedness for the gift of office; instead, the spoils system, the most odious and corrupting influence imaginable, has been introduced, and practised with indiscriminate inclusiveness Not only have the promises made been broken, but serious inroads have been made upon the spirit of responsible government—the centralization of power and autocratic exercise of power. The city of Toronto, the seat of government, has, by the gerrymander, been given undue influence in the councils of the Province, given practically sixteen members, with a voting power equal to sixteen populous country ridings. In the matter of University support, the right of the people to scrutinize, through their representatives, the annual expenditure upon the Provincial university — between $300,000 and $500,000 per year — has been removed by a law passed in 1906 by the Whitney Government, and turned over to a board of irresponsible governors, who spend the people's money without the people's representatives being allowed a chance for scrutiny. Thus is introduced a principle of tyrannical and irresponsible exercise of power, incompatible with the principles of responsible government, the dearest development of constitutional liberty. The Whitney Government has incurred a grave responsibility by thus evading responsibility.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"What so rare as a day in June!" But No. 8 day prox. is going to be mighty raw for one Hon. A G MacKay.—Ottawa Citizen.

Mr. MacKay shouldn't mind that so much. Mr. Whitney has been handing out so many raw deals to the Liberals and the public generally, in his short term of office, that the Liberal leader should be used to them by this time. But will June 8th be the raw day for Mr. MacKay which the Citizen expects, or, at least, desires?

Mr. John Loughrin, the Liberal candidate for Nipissing, is getting good advertising through Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Mines. Mr. Loughrin, on the occasion of his nomination, said that had had been approached in the office of Mr. Booth, Ottawa, and offered $8,000 and security in his position as Registrar, if he would not oppose Mr. Cochrane's return by acclamation. Mr. Cochrane was returned by acclamation, and Mr. Loughrin promptly dismissed. Mr Cochrane says the story is made out of whole cloth, and threatens libel. Mr. Loughrin adheres to his story and says he is ready for the libel suit Of course, if the case comes before the courts, one must suspend judgment. In this connection, a libel suit is a very convenient way to shut off public discussion till after the elections. We all know of a celebrated charge of libel made by a prominent Toronto politician against the editor of a prominent Toronto journal, and the process of law doesn't seem to get any "forrarder."

BETRAYAL OF THE PROVINCE.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The Whitney Government, having taken the plunge, will, five weeks from to-day, ask a renewal of confidence from the electorate of Ontario. It can safely be said that the first, and many believe the last, Conservative Government in this Province will go down to posterity as an administration whose chief stock in trade has been its persevering and unmitigated braggadocio. Pretentious boasting has accompanied every action of the Government, whether contemplated or consummated. Singularly enough, it has been more in evidence with regard to enterprises merely projected, but which yet lack practical solutions.

In nothing, perhaps, has this boasting been more apparent than in connection with its power policy. When the Whitney Government came into office a little over four years ago, the Premier made the announcement that great things would be done along the line of electrical development. For a certainty, every city, town and hamlet in Western Ontario would be supplied with cheap electric power from Niagara, and all that part of the Province would be a network of transmission lines. Other portions of Ontario would also get electricity "as free as air," and an era of industrial expansion, inconceivable in possibilities, would be the result.

Four years have passed, and the promise has not been fulfilled, nor is there any hope of its fulfilment in the near future. Mr. Beck, the unarticled Minister of Power, continues to fill the post of "barker" outside the Whitney show tent, as he has done from the beginning of the performance. He is a "speeler," whose duty is to hypnotize the people with figures and theories. He keeps up the big noise, and in this manner draws attention away from what is proceeding behind the scenes.

From the beginning, Mr. Whitney's power scheme has been known to be impracticable unless the city of Toronto could be included in its scope. A power line had already been constructed from Niagara to Toronto, but the company owning it was in financial difficulties. A representative of the British bond-holders offered it to Mr. Whitney at a fair price Without even consulting his unofficial Minister of Power, Mr. Whitney rejected the offer, the whole matter being kept secret. The same week he facilitated the transfer of the property, which might have become a Provincial asset and made feasible the whole power scheme as it affects Western Ontario.

Nor did the Premier's friendship to Mackenzie and Mann end there. A week later, in the closing hours of the Legislature, taking advantage of the absence of the majority of the members of the House, Mr. Whitney rushed through a resolution guaranteeing for $2,500,000 the credit of extensions of the Canadian Northern Railway, a Mackenzie and Mann enterprise, running north from Toronto. This is all the more remarkable from the fact that Mr. Whitney, when in Opposition, had strenuously opposed the guaranteeing of bonds on this very line.

The future will perhaps reveal the real significance of Mr. Whitney's mischief. It is enough for the people to remember on election day that Mr. Whitney has made no serious effort to carry out a power policy, and that when he had an opportunity to make a transaction that would be advantageous to the Province, he deliberately facilitated a private company obtaining the line, upon the acquirement of which the success of a power scheme for the western part of the Province depended.

THE CHIEF CONSTABLES' ASSOCIATION

Chief Rozzel Would Like to Invite Them To Peterborough Next Year.

Chief of Police Rozzel has written to the city council, stating that he would be pleased to be in a position to invite the Chief Constable's Association of Canada to hold their meeting of 1909 in Peterborough. The convention is this year being held in Quebec in July. It is understood that at the annual meeting of the association about seventy members gather together, making the affair an important one. The question was left to the Finance Committee, to be discussed.

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and re-act. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and palid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomach disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BARBERS RASH.

FACE and NECK ONE MASS of SORES.

CURED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mr. George Hobdes, residing at 108 Manitoba Street, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "Three years ago after having a shave at the barbers' I had a very bad attack of "Barbers Itch." My left cheek broke out in a mass of red, watery pimples, and the more I bathed and rubbed (as the itching was intense) the more pimples appeared. This eruption gradually spread all over the lower part of my face and neck and kept getting more inflamed and troublesome until it developed into a mass of running sores and scabs. In the meantime I had been using one remedy after another, but instead of checking this disease, it grew worse. I was suffering cruelly when I happened to read an advertisement of Zam-Buk. I straightway obtained a box at the druggists and began using. The first application checked the itching and encouraged me to persevere in using. In a short space of time this wonderful salve had worked like magic, cleaning out the sores, healing them up and banishing the unsightly scabs. I kept on applying for a few days longer until I was positive of a cure and my face was smooth and free from all traces of pimples or eruptions. I am now cured, thanks to Zam-Buk."

ZAM-BUK'S WONDERFUL WAY!

Zam-Buk has revolutionised existing methods of healing cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, chapped hands, cold sores, chafings, and treats in a new, scientific and effective way the worst case of eczema, piles, ulcers, bad legs, blood-poisoning, festering, psoriasis, scurf, ringworm, children's scalp troubles, sores on the back, and all those inflamed, burning, irritable and diseased conditions of the human skin that incapacitate and torture their thousand victims. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. a box or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co. Toronto, on receipt of price.

Busy Session At Regular Monthly Meeting Of Council

Deputations Received, By-laws Passed, Communications Considered, Reports Heard and Routine Business Transacted---No Minutes Wasted by the City Fathers---To Contest Suit for Damages.

The City Council, in its regular monthly session, transacted a vast amount of work in a few hours last night and dealt with several questions of more than usual importance. Mayor Rush was in the chair, with the following aldermen present: Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Morgan, Butler, Bradburn, Gillespie, Turner, Neill, McIntyre and Phelan.

Previous to the Council meeting, the Committee of the Whole Council met to consider preliminary business.

Mr. W. H. Moore appeared in connection with a sidewalk which had been ordered to be built on the west side of Rubidge street, between London and Dublin streets. Mr. Moore pointed out reasons for placing this sidewalk on the east side of the street where the old walk was formerly laid. There was some discussion regarding this question, but as the chairman of the Board of Works had a report to make to the Council, action was deferred. Subsequently the clause in his report was struck out, and it was decided to reconsider the matter. Ald. Phelan said that the Engineer had not made any report regarding the sidewalk on this street, and it was decided to wait until he had examined the conditions on that part of Rubidge street, and a decision would then be arrived at.

Communications

The Council had a long list of communications, which were received and disposed of.

Mr. W. J. Green, tax collector, submitted the following statement of the roll for the period ending April 3, 1908, as follows:

To total amount on roll	$136,873 26
By total amount deposited	130,409 17
Balance	$6,464 09
Less discount on first payment	2,052 20
Balance	$4,411 89
Add Interest to Nov. 15	96 66
Balance	$4,508 55
Less remitted by Court of Revision	2,000 00
Balance	$2,508 55
Add Interest after Nov. 15	393 66
Balance	$2,902 20

Amount collected during April — $1,948.43.—Received.

Peterborough Band

A communication was received from the Peterborough Band, asking for a grant to help meet the expenses current with their organization's Finance Committee. The band states that if they received an appreciable grant they would give a concert once a week during the summer in one of the city parks.

The Little Lake Cemetery Company wrote, drawing the attention of the Council to the condition of the cribbing of the Little Lake on Crescent street, and of the sidewalk near it, both of which are becoming much out of repair. They also asked that the street be kept in good repair.—Referred to the Board of Works.

William Croft wrote, protesting against the laying of a pavement on the west side of Reid street, from King to Sherbrooke streets.—Referred to the Board of Works.

A communication was received from the assessors, asking for an increase of salary.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter was received from Messrs. Roger, Pocock and Goodwill, acting for Dr. McClellard, threatening legal action if his claim against the city was not settled at once. — Finance Committee.

A petition was received, signed by a large number, asking that Wescott street be extended, and opened from George street to Crescent street. Referred to the Mayor and chairman of Board of Works.

House of Providence

A letter was received from the Mother Superior of the House of Providence, asking for a grant from the city. The letter pointed out that at the present time there are twenty-five inmates in the institution, received from the city, for whose maintenance the city contributes clothing. The communication also contained the request for free city water, instead of being charged for it, as at the present time.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

A request was received from J. M. Greene, bandmaster of the Salvation Army Band, asking for a grant of $200, for the purchasing of equipment and assisting in meeting the general expenses.—Finance Committee.

E. J. Ferguson made application for the position of sewer inspector.—Referred to Board of Works.

A letter was received from J. W. Leonard, of the C. P. R., stating that for the present, at any rate, it was not the company's intention to discontinue the running of the local train between Peterborough and Tweed.—Received

The Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company wrote, notifying the council that they intend raising the water at their dam in about three months. This will flood the south end of the old Dickson bridge and make it impassable. If the city desires to continue using this bridge it will be necessary to have the south end raised.—Referred to Board of Works.

New By-Laws

The following by-laws received their several reading and were passed:

By-Law 1388, a by-law to authorize an execution of an agreement with R. Hicks & Co., for the supply of Portland cement.

By-Law 1389, authorizing the execution of street watering contracts for 1908.

By-Law 1390, authorizing the execution of an agreement with R. Hicks & Co., for the supply of sewer pipes.

By-Law 1391, to authorize the issue of debentures for the sum of $3,000 for the purchase of a public park. This park is in the vicinity of the King Edward School.

By-Law 1392, to alter the polling subdivisions of the City of Peterborough, and create new polling subdivisions.

Finance Report

The report of the Finance Committee was read by Ald. Bradburn, as follows:

That no action be taken on the communication of Roger, Bennett & Goodwill, in regard to an account for Dr. McClellland.

That $2 be refunded to M. C. Tooley on account of dog taxes paid by him.

That no action be taken on the application of F. Marino, for a pedlar's license at a reduced fee.

That $4.58 be refunded to T. H. Hooper, on account of an eating house license fee.

That a grant of $25 be made to the Peterborough Teachers' Institute.

Adopted on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Huller.

Fire, Water and Light

Ald. Johnston presented the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, as follows:

That seven incandescent lights be placed on Crescent street, and the arc lamp on that street removed.

That the arc lamp at the corner of Hunter and Downie streets be replaced by five incandescent lamps on Hunter street, between Reid and Park streets, and that the Peterborough Light and Power Company be permitted to put in an additional pole at the corner of Charlotte and Downie streets, to remove the light at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets as requested by the council.

That an advertisement be inserted three times in each of the local papers, and in the Toronto Telegram, for a chief of the Fire Brigade, at a salary of $1,000 a year, his duties to begin on July 1st.

On motion of Ald. Johnston and Huller the report was adopted.

Other Reports

Ald. Elliott submitted the report of the Legal Committee, which, on his motion, seconded by Ald. Morgan, was adopted. The only new clause was to the effect that the City Solicitor be instructed to defend the action of Miss Brown against the city for damages.

The Board of Works report, as presented by Ald. Phelan, was adopted, excepting the clause regarding the sidewalk on Dublin street, referred to above.

Extra Snow Ploughing

A motion was passed granting Robert Nicholls the sum of five dollars for extra snow ploughing done in his district.

N. De la Plante, regarding his land, and stated that no settlement had yet been made with his father, Mr. De la Plante that the matter had not which had been expropriated by the city, for the extension of George street. The council had been approached before, but nothing had yet been done. Mayor Rush asured Mr. LePlante that the matter had not been overlooked, and the City Solicitor and Ald. Phelan were appointed to arrive at a settlement.

Residents of King street, including Mr. Howard Shuter and Mr. Geo. Pope, requested that the cement walk on King street be extended from John street to the boundary.

A letter was received from the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, regarding the stopping of the street cars at the quay crossings. They pointed out that matters would not be improved by any change, but if the council desired to press the point, they would be pleased to meet the members regarding it.

A GOOD NAME

EVERY one desires to establish for himself a good name, but it takes time to win the confidence of your fellow men. Truth and perseverance are the alternate rungs on the ladder of success, and he who reaches the top must make no false step.

There are hundreds of cough medicines with all sorts of names, each claiming to be the best, but the test of time will prove whether or not they have established the right to be called the best.

Careful selection of the drugs, intelligent and skillful compounding, the entire absence of opium, chloroform, or any other harmful ingredient, and the absolute purity of every article that goes into its composition, has built up and sustained its good name.

These are the things you should remember, and the next time you want a cough medicine, it is worth while to see that you get Chamberlain's and secure the virtues which a good name implies.

Every dealer who sells a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy guarantees it to give satisfaction or he will refund the money.

Price, 25c.
Large size, 50c.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has had thirty-five years of sale and use, and has cured coughs and colds under all conditions, in all countries and climates, and the verdict today is that it has no equal.

HEAD OFFICE: 210 MANNING CHAMBERS, TORONTO. Phone Main 958.
OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: D. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; D. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 16 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16 ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENCOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level; and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

BODY OF TORRANCE NOT YET RECOVERED

Was Drowned in 80 Feet of Water—Constant Search Being Made.

Lindsay, May 5.—Up till three o'clock yesterday afternoon the body of Joseph Torrance, of Fenelon Falls, who was drowned Saturday morning by being accidentally forced backwards off the dam, had not been recovered. Constant search is being made and a large party of men are at work dragging the river, but so far without result. The water just below the falls is 80 feet deep with an eddy and it is feared that the body may be where it would be almost impossible to recover it. Another thing that would have the effect of keeping the body out of sight is the cold weather — a body would come to the surface much quicker, it is said, were the water warm.

AN OLD IDEA.

Shown to be Absolutely False by Modern Science

People used to think that baldness was one of those things which are handed down from generation to generation, from father to son—just like a family heirloom.

Science has shown the falseness of this belief by proving that baldness itself is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion, of which only Herpicide can effectually rid the scalp.

Washing only cleans the scalp of dandruff; it doesn't kill the germs. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Newbro's Herpicide will do this in every case. It is also a delightful dressing.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

EXTENSION OF WESCOTT STREET

Residents Want it Extended From George Street to Crescent Street.

A strong petition was made to the Council last night to have Wescott street extended at the east end from George street to Crescent street. A largely signed letter was received from the residents of that part of the city, and Mr. W. S. Robinson also appeared and made a strong plea to have the extension undertaken. The present was a most opportune time, and Wescott street had never received any attention. Mr. Taylor, the owner of the property which would have to be purchased, had asked too high a price, Mayor Rush said. Mr. Taylor said he would meet the mayor and the chairman of the Board of Works to endeavour to make a suitable agreement.

HAS GRADUATED FROM EXAMINER STAFF

Mr. John Hogan, Reporter for Eight Months, Becomes City Editor of Lindsay Paper.

To-morrow morning Mr. John Hogan leaves the Examiner reportorial staff for Lindsay, where he has accepted the position of city editor of the Lindsay Free Press, a new daily just established there. Mr. Hogan has been on the Examiner staff for the past eight months and has proved himself to be an energetic newspaperman. His many friends in the city will extend to him their hearty congratulations and wish him success in the Victoria County capital.

LOCAL FIRM CONTRIBUTE TO DECORATIONS

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons Will Probably Send Big Flag to Quebec.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., left on the midnight last night for Quebec to make arrangements for the decorating to be done by the local establishment he represents, for the occasion of the big Tercentenary celebration. Messrs. Turner and Sons will likely send their monster flag—the biggest in Canada—to Quebec.

PARK FOR SOUTH END ASSURED

Finally Agreed Upon by Council and By-law Passed.

A park for the south end is now assured to the long suffering citizens of the south end who have, in this respect, been entirely overlooked. The council passed a bylaw last night for the issuing of debentures to raise $33,000 for this purpose. A lot is being purchased from the Board of Education near the King Edward school. In the discussion of the question last night Ald. Buller expressed himself as not satisfied with this property as it was too small and he thought a more adequate property could be secured which would please the citizens of the south and would be a credit to the city. Ald. Tovey agreed with him but said it was better to take the park mentioned rather than have none at all. Ald. Elliott and Turner spoke on the matter and all were agreed to go ahead and give the people as pretty a park as could be made out of the school lot.

Canadian North West Is Field For Missionary Efforts

Eloquent Address by Rev. Canon Tucker at Opening Meeting of the Missionary Institute Last Night.

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGE

The opening meeting of the Missionary Institute held in St. Paul's church, was remarkable for two things, first a splendid address by Rev. Canon Tucker of Toronto, and second, the large preponderance of ladies in the congregation present. The spacious edifice was filled to the doors with a gathering representative of the west to take up the efforts of were in the majority ten to one. Most of the visiting delegates were present, a number who arrived on trains during the evening reaching the church when the service was well under way.

Rev. Canon Tucker is an eloquent and forcible speaker and his subject, "The Call of the Canadian West," is evidently familiar to him as he dealt with it in a manner that was most effective and impressive. His theory that there is a large enough field in the country in the northland part of the city churches, but the women the churches of Canada was probably new to the greater part of his audience but as he unfolded his reasons for such an opinion it could easily be seen that the gathering was impressed with his arguments.

Rev. H. J. Keith of Knox church, acted as chairman and the service was opened with devotional exercises by Rev. Wm. Major of All Saints.

Rev. J. R. Webb of Murray street Baptist church, gave the opening address, referring in a kind but emphatic discourse to the needs of the missionary movement.

Mr. Frank Adams, city treasurer, on behalf of Mayor Rush, read an address of welcome to the visiting delegates extending to them the freedom of the city and commending the object for which they had gathered together. In doing so Mr. Adams regretted that owing to a meeting of the council, His Worship was not able to be present and address the visitors.

Rev. Canon Tucker in beginning his address expressed his pleasure at the opportunity of addressing such a large audience, commenting on the number of ladies who were present. He remarked upon the number of men he had seen on the streets on his way from the station and referred to the fact that Peterborough had a fine array of churches. With men on one side and churches on the other, the city had the opportunity of a combination of combinations by bringing the men into the churches.

Referring to the question of missions the speaker remarked that some people imagined that they were not doing themselves any good by helping in missions. They seemed to think that all the good was at the other end of the line, forgetting that they were more benefitted by the study of missions than were the recipients of their assistance.

There were two things in the minds of church people at the present time, one the large number of new people that were coming into Canada, at the rate of a quarter of a million each year, and the other was the fact that people were impoverished by the large sums that they were called to give to missions. The mission field was too large and urgent and the question was whether the call was big enough for the demand.

In order to get a proper field the speaker was of the opinion that the foreign world, India, China, Japan, Africa, etc, must be left out. All of Canada could not be taken in and it would be necessary to leave out Muskoka, New Ontario, the Cobalt, British Columbia, the old settled part of the prairies. The field that was to be considered the land north of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba into which 300,000 people were received each year. The speaker referred to the commencement of the settlement of that district, just after the close of the South African war when men in England began to realize that they must send people out to fill up the British colonies. In graphic language he depicted the arrival of the first colony of 2500 people who came into that western country from England and referred to the rapid development of the district, showing that one hundred new towns had sprung up. The people were without a church, without a Sunday, without any means of grace, and this he considered this field in the missionary efforts of Canadians. It was an unique field with the eyes of the whole enlightened world turned upon it.

In conclusion the speaker dwelt strong upon the necessity from a national standpoint of dealing promptly and properly with this important problem. He spoke at some length upon the national aspect of the question, saying that the building of a nation was a matter of citizenship. He referred to the struggle that had taken place in England and in this country to obtain liberty and commented upon the fact that in spite of this struggle there were men who would sell their citizenship at $10 per head. An Englishman or a Canadian would sell himself for the price of a bullock. He hoped to see the day when men who tried to buy or sell a vote would have to hide their heads like a murderer.

A CONVENTION OF BILL POSTERS

Many Will be in Peterborough for May 25th and 26th—Their Programme Arranged.

The Canadian Bill Posters' and Distributors' Association will meet in Peterborough on May 25 and 26, when the seventh annual meeting of the association will be held. The preliminary directors' meeting will be held at the Oriental at 9 o'clock on May 25, after which the general sight-seeing of the city will take place.

At 2 o'clock p.m. there will be an official welcome extended by Mayor Rush and ex-President Walter Stocker; roll call of members, followed by routine business.

In the evening the members will be the guests of Oficial Solicitors, including a banquet, and on May 26 the adjourned meeting will be reconvened.

During the convention, a practical demonstration as to the best and most economical plans for the building of steel and other bill-boards, will be made. Mr. Walter Stocker is supplying the material and boards have been erected to illustrate. A prize will be offered the bill-poster who builds the most attractive stand.

Orangemen Preparing For A Huge Demonstration

Ask Council for Grant to Decorate the City for Greatest Event They Have Ever Held in Peterborough —Large Number of Visitors Will be Here.

HELD ON MONDAY, JULY 13

From all indications, Peterborough is to have a monster Twelfth of July demonstration this year. The Orangemen of this district are making arrangements for a celebration that will eclipse anything of the kind ever seen in this city. At the Council meeting last night, a deputation composed of Messrs. J B McWilliams, W H G Armstrong, Joseph Jones and Joseph Batten waited upon the city fathers, requesting assistance from the municipality towards appropriately decorating the main thoroughfares, befitting the occasion.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams asked the Council to make an appropriation to decorate the city on the 12th of July, or rather, the 13th, as the 12th falls this year on Sunday. Four years ago the Orange Order asked for a grant of $200 and received $125. Mr. McWilliams said they would be pleased to receive $150. They were not, he said, particular whether the city did the decorating themselves, or whether they granted the money to the committee of Orangemen, who would perform the work. Mr. McWilliams stated that there would be the largest gathering of Orangemen this year that the city has ever seen. The Peterborough Order had considerable difficulty in securing the large convention, and they were anxious that the city appear at its best. The Order is put to considerable expense, and will have to bear it all. A grant would, therefore, be most welcome. Mr. McWilliams also asked for the use of Central Park and for the full control of it for that day. The committee this year is composed of young men who are energetic and wish to make the occasion an unexcelled success.

Many Visitors Here

Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, County Master, said the visiting Orangemen will be in far greater numbers this year than ever before in Peterborough's history. Intimations have been received stating that societies would be represented from Toronto on the west to Kingston on the east, and many lodges would visit this city for the first time. Between 15,000 and 20,000 men are expected to assist in the celebration. The event will be of utmost importance to Peterborough, Mr. Armstrong said, and the city should appear at its best. The visitors will leave a large sum of money in the city.

Mr. Joseph Jones added a few words to what had been said by the preceding speakers. The residences and buildings should be decorated by the citizens, and everything done to impress the visitors with the importance of the city.

On motion, the matter was given into the hands of the Finance Committee.

FUR STORAGE DEPARTMENT

This is the season of the year when Furs should be stored away from all danger by moths or fire. More or less risk is always taken by storing Furs at home where there are no proper facilities for the caring of them, causing a lot of worry and anxiety through the summer months. We have lately fitted up a splendid Fur Storage Department, where special attention can be given to the care of your Furs, ensuring their return in a bright, fresh condition. By inquiring you will find our charges very moderate. Ring up No. 94 Bell or Machine Phones and we shall be pleased to send a messenger for your Furs. :: :: :: :: ::

Will A Public Abattoir Be Established In The City?

Mr. H. P. Kennedy's Letter to the Council Points Out Necessity for it to Safeguard the City's Meat Supply.

ENDORSED BY MEDICAL MEN

An important question was brought up at the council meeting last night, namely, the establishment of a public abattoir for the city, by which the citizens will be assured that all meats offered for sale are pure and free from disease. This can be done by the plan which Mr. H P Kennedy details in the following letter which was received at the meeting last night:—

To His Worship the Mayor, and Members of the City Council of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—At the request of several members of the City Council, I have looked carefully into the matter of the best means of establishing a public abattoir for the City of Peterborough whereby all meats offered for sale in the City of Peterborough, might be inspected on foot before being offered for sale, by a competent inspector, and believe that the only way to have this carried out to a satisfactory conclusion would be to have one central abattoir, and have the city engage a competent inspector, who would be placed at this abattoir and that everything in connection with the plant be made subject to his ruling and the approval of your Council.

I have made several inquiries outside regarding meat inspection as it is in force at present, and have furnished you with all the communications that I have up to date. While in Ottawa this week on a deputation to interview Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture and Dr. Rutherford, Veterinary Inspector General, I was given the following information from the Government records showing the number of carcases of cattle, sheep and hogs condemned since Government Inspection went into force on Sept. 1st, 1907.

The period covers 7 months up to March 31st, 1908:

Total number of carcases condemned on account of disease...4991
Total number of carcases condemned on account immaturity 1473
Total number of carcases held on suspicion... 5477

Besides the above there were condemned:—

Portions of hogs 52,872
Portions of cattle... 10,505
Portions of sheep... 7,612

This certainly shows an alarming state of affairs and proves conclusively the need of inspection to protect the health of our citizens.

I might also draw your attention to the fact that on account of Government Inspection being placed on all houses doing an export business, the tendency is to market all suspicious animals at local markets, where there is no inspection in force, so that in a city like Peterborough, since Government Inspection went into force we are doubtless getting a larger percentage of diseased cattle than we were previous to September, 1907.

I have at the present time parties willing to unite with me in the forming of a company to establish an abattoir suitable for the requirements of the City of Peterborough, and to have all the details in connection with it subject to the approval of your Council.

We would be willing to slaughter stock for the public at the following maximum charge:

Cattle, per head..... ... ...$1 00
Hogs, per head..... 25
Calves, per head..... 15
Sheep and lambs, per head... ... 10

This charge would cover the cost of slaughtering and cold storage for 24 hours. Parties having their slaughtering done would receive of the offal the hide, heart, liver, tongue and fat.

In case of any animal being found diseased the carcase and all offal would be held by the Inspector and converted into fertilizer, the loss falling on the original owner.

For a city the size of Peterborough we estimate the above charges would be most reasonable, as these are the rates now in force in the City of Toronto where the quantities being slaughtered are much larger.

The company taking up this enterprize would have to be insured the protection of the City Council, and would want a bylaw passed that no meats be allowed to be sold in the City of Peterborough unless bearing the stamp of the City Inspector or the Government official stamp. We would also want a franchise to protect our business for, say, a term of from 15 to 20 years, with a clause in the agreement that the plant could be taken over any time after 5 years by the city at a valuation.

I enclose you another letter received from Dr. J G Rutherford, also a copy of regulations governing the inspection of meats issued 1907, and if there is any other information that I can furnish you with, I will be glad to do so.

If the above proposition, as outlined, meets with the approval of your Council, we would appreciate a reply at your earliest possible convenience.

Yours respectfully,
H. P. KENNEDY.

In connection with Mr. Kennedy's letter a communication was received signed by the medical practitioners of the city endorsing the proposition to establish a public abattoir.

A number of the local butchers have also expressed their satisfaction with the plan.

The importance of the question is fully realized by the members of the council and it will receive due consideration at a later meeting.

Ald. Morgan's Motion Was Turned Down By Council

Supported by Ald. Elliott He Wanted the Matter of a Permanent Paid Fire Brigade Arranged in Detail And Presented to the People.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR CHIEF

The question of a permanent paid fire brigade was again considered at the meeting of the City Council last night, and it may be said that steps are about to be taken in that direction. At least clause 3 of the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was adopted. It reads as follows: "That an advertisement be inserted three times in each of the local papers and in the Toronto Telegram, for a chief of Fire Brigades at a salary of $1,000, his duties to begin on July 1st, next."

Ald. Morgan and Elliott made a combined fight against its being carried through without a detailed consideration.

The question was introduced by a deputation, composed of Messrs. J. H. Larmonth, Jas. Kendry and F. H. Dobbin, representing the Manufacturers' Association of Peterborough. The following communication was received from Mr. Larmonth, secretary of the association:

At a meeting of the Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, held on Thursday, April 23rd, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, "That this association express to the City Council its earnest approval of the measure to install a permanent paid fire brigade, and will endorse and support any municipal legislation to that end.

That a delegation from this association would like to meet the council and further express the association's views regarding this most important subject.

"That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the City Council."

Demand Efficiency

Each of the three gentlemen of the deputation expressed himself in favour of a permanent paid brigade, providing it was sufficiently strong and well equipped for the city's requirement. They emphasize the fact that it would mean much to the city in decreased insurance rates.

Ald. Morgan said that he noticed that nearly all those who supported the idea of a new brigade were men representing companies which had fixed assessments.

"They," he said, "would not have to pay the increased tax, that would fall on the shoulders of the poor ratepayer." Continuing, he said, that the report that it would cost only $6,000 was a "fake alarm." His idea was to determine the number of men who would compose the brigade, find out how much the whole would cost; get the matter into proper shape and submit it to the people, to be voted on at the next election.

He made a motion to that effect, and Ald. Elliott seconded it. He believed the matter should be arranged in concrete shape before any action was taken. The present cost of the brigade is $5,500, he said, and the new one would require at least $12,000 a year to maintain it. This, he said, was, if anything, a low estimate.

The mayor put the motion to a vote, and it was turned down, only the mover and seconder supporting it.

Persons Said To Be Posing As Delegates To The Missionary Institute And Being Billetted

Are there any fraudulent delegates attending the Missionary Institute in Peterborough this week? Some persons are of the opinion that there are several men and women posing as delegates who are not representing any church, and are being billeted in the homes of charitable citizens. The supposed delegates are said to be attending all the shows and having a good time around town, and are not paying any attention to the Institute. A young lady delegate, who has been staying in the city, mentioned this yesterday at dinner and said she had come in contact with one of the fraudulent delegates. The case, if it is true, is a contemptible hold-up, and if any persons are found making false representations they will not be lightly dealt with.

MAYOR RUSH'S WELCOME TO THE DELEGATES TO THE INSTITUTE

The following address of welcome from Mayor Rush, was read by Mr. Frank Adams, at the opening meeting of the Missionary Institute.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to Peterborough, on behalf of the citizens. We are always pleased to welcome visitors to our city, and the pleasure is increased when they are engaged, as you are, in an endeavour to learn methods for making the world better.

A study of missions and missionary efforts has a most beneficial effect upon those who engage in it, for it gives a fuller knowledge of the world and its peoples, widens our sympathies and makes us citizens of the world in the best sense of that phrase. It is pleasant to see so many representatives of different church organizations meeting together in united effort, for such gatherings cannot fail to benefit our own country, and when the object is, as is the case of this meeting, to study in a practical manner how to organize and conduct missionary work, the world at large will share the benefits.

I hope that your visit to Peterborough will be a pleasant one, and that you will be able to take sufficient time from the duties which have called you together to see something of our city. We are one of the younger cities, but not of the smallest: for of the fifteen cities of Ontario we rank seventh in population and first in the values of manufacture products per head of population. There are many points of interest, and although the season is not far enough advanced to see some of them at their best, they should not be omitted while you are here. You will notice by the buildings in course of construction, including the Normal School and Collegiate Institute buildings, that the city is still advancing. We wish you to feel at home while you are here, and we hope that your sessions will be most profitable and that you will leave Peterborough with such pleasant recollections that you will soon return.

(Signed) H. RUSH,
Mayor.

"TIGE," THE MARKET TERROR, GOT ALL THAT WAS COMING

"Tige" got all that was coming to him at the market this morning. In fact, he came within an inch of his life, and, as usual, he was up to mischief. "Tige" is none other than the white bull pup that delights in chasing the pigs on the market, and many complaints have been made of the damage he has done to the pigs with his teeth. This morning Mr Wm. Reid, of Otonabee, drove up with eleven porkers that tipped the scales at nearly 2,800 lbs. "Tige" appeared on the scene, and without any hesitation leaped up at the high rack and caught one of the pigs by an ear, which protruded through the bars. He held on like a vice, the pig meantime squealing in great pain.

In some manner "Tige" loosened his hold and fell under one of the rear wheels, it passing over his body. He did not seem to have suffered much and limped away on three legs to recover and return to the market to wreak vengeance on some other unfortunate pigs.

OLD ESTABLISHED MEAT BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

I have pleasure in announcing to the public that I have bought out the long-established "Central Meat Market," carried on by Mr. John J Howden, at No. 461 George street, and that I will continue the business in the same premises.

Having had a life-long knowledge of the cattle business, I can confidently solicit the patronage of the customers of the old firm, as everything will be conducted in the most up-to-date manner.

I have also engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood as manager. He is a thoroughly experienced man, well known to the patrons of the store, and he will be pleased to serve all in a satisfactory manner.

QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

Reported That They Will Be Held the Same Day as Ontario Votes.

Quebec, May 5.—Hon. Lomer Gouin will be here to-day, when a meeting of the Cabinet will be summoned at once.

Your correspondent is authorized to announce that the House will be immediately dissolved, and that polling day has been fixed for the eighth of June, or the same day on which the Ontario elections are to be held.

Memorial of Thanks.

Boston, May 5.—A memorial from the hundreds of thousands of American citizens of New England, born in Canada and other parts of the British Empire, has been forwarded to the President and members of the Senate thanking them for their action in ratifying the arbitration treaty with Great Britain. The memorial says in part: "This action is to the signers an additional proof of the development of that cordial good feeling and that desire to promote the real interests of humanity which have of late years marked the relations between the two great countries which lead the world in the practical application of the principals of true democracy to the solutions of national and international problems alike."

Narrowly Escaped Burning.

Brantford, May 5.—E. M. Turner and his wife, colored people, residing at 10 Brock lane, this city, had a narrow escape from a fire which destroyed their home at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour, while both were in bed, a lamp which they had left burning, exploded.

Turner ran to the nearest alarm box and broke the glass, but failed to pull the knob. The alarm did not sound, and it was twenty minutes before a neighbor was aroused who knew how to turn in the signal. In the meantime Mrs. Turner got out, clad only in a sheet. Before the department arrived the house and furniture were entirely destroyed. The loss will be about $700.

Ran Over the Siding.

Guelph, May 5.—The Grand Trunk Railway passenger train, No. 19, running north from Guelph on Saturday evening, crashed into a freight at Moorefield. The engine was badly smashed, as well as several freight cars, and Fireman Smith and Conductor Cox were injured, but not seriously. No passengers were hurt, and the engineer escaped injury. The freight was on the siding, and ran over the switch. The signals were against the passenger, but the brakes failed to work, and it is said that a passenger interfered with the valves.

Small Force From West.

Ottawa, May 5.—About 170 officers and men will constitute a composite regiment for the Quebec tercentenary celebration, to come from the three western military districts with headquarters at Winnipeg, Calgary and Victoria respectively.

Owing to the great cost of transportation, etc., the Militia Department has found it inadvisable to bring a large contingent from Winnipeg district. The force will be about 110 men, while from the other two districts about thirty men each will come.

Wicked Fight In Restaurant.

Kingston, May 5.—In a fight in Beefsteak Jack's restaurant in Ontario street serious results followed. Cunningham, the proprietor, it is said, assaulted his wife, hitting her in the face and knocking her down. Her daughter, colored, seized a carving knife and slashed Cunningham on the arm. Frenzied, Cunningham assailed the girl, and, it is alleged, almost severed the girl's hand by a fierce cut on the wrist. She will be maimed for life.

Says It's Worse In 25 Years.

London, May 5.—(C.A.P.)—A. Chamberlain, president of the Welcome League, Toronto, wrote to The Birmingham Trades Council that conditions there are worse than for 25 years, and declaring that Salvation Army agents should stop emigration. The chairman pointed out that this confirmed the statements of W. R. Trotter, the Labor representative, and the Birmingham distress committee decided to stop emigration.

Surveyors For Yukon.

Vancouver, May 5.—Eighteen members of the Dominion Government Alaska boundary survey party, in charge of J. W. Craig of Ottawa, left for the north last night by the steamer Princess May. A. J. Bradason will this year co-operate with the American survey party south of Juneau.

MR. STEVENS MAY PUT ON GRINDS IN PORT HOPE AND TORONTO

Mr. Geo. Stevens, who was manager of the big six-day grind held here recently, is making arrangements to hold similar meets in Port Hope and Toronto. He went down to Port Hope yesterday with a view of making the preliminary arrangements. His intention is to hold a four-day race during the Port Hope Old Boys' Re-union, which will be held there beginning July 1st, and it is probable that the contest may be made a 32-hour one, with eight hours each day on July 1, 2, 3 and 4th.

No arrangements have been made in regard to the Toronto race, but Mr. Stevens plans a 42-day race there, 3 hours a night, making thirty-six hours in the two weeks. Local walkers will likely take part in both these meets, and it is thought that Hoogland, Sliter and other American cracks will be persuaded to cross the inland sea for the purpose of participating.

YANKEE ROGERS WANTS TO GET ON MATCH WITH GENE HURTUBISE

The sporting editor of the Examiner to-day received a letter from W B Naylor, of Montreal, manager of Yankee Rogers, the famous American wrestler with regard to a match between Rogers and Eugene Hurtubise. The letter in part says:—"I have this day written Mr. Hurtubise in reference to a match in your city, and think it can be arranged. Yankee would probably give him a handicap and it should prove a success, as he would be the first, best-class man you have had down in your district, and it would be the means of your sporting people getting a real good line on the local footballer."

Such a match would no doubt create a lot of excitement in this city. Rogers has a long list of victories, having defeated such men as Alf. Steurs, champion Belgium; Lundin, champion Sweden; Eckerberg, Denmark; Delivuk, champion of Canada and Australia; Fred Beel, ex-champion U.S.A.; Samson, U.S.A.; Busch, Germany; Olsen, New York; Peitro, France; Poiree, France; Samuelson, Sweden; Dan McLeod, U.S.A.; Farmer Burns, ex-champion U.S.A.; Appolo, New York; Maupas, France; Perrelli, Italy; Silvio, Italy; Jim Parr, England.

He has been featured for 42 weeks on the Empire Burlesque Circuit, and for 24 weeks at Sohmer Park, Montreal, meeting all comers.

GREAT INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN WRESTLING MATCH TO-MORROW EVENING

A bumper house is assured for to-morrow night's big handicap wrestling bout at the Grand Opera House between Eugene Hurtubise and Frank Kennedy, in which the local man has undertaken to throw the New Yorker four times in one hour. Those who saw last week's exciting match between the two, are divided in their opinion as to whether or not Hurtubise can accomplish the task. In the bout last week he got two falls in twenty-five minutes, and the question that is disturbing the sporting fraternity is whether the big local man can repeat the feat and follow it up with two more falls in the remaining thirty-five minutes. The match will be for $100 a side and a $50 purse. A. C. Yokome was agreed upon by both men this morning, as referee of the main bout, and has consented to handle the contest.

Next to the principal bout, the exhibition to be given by Artie Edmunds, the famous Canadian wrestler and boxer in his posing in cabinet feats of strength, is attracting the most attention. He will give his physical culture act, and will, in addition, engage to throw J. Wilson of Peterborough, in fifteen minutes. Speaking of Edmunds, the New York Mail says:

Art Edmunds, Canadian champion, who appears at the Marlborough Club to-morrow nilht, is a physical marvel, and is probably the most popular athlete appearing before the metropoliton multitudes. His turn on the stage includes some wonderful exhibitions of muscular control, and at chest expansion he has got even the great Sandow trimmed, and everybody knows what an expansion Sandow has got, and when Edmunds jumps into vaudeville he brings down the house with his act. He has gained the title of Pocket Hercules, and he surely deserves it.

Another great preliminary bout will be that between orney Burns and Jack Crough for the 145 championship of Peterborough.

CHARLIE STENNER COMES TO PETERBOROUGH

Has Secured Work Here—Wants to Walk Again.

Chas. Stenner, the Warsaw "ped," has secured work in Peterborough and will remain here for the summer. He is working for Messrs. A. Blide & Son, and will look after the work at Central and Victoria Parks.

Stenner says he is ready for another walk in the autumn. His six-day grind at the Brock street rink appears to have had little effect on him, as he weighed as much on his arrival back at Dummer's capital as he did when he left.

In speaking of a probable six-hour walk at Warsaw, he thought that, although there are no enclosed grounds, a ring might be made on the sawdust in front of the saw mill of the village.

Warsaw sports are now looking into the proposal.

OPENING BALL GAME OF SEASON

Fast Alerts of Toronto Will Meet Manager Johnston's Midland League Team On Saturday.

The fans are anxiously waiting for Saturday's game between Manager Johnston's Midland League team and the Alerts of the Toronto Inter-Association Senior League at Riverside Park. It will be the first appearance of a number of the men in a Peterborough uniform, and will serve to show that Manager Johnston has gathered together a team of fast, heady players, who will make things interesting for the other Midland League nines. With an infield composed of Thorne at first, McDermid or O'Hearne at second, Maddocks at short and Cheatham on third, with a trio consisting of O'Brien, Murphy and Burns looking after the outfield, and with Clements and Edmunds as a battery, the team will take a whole lot of beating. The grounds are drying up rapidly and will be in good shape for the opening contest.

Mrs. Geo. Mason, Apohaqui, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and it is a splendid spring medicine. It purifies the blood and is the greatest remedy in the world for pimples and boils."

Try as you may it is next to impossible to escape so-called "Spring Fever." You get that Weary, Tired, Listless, Worn-out, Don't-Care-to-Work Feeling: What is needed is to clean out the system and make the blood pure? The cleansing, blood-purifying action of

whereby it eliminates all the pent-up poison from the system, starts the sluggish liver working, acts on the kidneys and the bowels and renders it without exception

That Tired Feeling

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it is an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of the year."

The Best Spring Medicine

Indigestion in Spring

Miss B Bradley, Hamilton Ont., writes: "Last spring I used three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, as I had indigestion and very thin blood, I tried everything before taking the B.B.B. which I think is an excellent spring tonic."

O'KEEFE'S PILSENER LAGER has achieved a reputation for flavor, purity and mildness.

It is brewed from the celebrated German Pilsen formula, famous the world over.

The water used in brewing is filtered—the beer is filtered and pasteurized after bottling.

No imported lager is as mild, pure and healthful. No rice, glucose or any foreign element in O'Keefe's Pilsener. Only pure barley malt, choicest hops, and pure filtered water.

As pure and healthful as country air and sunshine.

Friendly Advice

—My Valet advises patrons of no interruption in business. Owing to the fire that took place in the cleaning room of the premises of My Valet, it has been necessary in order that business will go on without interruption to secure a new cleaning room. This has been done with the usual promptness that attends the business conducted by My Valet, and orders for cleaning will be looked after without delay whatever. The proprietors have placed an order for the most modern and scientific cleaning machines and equipment to be had on the market, and when completely installed will be able to give even better satisfaction in the matter of cleaning garments than heretofore. 3d105—2514

CRESSMAN'S GETTING READY FOR THE DIAMOND

Last evening the employees of A W. Cressman's organized a baseball club and elected a management committee consisting of Messrs. H Cressman R Patterson and E Keen, after which they elected Mr. A W Cressman as Honorary President; Mr. J. Titterson, President; Mr. A Temple, Vice-President and S. Tisdale, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Cressman bunch put up a good showing on the ice last winter and hope to make the baseball diamond hum during this summer. The team has not as yet been picked, but from the large male staff there should be no trouble in selecting a winning [illegible]

STREET WATERING TO BE BETTER

Ald. Phelan Promises Good Work in Business District of City.

"I will see that the street watering is done thoroughly," Ald. Phelan's promise, in his position as chairman of the Board of Works, will be received as most welcome tidings by a public whose patience with the dust-laden gusts on a windy day is very limited. Mayor Rush stated that some of the business men had spoken to him about it recently, and Ald. Phelan explained that the water had been shut off, owing to the cold spell last week. Ald. Elliott thought the central district was too large for one cart. The merchants, as high taxpayers, were entitled to more water. Ald. Neil suggested that an earlier start be made in the morning.

HOAGLAND'S TRAINER PLEASED

Writes to the Examiner to Express His Appreciation of Treatment Received

All the outside pedestrians who took part in the recent walking race here, seem to have been most favourably impressed with Peterborough and with their reception by the people of this city. The sporting editor of the Examiner has received a letter from W A Dement, of Syracuse, N.Y., W A Hoagland's trainer, in which that gentleman refers to the treatment received by the American contestants in the big race. He expressed regret that there wasn't a man in the race good enough to make Hoagland let out a peg or two, but thinks that there may be a difference when we come back here next autumn. Mr. Dement asks to be remembered to Messrs. G N Graham, C G Graham, Brightman Bros., and G W Hatton, to whom he is grateful for kindnesses received.

WEST NORTHUMBERLAND LIBERAL CANDIDATE HERE

Mr. Sam Clarke on His Way to South Monaghan.

Mr. Sam Clarke, Liberal candidate for West Northumberland in the Local House, was in the city to-day. Mr. Clarke was on his way to South Monaghan which, owing to the recent redistribution achievements of the Whitney Government, has been added to his riding.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

CIGARS AGAIN FOUR FOR A QUARTER

Bottom Dropped Out of the High Price —"Cabbage" Brand Still Used.

A good cigar is a smoke! and an enjoyable smoke is now four for a quarter. In other words the 10 cent cigars are back to their favourite price, four for twenty-five cents. Some time ago an agreement was made among the tobacconists, by which Marguerites, Maritanas, Irvings, etc., were sold for three for twenty-five cents. Some of the dealers discovered that the sales had fallen off to a great extent, hence the consumer benefits by his decision to return to the four for a quarter as the other dealers have nearly all followed suit.

Having Children's Eyes Examined

People suffer through life with the disadvantage of impaired vision as a result of neglect of the eyes in childhood. Children considered dull or effected with brain trouble.

It's a familiar fact that the acuteness of vision varies extremely among adults, and that certain defects of the eye—such as shortsightedness — can be as completely remedied as to restore to the individual almost perfect sight. Now, there exists among children just such differences in the acuteness of vision as is observed in adults, and many of the defects of the eye originate in the failure of parents to appreciate those differences.

It's a pity to put glasses upon a child, but a greater pity to neglect such when the future well-being of the eyes depends upon their help. It's safer to do as many are doing now—having the children's eyes examined to know whether or not glasses are necessary.

RATE ON DROP LETTERS TO BE REDUCED

Will be Only One Cent in Places Where Free Delivery Prevails.

Ottawa, May 4.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster-General, has given notice of a Government measure to reduce the postal rate on all drop letters in cities where the letter-carrier system is established from two cents to one cent. This is along the line of the policy of the Government to devote the steadily increasing postal revenues of the country to a reduction of rates and betterment of the service wherever possible. The reduction will mean a considerable decrease in the postal taxation in each city of Canada, the number of letters posted for delivery in the same city forming a large proportion of the total mail.

SAID TO HAVE LEFT THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

County Police on his Tracks—Cases for The Magistrate.

Magistrate Edmison will go to Norwood on Friday to hold County Police Court. Walter Ormsby is charged with disorderly conduct.

A charge has been laid against Wm. Moore, an inmate of the House of Refuge. Moore is said to have refused to work or to obey the superintendent, and recently left the institution. County Constable Cochrane went out to look for him to-day, and he will likely come before the magistrate this evening.

The case of Peter Nicholls against a party alleged to have been net fishing in Chemong Lake will come up for trial in a few days.

GOOD LIMERICK WRITERS LOCATED IN PETERBORO

Two More Successful in the Laurentian Land Company's Contest.

Peterborough is well represented among the winners of the Laurentian Land Company's Limerick competition. Previously it had been announced that two local citizens had obtained lots at Newaggo, and to-day two more parties have received word of their success, and of the receipt of a lot valued at $25.

The fortunate competitors are Mrs. Boorman, 307 Townsend street, and Mr. Bert Vennatto, Simcoe street.

POSTPONE PRESENTATION UNTIL SEPTEMBER MONTH

Of "Leo, The Royal Cadet"—Meeting Of The Band Held.

At a meeting of the 57th Regiment Band last night, at which Mr. Oscar Telgmann, of Kingston, attended, it was decided to present "Leo, The Royal Cadet" early in the month of September, instead of the last of May, as was first proposed.

Mr. A B Cutting, the editor of the Canadian Horticulturist, who is residing in Peterborough now, has previously played the title role in this spectacular military opera.

BIG BASEBALL GAME ON SATURDAY

Fast Alerts of Toronto Will Meet Manager Johnston's Team.

Clements who will be one of Manager Johnston's twirling staff, will be here to-morrow from Toronto, ready for the opening game of the here on Saturday, between the Peterborough's and the Alerts of Toronto. Manager Johnston's team is in fairly good shape for the battle, and confident of making a good impression upon the fans. It will be the first appearance in a game in Peterborough of a number of the players and the baseball enthusiasts are naturally agog to see them in action. Five of the team have been here for some weeks, and are working out faithfully, while the other Toronto men who will figure on the line-up have been playing games in Toronto. Several well known ball players will figure on the Alert line-up, among them, Haliburton, Spence and O'Hearne. The game will be played at Riverside Park and should attract a large crowd.

CHIEF RUTHERFORD AND THE MEMBERS OF BRIGADE HAVE SENT IN THEIR RESIGNATIONS

Take That Step as a Protest Against the Action of the Council in Organizing a Paid Brigade—Meeting of the Members Last Night.

THEIR LONG SERVICE

Mr. Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, has sent in his resignation to the Council and last night the members of the brigade endorsed his action by deciding to resign in a body, and their resignation will be in the hands of the Mayor to-day. The changing of the brigade from a volunteer organization to a paid one is responsible for the action of both Chief Rutherford and his men, who claim that after all the years of service they have rendered the city they have not been treated in a just manner. They are of the opinion that the Chief should have been consulted when the changes were under discussion.

Chief's Resignation

Chief Rutherford's letter of resignation is as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I observe by the local papers that you are advertising for a man to fill the position of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department of the city and it leaves me no alternative ut to tender my resignation, to take place forthwith.

After a continuous service extending over a period of nearly 28 years, during which time the greatest unanimity and good feeling have existed between the members of the brigade and myself, I am naturally loth to take the step which has thus been forced upon me. Under the new conditions which you propose to inaugurate, I trust you will have the same efficient service, as well as harmony and good-feeling that has ever characterized the old, so that the ratepayers may feel that they are getting some return for the largely increased expense which the new conditions will impose.

Yours truly,
T. RUTHERFORD.

Peterborough, May 5, 1908.

Last night the brigade held an important meeting at the fire hall with Assistant Chief John Gibbs in the chair, and nearly all the members present. The meeting was behind closed doors, but it is understood that the changes in the constitution of the brigade were discussed at some length. The fire fighters were unanimously in favour of resigning, and as a result of the meeting, the following resolution will be sent to the Mayor to-day:

We, the undersigned members of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, wish to tender you and your Council our individual resignations, as our service has ceased to be of any value to the city. This resignation to take effect at 12 o'clock on the night of June 30th, 1908:

John Gibbs, Assistant Chief.
W G Metheral, First Lieutenant.
C Butcher, Second Lieutenant.
W J Tremaine, Secretary.
W P Adamson, Treasurer.
W R Turner.
J R Metheral.
Archie Moore.
S Sharpe.
W Evans.
J E Haggart.
A J Mitchell.
E A Jones.
D E Yarnold.
A A Ringer.
O Rutherford.

Chief Rutherford has been a member of the Peterborough fire-fighting force for forty years and for the past 28 years has been chief of the brigade, taking charge in 1880. Before that time he had served as a member of the old volunteer brigade. During his regime there have been many changes, the equipment has been totally changed, and a new fire hall has been built. During his long term at the head of the brigade there has always been harmony and good will between himself and his men, the esprit de corps was always good, and the result was that the brigade was always an effective, hard working force, which has checked many a dangerous fire and prevented a general conflagration, such as has checked the business growth of many Canadian towns during the same period.

The present volunteer brigade, the members of which have just resigned, was organized in 1880, and a number of the men have been connected with the organization ever since. Their work has always been of a satisfactory nature, fires have been handled with skill and judgment, that no other brigade in the country could surpass, and the passing away of the old brigade will be received with regret, especially by the older residents of the city, who remember the many exciting incidents and the many services rendered in the history of the organization.

The resignation of the brigade will not take effect until mid-night on June 30th, and as the new paid brigade will be ready for service then, the city will not be endangered. The action of the brigade was not made with a view of hampering the council, but rather as a protest against the manner in which they have been treated.

HARVEY TOWNSHIP YOUNG MAN DROWNED IN NOGIE'S CREEK WHILE WORKING ON A DRIVE

Angus St. Thomas the Victim—The Dead Body Was Recovered Twenty Minutes Later.

NO INQUEST TO BE HELD

Examiner Special:

Lindsay, Ont., May 6.—Nogie's Creek four miles from Bobcaygeon, was the scene of a drowning accident late yesterday afternoon. Angus St. Thomas, a member of the well known Harvey Township family, was the victim. He was temporarily with a gang of river men, in the employ of Rider & Kitchener, Lindsay. William Patterson was his foreman. Death is said to have been accidental. Body was found, supposedly twenty minutes after the accident. Coroner Burrows, of Lindsay, decided an inquest was unnecessary. The drowned man was twenty-one years of age and unmarried.

HE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE AND NOW WALKS TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Lindsay, May 6.—(Special.)—Duncan McGregor of this town is doing a walking stunt to save his life. Last night he took an ounce of laudanum in an attempt at suicide, and to save him to earth, Dr. J A White started him walking. He was out of work all winter, and comes originally from Coboconk, and is known in Peterborough. He has a wife and three children.

WEDDING BELLS.

WILSON-LASURE

At St. Peter's Cathedral this morning a pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father Galvin, when Miss Elizabeth Lasure, daughter of Mr. Arthur Lasure, Romaine street, was united in marriage to Mr. Victor Wilson, son of Mr. Herman Wilson, North Monaghan. The wedding was witnessed by many of the friends of the young couple. Miss Mary Daly acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Arthur Lasure, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson extend them their heartiest wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

CAMPBELL-KETCHESON

A pretty May wedding took place at 2.30 p. m. this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W D. Ketcheson, 159 Rubidge street, when Allie Grace, their third daughter, was united in marriage to Mr. R J. Campbell, of Sudbury, Ont. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. F. McMullen, of Frankford, an old friend of the family, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride looked ideal, gowned in Copenhagen silk, and was accompanied by her bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Vent. She enter the drawing room and joined the groom, under an evergreen arch, while Mendelssohn's wedding march was being played by Miss Julia Choate, violiniste, with Miss Grace Taft playing the piano accompaniment.

After congratulations all retired to the dining room, which was prettily decorated with pink and white, and where a dainty lunch was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left on the 5.30 train for Midland, where a reception awaits them at the home of the groom's parents. The bride's going away gown was of brown Venetian cloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their future home in Sudbury.

THE 57TH REGIMENT MAY GO TO QUEBEC

The whole of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, will be given an opportunity to attend the Tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec by Champlain. The orders issued at the drill hall last night embodied this statement. The provisions are that every non-commissioned officer and man attend at least 12 drills before the date of the celebration. In order to finance the trip the efficiency and ordinary pay will be retained.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL MEETING

In Favour of Mr. Gillespie's Candidature On The 7th Line of Smith.

A most successful meeting in the interests of Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate for the Local House in West Peterborough, was held last evening at the schoolhouse on the Seventh Line of Smith. Addresses on the issues of the campaign were delivered by Messrs. F D Kerr, C E Roger and the candidate. The meeting was a large and most enthusiastic one, all the speakers being very heartily received. From the tenor of the meeting, Mr. Gillespie's prospects in this section are most promising.

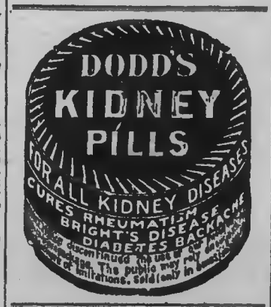
THE EAST RIDING CAMPAIGN.

The campaign of Mr. McNulty, the Liberal candidate in the East Riding, is being conducted with vigour and with encouraging prospects of success. Mr. McNulty is entering into the contest with energy and meetings are being arranged and held in all parts of the riding. The meetings booked for the near future are to be held in Otonabee, as follows: On Tuesday night, May 12th, in Grady's School House, Indian River; on Thursday night, May 14th, at Stewart's Hall, River Road; on Friday, May 15th, at the Town Hall, Keene. In addition to these a meetin the Town Hall, Norwood, on Wednesday, May 13th, will be addressed by Hon. A G MacKay, Liberal Leader. It is desirable and important that these meetings should be largely attended by the electors. Discussion is intended to elicit the truth and the truth is what is needed to give the voter an intelligent idea of the proper exercise of his franchise.

Not only is the Liberal cause worthy of support by the electors of the East Riding, but the Liberal candidate is worthy of a like support. Mr. McNulty possesses, in a large degree, the qualifications to make him an excellent representative in the Legislature. East Peterborough owes it to itself and its interests that it should continue the excellent representation at Toronto it has always had. In the late Mr. Blezard and in Mr. Anderson, the riding had two capable and faithful representatives. They worked well for interests of the constituency and Mr. McNulty is well worthy of being their successor in the representation of the East. He is a gentleman of good qualifications, of sound common sense, good judgment excellent business ability and with a capable knowledge of affairs. His long experience in municipal matters qualifies him for effectively assisting at and watching legislation in the interests of the municipalities, a matter of much moment to a rural constituency. He represents the Liberal and independent attitude in opposition to the policy of the present Government which has not lived up to the policy and promises it made as conditions of being given office. It is the duty of all Liberals and of all who desire effective, economical and fair government, to stand by and support the candidature of Mr. McNulty. There is additional need for Mr. McNulty's friends to rally to his assistance. Through the redistribution act of last session, which is a gerrymander, if there ever was a gerrymander, the village of Lakefield, with a Conservative majority of about sixty, has been added to East Peterborough to assist the Conservative candidate and handicap the Liberal candidate. Mr. McNulty is meeting this handicap bravely. He is pushing an energetic campaign and it his efforts are seconded by the Liberals of the East, it his friends rally round him as they are doing, there is little question of the good old riding of East Peterborough remaining in the Liberal column. Mr. McNulty will make a safe, steady, capable and fair representative and is worthy of hearty support. There is no reason for the riding changing its allegiance. The present government has too large a majority as it is—a majority largely obtained on false pretences, for the leader of the Conservative party and the Conservative Government have not been faithful to the pledges and promises upon which they appealed to the people last election. A much strengthened Liberal majority in the Legislature will make the Government careful and check the reckless pace at which they are going. If the Conservative Government is not relieved of responsibility as a result of the coming elections, the balance wheel of Opposition should be made a good deal heavier.



A Home for the Summer
It will not cost you much more to be really comfortable for the summer vacation than to "rough it" in a tent.
A small Want Ad. in our classified columns will bring you replies from people who have desirable places to rent.

The Examiner sells real estate. The use of its classified ad. columns has resulted in many property deals that have been put through satisfactorily to buyer and seller. Apparently the people of Peterborough are looking to it as a valuable medium of exchange in the real estate movements of the times. If you have property to buy or sell, try a classified ad. in the Examiner.

THE RAILWAY GUARANTEE.

The Conservative press, which is seeking to justify the guarantee of the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway, takes the peculiar course of throwing the blame on the Opposition for neglecting to prevent a Government with 42 of a majority in the House, committing an outrage. It is persistently and erroneously asserted that the Hon. Mr. MacKay, and Mr. Pense, of Kingston, had come to an agreement not to oppose the guarantee. In "nailing this lie" the Kingston Whig, published by Mr. Pense, says:

The Conservative press has been giving credence to a statement that Messrs. MacKay and Pense had a conference at the Rossin House near the close of the recent session of the legislature, and had agreed, together, not to oppose the guarantee act in favour of the Canadian Northern Railway. There is not a scintilla of truth in this statement, obviously spread to silence the Liberal leader. It was given forth in the absence of Mr. Pense in the far east, and was not known to him until Saturday last, when he made an unequivocal denial. That the charge is a campaigner pure and simple is seen in conspicuous lack of circumstances; the two members did not confer in or out of the House upon this subject; Mr. Pense was not inside the doors of the Rossin House last session. He felt that as the Liberal Government had proposed the first guarantee he was, as a Liberal member who voted for it, handicapped as to opposition to the second guarantee, and that this handicap extended to his leader. But this does not apply to the bad act of bringing down the proposal in the dying days of the session, nor to the evident misleading of the House as to the conditions of the original mortgage in regard to termini. On both these points Mr. Pense made protest at the presentation of the measure.

THE ABATTOIR QUESTION.

The proposition submitted about a year ago by Alderman Elliott for the establishment of a public abattoir has taken concrete form in the proposition submitted to the City Council on Monday night by Mr. H. P. Kennedy. There are two principal reasons why this proposition should receive sympathetic treatment. Apart altogether from the business details, which chiefly concern the trade, the public are interested in having not only clean meats but meats of undoubted wholesome quality. This is not to say that butchers working individually are indifferent to these considerations, but it is difficult, unless upon careful examination, sharpened by expert knowledge to detect diseased meats. They may, upon casual notice, seem perfectly wholesome, but at the same time be dangerously unwholesome. This will be shown upon proper inspection, and remedied under the system to be adopted in connection with the proposed abattoir. The importance of this matter, from a sanitary point of view, is emphasized by the unanimous endorsation of the abattoir proposition by the physicians of the city. In the matter of a great deal of all kinds of food consumed, a good deal of faith has to be exercised; cleanliness and wholesomeness have to be taken for granted. In the matter of our meats, when an opportunity is presented for adopting a means of securing both cleanly and wholesome conditions, it should not be neglected. If the meats handled by packing establishments are killed and treated under rigid Government inspection, why should other meats be exempted?

GRATITUDE.

In his card to the electors of West Peterborough on January 26, 1905, thanking the electors for their support in the last general election, Mr. Bradburn had the following paragraph:

"I know that I received the votes of many Liberals, and that my majority was increased thereby. I appreciate this mark of confidence, and offer my most hearty thanks in return."

The manner in which Mr. Bradburn has treated the Liberals shows how sincere were his thanks for Liberal support. His dismissal of Liberal officials as soon as he had the power to do this, shows that his gratitude was wholly of the sentimental variety. The matter of the office itself is a trifling one, because the attached salaries were not extravagant. The ingratitude is the point. Mr. Bradburn, in his letter of thanks, says that he knows his "majority was increased" by "the votes of many Liberals." By his subsequent actions we are to conclude, it seems, that he feels himself able to dispense with these votes, and Liberals in West Peterborough should see this time that Mr. Bradburn's majority is decreased by Liberal votes, and every independent elector who appreciates fair play should vote for the principle of fair play.

BROKEN STONES ON THE STREETS COMPLAINED OF Bicyclists Say Their Tires are Cut and Work is Not Properly Done.

Many citizens have made complaints recently of the action of the city in placing freshly cut stones on the streets, and particularly at crossings. Those who have complained are owners of bicycles, runabouts and rubber-tired vehicles. They say that the freshly-broken stone is placed loosely on the streets, the sharp points and edges playing havoc with the rubber tires. They consider that earth should be placed over the stones and the patches properly packed.

Disease of The Kidneys Brought on By Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Made a Well Man of Me.

I Cannot Speak Too Highly of It.

Mr. George King, 453 St. Denis St., Montreal, Canada, a well-known business man of that city, writes:

"Peruna cured me from what the doctors were afraid would turn into Bright's disease, and after you have gone through the suffering that I have with catarrh of the bladder and kidney trouble, and have been cured you are pretty apt to remember the medicine that did the work.

"Peruna is a blessing to a sick man. Eight bottles made my well and were worth more than a thousand dollars to me. I cannot speak too highly of it. It is now four years since I was troubled, and I have enjoyed perfect health since. Every spring and fall I take a bottle of it and it keeps me well."

MR. GEORGE KING

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

INTERNAL CATARRH REACHES THE KIDNEYS.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

PE-RU-NA AN INTERNAL CATARRH REMEDY.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F. and National Annuity Association, writes:

"I am a well man to-day, thanks to your splendid medicine, Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna. I soon found I was getting better and continued taking it for four months. It cleaned out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

DOCTORS ENDORSE ABATTOIR

Letter to Mayor Rush Expressing Approval of the Plan to Establish Public Abattoir.

IT WAS FULLY SIGNED

In connection with the proposal to establish a public abattoir in the city, as fully explained in Mr. H. P. Kennedy's letter to the council, as published in last night's issue, the matter has received the endorsement of the medical practitioners of the city. That they are entirely in sympathy with the matter is shown by the following letter:

To His Worship the Mayor, and members of the City Council:

We, the undersigned medical practitioners of the city of Peterborough, have had brought to our attention the possibility of the establishment of a public abattoir in our vicinity, whereby all animals being offered for meat purposes might be slaughtered and subjected to inspection by a competent veterinary, appointed by the City Council.

We have given this matter careful consideration and in view of the startling revelations that have been made during the past few months, since the Dominion Government have had rigid inspection enforced in houses doing an export business in meats, we feel the necessity for similar inspection in Peterborough is urgent, and we can heartily endorse a movement of this kind.

The health of our citizens is of first importance, and when a certain percentage of the cattle in the country are known to be affected with tuberculosis and other diseases, certainly too much care cannot be taken, and if all meats being offered for sale in the city of Peterborough were, as is proposed, slaughtered at one centre the sanitary laws could be rigidly enforced.

SOLAR ECLIPSES OF ANCIENT TIMES

Splendid Address by an Eminent Astronomer at Last Meeting of The Society.

GUEST WITH REV. DR. MARSH

The meeting of the Astronomical Society on Thursday last was encouragingly well attended. The ten questions published in the Examiner the day previously were satisfactorily answered by the President, Vice-President, and Mr. H. O. Fisk. Mr. T. P. Jennings, M.A., Inst. C.E., of Derby, England, who is at present visiting Dr. Marsh, gave a very excellent paper on "Ancient Solar Eclipses." When Sir Wilfrid Laurier invited Dr. E. W. Maunder, F.R.A.S., the Director of Solar Physics in the Greenwich Observatory, England, to join the Canadian Government's eclipse expedition to Labrador, Mr. Jennings was invited by Dr. Maunder as one of his assistants.

At the close of the lecture, on motion of Messrs. H O Fisk and D E Easson, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Jennings, and Mr T A S Hay, in referring to the motion, asked that the society make an effort to secure the entire lecture for the columns of the journal of the society.

A synopsis of the paper read is as follows:

Written records of ancient solar eclipses have been handed down to us by Herodotus, Xenophon and other old time historians, who, in their turn, gleaned their information from tradition.

The two great facts necessary for the identification of any of these eclipses, namely, the date, and the position on the earth's surface of the point of observation, had in many cases before they reached the historian. This has made verification of identity of the ancient eclipses impossible until within the last two or three years.

That most eminent mathematician, Mr. P H Cowell, F.R.S., Chief Assistant at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, has recently overcome the difficulties, and all these ancient eclipses now fall into their several places, and their respective zones of totality have been marked upon the map. Mr. Cowell was able to profit by the work of others. Halley, in 1693, showed that the month was very slowly changing in length. The amount of this change was first measured correctly by Prof. Simon Newcomb, the great American astronomer, who, in 1878, discussed the times of nineteen eclipses of the moon recorded by Ptolemy, the astronomer of Alexandria, as having taken place between B.C. 721 and A.D. 136, and who, then, turning to the ancient solar eclipses, and finding that they did not agree with his computations, rejected them all as untrustworthy.

Mr. Cowell finds that the discrepancies detected by Newcomb are accounted for by the following fact: The ratio of the length of the day to the length of the year is slowly changing. Such a change would be scarcely perceptible during 400 or 500 years, but would be very marked if continued for five or six times that time.

Thus it was found that the eclipses of B.C 763, 648, 431, 310, and A.D. 191 were self-consistent, according to the older computations, but did not agree with the modern eclipses until the new correction was made.

We have now the record of a sixth eclipse discovered on a cuneform tablet in the British museum. It would appear to refer to an eclipse visible in Babylon B.C. 1063. This also fits in with the other five.

The question, therefore, stands thus:

The astronomical tables at present in use do not account for these six eclipses as they are recorded. This may arise from one of two reasons—either "an historian, poet or chronicler recorded an eclipse in which the limit of totality was an unknown number of miles distant from the point of record, or the astronomical tables require correction" (Professor Newcomb). But if the descriptions of these six eclipses are thus inaccurate, then, seeing how widely separated they are in time and place, it seems beyond probability that one single hypothesis, the alteration of the tables, would produce harmony between them all. This indicates the method of Mr. Cowell's work.

Mr. Cowell's hypothesis with reference to the length of day and year is borne out by the evidence of seven solar eclipses before the Christian era and four eclipses since, and is consistent with the general testimony of nineteen lunar eclipses. Surely that is sufficient to substantiate the statement.

There is another issue dependent upon this astronomical work, and it penetrates the realms of history and Bible literature.

The speaker's father, Mr. S. Jennings, F.L.S., has paid much attention to this, and many a difficulty which has perplexed students of the classics has disappeared, notably the serious difficulty in the way of identification of astyages with "Darius the Median," who, according to Daniel, received the Kingdom of the Chaldeans, "being about three score and two years old." Daniel 5: 31.

Mr. Cowell proves that Herodotus must have been in error when he identifies the eclipse connected with the accession and marriage of the King, with that which took place in B.C. 610. The zone of totality passed far north of the recorded point of observation.

It becomes evident, from the data now at our disposal, that the eclipse referred to must have been that of B.C. 585, thus disposing of the twenty-years historians have found so great difficulty in accounting for.

Mr. F. Jennings claims no part in the work himself, but he knows that those at present engaged upon it are anxious that others should give it their attention, hence his talk on the subject on Thursday evening.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: B. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; D. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 16 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16 ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENCOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level, and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Lakefield, May 6.—(Special) — A very pleasing event took place on Tuesday, May 5th in Lakefield, at "Ashelworth," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Clinton Atwood, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were married in Lakefield on Wednesday, May 5th, 1858, in Christ's Church, known now as the "Old Church," being the second couple to be married in this beautiful and interesting old building. That time in its ruthless march has been busy in this section is shown by the fact that only five people are living in Lakefield now who were present at the wedding, namely, Mrs. Barlee, Miss Traill, Messrs. H. J. LeFevre, R. C. Strickland and R. Q. Dench. Mr. H. F. Strickland and Col. Rogers, of Peterborough, were also present at the ceremony. The reception was a very quiet affair, only the relatives and intimate friends of the family being present. Mrs Atwood wore a beautiful lace, which formed part of her bridal attire fifty years ago, and was made by her aunt, the celebrated authoress, Agnes Strickland.

Mrs. Atwood is the second daughter of the late Mrs. Catherine Parr Traill, so well known throughout the length of breadth of Canada as a writer on the Natural History of the Dominion.

Mr. and Mrs. Atwood spent the greater part of their married life at Rice Lake, near Gore's Landing, but for the past twenty-two years have been residents of Lakefield. Their golden wedding finds them hale and hearty, and it is the earnest hope of their friends that many years of happiness and prosperity still lie before them.

They were the recipients of general congratulations and good wishes, accompanied by many presents and beautiful flowers.

Their children are: Clinton A. S. Atwood, of Grand Forks, B. C.; G. Evans Atwood, of Peterborough; Mrs. Lingwood, of Simcoe; and Misses Katherine, Annie and Florence, of Lakefield, all of whom were present with the exception of the first named.

An Important Report On Educational Matters Given

Mr. Wm. Hill Gives Account of Trip to Toronto—Special Precaution Advised for School Pupils And Their Health.

QUESTIONS DEALT WITH

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night Mr. W H Hill, the chairman of the delegation that attended the meetings of the Ontario Educational Association, held recently in Toronto, presented a comprehensive report of the proceedings. His summary was as follows:—

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education, Peterborough, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—The 47th annual meeting of the Ontario Educational Association brought together a large number of Trustees, Inspectors and Teachers from all parts of the Province.

Subjects of wide interest are discussed before all the members of the Association at what are called General Meetings, while those of a more technical character are dealt with in separate sections into which the General Association resolves itself. There were frequently from twelve to fifteen meetings taking place in the different sections at the same time, and, as a consequence, only a general idea of the matters discussed can here be given.

A question that created considerable interest was the medical inspection of school children. It was shown that the practice has been generally adopted in the American cities with gratifying results. Among other advantages claimed were: 1.—The prevention of the spread of contagious diseases. 2.—The grouping together of children mentally weak, where greater attention can be given them. 3.—The proper care of the eyes and the teeth of the children.

Domestic Science

A question of even greater interest was that of Domestic Science and Manual Training. It was treated before the Trustees' Section by Mrs. Hoodless and before the general association by Inspector James L. Hughes. The former made a strong plea for Domestic Science, showing the value to society of organized knowledge of a matter that affects every home. It was shown that rapid progress is being made in this work throughout the Province and the Minister of Education in reply to a deputation of Trustees and Teachers, that waited upon him, informed them that he had under consideration the advisability of making both Domestic Science and Manual Training compulsory in our schools.

Another matter that came in for general discussion was that of Kindergarten classes. Wherever they have been established they have proved exceedingly expensive. The solution that has been adopted in Hamilton, Kingston, Guelph and other places is to have the directresses and their assistants teach the whole day, having one class in the forenoon and a different class in the afternoon. The objection made to this method was that it puts too great a strain upon the teachers. Dr. Embree, the President of the Association, who has given the matter careful consideration, held that the Kindergarten work is more trying than that done by the Primary teachers and, if they make it so, it is bad teaching since it involves the expenditure of a corresponding amount of nervous energy on the part of the children which should not be required of them.

A matter of interest to the members of the Board was the consideration of the effect of student teachers upon (Model School pupils. In dealing with this question the Principal of the Ottawa Model School held that no bad results followed as the teachers in training generally taught well and their presence in the Model School stimulated the regular teachers to put forth their best efforts.

Urban School Grants

The matter of increased grants to Urban schools was discussed. It was explained that the Minister of Education had asked the House at the last session to increase the grant by $200,000. This would have been proportioned to the grant made to the rural schools and indicates the Minister's attitude in the matter, but the grant was cut down to $60,000. This amount is to be divided not on the basis of population but on the value of the school buildings, equipment, teachers' certificates and length of experience of the teachers. The increase in the grant was approved and the Minister was urged to further supplement it so as to have rural and urban schools on the same footing so far as the Government grant is concerned.

The qualifications and appointment of Public School Inspectors came in for a good share of discussion. The Public School teachers urged the Minister to lower the necessary qualifications so that those engaged in public school teaching could be promoted and take charge of this branch of the work.

Dr. Packenham voiced another section in urging that the Government, instead of the County Councils, assume the responsibility of appointing and paying the salaries of the Inspectors. He held that as a result better men would be appointed and that, since they would be servants of the Government, their advice could be more easily secured by the Education Department.

The Public School teachers also demanded a larger representation upon the Advisory Council and they passed a motion disapproving the "state salary" advertisements for teachers.

Decrease Examinations

The movement to further decrease the number of examinations did not meet with the approval of any of the different bodies of teachers or inspectors and the High School teachers passed a resolution disapproving of the experiment the Department is making in not having any examination in Arithmetic and English Grammar in "approved" High Schools. They also condemned the idea of "approved" High Schools which the Education Department is now trying as an experiment.

The composition of the Entrance Boards occasioned some discussion. As at present constituted the Boards contain but one public school representative, which was not considered enough since the examination has to do wholly with public school pupils.

A great many subjects of particular interest to the different bodies of teachers were dealt with in the various sections, and teachers and trustees alike could not help but be benefitted by meeting together and taking part in the discussions.

That the Peterborough teachers are interested in these meetings was show by the fact that upwards of twenty members of the Collegiate and Public School staffs were present.

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. HILL,
Delegate's chairman.

Peterborough, May 5, 1908.

Mr. Hill was complimented on his fine report and he stated that Inspector Mowat has rendered him valuable assistance in its preparation.

OLD ESTABLISHED MEAT BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

I have pleasure in announcing to the public that I have bought out the long-established "Central Meat Market," carried on by Mr. John J. Howden, at No. 461 George street, and that I will continue the business in the same premises.

Having had a life-long knowledge of the cattle business, I can confidently solicit the patronage of the customers of the old firm, as everything will be conducted in the most up-to-date manner.

I have also engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood as manager. He is a thoroughly experienced man, well known to the patrons of the store, and he will be pleased to serve all in a satisfactory manner.

COMPANY DRILL WAS PRACTISED

Strength of Regiment Last Night Was 244—About 15 Recruits Added.

THE TRIP TO QUEBEC

Two hundred and forty-four officers and men, all told, reported for duty at the regular weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night. Company drill on Central Park was taken up, and the officers put their men through an active practice. After drill about fifteen recruits joined the regiment. The orders read were the following:

Headquarters, Peterborough, May 5th, 1908.

Orders by Officer Commanding 57th Regiment Peterborough Rangers.

1. Detail of duty for the week ending May 12th, 1908, Captain for the week Capt. McLean, next for duty Capt. Wilson.

Subaltern for the week Lieut. Clarke, next for duty Lieut. Higgins.

2. The following have been taken on the strength of the regiment:

A Company—Privates Nash, Coppock, Munly, Mackey, Coventry, Armstrong, Davey, Martin and Hoffman.

C Company—Privates Adams and Combrs.

D Company—Privates Shurety and Austin.

E Company—Privates Young, Manley and Morrow.

H Company—Privates Watson, Smith, Hanwell, Joyes and Reid.

3. Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Lieuts. Best and Comstock.

4. It has been decided that the regiment will attend the Tercentenary celebration at Quebec in July, as a unit, and every non-commissioner officer and man will be given the opportunity to be present, providing that he attend at least twelve drills before the date of the celebrations and since the regiment will receive this year only four or six days' pay, instead of the usual twelve days' pay, it will be necessary to retain the whole of the pay, efficiency as well as ordinary, in the regiment fund in order to finance the trip.

5. The sergeant drummer will detail two drummers for duty at the parade next Tuesday night. They will report to the adjutant at eight o'clock.

MAJOR BENNETT,
Acting Adjutant.

ROSELLE KNOTT

In "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire."

The plan for this big attraction is filling up fast and everything points to a bumper house to greet Miss Knott in this sterling drama which is from the pen of J. M. Barrie, author of "Peter Pan," "The Little Minister," etc. Those who have not yet marked their seats would do well to attend to it at once. The box office will be open until 9 o'clock to-night. Patrons will also kindly note that the doors will open at 7.30 sharp and the curtain raises at 8.15. Those not in their seats by this hour will not be shown to their seats until after the first act.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

To Educate Girls In The Art Of Preparing Food

Mr. Dumble at Board of Education Meeting Makes Motion to Consider Domestic Science.

COMMITTEE WAS APPOINTED

The Board of Education last night appointed a committee to consider the advisability of establishing classes in manual training and domestic science, in connection with the schools in Peterborough. These important question were introduced, following Mr. Wm. Hill's report of the business transacted at the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association. Dr. Morrison asked if there were any recommendations, which the Board might consider. Manual Training and Domestic Science were the only subjects which the Peterborough Board has not made the necessary provision for and these subjects came up for discussion.

Favoured by Mr. Dumble

Mr. Dumble said that the Board had talked for years over this question. All seemed to recognize its importance. The girls, he said, receive a smattering of knowledge at school but many of the subjects they forgot rapidly, when their school days are over. German, Greek, etc., have occupied their time, but the one subject which they require in after life, has been neglected. They are not fitted to become good wives, and they are lacking the qualities and capabilities which tend to create harmony in the household. Few of the school girls know anything about cooking, and no one needs a knowledge of it more than the poor man's child.

Domestic Economy

Domestic Science teaches the girls domestic economy. They learn to prepare food in tasty dishes, and they learn the values of the foods. The poor people, Mr. Dumble said, do not live as well as they might on the food they have. His suggestion was that one room, properly equipped, would be sufficient for the pupils, who could obtain a lesson a week on Domestic Science.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that Messrs. Hill, Nelson and Robinson be a committee to consider the question and make a report later on. Mr. Dumble's name was also added, and likewise Mr. Hayes.

Mr. Dumble had referred to Domestic Science for the girls, but he included manual training in the motion.

"The Awakening Of China" Subject Of Interesting Address

Rev. Dr. McTavish of Toronto Spoke on That Fascinating Topic at a Largely Attended Meeting of the Missionary Institute---Illustrated by Stereopticon Slides ---Dr. Langfeldt's Opening Address.

The second evening session of the Missionary Institute held last evening in St. Paul's church was marked by an even larger congregation than was present at the opening meeting. All the pews down stairs were filled and the gallery was needed to accommodate the gathering, which was a truly representative one, the churches of the city sending large quotas. The service was an interesting and profitable one, the principal item of the programme being an eloquent and learned address by Rev. Dr. McTavish, whose subject, "The Awakening of China," was very interestingly set forth, the subsequent use of many stereopticon slides adding to the interest of the address.

After devotional exercises had been conducted, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt gave the opening address, referring to the object for which the Institute was being held. The gathering had assembled with no selfish motives, but to promote God's truth and to assist in the work of the Church. The qualification necessary to entitle one to render service towards the Master was discussed by the speaker. Only when people considered themselves as nothing were they eligible for the service of God, and this statement was illustrated by a reference to the lesson of the evening, which was that of Moses and the burning bush.

The keynote of the speaker's remarks was that God wanted His people to be unfit, their extremity being God's opportunity. He urged upon his hearers to cast aside every other consideration and to go away from the meetings impressed with the idea of their own nothingness and a reliance upon God's power and mercy. If they did so, the meetings would not have been wasted.

Miss Helen Davies' beautifully clear and resonant soprano was displayed to fullest advantage in the solo, "Crown Him," which was sung with feeling and expression.

Address of the Evening

Rev. Dr McTavish, in beginning, said that although he had never seen China, he had made it the subject of much study, especially during the past two years. China was a remarkable country, remarkable for one thing, for its history, a definite record of three thousand years. The speaker drew a comparison between the Chinese, and the forerunners of the British race, showing that the Chinese had been hundreds of years in advance in civilization and in inventions. It was no wonder that the Chinese people looked upon the English-speaking people as barbarians from the edges of the world.

China was remarkable, too, for its position and resources. It was one-third larger than the whole of Europe and was immensely rich in agriculture and minerals, every mineral found anywhere in the world was to be discovered in China. In one province of China there were six hundred billions of coal, enough to supply the world for one hundred thousand years. The coal area of China was 240,000 square miles.

Remarkable for its People

China was remarkable for its people, of which there were 400,000,000, every fourth man in the world being a Chinaman. The Chinese were not to be judged by the Chinese who were found here, any more than Italians were to be judged by the navvies working on the road. The true Chinese people were remarkable for their ability. They were men of tireless industry, unfailing patience and marvellous economy. "The only places on earth where Jews couldn't live were China and Aberdeen," remarked the speaker. The Chinese were not a tricky people, and the speaker illustrated that statement by showing that until recently in Japan the banks had been in charge of Chinese. The Japanese could trust them when they hadn't confidence in their own people.

The speaker went on to speak of why the Chinese had not progressed with the western peoples. One reason was that they deemed it irreverent not to follow the precedents of their ancestors, and another was that their golden age was in the past, and not in the future.

Rev. Dr McTavish passed on to speak of China's cruel wrongs, dealing with the introduction of the opium trade into the country by Great Britain, and showing how the evil had been forced upon the people. The privileges gained by Great Britain were, however, purchased at an awful price, the British Government reaping $1,300,000,000 from the opium trade, while the effect upon the Chinese was most disastrous. A second treaty was signed in 1850 between China on one hand and Britain, Russia and the other European powers on the other, by which privileges were given to European powers.

The Boxer Rebellion

The Boxer rebellion was next referred to, and the speaker emphatically claimed that the outrages were caused by the greed of the European powers, and not because of the missionaries, as had been alleged. Dr McTavish spoke at some length upon the negotiations between the powers and China, which resulted in the rebellion.

Inroads by Powers

The inroads on China by the European powers were dealt with by the speaker, who pointed out how Germany had seized a seaport, Russia had forced China to allow her to run a railway through Manchuria, France had extended her influence and territory in the south, and Britain had taken possession of another seaport. These ingressions had brought about the Boxer rebellion and the death of 200 missionaries and between 20,000 and 30,000 Christian Chinese.

The defeat of Russia by Japan was an indication, the speaker thought, of what would come some day to Germany at the hands of the Chinese people.

China was waking up in military circles. The Chinese were not a military nation as was Japan, and the soldiers until recently occupied the lowest social scale. However, when Japan had come over and defeated them they learned the lesson that the only way to fight fire was with fire. They have begun to organize and to equip with modern weapons, and at present there were 250,000 soldiers in China.

Socially and educationally, there were awakenings in China. Many young men were being sent into Japan, to Europe and America to study the methods of civilization. What they needed, however, was religion, to learn to know Christ, and the speaker, in conclusion, strongly urged this point upon his hearers.

During the offertory a male quartette from the George street church rendered a most enjoyable selection, Mr. Fred Miles taking the solo very acceptably.

The programme for the evening was brought to a close by the showing of a number of interesting slides, depicting the people and conditions in China, Japan and India. Brief but instructive explanations were given by Rev. J G. Browne and Rev. Mr. Armstrong of Toronto, and following Rev. Mr McTavish's address, the gathering found them most interesting.

Rev. H J. Keith was the chairman for the evening.

Public School Assistants' Maximum Salary Raised

Supervision Committee of School Board Make Change in Schedule of Prices on Account of Relation to Normal School.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE

An important revision of the schedule of salaries for public school teachers was adopted at the Board of Education last night. Mr. W. H. Hill read the report of the Supervision Committee, which has prepared the report. Mr. Hill acted, in the absence of Mr. John Crane, chairman of the committee. It was presented as follows:

The Chairman and Members of the Board:

Gentlemen — Your Supervision Committee beg to report and recommend that the salary schedule adopted by the Board on March 11th, 1907, be amended to read as follows, and to take effect from 1st September, 1908.

1. Public School Lady Assistants—Holders of professional first class certificates, who have had two years' successful experience under such certificates, to receive the minimum salary of $500 per annum, increasing to the maximum of $650, as per clause four of the 1907 schedule.

2. Public School Lady Assistants—Holders of professional first class certificates, who have had less than two years' experience under such certificate, to receive the minimum salary of $450 per annum, increasing to the maximum of $650, as per clause four of the 1907 schedule.

3. Public School Lady Assistants—Holders of non-profesional first class certificates, to receive the minimum of $400 per year, increasing to the maximum of $600, as per clause four of the 1907 schedule.

3. Public School Lady Assistants—Holders of professional second class certificates, to receive the minimum salary of $400 per annum, increasing to a maximum of $575, as per clause four of the 1907 schedule.

5. Kindergarten Directoresses — Those engaged in teaching two classes one in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon, to be placed on the same schedule as second class lady assistants, viz., a minimum salary of $400 and a maximum of $575. Same annual increases to apply.

On account of your Board's relation to the Normal School, your committee has found it necessary to ask the Board to make the above changes, as it will be necessary when engaging additional teachers, to have a considerable proportion of them holders of professional first class certificates. The present minimum salary will not attract such teachers, and it is hoped that the proposed amendments will overcome this difficulty.

The changes are meant merely to overcome the difficulty of not being able to secure teachers holding professional first class certificates.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. CRANE,
Chairman.

On motion of Messrs. Hill and Burnham, the report was adopted.

FUR STORAGE DEPARTMENT

This is the season of the year when Furs should be stored away from all danger by moths or fire. More or less risk is always taken by storing Furs at home where there are no proper facilities for the caring of them, causing a lot of worry and anxiety through the summer months. We have lately fitted up a splendid Fur Storage Department, where special attention can be given to the care of your Furs, ensuring their return in a bright, fresh condition. By inquiring you will find our charges very moderate. Ring up No. 94 Bell or Machine Phones and we shall be pleased to send a messenger for your Furs. :: :: :: :: ::

FOUND FIVE BODIES

Remains of Murdered Victims Brought to Light.

BURIED NEAR THE SURFACE

Five People Done to Death Supposedly Because of One Man's Jealousy—Ray Lamphere, a Carpenter, Is Held For the Crime—One Body Sawn In Pieces and Buried in Different Places In a Yard.

Laporte, Ind., May 6.—One of the most gruesome murder mysteries ever unearthed in this state came to light last night, when the bodies of five persons, all of whom were murdered, were found in the yard of Mrs. Belle Guinness, who, with three of her children, was burned to death on the night of April 28. last.

So far, only two of the bodies have been identified. These are Andrew Heldgren, who came to this city from Aberdeen, South Dakota, for the purpose of marrying Mrs. Guinness, whose acquaintance he had made through a matrimonial bureau, and that of Miss Jennie Olsen Guinness, a Chicago girl, who had been adopted by Mrs. Guinness. She disappeared in September, 1906, and was said to have gone to California. The other bodies were those of two men and a woman. None of them has been identified.

Sheriff Butler, under the direction of John Heldgren of Aberdeen, S.D., yesterday began digging in the ground near the wrecked home of Mrs. Belle Guinness, who, with three children, a week ago yesterday, was burned to death.

At the depth of four feet the body of Andrew Heldgren was found. Andrew Heldgren was a brother of John Heldgren, who came here Jan. 2 to visit Mrs. Guinness.

In another place was dug up a body thought to be that of Jennie Guinness, 13 years of age, whom Mrs. Guinness had reared, and who had disappeared in September, 1906, when it was said she had gone to Los Angeles, Cal., to attend school.

It appears that Andrew Heldgren of Aberdeen, S.D., became acquainted with Mrs. Guinness through a matrimonial agency. Heldgren spent almost a month visiting Mrs. Guinness and others in this city. He was supposed to have started on a trip to Norway and Sweden.

When Heldgren was here Mrs. Guinness was trying to make a loan from a local bank. Heldgren offered to lend her the money. Early in January she borrowed $1,500 from him. Just before that Heldgren had drawn from Aberdeen through a local bank $3,000.

Dismembered Body Found.

When news of the burning of the Guinness home was received by John Heldgren, he started for this city to investigate the disappearance of his brother. Andrew Heldgren's body was found to be dismembered, and the arms, legs, trunk and head put in different sacks and buried.

Sheriff Smulser and Prosecutor Smith say they are confident they will be able to connect Ray Lamphere with the murder of Heldgren and Jennie Guinness. Lamphere is under arrest here charged with the murder of Mrs. Guinness and her children. He is a carpenter.

The way in which the Heldgren body was dismembered indicates that some one familiar with the use of a saw did the work. Lamphere worked for Mrs. Guinness at the time of the disappearance of Heldgren, and it is alleged that he appeared one day in a local barber shop wearing a coat belonging to Heldgren and carrying Heldgren's gun.

It was current gossip at the time that Lamphere was jealous of Mrs. Guinness and Heldgren.

May Have Murdered Husband.

Jennie Olsen Guinness was a Chicago girl who was reared by Mrs. Guinness. When the girl disappeared in September, 1906, it was Mrs. Guinness who reported she had gone to the Los Angeles school. The theory is advanced that the girl knew too much in connection with the death of Mrs. Guinness' husband, who succumbed to wounds in the head four years ago.

Mrs. Guinness had stated that her husband's injuries were caused by a meat grinder falling on his head. Lamphere, before the fire in the Guinness' home, said, it is alleged, that Mrs. Guinness was trying to get rid of him and have him sent to an insane asylum because he knew too much about her.

BOTH MEN ARE IN FINE SHAPE FOR WRESTLING BOUT TO-NIGHT

Both Hurtubise and Kennedy are in good shape for their handicap wrestling bout at the Grand Opera House to-night, and both are confident of victory. The match is causing much excitement in the city, and considerable money will change hands on the result. Gene realizes the fact that he has a big task on his hands and he may be depended upon to put up a hard fight. Kennedy is said to be a great handicap wrestler, and as he is decidedly clever, the crowd will see a clever exhibition of wrestling. The strangle hold will be barred and pin falls of five seconds are to count.

A good programme will be given in addition to the main bout. Artie Edmunds, of Toronto, will give his famous physical culture exhibition for the first time in the city, and will also meet Jack Wilson, of Peterborough, in a preliminary bout, undertaking to get a fall in fifteen minutes. Corney Burns and Jack Crough "hook up" in a bout for the 145 pound championship of Peterborough. A. C. Yokome will referee the main bout, and Geo. N. Graham the preliminaries. Following is the complete programme:

Orchestra.

Physical Culture Exhibition by Art Edmunds.

Wrestling Bout—Corney Burns vs. Jack Crough; 145 pound championship of Peterborough.

Wrestling Bout—Art Edmunds vs. Jack Wilson; Edmunds to throw Wilson in fifteen minutes or forfeit $25.

Handicap Wrestling Bout — Gene Hurtubise vs. Frank Kennedy, New York. Hurtubise to throw Kennedy four times in one hour for a purse of $50 and side bet of $100. Strangle hold barred and pin falls of five seconds' duration to count.

JACK CONNORS BACK IN CITY

Was Given a Try-Out by Youngstown O. and P. League.

Jack Connors arrived home last night from Youngstown, Ohio, where he has been given a try out with the Youngstown team, in the Ohio and Pennsylvania League. Although he was not successful in catching a place on the team he had a most enjoyable outing with the club on its spring training tour, and picked up a lot of pointers about "inside" baseball, that will stand him in good stead. The Youngstown team practised at Andover, Ohio, and took thirty-five players south with them, so that it can be seen that there was great competition for berths on the line-up. Especially was this true of right field, for which there were nine candidates, including the local player, McAleese, the former Eastern League star, is playing centre field and captaining the team. Harry Burridge, of last year's Peterborough team, is being retained by Youngstown and is expected to make good. The club is only using two catchers at present.

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE SCHEDULE

Will be Drawn Up To-day at Meeting Held in Cobourg.

The Midland League schedule is being drawn up this afternoon, at a meeting of the clubs in Cobourg. It is expected that the league will open on Saturday, May 23rd, and it is certain that there will be a game here on May 25th, likely between the Athletics and Peterborough, the two home teams. At to-day's meeting the Petes are represented by Charlie Maddock, and the Athletes by Martin Connors.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The National Sporting Club, says a London despatch, the richest organization of the kind in the world, has called Tommy Burns' bluff by offering a purse of $12,500, the loser to take $2,000 with side bets of $5,000, for a 20-round fight between Burns and Johnston on the night of the Derby. A representative of a New Jersey man has offered to wager $500 on Johnston. Even the staunchest supporters of Burns admit that the matter has been put squarely up to Burns, who must now either fight or quit.

The members of the Cricket Club had their first practice last evening at Nicholls Oval. About nine or ten enthusiasts turned out, amongst them Mr. Lovekin, president, and Mr. Clark, secretary of the organization.

STRIKES AND SPARES

Geo. Cairns is still high man in the competition for the Examiner trophy given for the best single score made at the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys before May 25th. His score of 220 has not yet been beaten. T. Savigny is leading in the novice event for which a pair of $5 boots are offered.

A team from the Canadian Bowling Club of Toronto, is expected to-night for a game with a local quintette.

Contract Let For Commercial Desks---Accounts Received---Reports of Committees Adopted and More Applications Received for Janitorship of Collegiate Institute.

The Board of Education met last night at their regular monthly session with the following members present: Mr. Robt. Fair, chairman; Messrs. D W Dumble, B F Ackerman, W S Robinson, W F Nelson, L M Hayes, W H Hill, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Burnham and Inspector Mowat. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Mr. Morphet in the absence of the secretary, Mr. Geo. Morrow, and were adopted as read.

There was another batch of applications for the much sought-after position of janitor of the new Collegiate Institute Building. Those who applied last night were Messrs. Geo. Hardwick, David Snell and W. Stockdale.

Other Communications

Communications were also received from Miss Mamie R Warner, asking for a month's leave of absence from her kindergarten duties from May 1st to June 1st. On motion of Dr. Burnham and Dr. Morrison, her request was granted.

A communication from Colin W Lees, enclosing bill for use of Y.M.C.A. hall by the Philomathean Society, asking the Board to contribute to paying it, was also received.

A communication had been received from Mr. R R Hall, stating that he thought he could persuade the Government to distribute a copy of "Farm Weeds" (a very interesting publication for scholars) among the various schools. He asked what number of books would be required and said he would try and get them all.

Mr. R. R. Hall's Efforts

Mr. Morrow wrote in reply thanking Mr. Hall and stating that 11 copies would be required.

Mr. Geo. H Clark, Seed Commissioner, wrote from Ottawa, stating that he was sending the books Mr. Hall referred to.

They are very instructive and of considerable value to any school. The Board decided to acknowledge with thanks Mr. Hall's efforts in behalf of the interests of education and also thank Mr. Clark for their prompt delivery.

Supervision Committee

The Supervision Committee reported that the following changes had been made in the organization of the schools on their re-opening after the Easter vacation:

In the Queen Alexandra School an additional Primary Form was opened and placed temporarily under the charge of Miss Howson, a duly qualified teacher and a former member of the Peterborough Public School staff.

Owing to the illness of Miss Warner it was found necessary to have Miss Rush and Miss Gillespie take charge of both the Central and East City Kindergarten schools. These teachers now teach the whole day, having the Central class in the forenoon and the East City class in the afternoon.

The report was adopted.

Financial Statement

The report of the Finance Committee was read by the chairman, Mr. L M. Hayes. On his motion, seconded by Mr. Ackerman it was adopted, and the following accounts recommended to be paid:—

Contract for Desks

The Collegiate Institute Building Committee reported that they had awarded the contract for 72 commercial desks, with chairs, at $6.10 each, set up complete, to Mr. Bellehem, the desks having been first approved by the principal and the commercial master. Dr. Morrison, chairman of the committee, presented the report, and on his motion, seconded by Mr. Hayes, it was adopted.

Contract for Supplies

It was moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the Supervision Committee be authorized to advertise for tenders for text books and supplies for the school year 1908-1909, with power to award contract.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Hill and Dr. Morrison, the Committee on Appointments was authorized to advertise for such additional teachers as might be required.

On motion of Messrs. Ackerman and Robinson, the Property Committee was authorized to advertise for the necessary supply of fuel.

Inspector's Report

The following report was received from Inspector Mowat:

On the re-opening of the schools, after the Easter vacation, Miss Nicholls was still unable to resume her duties, and the supply teacher, Miss Brown, continued to take charge of her class.

A new primary form was opened at the Queen Alexandra School and placed temporarily under the charge of Miss Howson, a duly qualified teacher, who is home on her vacation from the university.

Miss Warner has asked leave of absence for the month of May, on account of illness, but it will not be necessary to engage anyone to take her place for the month, as the chairman of the Supervision Committee has agreed to have Miss Gillespie, of the Central School, and Miss Rush, of the East City School, take charge of both classes, teaching one in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon.

Miss Nicholls hopes to return to her duties on Monday next.

An adjournment was then called.

THE FACTS OF THE LAROSE ELEVENTH HOUR "GRAFT"

The Mail and Empire and Toronto World print evidently inspired articles, making the Hon. A G. MacKay, when he was a minister of the Ross Government, responsible for the initiation of the Larose mine gift outrage, and asserting that Mr. M. J. O'Brien got possession of his mine as a commissioner of the T. & N. O. Railway. Mr. J. B. O'Brien of Toronto, a prominent Conservative, writes the following letter in correction of these mis-statements:

Dear Sir,—The charge has been made that the title of the O'Brien mine was secured by influence in the closing hours of the Ross Government, and that Mr. M. J. O'Brien, then a commissioner of the T. & N. O. Railway, secured this valuable property because of his position, and to the detriment of certain people who have now been given a grant of $130,000 by the Whitney Government. I desire to deny this absolutely, and to lay the true story before the public.

About October 1, 1903, I heard accidentally that Mr. King of Haileybury had a silver claim which he desired to sell. I got hold of Mr. M. J. O'Brien, who was a client of mine, but no relation, and suggested that he buy this claim. Finally, I succeeded in getting permission to send for Mr. King, and we three met on November 30th. In the meantime Mr. King had staked a new claim, and he sold both of these to us. The first discovery, Mr. King claims, was made in May, 1903, and is now known as the Larose mine. The second adjoins it, and was made on November 6, and is now known as the O'Brien mine. We believed, and, as a matter of fact, still believe, that we had a right to both mines.

Government Had to Decide

In the meantime, based on a discovery, made in September, Larose had filed a claim to 40 of the 357 acres which we considered we owned, and Mr. Duncan McMartin had filed a claim to 80 acres thereof. The Government had to decide among the claimants. A commission was appointed, consisting of Mr. Thomas W. Gibson, Director of the Bureau of Mines; Mr. Aubrey White, Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands, and Dr. Kennedy, Law Clerk of the Crown Lands Department, who took evidence for three weeks under oath. Their decision was that Larose should get the 40 acres he applied for, that Mr. McMartin should get 40 acres of the 80 he applied for (now known as the Larose Extension), and that Mr. O'Brien and myself should get the remaining 277 acres. The final decision in the matter was given in December, 1904, before the Ross Government went out, but the leases were signed in February, one by a minister of the Whitney Government.

I may say that we were much disappointed over the decision as to the Larose mine, and sought to appeal to the Executive Council. Mr. Ross refused us leave to make an appeal. If we had possessed political influence, surely Mr. Ross would have consented at least to hear us. Moreover, our opponents in the struggle included the McMartins', the Timmins' and Mr. David Dunlop, all prominent Liberals with possibly one exception. It was not a contest in which political influence could have played the slightest part, and this makes the present charge against Mr. M. J. O'Brien ridiculous, as well as a gross libel.

Tested the Allegations

A few months after the leases were issued (Mr. Cochrane in the meantime having become Minister of Mines), the McMartin-Dunlop-Timmins Syndicate applied to the Attorney-General for leave to use his name in an action to have the O'Brien leases cancelled. The allegations on which this was based were that Mr. King had never made a valid discovery, but was put up by us to make false affidavits regarding these claims. The Attorney-General refused the fiat, but brought actions in his own name to test the truth of these allegations. These actions hung for a year and a half, and in the meantime we had spent much money on our properties. We were anxious, of course, to get our title clear from the actions, and finally made an offer to pay a 25 per cent. royalty in consideration of having the title fully cleared. We were led to do this in part by the talk about a graded royalty tax of from three to twenty per cent., which the Government was thought to be about to impose, and of which, by the settlement, we are relieved. The ordinary defences in such an action, such as "innocent purchasers for value" and "estoppel," by the decision of the Commissioners, were good as against the other contestants, but not as against the Crown, and this influenced us to make a generous offer for the sake of peace.

These, so far as my power of statement goes, are the true facts of the case. I am, and have always been, a Conservative, yet I feel that these allegations against the three Commissioners, Mr. Ross and Mr. O'Brien concerning the O'Brien claim, are so foundationless that I am in honour bound to enter a clear protest.

WAS CAUGHT TAKING THE ROBIN'S EGGS

Some Albert street residents are up in arms against a light-fingered grown-up man, who has been robbing the eggs from robins' nests. He is reported to have been committing these petty and disgraceful thefts for some days, but what his reasons no one seems to know. To-day he was discovered in the act, and his actions were severely censured by the discoverers. He has been warned to leave the birds' nests on Albert street alone in the future.

WEDDING BELLS

CAVANAGH—JUDGE.

Among the pretty weddings, which have marked the opening week of May, was that of Miss May Judge, of Kingston, to Mr. Roy Cavanagh, son of Mr. T. Cavanagh, Simcoe street. The ceremony was performed at St. Peter's Cathedral, this morning at 7 a. m., by Rev. Father Kelly, in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride was assisted by Miss Mabel Sullivan, and Mr. Chas. Cavanagh, was best man.

The bride looked very pretty in a dress of pale blue silk with white pointe d'esprite overlace. She wore a white hat with blue ostrich plumes and carried an ivory covered prayer book. Her travelling suit was of dark navy blue cloth. The brides maid was becomingly attired in navy blue silk with hat to match.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet set with pearls and rubies, to the bridesmaid a crescent of pearls and to the best man a pearl stick pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh left on the 8.30 a. m. G. T. R. train for a week's trip through western Ontario. On their return a reception will be held on Monday night next at Mr. Cavanagh's home. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents among them being a combined dinner and tea aset from the linemen of the Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh will reside at 203 Simcoe street.

CELEBRATE MASS ON THE STAGE.

Scene In Father Vaughan's Play Causes Spectators to Gasp.

Chicago, May 6.—Gasps of astonishment came from an audience composed largely of Roman Catholics when the curtain lifted on the second scene of Rev. T. J. Vaughan's play, "A Woman of the West," produced in the Bush Temple Theatre Monday night.

The interior of a Catholic church, showing the altar, and an actor in the vestments of a priest performing the ceremony of the mass were presented and continued for almost three minutes.

Father Vaughan said he had not consulted with his superiors in reference to the depiction of the mass upon the stage.

"The celebration of mass is stopped before the consecration of the host. It is simply a picture," he said; "a living painting, and should offend no one any more than the reproduction of the same thing in water colors or oils."

They Want a Policeman.

Sandwich, May 6.—As the result of the council's failure to appoint a police constable for the town, several property owners are thinking seriously of applying to Attorney-General Foy to take some action.

Engine Crew Drown.

St. Louis, May 6.—A thunder storm of unusual severity, accompanied by wind of almost tornado velocity, swept over this vicinity early yesterday.

A bridge on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, near Bellville, Ills., was washed out and caused the wreck of a freight train. The engineer, conductor and brakeman were caught under the engine and drowned.

Quarrymen Struck.

Kingston, May 6.—A number of Welsh quarrymen at Gananoque struck for higher wages, and attempted to cross the river via Clayton, and get work on Wellesley Island in the United States domain, within sight of the Canadian town. They were refused admission by the immigration officer at Clayton.

Two Fishermen Drown.

Picton, May 6.—By the capsizing of a punt while three men were fishing at Black River bridge two men, William Mack and his 14-year-old son, were drowned. Fred Peeling, who was in the boat, swam ashore. Mack, Sr., was 50 years of age, and leaves a widow and several children.

A POINTER FOR MR. BRADBURN; THE OTTAWA "GRITS" AND "TORIES"

Agree to Conduct a "Clean, Straight Fight"—No Drawing of Voters

Examiner Special:

Ottawa, Ont., May 7.—Ottawa Liberals and Conservatives, after a conference to-day, agreed to run a straight election in the Provincial contest; o have only one committee room for each party in each ward, and to engage no conveyances. It is the first time in Ottawa's history that such an arrangement has ever been made.

EASTERN WATERS ON THE RAMPAGE

Dams Break Away and Floods Pour Down the Swollen Ottawa.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, May 7.—The dam retaining the waters of the Snake Lake has broken, and millions of gallons of water are pouring down St. Joseph river to the Gatineau, and thence to the already swollen Ottawa. Many in the wake are suffering from the floods, and it is expected that much damage will ensue. The dams were used to keep the Snake Lake at a high level, and it is thought these may have caused the breaking down.

Thompson, Conservative candidate for the Local House in the East Riding. The speakers besides Mr. Thompson were Messrs. J A Coxsmith, J H Burnham and Wm. Butler. The chairman was Mr. David Madill, of Hall's Glen. Mr. J J Crowe spoke in the interests of the Opposition.

SCOTCH FAMILY IS FORTUNATE

Have Practically Secured a Home With Ennismore Farmer.

It was rather fortunate for David M. Forrester and family that the immigration officer at Ottawa wrote Mr. Geo. Howson in an endeavour to place them with some farmer. Mr. Forrester is a Scotchman and has recently arrived in Canada. He is married and is accompanied by his wife, two sons aged 16 and 12 years, and two daughters, aged 9 and 7 years. There is one son, 19 years, who is in New Ontario, having been in Canada a year or more. The father wishes to secure work on a farm, and Mr. Howson, the local officer, knows a farmer in Ennismore who has been trying to get a family of this kind for the past year. He believes the offer is still open and will try and place them with this farmer.

FOURTEEN YEAR OLD LAD WANTS WORK TO HELP HIS SICK AND WIDOWED MOTHER

Travels Alone All the Way From Colorado to Peterborough—Father Was Killed in a Railway Accident.

MOTHER HAS BROKEN LEG

Boy Is Now the Sole Supporter of the Family—Wants a Start in the Labour World—Who Will Aid Him?

From Colorado to Peterborough, alone, and at the age of 14 years, is the laconic history of the travels of Henry Charles Gale. The plucky lad is looking for work. He wants to earn enough money to bring his widowed mother and his little brother from Colorado to Peterborough. Death visited the Gale family suddenly last November when the husband and father was killed in a railway accident, leaving Harry the sole breadearner of the family.

He left his old home in Colorado last week, where his mother lies ill with a broken leg, and arrived in the city on Saturday night to live with his grandmother for a time. "I want to get some work," he explained to the Examiner last night, "to bring my mother over to Canada."

After his father's death, his mother became ill with typhoid fever. She was taken to the hospital in the town where the family lived and one night while in a high state of fever she wandered from her room and, tumbling from a window, broke her leg. With her in the Western State lives her little son, who is younger than Henry Charles. Her daughter, also young in years, is residing in Toronto with her aunt, and the youthful traveller is here to try to earn enough money to re-unite the stricken family.

Although only 14 years old, young Gale is a bright lad and apparently has plenty of energy for his size and age. He was brought into the Examiner office by a gentleman who found him on the street looking for something to do, and who became interested in his welfare. He could have sent him out to a farm but the boy's physical strength did not appear to be equal to the task of heavy work.

Any assistance in the way of procuring a job for the boy, who has so manfully travelled thousands of miles alone in the hope of being able to bring his feeble mother to Canada where her friends reside, will be acted upon if applications are left at the Examiner office.

FURNITURE ALL GOES IN A NIGHT; VALUABLES FOUND

If you want your furniture sold of the recovery of some lost article—then peruse these brief stories and act accordingly. On Saturday a gentleman advertised that he had some furniture to sell, ordering three insertions in the "For Sale" column. At 7.30 o'clock the same night he had disposed of all his furniture and the ad. was ordered out. During this week a gold pin and a handsome belt were lost, but by advertising in the "Lost" ad. columns of the Examiner, back came both pin and belt and both were restored to their owners.

WIFE CLAIMS THAT HUSBAND'S BEHAVIOUR ILL BECOMES HIM AND CALLS FOR ASSISTANCE

A letter bearing a melancholy tale, was yesterday received by His Worship County Magistrate Edmison, from a woman who resides in the country. She asserts that her husband has refused to support her and that he has left her and her little children—one, two years and the other six months old—to eke out an existence as best they can. The letter also states that she is ill and requires medical aid which, she claims, is not be granted by the husband.

She further says in her letter that if she were only well she would be quite willing to work for her babes and herself.

Her story is of a very pitiful character and will likely be investigated.

SUNDAY BALL PLAYING WILL NOT BE TOLERATED IN THE CITY; PLAYERS WERE FINED $5 EACH

Sunday ball-playing will not be tolerated in Peterborough, according to the judgment rendered by Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court this morning in the cases of the eleven young men who were charged with playing baseball in the exhibition grounds on Sunday, April 26. The case was heard a week ago, and Mr. Gordon, counsel for the defendants, submitted that the Act of 1859 was not in force. Mr. Dumble, however, held that it was, and this morning he fined the doughty eleven $5.00 and costs each, but at the request of the Chief, the costs were removed.

Following is the judgment:

The information herein charges the defendant with having played ball on Sunday, the 26th day of April, 1908, at a place within 500 yards of the city boundary, contrary to the provisions of what is commonly called the "Lord's Day Act," 8 Victoria chapter 45, section 14, R.S.U.C., 1859, ch. 104.

It was admitted that a number of young men, on the stated Sunday, gathered on the Fair grounds and indulged in a game of baseball. Mr. Gordon, their counsel, submitted that the Act of 1859 was not in force.

The original Act was 21, George III, chapter 49, and this Act was by 40, George III, ch. 1, passed July 4, 1800, declared to be in force in Upper Canada, and by 8 Victoria, ch. 45, Canada, 1845, it was declared to be in force in Upper Canada. It was introduced into the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada, 1859, and has never been repealed, and frequent convictions have been made under it.

The preamble of the Act is in these words:

"Whereas it is expedient to enact a law against the profanation of the Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday, which day ought to be duly observed and kept holy, Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of Canada, enacts as follows:

"Section 3—It is not lawful for any person on that day to play at skittles, ball, football, etc.," and the Act imposes a penalty not exceeding $40.

Now, it is as important to-day to preserve the sanctity of the Sabbath as ever it was, and society will not tolerate all the evils that follow an utter disregard of the laws intended to preserve to us the Christian Sabbath.

I find the defendant guilty of a violation of this excellent law, and inasmuch as the conscience of the offender was not sufficient to save him from committing an offensive violation of the law, I must impose such a fine as will deter young men from supposing that the community will willingly let go a law intended to preserve to a Christian people the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

I adjudge that the defendant do pay a fine of $5 and costs, to be paid in ten days, and in default of payment, distress, and in default of distress, ten days in jail.

D. W. DUMBLE, P. M.

"How about this playing golf on Sunday?" asked one of the defendants.

"I don't know about golf," remarked the Magistrate. "It is not mentioned in the Act, and I am of the opinion that such a case was tried and dismissed because golf was not mentioned."

Formed Firemen's Benefit Association in Peterborough And Now Reclines In Prison

The old, old boys of Peterborough still allow themselves to be heard from once in a while, as a letter received this morning from Mr. W. J. Delaney, M.D., at Naugatuck, Conn., U.S.A., by a local gentleman, will testify. It is in connection with the personage of one, Charles Lasalle, who will be remembered as having been in Peterborough about a year and a half ago for the purpose of forming a Firemen's Relief Association. He now is serving a term in jail across the line. The letter, with the names he had mentioned, omitted, is as follows:

Dear Friend,—Just let me have a moment of your valuable time to ask for a little information concerning a man, named Charles Laselle, who blew into this town a few weeks ago. He claimed to know intimately all the prominent citizens of Peterborough. He mentioned you as possessing almost a brotherly affection for him, in fact, to hear him tell it, the greatest trial of your life and also of Mr. ——— was to lose him from your midst. He came here on some fake business connected with the organization of the Firemen's Benefit Society. He spoke of Tom ———, as an ardent admirer and many others. He stuck about everyone here that he got intimate with I was only let in and a dinner and a few bottles of Scotch that he hung up in my name at the drug store. I felt a little chagrined, as I introduced him as an old Peterborough friend, so great were his powers of ingratiation and prevarication. So I would like to know if you met such a man the past year or so. I might add that he let the fire chief here into a bad cheque deal, to the tune of twenty-two dollars. He was finally rounded up in Worcester, Mass., where, after being dined and wined by both the police and firemen, he was arrested for beating the hotel and is now serving a long sentence in the workhouse of that town. He was, without doubt, the wrorst liar I ever fell in with. Pardon me for trespassing on your time, but he spoke of you so often and so lovingly that out of curiosity and with the added idea that it might interest you, I decided to mention the matter, Hoping that you are enjoying continuous good health, I remain

Yours sincerely,
W. J. DELANEY, M.D.

OUR STREETS.

This year's Board of Works made a good beginning. Its first duty was to deal with an unusually heavy snowfall. It is duty was satisfactorily performed, though it presented an arduous and difficult problem. With the advent of spring, another duty came to the front, to provide for the treatment of the water from the thaw of the heavy bed of snow. This work was not so satisfactorily done. At considerable additional expense, gratings were placed at the intersections of street crossings to permit of the ready flow of surface water. These were made movable, so that they could be lifted to permit of keeping the openings through the crossings clear, an excellent arrangement if made use of. But it is not known that, in the early spring, a single grating was lifted, and the ice chopped out of the sluice-way. This morning, after and during the heavy downpour of rain, it was noted that these openings in the crossings are obstructed, preventing the free flow of water. Why the gratings are not lifted, and the leaves, old paper, etc., which obstruct the flow of water, removed, is to be explained. In default of this the water is dammed back, large pools are formed, the street becomes a sea of mud, its surface, as well as sub-surface, is saturated, and heavy wheels cut through and destroy the road-bed. As has frequently been pointed out, good drainage is the first condition of good streets, which are a permanent impossibility without it. This is a matter which, in past times, has been persistently neglected. We have gone to large extra cost to place gratings in our crossings to facilitate the removal of surface water. But if these are allowed to become and remain clogged, this expense has been uselessly made. Why it is not done seems to be simply due to one reason—lack of system in dealing with street-work details. The Board of Works and the chairman are anxious that our streets should be well cared for; and we certainly have enough staff to do it. We have a Board of Works consisting of eight members—seven and the Mayor; we have a City Engineer and an assistant; we have a Street Commissioner and Street Inspector. Here we have a round dozen of officials directly charged with the responsibility of looking after our streets. Why details such as those mentioned above—details having an important bearing upon the good or bad condition of our streets—are neglected is doubtless due to lack of system, to dispersed responsibility—what is everybody's business is nobody's business. It seems easily possible that some one or two out of the dozen could be detailed to look after these small things, trifling in themselves, but in the main, of the greatest importance; to look after such defects, with power and facilities for having them promptly remedied.

ABSURDLY ABSURD.

Mr. Whitney, in opening the Provincial election campaign, on behalf of the Government in Hamilton, made a characteristic address. He resorted a good deal to broad and sweeping statements, couched in his usually strong language. Among other statements of this kind, is the following, as reported by the Mail and Empire:

"The Government (the Whitney Government) had made a greater record and had greater results during its term of office, than was brought about by the old Government during the entire thirty years of its existence."

Mr. Whitney may have intended this as figurative language, the only ground upon which it can be justified. As a plain statement of fact it is not a statement of fact. It is too absurd for serious attention. The Liberal Governments of the past, being human, may have made mistakes, but the statute books of Ontario, the administrative records of Ontario, show the absurd extravagance of assertion contained in Hon. Mr. Whitney's statement as quoted above. With thirty years of financial administration, like the three and a half years of the Whitney administration during which the Provincial expenditure increased sixty per cent., where would have been the Province in the matter of finances? And where would the Whitney Government have been but for the sources of revenue provided by a Liberal Government, sources of revenue totalling last year three and a half millions of revenue, and bitterly and persistently opposed at the time of their adoption by the short-sighted Conservative Opposition, led by Mr. Whitney. Hon. Mr. Whitney's grotesquely absurd statement is an unsurpassable example of oratorial wind, and, on the ex-uno-disce-omnes principle, tends to discredit the general tenor of his assertions.

USEFUL DISCOVERIES

Are not Always Startling Neither Do They Create the Most Talk

It is not always the greatest, most startling discoveries of science that are most useful to the human race.

Comparatively few people were directly interested in Herschel's finding of the new planet Uranus, but many thousands have been benefitted by Prof. Unna's experiments, which proved beyond a question that dandruff and baldness are the results of the inroads of a parasitic germ which invades the roots of the hair.

The discovery of the true cause of baldness made Newbro's Herpicide possible. Herpicide effectually kills this germ. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect.

W. Utton, R.C.R., Toronto Armorer Sergt. Brown, 19th, C.M.R., Edmonton; Sergt. W. A. Smith, G.G.F.G., Ottawa; Sergt.-Major D. A. Bethune, 5th Royal Highlanders, Montreal; Pte. J. Leask, Q.O.R., Toronto; Capt. M. Pope, R.O., Montreal; Pte. G. H. Haystead, 63rd, Nova Scotia.

The waiting men who will be chosen to complete the team in the event of any of the foregoing being unable to participate are: Armorer Sergt. A. Martin, 18th Light Horse, Calgary; Major J. M. Jones, 82nd; Prince Edward Island; Pte. B. M. Williams, 69th, Nova Scotia; Pte. C. J. Rowe, 46th, Bowmanville, Ont., and Pte. W. M. Eastcott, 3rd Victoria Rifles, Montreal.

The commandant this year will be Lieut.-Col. A. E. D. Labelle, R. O., Montreal, and the adjutant, Capt. W. C. King, 46th Regiment, Bowmanville.

CANADA'S STABILITY.

Britain Willing to Send Her Gold to the Dominion.

London, May 7.—(C.A.P.)—A distinguished gathering attended the Canada Club dinner at the Ritz Hotel last night.

Charles A. Henson, who presided, testified as to Canada's stability during the crisis and expatiated on the value of the fact that London, the financial centre of the world, had been thrown open to the Dominion to a remarkable extent during the last sixteen months and at least $125,000,000 sent to Canada on the most gratifying terms. This was an intelligent preference and an emphatic answer to the allegation that there was an appalling ignorance about Canada throughout the Empire. (Applause.) The chairman also referred to the tercentenary celebration to be a portion of the Empire which would not only circle the world, but dictate the peace thereof. Regarding naval defence, he said many Canadians were ashamed of Canada's position to-day. The time would come when Canadians should assume their share of the burden (applause) or stop talking. (Hear, hear.)

Lord Vivian, Sir H. Craig and Hon. J. W. Taverner also spoke.

Burglars Use Revolvers.

Chatham, May 7.—Burglars raided the village of Merlin about 3 o'clock yesterday morning and fired a fusilade at the watchman of the Molson's Bank.

Entering the departmental store of J. N. Halliday, they managed to open the safe and got $10. At Arthur Smith's jewelry store they got a quantity of jewelry. They had opened the window of the bank and one was halfway through when J. Munro, the watchman, discovered them. He used his revolver and the burglars returned his fire. Nobody was hit and the marauders escaped.

It is thought they are the same party which have been burglarizing in Western Ontario for several weeks and who have used their weapons freely on more than one occasion.

The Attorney-General's Department will likely be asked to make a determined effort to round them up.

Great Fleet For Quebec.

London, May 7.—(C.A.P.)—At Portsmouth it is stated that the battleships Exmouth, Albemarle, Duncan, Russell and the cruisers Venus and Arrogant under Commandant Vice-Admiral Curzonhowe will precede the prince to Quebec. Two warships will also escort the prince, who probably will sail on the Indomitable. The report that he will fly the admiral's flag is not corroborated.

Double Murder.

Ridgewood, N.J., May 7.—Frank and Sebastian Mesino, cobblers, occupying a small store in Midland Park, were found murdered in their rooms in the rear of their store yesterday. Frank had been shot through the heart while he lay in bed, but his brother had evidently given battle to the murderers and he was shot in the head and stabbed in many places.

Canteen Kept Out.

Washington, May 7.—By the overwhelming vote of 167 to 46 and following a two hours' debate, the House of Representatives yesterday again went on record against the re-establishment of the canteen in national soldiers' homes.

To Open Hospital in the West.

Kingston, May 7.—Three nuns from the House of Providence, Sister Mary Angel Guardian, Sister Mary of the Ascension and Sister Mary Camillius, leave at once for Dayaland, Alberta, to open a Catholic hospital.

Won't Go to Quebec.

St. Catharines, May 7.—The officers and men of the Nineteenth Regiment have resolved that unless the Government put up the full pay for the Quebec trip the regiment will drop the project.

Accepts Call to Strathroy.

Strathroy, May 7.—Rev. W. M. Kannawin, B.A., B.D., of Woodville, has accepted the call to St. Andrew's Church here. He will be inducted May 28.

SWINGING A BUSINESS

Judicious advertising is the derrick that swings a business to success. Classified Want Ads. are terse business bringers that are suitable to any business. They help the small ones become big, and the big ones to become bigger.

Mark Twain says: "When I was editing the Virginia City Enterprise a superstitious subscriber wrote and said he had found a spider in his paper. Was this good or bad luck? I replied to him in our Answers to Correspondents' column as follows:

"Old Subscriber—The finding of a spide rin your copy of the Enterprise was neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our pages to find out what merchant was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across his door and lead a quiet and undisturbed existence forever after."

The Examiner's advertising columns are representative of Peterborough's biggest and best merchants—and it is because the Examiner gives the biggest and best service for the money.

ANOTHER CONTRIBUTION ON NEW ANGLICAN PARISH PROPOSED

"An Observer" Believes There Is Room For One In The South End—Answers Letter of "South Ward."

HE BELONGS TO ST. JOHN'S

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—"South Ward" evidently has an axe to grind when he objects to the members of the Church of England organizing another parish in the southern limits of the city. With the Anglican Communion here in the majority of the Protestant population, she has three churches, with a seating capacity of only about one-half of what the Anglican population showed in the late religious census taker. There is room for another parish in the South End of the city, one in the northwest, and one in the north, or Auburn, end of the city. One already exists in St. Mark's, Otonabee, at Nassau, under the charge of the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, and the one at Downey's Corners could be accommodated by the proposed parish in the South End. Those who have the best interests at heart of this new parish, will not ask "South End" for any assistance, for, from his knowledge of the Rev. Mr. Soward, he is not a churchman, and therefore he cannot know the condition of affairs in the Church of England in Peterborough. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Peterborough could be the means of organizing one or two more parishes in the city and in the vicinity of the city if they would get out and work as they are doing in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and many other cities of this continent, and I am sure they are doing much to further the religious work of the church in this vicinity, but they could do more. There is not an organization in any of the Protestant churches in this city that could not do more than is being done for the work of "spreading the Gospel of our Blessed Saviour among men." "South End's" letter is one of the ways of throwing cold water on one effort which is being made to extend the good work in our midst, and those who, I understand, have the work of furthering this effort have already subscribed liberally towards many other objects of Christian necessity, both inside their own Communion and outside of it, including the new church of All Saints', and no doubt will continue to do so. The financial part of this new proposal is in a very healthy condition, so I am credibly informed, and I for one, who, by the way, am not directly interested in the new parish, wish it God-speed. What the petition says about the "overflowing congregations" is practically correct, and the new church of All Saints' would not be in any way injured by the establishment of this new parish, but would be strengthened. "As to the "church unity" plea of "South End," that is only "wind" as yet, and liable to be wind for the next century. There already exists church union in all the essentials of salvation, and I am sure it would be greatly strengthened by your S. E. correspondent turning over and joining hands with any effort which is being made to bring the Gospel nearer to the careless and indifferent, who live in all parts of the city, who play baseball on Sundays, loiter up and down the main streets during the hours of divine worship, and play billiards and pool when they should be doing what hundreds are hoping and praying may come to pass here in our progressive city of Peterborough. I am not a South Ender, but a humble member of St. John's church, and I wish the new parish God-speed, as hundreds of other churchmen are also doing.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am only,

"AN OBSERVER."

Local Officer's Statements Appear In English Paper

Old Countrymen can no longer say that they are unaware of the conditions that prevail in Canada. The true state of affairs is being spread throughout the land by press reports. A letter of local interest appeared recently in the Sheffield Daily Telegraph and was written by the local immigrant officer. The account is as follows:

The reports which have been published within the past few months as to the demand for workers in Canada have been most conflicting. A letter just received from Mr. G H Howson, Dominion Immigrant Agent, at Peterborough, Ontario, throws some light on the subject. Writing to Mr. J W Dawson, of Sheffield, Mr. Howson, who is one of the Government employment agents in Canada, says: "I have applications for over 50 farm workers, single men preferred, though I can place three or four married men, with no children or small families. • • • They must all be willing to go on the land, and experienced farm hands are preferred."

English Canoe Company Shipping 16 Canoes To London, England

The English Canoe Company is busy shipping Hudson Bay Canoes this week. About the end of the week 15 of these canoes will be shipped to London, Eng., to the head office of the Company. Six more are going to Biscotasing, Ont., and six were shipped to-day to Nepigon. The business is keeping up to the standard and since the 1st of May orders have been received daily.

SAID FAREWELL TO REV. A. H. BRACE

Orangemen Present Him With Beautiful Umbrella And an Address—Many in Attendance.

THE CHAPLAIN'S REPLY

A large number of all the Orange societies gathered to do honour to the Rev. Bro. A H Brace, Chaplain of the County Lodge of West Peterborough, in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street on Tuesday night. The hall was filled to its fullest capacity and while a good deal of sadness prevailed, considerable enthusiasm was shown during the evening, and the Orangemen, while losing an enthusiastic member, feel that what is Peterborough's loss will be Cobourg's gain.

Bro. Jno. R. McWilliams, Past County Master, occupied the chair. He called upon Bro. W H G Armstrong, County Master, to read the following address:—

Peterborough, May 5th, 1908.

To Rev. A H Brace, Chaplain of the County Orange Lodge of West Peterborough:

Dear Sir, Knight and Brother,—We, the undersigned on behalf of Diamond Lodge, No. 80, and Weir Royal Black Preceptory, No. 251, take this opportunity on the eve of your departure from Peterborough of expressing to your our appreciation of the many services which you have rendered to the cause of Orangism during your residence of five years in our city.

It is a matter of gratification to note the progress which our Order has made during this period and we do believe that a portion at least, of its prosperity may well be attributed to your undaunted zeal and fearless advocacy of the principles of the Orange Association; principles which have given Anglo-Saxon civilization the lead, and made the British Empire the greatest nation which the world has ever seen. We rejoice to know that Protestants throughout the Empire are becoming more acquainted with the true object of our institution, and more generally recognize the necessity for its perpetuation in order to prevent the re-forging of the chains which were snapped asunder by the Reformation and broken into fragments by the Battle of the Boyne.

This assembly composed of the various branches of our Order in this District realize how impossible it is to repay the services which you have so freely given and we think that they can be recognized by putting into practice the incentives and resolutions prompted by them.

We believe that in your new field of action, you will have many opportunities of advancing the principles of our noble Order which lie so near to your heart, and we hope they may awaken a move abundant fruitage of effort which will redound to the progress and prosperity of "Our most glorious Association."

We beg of you accept this umbrella, not on account of its intrinsic value, but as a slight token of our kind regard for you, and we hope it may always serve as a moments of the friendship formed and the many pleasurable hours spent with us in our lodge gatherings.

With best wishes for your wife and family and that the utmost prosperity and happiness may be yours, is the earnest prayer of your brethren of West Peterborough.

Signed on behalf of the various lodges:

R. E. JUBY,
Reg. R. B. P., 251.
CHAS. E. WILEY,
W.M., L.O.L., No. 80.

Rev. A H Brace in reply, said, how pleased he was to see the representatives of all the branches of the Order present. He would always remember the brethren here, and every time he took hold of the umbrella he should remember his brother Orangemen who had placed him in a position which he had not deserved. He referred to the blessings which he had received from his intercourse with the members of this Order.

The rest of the evening was spent in hearing addresses from representatives from all the Lodges in the county, who were present. A few of those who spoke were:

W H G Armstrong, County Master, Charles E Wiley, W.M., Joseph Johnston, R B McGill, R Wilson, No. 80; R E Juby, Jas Garside, No. 1175; N A Howard-Moore, No. 50; Harold Dodds, D Hamilton, John H Briggs, Wellington, No. 157; W G Bartley, R B. P., No. 251, and Joseph Jones, Past Grand Master.

Ten or twelve other Orange lodges from the county, and also Northumberland county were represented.

THE CASEY MOUNTAIN COBALT MINING AND DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED

Incorporated under The Ontario Mining Companies' Incorporation Act. No Personal Liability.

CAPITAL: $250,000 - - - - - 250,000 Shares at $1.00 each, Not Subject to Call

HEAD OFFICE: 210 MANNING CHAMBERS, TORONTO. Phone Main 958.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—President: R. G. WILLIAMSON, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Vice-President: JAMES THOMPSON, Havelock, Ont.; Secretary-Treasurer: DR. H. A. WOOD, Peterborough, Ont.; Superintendent: D. WILLIAMSON, Haileybury, Ont.; D. A. REID, Brandon, Man.

As previously announced in this space we give some particulars concerning our Mining properties which should be of interest to the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity.

PROPERTIES CONTROLLED

The Company's holdings consist of eight forty-acre claims in one Block, situate about eighteen miles from the Town of Cobalt, in the Township of Casey, on what is known as "Casey Mountain," upon which deposits of native silver have been encountered, running over 8,000 ozs. per ton.

BUILDINGS, MACHINERY, DEVELOPMENT, ETC., ETC.

There has been erected on the property a large boarding house, sleeping camps, blacksmith shop, shaft house, boiler house and superintendent's quarters. A modern steam plant has been in operation during the past ten months, and about 300 feet of underground development work has been done, besides considerable surface work, trenching and stripping of veins.

12 TRUE FISSURE VEINS UNCOVERED

There has been uncovered to date twelve fissure veins varying in width from 16 ins. to 8 feet, all carrying silver, cobalt, nicolite and arsenic. These veins have been stripped for several hundred feet and all have free walls and are well defined.

BIG CHIMNEY OR LODE OF ORE STRUCK AT 50 FOOT LEVEL, 18 FEET WIDE FROM WALL TO WALL

While the main shaft was at a depth of 50 ft. on a 30 in. vein, a tunnel was driven into the mountain along the vein, and at a distance of 20 ft. a chimney of ore was broken into 16ft. wide with silver values of about $20.00 per ton (sulphide), and we believe this to be the greatest strike of low grade ore ever encountered in the district. This tunnel was continued for a distance of 75 feet through this chimney of ore when it was decided to sink the shaft to the 100 foot level, and again tap this great lode at this lower level. While driving tunnel at the 100 foot level the large body of ore was encountered at a distance of only 10 feet from the shaft, the chimney having widened 10 feet in the 50 feet of depth, and values were found to have increased fully 40 per cent., and we have in sight or above us several thousand tons of silver ore that will net the Company a handsome profit with the installation of a concentrating plant that can be installed with a capacity of 100 tons per day for the sum of $15,000.00 that will reduce the ore 15 tons to one and thereby save freight charges on 14 tons of rock.

COBALT, NICOLITE AND LEAF SILVER ENCOUNTERED AT 120 FOOT LEVEL

Apart from the enormous body of low grade ore in sight, there has been encountered, while sinking the main shaft, cobalt, nicolite and leaf silver in the metallic form, these metals having come in at the 120 foot level, and another chimney of yet unknown width has also been struck at this depth, directly opposite to the one encountered at the 50 foot level, and our Superintendent reports that the two great lodes of ore are coming together, which will constitute one continuous body of ore.

It is now proposed to drive a tunnel into this large ore body at the 125 foot level, and commence bagging ore for shipment, as the last report received a few days ago from our Superintendent stated that he had unlimited quantities of good ore in sight.

We give the following reasons why "Casey Mountain" will become one of the great dividend paying mines of the Cobalt district, and there are many.

FIRST—A large area, that is a regular net-work of veins, running for three quarters of a mile through the entire property that will go down several thousand feet and not pinch out.

SECOND—We have the stuff in unlimited quantities, and the property has scarcely yet been scratched.

THIRD—A capitalization of only $250,000.00 in which to pay dividends on.

FOURTH—No promotion stock has been issued to promoters that has not been paid for

FIFTH—A management that are endeavoring to do a mining business, (not a stock speculation).

SIXTH—The directors of this Company have shown their faith in the property by investing heavily in the stock, and up to date very few shares have been disposed of outside of friends of the Company as it has been the desire of the Directors to hold the stock as closely as possible and dispose of only sufficient numbers of shares to enable the Company to carry on development until returns are received from shipments, and for a short time only the investing public of Peterborough and vicinity will have an opportunity of a small block at par value $1.00 per share, and those desiring to invest should make application at once to the Head Office Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ont., as this will be the only Treasury Stock that will be issued at par value.

Additional information can be had by applying to R. G. WILLIAMSON, President of the Company, at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, during the next few days, or DR. H. A. WOOD, 408½ George St. Phone 20A.

Kokomo Woman Gives Fortune

To Help Women Who Suffer.

In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women.

Sometime ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.

More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for awhile longer at least.

This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their own homes after doctors and other remedies failed.

It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumours or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause, or no matter of how long standing.

Every woman sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now without delay, will receive by mail free of charge, a 50-cent box of this simple home remedy, also a book with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer and how they can easily cure themselves at home without the aid of a physician.

Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B Miller, 2,592 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice Is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

YOUNG MEN'S IDEAS ON TOGGERY

Distinctive And Exclusive Cuts Are Very Popular—Browns and Greys the Proper Shades.

THEY WANT FINE CLOTHES

The fashions for men this spring have new styles in almost every respect, and a new tendency is noticed among dressy young men who are particular about the details of their wardrobes. Woman are often lightly spoken of on account of the varieties of their styles in dress, but the new male idea is not far behind them.

The principal shades that men, particularly young men, are seeking are rich shades of brown, and new shades of gray, including what the clothier calls Elephant's Breath. Cloth of gun metal shade is also a favourite.

Wants Exclusiveness

They oung man's motto in dress is exclusiveness. He wants a suit which, in the cloth, is correct of colour and pattern. In the cut it must be dressy and natty with that easy summer style which is brought out and emphasized in many ways. The three-button sacque with long lapels is a becoming pattern. The vent in the back is by no means going out of use, and is really in great demand.

Young men of taste are buying two-piece suits and light summer vests. The latter closely match the suits, and with shirt cravat, socks, etc., of the same colour scheme, the young man has certainly developed a taste which gives him an appearance of distinction.

A pleasing effect has been gained by the garment manufacturers in the fancy cuffs and patch pockets. These are of ew of the ideas which are exclusive, and which are now appealing to the smartly-attired young man.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y.W.C.A.

Will be Held on Monday Evening Next—Large Attendance Requested.

The annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will be held next Monday evening in the assembly hall of the institution. The annual reports will be presented, and a musical programme will be rendered. Refreshments will also be served. Mrs. Helen Parker of Toronto will be present as a guest. Mrs. Parker will be at the Y.M.C.A. over Sunday and will address the girls at a meeting at 4.15 o'clock on that day. A general invitation is extended to the friends of the lodge.

OBSTINATE SCALP DISEASE CONTRACTED BY CHILDREN

Mrs. Annie Pugh of Pine Lawn, London, Ont., says: "It is now eighteen months since my two children Cissie and Lily, aged respectively 10 and 4 years, contracted the itching eczema of the scalp. There first appeared small red pimples which soon burst or broke, forming sores and scabs over the whole scalp under the hair. We were compelled to have their heads completely shaven of the hair, their condition became so unpleasant. A great number of ointments, soaps and washes were used, all of no avail, until we tried Zam-Buk. After several applications of this balm the condition of their scalps was much improved. The children suffered cruelly from the intense itching, and it was almost impossible to keep them from scratching. The disease on my youngest daughter's scalp was the worst of the two, he head being one mass of sores and scabs, from which a foul odor arose. It was so unsightly that I had to keep her head covered always with a cap. It was several months after beginning with Zam-Buk before the children were completely cured of this terrible disease. The case of the younger child proved the most obstinate, but Zam-Buk balm conquered the disease, banished the scabs and cleaned and healed the sores most effectively. In about three months Cissie's scalp was cleaned of all traces of the disease, and in about six months from commencing with Zam-Buk Lily's scalp was also smooth and clean. Since then their hair has grown again almost as thick and long as before. I am most grateful for their cures, and do not hesitate to recommend Zam-Buk to others."

STREET SERVICES AT THE GOSPEL HALL

To be Held To-morrow Night—Preceeded by Song Service.

Providing the weather is favourable to-morrow night at 7.45, there will be street services held by the Gospel Hall, at the corner of George and Brock streets. An address will be given by Rev. Robt. McMurdo, of Scotland, and previous to that a song service will be held from the balcony of the Gospel Hall. Mr. W. G. Mulligan will sing "The Cross of Calvary," by Gabriel and Douglas Russell's setting of "Standing in the Spirit at Calvary Mount." At the conclusion of the street service there will be a continuation of last Friday night's meeting in the hall, to which an invitation is extended to all.

Closing Address Of The Missionary Institute Last Night

Presented by Rev. T. E. E. Shore On "The Inspiration of Missions"—New Interest Awakened

SPECIAL SINGING PROVIDED

The Missionary Institute that has occupied the attention of the young people of the city for the past three days was brought to a close last evening in St. Paul's church. The Institute can well be declared a success. A great deal has been learned as to what is being done in the cause of missions and a new interest certainly has been awakened in that direction. Although not as large as on the two previous evenings, the congregation was a representative one. The extremely inclement weather evilently detained many from coming out to the service. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. T. E. Shore, M.D., of Toronto. His subject, "The Inspiration of Missions," was dealt with in a most interesting and profitable manner. Dr. Shore is an eloquent speaker and held the interest of his hearers to a marked degree.

Rev. H J Keith, of Knox church, acted as chairman and after the devotional exercises, Rev. R. A. Pogue gave the opening address. The object of a religious service was to honour God and Mr. Pogue stated that foremost in the minds of everyone at the close of every religious meeting should be the thought, "What place have we given Christ in our living?" The whole problem of religion would be solved, he said, if everyone made Christ their King, and in their lives crowned Him, Lord of All.

Miss C Reesor then rendered a solo in splendid voice.

Whitby 1908

Rev. E A Armstrong, M.A., of Toronto, gave a short talk on the summer institute held annually at Whitby, dealing with the work taken up by the delegates to this convention. The Young People's movement assists people of various denominations along missionary lines. During the summer months. Institutes are held throughout Canada and the United States. The one of interest to the young people of Ontario is held at Whitby. The Ladies' College of that town is placed at the disposal of the young people. The Institute meetings are conducted for one week at the close of the College term. Last summer there were one hundred and eighty delegates gathered and this year there will be two hundred and twenty-five assemble. The mornings are given to mission study, the afternoons to recreation and the evenings to addresses by returned missionaries and prominent clergymen of the province. Mr. Armstrong urged different young people's societies represented in St. Paul's last evening to send delegates to Whitby and he was sure they would return profitted and with much information for their respective organizations.

Address of Evening

Rev. Dr. Shore, in beginning, defined the church as an army of the living God, commissioned by Him to win souls for Christ. The church as anything else falls short of His purpose. But how often, said the speaker, when the church is confronted by some great crisis, its members are lacking in faith and endurance, Christ is King. He does not compel a service from His people, but until they rise and do the work commissioned to them by their Master they are not shouldering their responsibilities. The church's work lies in the world wide evangelization.

There is a touch of military in the command of Christ, but His marching orders were the end of many of His soldiers. The speaker remarked that, while in Russia a few years ago, he witnessed the departure of Russian troops for the Russian-Japanese war. There was no evidence of patriotism in their leaving. They left their homes reluctantly. On the contrary, the Japs went forth, glad to fight and die for their fatherland.

"We have Russians and Japs in our midst to-day," continued the reverend doctor. "Have we not the King of Kings and the greatest Kingdom?" he asked. The Japs represent those who are fighting for the spread of Christ's kingdom.

Rev. Mr. Shore thought the missions should be looked upon as an inspiration and not as a duty. They should be considered the greatest joy of the generation. It is the opportunity of the ages that now confronts Christian people.

"Is Canada, with its constant increase of population, going to become a country of sin and iniquity, or shall it have an abiding influence for good?" is a question for Christians to consider. Then the scope of religious enterprises goes farther, even unto the ends of the world. The speaker drew attention to the fact that in South America, Africa, Persia, India, Japan, Korea and China, there is on an average of one missionary to 150,000 inhabitants, showing how utterly unreasonable was the burden placed upon those who had gone to labour in the mission fields. He thought that if western civilization was to enjoy intercourse with the East, Oriental countries must first be given the Gospel of Peace.

In conclusion, the speaker remarked that the spirit of modern missions was one of hopefulness and progress. The opportunity for work is widening, and he urged the young people to realize this and to do their part in the world wide evangelization for Christ.

During the offertory, Mrs. Miller of the Murray street church sang a solo very acceptably.

Resolution Passed

A resolution was passed to the effect that, in the consideration of the great good that had been done by the Missionary Institute in this city, the Young People's Societies would suggest these Institutes as a grand means of awakening new interest in missionary work. Mr. R. J. Soden moved the resolution, and Mr. H. Wilkie seconded it. It was unanimously carried.

Summer School To Be Held Again At Chemong In July

Dr. Brown's Book on Foreign Missions Will Be Studied This Year.

TO EXTEND OVER SIX DAYS

It will be remembered that last year a Summer School was instituted at Chemong Park in connection with the Methodist Church which was reported to have been successful. A similar school will be held there this year, this fact being announced last night at the closing meeting of the Missionary Institute.

The school will be open between July 6th and 12th, the principal work being the study of Dr Brown's book on Foreign Missions. The studies will therefore be along similar lines to the Missionary Institute. Further particulars will be given later.

Painted The Flagstaff On The Customs House Building

Peterborough's aerial performers, when given the opportunity, are as intrepid and fearless as those of the larger cities. Not long ago Ed. White, an employee of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, scaled the flag pole on the city hall, and Mr. Jos. Denno is now reported as having climbed the staff on the customs house and given it a new coating of white paint.

Mr. Denno is a lineman of the Machine Telephone Company, and performed his hazardous feat yesterday morning before the merchants had come down town to their stores. As everyone knows, the flagpole on the Customs House is high above the ground and the ordinary man would prefer to remain on terra firma.

OLD ESTABLISHED MEAT BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

I have pleasure in announcing to the public that I have bought out the long-established "Central Meat Market," carried on by Mr. John J. Howden, at No. 461 George street, and that I will continue the business in the same premises.

Having had a life-long knowledge of the cattle business, I can confidently solicit the patronage of the customers of the old firm, as everything will be conducted in the most up-to-date manner.

I have also engaged the services of Mr. Wm. Fleetwood as manager. He is a thoroughly experienced man, well known to the patrons of the store, and he will be pleased to serve all in a satisfactory manner.

NEW STORES FOR EAST CITY

Will be Erected by Mr. P. Hogan Where Blacksmith Shop Stood.

The blacksmith shop on Hunter street, east, formerly occupied by Mr. John Craig, has been torn down. It has stood for over forty years and the greater part of that time occupied by Mr. Craig. Mr. Patrick Hogan owns the property on which the blacksmith shop stood. His intention is to erect two stores on the lot. They will be suitable for anyone desirous of starting up a grocery or drug business. They will be a valuable acquisition to East City and will greatly improve the appearance of Hunter street.

THE WEDNESDAY MARKET WAS BUSY

Fairly Good Showing of Stockers, Hay And Hogs.

The mid-weekly market yesterday was fairly busy and was featured by a larger than usual number of stockers and hogs passing over the scales. Messrs. Howden and Thornton had a fine lot of stockers for export. They are rather plentiful in the country and do not demand a very high price. The farmers still demand $18 or $19 for their hay.

POULTRYMEN TO MEET TO-NIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association will be held to-night in the Labour Hall, Simcoe street, when all the members are requested to be on hand. The birds to be studied to-night will be the White Leghorn and Hamburg. An interesting meeting is anticipated.

MARY AMELIA NEEDLER

On Friday, April 10th, the funeral of Mary A Needler took place from the family residence to St. Paul's Cemetery ,the services being conducted by the Rector of Cavan and his assistants the Revs. W C Allen and it A Ban-Oliel. The large gathering on the solemn occasion, testified to the affection and esteem in which the deceased was held by the entire community. Miss Needler was born in Cavan on July 26th, 1861, and died on April 8th, 1908, after an illness of upwards of two years, which was borne with Christian patience and marked by faithful and loving ministry to her invalid mother who survives her. The sympathy of the community goes out to the family bereft of its chief stay and centre of influence. On the day of burial a short service was held at the house followed by the prescribed order at St. Thomas' Church. The hymns sung were "Peace Perfect Peace" at the beginning, and "Rest of My Soul" a favourite hymn of the family, at the close of the service. The bearers were the three brothers and three cousins of the deceased, Charles, George Henry and Alfred Needler, and Henry, George and Ormond Stewart. Miss Needler was closely identified during her life with St. Thomas' Church and its interests. A life member of the Woman's Auxiliary, she was for 18 years its Treasurer, in which office she continued to the present year. Until her illness she was a faithful member of St. Thomas' Choir, and her long and devoted work in the Sunday School where she was a much beloved teacher will never be forgotten. Now she rests from her labours and her "works do follow" her.— Millbrook Reporter.

HORRORS OF FAT GIRLS COMING OUT

Coming out is the first great event of a girl's life. She thinks and dreams about it from the hour she understands what it means. It is to be her first triumphal social hour. Then how terrible must be the anticipations of the overfat young maiden who realizes her proportions are far from conforming to the standard of fascination set by the more shapely girls with whom she is about to compete. Hence ensues desperate efforts, by means of rigid dieting, curtailment of fudge and chocolate delights, strenuous exercising at the risk of developing a square-set and angular outline of figure, to take off the excess of matronly fat. Or else the distracted debutante flies for succor to the "patent" and "secret" advertised remedies.

The result only too frequently is that the so-called remedies and starvation diet ruin her stomach, while the exercise makes her coarse and boyish, and may be accompanied by serious physical danger. A far better plan, one which other fat folks, by the way, whether male or female old or young, may adopt with equal benefit, is to go to the druggist, get these three simple remedies, viz., 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex, mix them together and take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

With the aid of this harmless receipt one can reduce as much or as little as one pleases, quickly and safely. It works naturally, does not cause wrinkles and reduces the body symmetrically. Furthermore, it depends on neither exercising nor diet to help it do the work, and it will not distress the stomach. On the contrary, it is beneficial to the system, cleansing the blood and clearing the complexion. Finally it saves a girl money, for any druggist will fill this receipt for a small sum.

Rev. Dr. J. G. Brown, of Toronto, secretary of the Baptist Foreign Missions, and who conducted the Foreign Mission Study Courses at the Missionary Institute just closed, while here was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. Downham, 417 Stewart street.

ARE THEY ROBBING THE PEOPLE?

Magistrate Dumble Comments on Charges of Scavengers—Police Court Case To-day.

The fact that someone had deposited a quantity of night soil on the east side of the river, above the Hunter street bridge, was the cause d'etre of a case at the Police Court this morning, in which nearly all of the scavenging community of the city appeared as witnesses. Chief Rogel had laid an information against John Colley as being guilty of the charge, but Colley and his partner strenuously denied that he had deposited night soil anywhere but on the city dumping ground. Many witnesses were called, but none of them could throw any light on the subject, and the magistrate dismissed the charge, at the same time warning the scavengers present that he had fined one man ten dollars for the offence.

"I will fine the next man $20, and I won't stop at that" he remarked.

Incidentally the investigation revealed the fact that the scavengers seemed to be getting pretty high prices for their work, one man getting nine dollars for removing three barrels of soil.

"The people are being robbed," was the magistrate's comment, and at the conclusion of the court he remarked that the scavengers should be licensed and a regular tariff should be established. He did not understand why the Council did not take up the matter.

WHY THE INSTITUTE WAS A SUCCESS

Various Things That Assisted in the Work—Yesterday Afternoon's Session.

The Missionary Institute programme was diverted from somewhat yesterday afternoon. There was a united meeting at 2.30 o'clock held in George Street Methodist Church, when Rev. E. A. Armstrong gave an address on Missions in the Sunday Schools. Later, Rev. Dr. Brown spoke on the Bible as a Missionary Book.

The Institute closed last night with an address by the Rev. Mr. Shore. In closing, Rev. Mr. Keith, who was chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, which also appointed him chairman of the Institute, explained why the convention had been successful. The Street Railway Company, the citizens who opened their homes to the delegates, the liberal offerings, the young people's organizations, the choirs and the speakers had all contributed to the successful termination of the Institute.

It was decided to give the surplus collected over the expenses to the cause of the Young People's Missionary Movement of Canada.

WAS GOING BACK ON THE DRIVES

Magistrate, However, Gave Jos. Graham Ten Days Stop-Over Privilege at Castle Nesbitt.

"I am going back on the drive today," confidently remarked Joseph Graham of East City to Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court this morning.

"Perhaps you will," was the magistrate's laconic rejoinder, and he proceeded to put his emphasis on the first word by sentencing Graham to ten days at Castle Nesbitt, accompanying the time with hard labour.

Graham was charged with being a vagrant. He has been making a dormitory of a barn in East City, and admitted that he had no money. The magistrate pointed out that sleeping in barns was not looked upon with favour by the owners of the structures selected.

INTERVIEW WITH SIR SANFORD FLEMING ON ANDREW CARNEGIE

By His Worship Mayor Rush on His Visit to the Capital—Carnegie's Statements Regarding Education.

WHAT HIS DESIRES ARE

His Worship Mayor Rush returned from Ottawa last night, where he was called on business in connection with the city. During his visit in Ottawa he had the pleasure of accepting an invitation to luncheon with Sir Sanford Fleming, a former resident of Peterborough, and a distinguished and public-spirited citizen of the Dominion. During an interesting private interview, he spoke of the pleasure it afforded him of meeting a resident of Peterborough, and made several inquiries as to the progress of the city. Mayor Rush was highly pleased with the interest which Sir Sanford took in Peterborough, and was particularly struck with his rare intellectual vigour and courteous manner. What was of special value to Mayor Rush was the information he gained from Sir Sanford of Andrew Carnegie, the millionaire, whose benefactions on behalf of public libraries has been more or less discussed in this city recently. Sir Sanford told the Mayor that Mr. Carnegie was a personal friend of his and that he recently had the pleasure of visiting him at his home in New York. The impression he had formed of Mr. Carnegie was of the highest order. He had won industrial and commercial victories, and now he recognized that the millions he had acquired laid upon him corresponding obligations. Inspired by high ideals he undertook to distribute his wealth in the cause of education. He was making his task a labour of love, and his great object in life was to endeavour to contribute to the happiness of humanity —in providing means for instructing, elevating and refining his fellowmen. Sir Sanford showed the Mayor a portrait of Andrew Carnegie, personally presented to him by Mr. Carnegie, with his autograph.

THE STIRRING STORY OF "THE SPOILERS"

"The Spoilers" is the title of a new story which has just been secured by the Examiner. It is from the pen of that able author, Rex A. Beach, whose stirring stories have created widespread interest. Anyone who reads the opening chapters cannot fail to finish the story. It tells of a gold mine of Alaska, with which is entwined a love tale of more than the ordinary heart interest. The first chapters will appear on Saturday's issue.

MORE LOTS WON IN LAND CONTEST

Peterborough People Were Very Successful in Competition.

The Laurentian Land Company's Limerick competition, which was advertised in the Examiner, has reaped a good harvest among Peterborough people. Seven parties in all were successful in obtaining lots of land which are valued at $25. The latest who have received word of their prizes are Mrs. Hope, Albert street; Mrs. E. R. Stocker, 46 Lafayette avenue avenue, and Mrs. Geo. Spilabury, Gravel road.

Last night Mrs. Emma Elsom, wife of the late George Elsom, of Midland, at the age of 83 years, passed away at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Thos. Jackson 457 Bolivar, street. Her husband predeceased her seven years ago, but she is survived by a family of two sons and two daughters. She was a Methodist in religion and had only resided a short time in Peterborough. The funeral will be held to-morrow from the residence of her son-in-law at 1 o'clock to Omemee Cemetery.

THE S. L. C. CLUB SAY FAREWELL

To Miss Laura Turner, Who Goes to Montreal—An Enjoyable Affair.

A very farewell "At Home" was given in honour of Miss Laura Turner last night, at the home of Miss Ethel Rae, at the Court House. The members of the L. S. C. Club gathered to bif farewell to Miss Turner, who leaves this week for Montreal. Apartfrom the enjoyable social time spent, Miss Turner was presented with a pearl crescent and a belt buckly, the presentation being made by Miss Beatrice Tovey and Mr. Will Martin. Speeches were made by Messrs. R. Quinn and Jas. Bogue and, Miss Turner received the best wishes of the club.

RETAIL MERCHANTS MET LAST NIGHT AT Y.M.C.A. HALL

At a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association of the city held last evening at the Y.M.C.A., arrangements were made for the annual banquet which will likely be held this year on May 15th. It is the intention of the Association to bring five or six outside speakers here for the occasion, well known sound business men, from different parts of Canada, who will be able to give the local Association some valuable pointers.

HOW TO ATTEND TO MAKING OF A LAWN

Rich, Retentive Loam is the Best Soil For Use.

Canadian Dairyman

I have a small piece of ground near my house that I want to make into a good lawn. Most of the soil was taken from the cellar when building. Kindly tell me how I can best handle the ground so as to produce a good, permanent turf. —E. A. F., Kings Co., N. S.

The soil from the cellar should not be left on the surface. It should be taken away or used for filling undulations. The best soil for a lawn is a rich, retentive loam. A few loads of this spread evenly on the surface will produce much better results than if you tried to make a lawn from the soil already at hand. Some kind of fertilizer, such as bone meal, wood ashes and nitrate of soda should be worked in. Have the surface soil well pulverized and level it smoothly.

Sow the seed when the soil is freshly distributed. Use plenty of seed and sow it evenly. It is best to sow one-half of the amount one way and to cross the patch with the balance. After sowing, rake and roll.

Good lawn mixtures can be secured from any reliable seedmen. A home made mixture can be prepared from Kentucky blue grass, red top and red clover, equal parts by weight. Use at the rate of at least three bushels to the acre. The amount required can easily be determined by getting the area of the plot in square feet and dividing same into the quantity required for an acre and you have the amount necessary for the plot.

The person who has once experienced the pleasure of a cup of delicious "Salada" Tea—that feeling of satisfaction that its purity and flavour guarantee, is not easily persuaded to accept a substitute. 28

Bad Palpitation of The Heart
EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD,
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.
If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells, these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.
From the depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.
Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. For [illegible] nine years of age I have been troubled with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."
Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOW MANY LONG DISTANCE RUNNERS WILL GO TO ENGLAND?

In view of the fact that Fred Sampson of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers, will be a candidate for a position on the Canadian Marathon brigade, the following from the Toronto Star should be of interest:—

How many Marathon runners will Canada send to England?

That is the question that is agitating the Canadian brigade of long-distance runners these days.

President Stark, of the C.A.A.U., says at least three or four, but he would like to see half a dozen at least go.

Vice-President Jas. K. Merrick of the C.A.A.U. says: "Three, anyway."

These are, of course, personal opinions, for such details are up to the Olympic committee.

President Stark however, sized up the situation to a nicety when he said:

"The Marathon I regard as our chance for fame at the Olympia. We have a golden chance to win out, a better chance in this than in any other event, and I would like to see every man—eight or even ten, if need be—sent over, so that we might make a tip-top showing. It would be glorious if Canada could run one, two, three in this big event. If the committee has the money I would favour a big Marathon team."

Should Have a Strong Team

President Stark is right. Canada should have at least eight Marathon runners.

Ontario runners are worrying their heads off about the 15-mile trial Marathon, May 25.

How will the finalists be chosen?

How many will go into the final Canadian trial?

Who will decide?

They ask these questions a dozen times a day.

Only a Weeding out

The C.A.A.U. officials in charge of the trial race to-day announced that experienced men will be asked to look over the field in the 15-mile trial, and select those who will go into the finals. Because a man is not in the first flight will not absolutely debar him from the Canadian final. Those who finish well up will, of course, get a chance in the final, but big strong road runners who are coming well within themselves, and show signs of being able to work out to the front in the final ten miles, if there were that much farther to go, will not be overlooked. As a matter of fact, the fifteen miles try-out is only to weed out the "no accounts," and give novices a chance to show themselves.

Get out and do your best, boys, in the fifteen miles, and trust to the officials to give you a chance in the finals.

TORONTO BOWLERS DEFEATED BY LOCAL FIVE LAST NIGHT

A team representing the Canadian Bowling Club of Toronto, was defeated by a local quintette in an interesting game at the Peterborough Bowling Club's Alleys last night, by a total majority of 78 pins, the locals winning two out of the three games. Hemstead got the highest score, 214, while Archambault, of the visitors, was high for the best three games, rolling a total of 642. The Toronto trundlers had an enjoyable visit and expressed themselves as being delighted with the alleys, which they pronounced the best they had ever rolled on. A large crowd saw the game. Following was the score:—

ARRANGEMENTS UNDER WAY FOR HANDICAP MATCH WITH ROGERS

A match between Yankee Rogers the well known American heavy weight wrestler, who has defeated such good men as Tom Jenkins and Jim Parr, and Eugene Hurtubise is a possibility in the near future. Arrangements are now being made for the match and the local management will likely offer a purse of $150 for the event, Rogers to throw Hurtubise three times in one hour, or lose the match. Such a contest would arouse great excitement in the city as no wrestler of Rogers' calibre has ever appeared here. The general feeling is that "Yankee" would have his work cut out for him to defeat the local giant under such conditions.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

A meeting of the executive of the City League is called for Monday night next, in the Y. M. C. A., at eight o'clock. A representative from each team should be present, as a few important matters will be considered.

The managers of the teams will remember that they must have the men they intend to play in the opening games entered with the secretary before Saturday, May 16th. There is no necessity of waiting until the last minute to bring in these certificates. The teams must have all their men signed before May 24th.

The present assortment of evenings will not do for ball practises, and unless a change occurs in a short time, it would hardly be fair to expect fast ball. However, the teams are coming along well, and the league should see some hot games.

Corney Burns is reported to have a strong aggregation in the Karnots. Under his care they should make good, as his coaching will be invaluable.

The Orphans, or rather Bill Metheral's Strathconas, are plugging along. The absence of the chief, it is hoped, will not materially weaken the ability of the Lord Highs, who, on paper, look like the Chicago Cubs.

At the same time they are not going to have it entirely their own way. Jimmy McNirn's followers are hot on the trail, and the Y. M. C. A. look dangerous. The "Youngsters," as the Wellingtons have been named, should receive every encouragement. They are pluckily undertaking a big task and everyone hopes to see them make a good showing.

The Lakeviews are determined not to be far behind in the race and under Manager Joe Dwyer's experienced eye are looking strong. Their infield will be as good as the next.

It has been remarked that none of the teams has anything on the rest in a strong pitching corps. They are all about equal in this respect, and if the battles are strong the fielders will have to go some to make up the deficiency.

"Lajoire" Darocher is persistently working his T. A. S. team and says he has a few of the best of them up his sleeve.

Afghans Meet British Troops.

London, May 7.—Sixty Afghans were killed in the fighting which took place between a large force of Afghans and the British troops last Saturday at a point in the Khyber pass, near Landikotal, according to a despatch sent in by a correspondent with the British column.

A message published here from Lahore gives the Afghan dead at 300, but this communication is discredited.

FAMOUS HORSE HAS BEEN SOLD

The great trotter, Cresceus, 2.02 1-4, world's champion trotting stallion, has been sold to Russian horsemen for the reported price of $25,000, and will be shipped across the water inside of two weeks. The Russians have been after this horse for some time, but not until this week did M. W. Savage, owner of the International Stock Food Farm at Minneapolis, decide to dispose of Cresceus.

Cresceus is one of the greatest race trotters the world has ever seen. He is a large horse, standing over sixteen hands high, and weighs about 1,100 pounds. He is by Robert McGregor, 2.17 1-2, who was famed for his gameness, and his racing strength was handed down to his famous chestnut son. Through his grandsire, Major Edsall, 2.29, Cresceus inherited some bad manners, and when a young horse his future did not look so very bright, because of this fact. But Ketcham overcame this fault and raced him early and long.

Cresceus' dam, Mabel, by Mambrino Howard, was purchased by George H. Ketcham for $250 at a public auction in 1892, and after breeding her to Baron Wilkes, Robert McGregor was purchased, and a year later was bred to this mare.

Diamond Dustings

In the practice game with the Strathconas on Saturday the following players of the Karnots are requested to turn out in uniform at Nicholls Oval at 2 o'clock:—Loch, Quinlan, Bellegham, Graham, Fitzgerald, Westbrook, Laing, Coughlin, Tofson, Johnston, Conroy, Geale, Kerdry, Ray, Walker, Gorham, Guerin, Barradaile, Craig, Primeau and Bravenden.

STRIKES AND SPARES

The smaller pin games are becoming very popular at the Peterborough Bowling Club's Alleys, especially nine pins, which is played with smaller pins. Mr. Adams, ex-Chief of Police of Brockville and Napanee, is an expert at this form of bowling and has made the phenomenally high score of 9 out of the possible 10, the record for the alleys and probably for Canada. Quintette and other different games will be introduced.

For Third Time Hurtubise Wins Wrestling Bout From Kennedy, German Heavyweight

The handicap wrestling bout at the Grand Opera House last night between Eugene Hurtubise, of Peterborough, and Frank Kennedy, the German wrestler from New York, in which the local man was to throw his opponent four times in one hour, came to a sudden and unexpected ending, the police refusing to allow the match to be resumed after Hurtubise had secured two falls in the first five minutes. Kennedy was painfully injured while the second fall was being made, the muscles of his neck and right shoulder being so severely strained that he could not hold his head erect. He was examined by Dr. Frederick and Dr. McWilliams, of Keene, who were in the audience, and was advised not to continue the match. The New Yorker was game and was determined to go in spite of his injuries, when P. C. Newhall interfered and declared that he would prevent any further wrestling in the bout, on account of Kennedy's decision, and A. C. Yokome awarded the bout to Hurtubise by default.

There was a large crowd present, and, although the sudden conclusion of the contest was disappointing, the victory of Hurtubise was popular and the spectators realized that Kennedy's default was unavoidable. The quickness with which the local heavyweight secured the first two falls was surprising, in view of the other two bouts, which the men have had but Hurtubise believing that he had a big task ahead of him to throw the stocky German four times in sixty minutes, lost no time in getting after his adversary on the go in and had him in difficulty at once.

Hurtubise was loudly cheered when introduced by Announcer George Lynch, and Kennedy was also well received as he took his corner. When time was called Hurtubise opened up hostilities at once, and after a little preliminary sparring ragged his opponent to the mat and at once proceed to get busy. Kennedy spun and rolled out of several bad looking holds, but Hurtubise kept on the aggressive and in just four minutes he secured a body hold on the German and forced him over until his shoulders rested on the mat. Referee Yokome awarded the fall, while the crowd cheered.

When the men came back after their five minutes' rest, Hurtubise kept up his aggressive tactics, and although Kennedy struggled fiercely to get away, Hurtubise was too much for him and with a body and neck hold, secured the second fall in one minute after the rest. When Gene sprang to his feet after being awarded the fall, Kennedy remained on the mat on his hands and knees, and it was seen that he had been able to get up and was assisted from able to get up and was assisted from the stage by his trainer, Garnet Marsh.

In response to a request from the stage, Dr. McWilliams and Dr. Frederick examined Kennedy in his dressing room and found that, although his shoulder blade was not broken, as was feared at first, his neck and shoulder muscles were very badly strained, so much so that it would be useless for him to think of continuing the match. The German did not want to quit and was going back in spite of his injuries, when P. C. Newhall stopped the bout, saying that it could not be allowed to continue under the circumstances. There was nothing for it then but declare Hurtubise the winner of the bout.

Kennedy went to the front of the stage and addressed the crowd. He said that he gave all credit to Mr. Hurtubise and explained that his neck and shoulder muscles were so badly injured that he was not allowed to go on the mat again.

A. C. Yokome, who refereed the bout satisfactorily, then awarded the match to the local wrestler, whose victory was well earned. The bout was for $50 and a bet of $100 per side.

Previous to the bout Announcer Lynch informed the audience that Yankee Rogers, the famous American wrestler, had challenged Hurtubise to a match, guaranteeing to throw him three times in one hour. It is likely that the match will be arranged.

The preliminaries were good, the physical culture act of Artie Edmunds, the famous Canadian athlete, making a big hit with the audience. His marvellous development and equally marvellous control of his muscles were clearly demonstrated and incidentally the Pocket Hercules, as he has been aptly dubbed, "showed up" some of the fakes used by some of the so-called strong men to deceive the public. His most interesting feat was a demonstration of his wonderful chest expansion, in which a derby hat was strapped across his chest, and when the head gear was removed, he filled up the space by expanding his lungs. Edmunds is said to be the finest developed man of his weight in the world, and the crowd found his exhibition most entertaining.

Corney Burns and Jack Crough had a pretty battle in their bout for the 145 pound championship of the city. Crough getting the first and third falls, after a lively and clever exhibition of wrestling. Burns was handicapped by an injured left hand, the member being almost useless, but he put up a hard battle and the audience enjoyed the bout immensely. Crough, who showed greatly improved form from his appearance last week, took the first fall in 3.20 with a half nelson.

Burns won the second fall in a sudden manner that took the crowd's breath away. Crough was on the aggressive the greater part of the period and got an arm lock on Burns that the latter seemed powerless to break. He was turned over until his shoulder was almost touching the mat, and Referee Graham was about to award the fall to Crough, when Burns doubled with an arm and crotch hold and rolled his opponent over like a flash of lightning getting the second fall in four minutes.

The deciding fall was secured by Crough in the same time. He secured a half nelson and although Burns tried to turn him over with the same quick hold which won him the second fall, Cerough rolled him back and got the fall.

The bout between Artie Edmunds and Jack Wilson, of Peterborough, was enjoyed by the crowd. Edmunds toyed with the local man, breaking away from his holds with such ease that the bout became almost a farce. The Toronto man, who meets Young Muldoon on Saturday night, gave the crowd a clever exhibition, and when he thought they had had enough, threw Wilson in eight minutes with a scissors hold. Wilson would have made $25 by staying on for fifteen minutes, but he never had a chance of winning the coin.

Mr. Geo. N. Graham refereed the preliminaries in a satisfactory manner.

Altogether it was a good evening's sport, although the speedy termination of the main bout was a disappointment.

Lawn Bowlers Start Season With Brightest Prospects

Dr. T. N. Greer Re-Elected President at Annual Meeting Last Night—Mr. Wm. T. Lang Appointed Secretary-Treasurer—Lawn is in Excellent Condition.

MEMBERSHIP TO BE LARGE

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Association was held last night in the Dominion Bank Chambers. There was a good attendance of the members of the club, and the prospects for a surpassing successful season are very bright. Last year the total receipts were $294 and the expenses $264.07, leaving a balance of $29.93. There is still owing to the Dominion Bank $146 with interest to the present time. It is the association's intention to make a special effort this year to wipe out that debt. Dr. Greer presided over the meeting, and Mr. A. Weddell, the secretary-treasurer, was also present.

Officers Elected

Dr. Greer tendered his resignation as president, but he was strongly urged to again accept the position, and his re-election was made unanimous. The officers elected were as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses— Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kendry, Mr. and Mrs. R R Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, Mr. T E Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gillespie and Mr. J H Burnham.

Hon. Pres.—Dr. Boucher.

Pres.—Dr. T N Greer.

Vice-Pres.—Mr. J E A Fitzgerald.

Sec.-Treas.—Mr. W M Lang.

Games Sec.—Mr. T E Pratt.

Executive Committee—Messrs. D R Moore, Wm. Acheson, R M Waddell, D Hollegham, R Cottrell, Dr. Marshall and Dr. Holloway.

Membership Committee—Messrs. W E Talbot, W O'Brien, T E Pratt, E Runnells, L Potvin, W S Robinson, T E B Yeats, R Matchett, F H Dixon Dr. McClelland.

Schedule Committee—Dr. Holloway, F H Dixon, T E Pritt.

The appointment of Mr. Pratt as games secretary was intended to have someone to look after the results of the scheduled games and to see that they were played. Mr. Pratt was the unanimous choice. Mr. A. Weddell's services as secretary-treasurer last year were fittingly acknowledged.

President's Report

Dr. Greer's annual report was a comprehensive one and suggested several new recommendations. It was read by him as follows:

Peterborough, May 6, 1908.

To the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Association:

Gentlemen,—

I beg leave to submit my report of the transactions of the club for 1907.

It is very gratifying to note that the interest manifested in former years has been consistently sustained during the past season.

The club is to be congratulated in possessing such excellent facilities for the full enjoyment of the game.

Favourable weather conditions, coupled with the work of a good caretaker and the faithful supervision of an efficient executive, have given us a very creditable bowling green, which will continue to improve as time goes on, under the wise care it will no doubt receive.

As the success of the club and the amount of pleasure to be derived from the game depend so largely on the character of the green, I would like to emphasize the necessity of adopting the very best means within our reach to get as near perfection as possible in this regard.

To this end I would suggest the appointment of a special Green Committee, whose sole duty would be to supervise its care. I would also recommend that the caretaker, in cutting the grass, rolling and watering the lawn, should spend all the time that the said committee deem necessary to keep it in good condition.

Warm Competitions

During the season much added interest was exhibited in the keen competitions for the various prizes, which were generously donated by warm supporters of the club.

Messrs. W G Ferguson, A H Stratton, D H Moore and Vice-President J E A Fitzgerald each presented a pair of bowls, for competition respectively in the senior and junior Scotch doubles and in the senior and junior singles.

The Frost Trophy also was again played for in the rink competition.

In this series many close and exciting games were played, and although the rivalry was keen nothing but the very best of good feeling and true sportsmanlike spirit prevailed throughout.

The fortunate winners were as follows:

Senior Scotch Doubles—Messrs. J. E. A. Fitzgerald and W. J. Thompson.

Junior Scotch Doubles—Messrs. M. Kirne and R. J. Matchett.

Senior Singles—Dr. Holloway.

Junior Singles—Mr. J. J. Cunningham.

The Frost Trophy was won by the rink skipped by Mr. R. M. Waddell, the other players being, C. Frost, T. Brightman and T. Matheson.

On the evening of November 27th a very enjoyable and largely attended smoker was held by the members of the club in the curling rink club room. A feature of the evening was the presentation of the prizes to the different winners. This interesting ceremony was very gracefully conducted by our esteemed past president, Mr. D. H. Moore.

Arrangements for Games

I deem it very much in the interest of the club that the games in the various competitions be systematically arranged for, and played off as far as possible in accordance with the schedule, and for the better accomplishment of this end I would recommend the election of a games secretary, whose exclusive duty would be the supervision of all matters pertaining to games. I notice that other clubs have such an officer, and I believe, it would be very advantageous for us to follow this example.

During the season several games were played with outside clubs.

Port Hope visited us twice, the local club winning on both occasions.

There were home and home contests with Millbrook Club, Peterborough winning three out of the four games played.

Two rinks from Bowmanville also honoured us with a visit and were successful in defeating our boys by a close score.

In the interest of the club and the city I believe these outside games should be still more encouraged.

Regarding the financial affairs of the club I am pleased to be able to report that they are in a satisfactory condition. As you will learn from the secretary-treasurer's report, our total receipts for 1907 were $294.00, and our total expenditure $294.00, and our total expenditure the year of $29.93. But we carried over from 1906 a debt of $160.00, so that we close the year owing the Dominion Bank with interest to date $146.00.

I would strongly urge that provision be made for wiping out this debt this year.

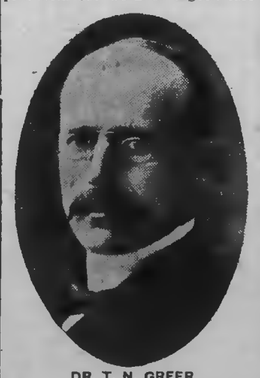
Increased Fee

A membership fee of $4.00 is inadequate to run the club, and I hope you will see your way to raise the fee to $5.00 at least.

In conclusion, I desire to thank you for the honour you conferred on me by electing me your president. The prosperity of the club, however, has been largely due to the work of the other executive officers, rather than to any efforts of mine.

My duties in consequence have been light, and I wish to convey to the past president, the vice-president, and other officers and members my grateful appreciation of their valuable assistance, and the kind treatment extended to me during the year, and I bespeak for my successor the same measure of support and courtesy.

Respectfully submitted,
T. NEWTON GREER,
President.



DR. T. N. GREER,
Re-elected President of the Peterboro Lawn Bowling Club.

General Business

The report was received and the recommendation met the pleasure of the other members.

On motion of Mr. Yates and Mr. Waddell, the fee was raised to $5.00

The club is very much pleased with the condition of their grounds. It has never come through a winter in better condition, and is now green and is daily becoming harder. It is expected that with favourable weather opening games will be played by May 24th.

100 Members

The club this year is aiming at a membership of 100, and when it is considered that the local players can follow this sport at an exceedingly low cost to the individual, and with the grounds in fine condition it is believed that the membership will be increased to the desired number. It is proposed to buy a new roller, which will, when filled with water, weigh 1,900 lbs. Other important questions were discussed, among them being to provide a number of moveable blackboards for scoring. These matters were left for the executive to arrange. It is very likely that a larger number of games will be played with out-of-town teams during the coming summer.

EDMUNDS AND YOUNG MULDOON

The New York Wrestlers Want to go on the Mat at 140 Pounds Saturday Night.

Young Muldoon, the New York lightweight wrestler, who meets Artie Edmunds, the Canadian champion, at the Labour Temple Saturday night in a bout, best two in three falls, for a $200 purse, left New York last night for Toronto, but has not arrived yet. He wired from New York yesterday, asking that the weight limit be raised from 135 to 140 pounds, but Art Edmunds refused point blank. "I'm giving away ten pounds now," he said, "and I'm not going to stack up against welterweights all the time. Muldoon is too good a man to give away any more weight to. It will keep him busy making 138, and at that weight I can beat him."—Toronto Star.

WHAT AN AMATEUR MAY DO

Federation Make Clear Its Definition At Last.

The Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada has given out a statement as to its amateur definition, on account of the fact that many athletes have an improper idea of its meaning, and therefore make different interpretations of it. The letter is addressed to all athletes throughout the Dominion of Canada, and is in part as follows:

"The acceptance of any money or other consideration of a monetary nature, on any pretext, either before or after the competition, whether as a gift or bonus for services rendered as an athlete, either in team games or in individual competition.

"To compete for a staked bet or where a staked bet is placed on the contest either directly or indirectly, or from any source whatsoever.

"To compete against a professional individually where gate receipts are charged, or where a prize or any other consideration is given.

"To teach or assist in any athletic exercise or sport as a means of livelihood.

"To receive any payment for loss of time while playing as a member of any club, or competing unattached.

"To enter any competition under any name other than his own.

"Nor is an athlete permitted to sell or pledge his prizes.

"May receive actual travelling and hotel expenses, and produce properly attested vouchers, if called for.

"May compete against professionals in team games, such as lacrosse, hockey, football and the like, but not in track or field events, boxing, wrestling or other like sports of individual contests."

THE CREAMERY BUTTER MARKET

Canadian Dairyman.

For some time yet the market for creamery butter will be at home. Local prices are high and the demand is good and likely to be so for some time. It is not expected that any butter will be exported till the June grass butter is ready.

Butter-makers should govern themselves accordingly. There should be no slacking up in point of quality. There is a tendency sometimes to be careless about quality when the product is destined for the local market. On this market Canadian butter comes into competition with no other. It has the whole field. The quality, however, should be kept up to the highest point. Consumers in our towns and cities are becoming more discriminating every day. They know now what good quality is and will buy no other, except at a sacrifice in price. This sacrifice in price the butter-maker cannot afford to make. It is to his own interest as well as to the interest of his patrons to have his butter top the market. This can only be done by making only choice butter.

There is a feature of the local market that the maker should always keep in mind. The better the quality the more butter there will be consumed. This applies to butter more perhaps, than to any other product. A pound of poor butter will last a family three times as long as a pound of good butter. Just try it on your own household and find out. The boarding house keeper knows this and if she can palm off inferior butter upon her customers she profits by the transaction. Poor butter means more demand and a better price. The local market in Canada is becoming of more importance every day. If supplied only with choice quality it can be greatly enlarged.

But our butter trade cannot be expanded as it should be, by depending on the local demand alone. There must be an outlet for the surplus and that outlet is Great Britain, and what the Orient is prepared to take. Canadian butter in the British market comes into direct competition with the best butter from all parts of the world. The quality must be of the best or a profitable export trade cannot be built up. Good butter is good butter no matter what market it is made for. At the same time the British market demands a quality of butter in some respects different from that needed for the local trade. Butter-makers should bear this in mind and study the conditions of their trade. As the season advances and the supply increases beyond what the local market will take, some attention should be given to producing a quality suitable for the export trade.

Having Children's Eyes Examined

Peop'e suffer through life with the disadvantage of impared vision as a result of negiect of the eyes in childhood. Children considered dull or effected with brain trouble.

It's a familiar fact that the acuteness of vision varies extremely among adults, and that certain defects of the eye—such as shortsightedness — can be as completely remedied as to restore to the individual amost perfect sight. Now, there exists among children just such differences in the acuteness of vision as is observed in adults, and many of the defects of the eye originate in the failure of parents to appreciate those differences.

It's a pity to put glasses upon a child, but a greater pity to neglect such when the future will-being of the eyes depends upon their help. It's safer to do as many are doing now—having the children's eyes examined to know whether or not glasses are necessary.

REV. D. C. HOSSACK'S ENTIRE LETTER ON WHITNEY RULE, MAKING STRONG PROTESTS

Premier Has Been False to Those Who Aided Him—The Liberals Helped Him in 1905 and Were Hived in 1908.

THE TOTAL GIFT OF $130,000

The following letter from the Rev. D. C. Hossack appeared in a recent issue of the Toronto Globe on the record of the Whitney Government during its three years' regime:

(To the Editor of the Globe.)

Rather more than three years ago, when the last Provincial campaign was in progress, I addressed, through the press, some remarks to the independent electors. It is gratifying to think that, in the interval, the number of independents has increased. The tide is running that way. It means better days to come. We are now in the midst of another campaign, and it may be well to inquire, after reviewing recent events, what is the duty of independent electors at the present time? I have received inquiries from some Liberals who were not in accord with my opinions in 1905 as to my present views, and it has been suggested by some of them, and also by others who agreed with me on that occasion, that the present juncture was of such importance that if I had well-defined views upon public affairs I should not hide them. Under these circumstances, and as public discussion safeguards civil liberty and makes for good government, I offer no apology for reviewing recent events. My humble opinions, if not accepted, may incite a fuller consideration and so lead to a wise conclusion.

A Call to the Independent

On November 14, 1904, Mr. Whitney called a conference to be held in Toronto on November 24. The invitation was general. He said: "In addition, I invite representative men in each constituency, no matter what their party affiliations may be, and who sympathize with our objects, to attend and help us by their advice and encouragement. In the presence of great public peril, party designations and differences are of secondary importance." Mr. Whitney publicly sought Liberal assistance. It was his privilege to do so. No one complained. But it is not forgotten that he did it.

During the campaign, Mr. Whitney strenuously urged Liberals to support him. Independence of thought and action he urged at every meeting. At Brampton, Ottawa, Barrie, Ingersoll and many other places he denounced party prejudice. He spoke of the splendid record of the Liberal party in securing responsible government, of the glorious days of Baldwin and Lafontaine, and urged Liberals to rise superior to party prejudice. The Mail and Empire, in its account of the Ottawa meeting, reports a portion of Mr. Whitney's speech as follows:—"In England this was the way of politics, and by reason of the large number of public men who were ready to sacrifice party to purity, the government of England was pure and strong. The result was that Governments were quickly and frequently overthrown, and a perennial cleaning occurred. In Ontario the opposite was the case, and the system worked itself out in direct opposition to the spirit of the English system."

After the election, Mr. Whitney admitted his debt to the Liberals. In a message to the Mail and Empire of January 26, 1905, he said: "All must acknowledge the serious meaning of this emphatic expression of the people's will. I fully and gladly appreciate the fact that Liberals in large numbers joined in that expression." That his appreciation might be more generally known by the Liberal party, Mr. Whitney wired the same message to The Globe. The day after the election the Mail and Empire acknowledged the assistance which Liberals had rendered in defeating the Government. On the same day The Toronto World said editorially: "An issue, indeed, so vital for the future of free government in Ontario could not be made a party question, and, as Mr. Whitney declared, the victory of his cause could not be regarded as a mere party triumph. And he will be the first to recognize that the sweep which he has made throughout the length and breadth of the Province has been due in no small degree to the independent and honourable action of the many Liberals who have subordinated, for patriotic reasons, their party to their principles."

Under the circumstances, it was supposed that the new Government would be peculiarly free from party bias, and be a Government for the whole people. Mr. Whitney, in the campaign, encouraged the people to entertain this hope. As reported by The News, which very ably supported him, he said at Barrie: "In Ontario they were not so strongly divided on public questions as in the Dominion Parliament, where the larger questions of trade, tariff, and relations with the outside world were dealt with. But the time had come in Ontario when all the good men, all Christian men, all men who wished decent government, must get together or violate their consciences, and the Conservatives held that they had a right to ask for that."

The Government attained power under most favourable auspices. Hope was general. The people were discovering how great were their mineral resources. The bright prospects of the Province were attracting immigration. Everything seemed promising. The Government had such a majority that it was independent. The people—Conservatives and Liberals—had given it no power to resist sinister influences. No Provincial Government had ever had such a majority or such an opportunity.

How Independents Were Rewarded

For a time the Government did well. None could deprive them of their due. The Liberal press was generous. But after a time complaints were heard. It was charged that, forgetting appeals or Liberal support and the acknowledgment of generous treatment by Liberals, the spoils system was being introduced. Dismissals were numerous. Certainly some of them seemed unnecessary. The independent press began to criticize. The News was able and vigorous in its opposition to the spoils system. Some Liberals who had responded to Mr. Whitney's appeal to "good men and Christian men," and who had begun to consider him as a superior politician, were wondering if they had been deceived, and if he were of the ordinary brand. It began to appear that the Government had obtained office by false pretences, and did not differ from the ordinary Government of party prejudice.

Having been returned by a large majority and a large Liberal support, the Government might have postponed a general redistribution of constituencies until after the census of 1910. The unbiased observer will call the redistribution a gerrymander.

The plan of electing two members in Toronto constituencies on separate ballots was adopted, not to promote independence, but to strengthen their party lines, make sure the nomination and election of the four old members, and generally to discourage independence. Middlesex and other counties were so arranged that Liberals should not have adequate representation in the Legislature. This is gerrymander.

Gerrymardering and Hiving

On January 24, 1905, Mr. Whitney made a public appeal for aid, and declared that should his future conduct not be approved, the people might withdraw their confidence. Does Mr. Whitney feel that he has lost public confidence? He has so arranged many constituencies by hiving Liberals that the withdrawal of Liberal confidence will not affect the standing of the parties in the Legislature. On January 26, 1905, Mr. Whitney published his "grateful appreciation" of the fact that "Liberals in large numbers" supported him. In 1908, apparently with the expectation of losing Liberal support, Mr. Whitney's appreciation is expressed by hiving the Liberals. There were a grim humour in the situation did it not savour so strongly of the very ordinary commonplace and tricky politician.

Law Reform

At a meeting held December 22nd, 1904, Mr. Whitney expressed his views on law reform. The Mail and Empire gives the following report of his remarks:—"A few years ago the Conservative party declared its policy on several questions. It favoured law reform. The Divisional Court was an anomaly. The expenses has been lessened and the results of litigation lessened. There should be one final Court of Appeal for the Province, and one only. If matters continued as at present, it would soon come about that no man out the rich could go to law and get his rights in Ontario."

The first term of the Government has passed. They have been in office nearly four years, and nothing has been done for law reform. There is need of relief; the Government have failed to give it. There has been a conspicuous failure and the people are disappointed.

The Three-fifths Clause

When the Government passed the three-fifths clause of the local option act they were guilty of reactionary legislation. Ever since Ontario became a Province the majority in a municipality has had the right to decide upon the granting of licenses. These rights were firmly established and founded upon a sense of British justice and equality. Why have the Government tampered with them? Having been returned to power by a large popular vote, composed of both parties, this, of all Governments, should have trusted the people.

This country is democratic, and one man's vote should be as good as his neighbour's, and no better. In every State of the Union in which local option prevails the majority vote is considered sufficient. Under the Government of Mr. Ross local option could be carried by a majority. This was British fair play.

The majority vote is sufficient because the enforcement of local option does not depend upon a three-fifths majority, but upon the sincerity and efficiency of the officials appointed for the enforcement of the act, and upon the ability of the whole department from the Minister down.

Experience is against the contention of the Government that a three-fifths majority is necessary to insure enforcement. In nearly all of the many municipalities in which the act was carried by a majority vote it is now in force. In these municipalities the Government have been able to enforce the law.

When the repeal of the act is considered, it is seen how illogical is the reasoning of the Government. If a three-fifths majority is necessary when local option is being carried it should be necessary in order to retain the act when the appeal is being tried. Then a minority of votes may retain local option in force. When local option is being carried the law requires sixty votes as against forty in every one hundred; when the repeal is being taken forty-one votes for local option will defeat fifty-nine against it, and retain the act when a large preponderance of public opinion is against it.

The $130,000 Gift

On account of the circumstances under which the Government came into power they were expected to avoid methods which have been employed by politicians struggling to maintain difficult positions. Many have been disappointed to discover that the Government are not only not as superior as they thought, but of a very ordinary brand.

The Larose mining interests received during the closing hours of the session $130,000. There was no time for investigation. The explanation of the transaction was extraordinary. The members of the Government were not obliged to decide this case; the courts could have done that. Having constituted themselves judges, the members of the Cabinet should have exercised that sense of honour and of the fitness of things which usually characterise our judges. A judge only a few days ago declined to hear a case in which his son-in-law was a witness. In the Larose case the brother-in-law of one of the Ministers was a claimant, and $130,000 was given to him and his associates. The explanation is that the recipients of this large sum furnished valuable information to the Government. What was the information? The people paid for it and should know what it is. If the Ministers are to act as judges their transactions should be public, as are courts of law.

Niagara Power

The principles which should govern the distribution of Niagara power are not complex. The benefits to be derived from a gift of nature such as Niagara Falls should never become a private monopoly. It was with hopeful interest the people viewed Mr. Beck's efforts to secure this boon for them. It has been a matter for deep chagrin, however, to observe that his energy has been required to overcome not the enemies without, but the more than passive resistance of his colleagues in the Cabinet. When Mr. St. Aubyn came to the door of the Cabinet virtually looking for a purchaser for the plant of the Electric Development Co. why was not Mr. Beck consulted? Did Mr. Whitney fear that Mr. Beck would insist on the Province availing itself of this unrivalled opportunity? Or, if Mr. Whitney felt that the Province was under an obligation not to compete with the people to whom it had granted concessions, the city of Toronto was under no such obligations, and the Premier should have called the attention of the Mayor and Council to the occasion that so fortunately presented itself. But no; the sinister figure whose lobbyists have been seen leading members into committees to vote up what he wants up and vote down what he wants down—the same compelling personage to whose need of $2,500,000 the Legislature so readily yielded appears at this juncture and snaps up what Mr. Whitney would not take for the Province nor give the city the chance of acquiring. These incidents are not in harmony with the man, the Cabinet and the Legislature which the people clothed with such ample power for good less than four years ago.

Guaranteeing Mr. Mackenzie's Bonds

Perhaps the most conspicuous act of the recent session was the guarantee of $2,500,000 securities for Mackenzie & Mann. That this occurred during the closing hours was suspicious. Mr. Whitney had on former occasions strenuously objected to bringing down railway subsidies at the close of the session. It is said that the explanation of this suspicious affair is a campaign fund. But with forty majority why should a campaign fund be required? It is useless for Mr. Whitney to try to justify the guarantee by saying that the Opposition did not oppose it. He is the man whom the people chose to manage their affairs and guard their interests. He is responsible to the people rather than the Opposition. The people are the source of his power, and also his judges. It is difficult to imagine any friend of public ownership or of people's rights voting for such a guarantee. The people's money should be retained for their own projects and not given to an enterprise which is of a peculiarly private character.

What is the situation? An election is approaching. It is said that an election cannot be won by prayers. What is to be done? A fine chance to control the Niagara situation by obtaining control of the Electrical Development Company's rights and plant offers. Mr. Whitney shuts his eyes. Mr. Mackenzie acts, Mr. Mackenzie profits. The railway bonds are guaranteed. Again Mr. Mackenzie profits. What is the relation between the Government and Mr. Mackenzie? One is reminded of the receipt given by the somewhat illiterate partner—"We have received our money," signed "Me and Bill." It is a hopeful sign and worthy of notice that some of the Conservative members were opposed to this transaction.

There are several matters which the public will consider in passing judgment upon the course of the Government, but space does not permit a discussion of them.

The Growth of Expenditures

The annual expenditure of the Province has increased rapidly and materially. In the last three years there has been an increase of per capita expenditure equal to the increase of the preceding thirty-two years of Liberal Government. Of course there has been an increase in revenue, but there must be a halt in the increase of expenditure.

In some respects the Government have gone far towards Socialistic radicalism, and on some occasions have surrendered to privileged corporations.

The tendency to appoint members of Parliament to office seems to still prevail. Mr. Morrison may be a good man for the office he received, but there is the danger that a man who is ready to accept an appointment will not be free and independent.

The money for the university should be voted openly and directly, and the Board of Regents should be representative of the Province. Sixteen of the twenty regents are resident in Toronto. The teaching profession and farming community should have representation on the board.

The lobbying system has developed rapidly, and is now pernicious and dangerous. The Government alone can provide the remedy. The favourites of the Government—lawyers and others who trade on their ability to manipulate the members of the Cabinet and their supporters — are the potent forces of the lobby. The Government are aware of this and should give redress.

There has been a tendency to shirk responsibility and to conceal what should be public. Work for which the departments should be responsible has been handed over to commissions. By special statutes salaries of Ministers, increased as they have been, and other expenditures, have been somewhat concealed. In this way the passing of appropriations is avoided.

When criticized the Government appeal to the record of the former Government, and the defence is that they are no worse than the former Liberal Government. Mr. Whitney compares his gerrymander with other gerrymanders. When he is questioned in regard to the guarantee he says Mr. Ross did something similar. It is time that the ashes of the burnt ballots were at rest. The sins of the Ross Government relate to electoral methods. Their majority was small and their condition desperate. Mr. Whitney has, with the pigeonholes in his possession for years, not discovered any scandal relating to

Ideas For Preparation Of Food From "Left-Overs"

Savoury Dishes Made From Food Often Considered To Be Of Little Value.

A NICE BREAKFAST DISH

Canadian Dairyman.

Food both substantial and pleasing may often be made from left-overs seemingly too small to be of any actual use. A very satisfactory one may be prepared with a little cold meat, some stale bread, a little sauce or gravy, and any left-over vegetables there may be. Chop the meat with the vegetables, mix with enough gravy to make slightly moist, season nicely, and let get very hot in a buttered pan. Toast some rounds of stale bread to a crisp golden brown, butter them while hot, and spread over them the hot hash, dredge brown bread crumbs lightly over them, and serve immediately. This makes an extremely savoury dish.

Left-over potatoes may be mashed, mixed with a little sauce or gravy, well seasoned, a little grated cheese added if liked, and rolled into small balls or cakes. Put them on a buttered tin in the oven and when very hot serve at once. Any green vegetables may be mixed with the potatoes and used in this way. They may be made in readiness for the oven the day before and will require only a few minutes to heat.

When we have left-over carrots, turnips and onions, they are chopped small, nicely seasoned, and warmed over in a little gravy or cream sauce, failing either of these we use milk slightly thickened with a little flour. Spread the hot mince over slices of hot buttered toast and serve.

When boiled rice is left over mix it with a little chopped meat, a tiny bit of minced onion, and a little gravy. Season well, form into flat cakes, and fry in butter on both sides.

Croquettes, made from mashed potatoes and minced meat of any kind are almost too appetizing to be considered second-hand. Mash the potatoes thoroughly while hot, and for three cupfuls allow two tablespoonfuls of hot milk or cream, one tablespoonful of butter, and seasoning to taste. Then add any cold meat on hand, finely minced. About half the quantity makes it very pleasing. Beat up two eggs and mix them well in with the meat and potato mixture. Turn out on a platter and when cold form into croquettes. Cover with egg and bread-crumbs, and fry in very hot fat to a nice brown. These may be made already for frying, in cold weather, the day before.

A nice breakfast dish with eggs is the following: Butter some plates, allowing one for each person, and put on each a large slice of cheese. Break one or two eggs carefully over each, dust with salt and pepper, then sprinkle them with breadcrumbs and grated cheese, and bake in a good oven until the whites of the eggs are set. Serve at once. This is both light and substantial.

Potatoes and tomatoes make a good combination. Cut cold potatoes in small thin slices and mix them with an equal amount of tomatoes, either cooked or raw. Season well with salt, pepper, and a little onion or minced parsley, then cook them in a little melted butter until very hot, stirring from time to time.

Cold fish is excellent served on toast. Flake the fish, season it nicely, and make slightly moist with a little cream sauce or milk. Melt a little butter in a saucepan, put in the fish, and cook and stir until quite hot. Spread thickly over rounds of hot buttered toast, and serve.

When a little oatmeal is left over it may be made into excellent cakes. To a cupful of the oatmeal add a cupful of sweet milk, a pinch of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of melted butter, a tablespoonful of baking powder, and flour to make a thick batter. Sift the baking powder with the flour, before adding to it the oatmeal. Bake in muffin rings for half an hour. Split them open spread generously with butter, and serve hot with syrup.—Mary Foster Snider.

PROGRESSIVE YORK FARMERS

Pastures Watered by the Don River—Keep Well Bred Cattle.

SOME SPLENDID HERDS

Canadian Dairyman.

The county of York has few if any more enterprising and up-to-date farmers and stock breeders than D. Duncan & Sons, Don, Ont. Their farm comprises 350 acres adjoining the C. P. Ry., and within a stone's throw of Duncan Station. Their pastures are watered by the Don river, while water constantly flows from a spring on the farm through pipes to the house and stables. In their light and airy stables are housed nearly 100 head of registered Jerseys. To say they were looking well would be putting it mildly.

This grand herd is headed by one of the richest bred bulls in America, viz.: Fontame's Boyle, sired by Golden Fern Lad, imp., whose stock topped the list at Mr. T. A. Cooper's sale, two of his sons selling at $10,000 and $11,000 respectively. Judging from the way this bull has developed he will have to be reckoned with at the coming exhibitions. His dam, Nunthorpe's Fontame, imp., sold at T. A. Cooper's sale for $1,135. Her dam has a record of 9,000 lbs. milk in one year, and 2 lb. 10 ozs. butter in 24 hours. Records of this herd run from 30 lbs. in one day for 2 year olds, up to 50 lbs for mature cows. One of the other sires in use in this herd is Lady Belvoir's Chief, winner of first at the Dominion Exhibition, and at the Ottawa Exhibition last fall. The young stock that is being offered for sale are the get of Lady Belvoir's Chief and Golden Lad of Thorncliffe. Some of the heifers are bred to Fontame's Boyle. This should make them quick sellers. Call and see this herd, it will do you good even if you do not buy.

Sunnydale Stock Farm, the home of one of Canada's leading Holstein-Friesian herds is conveniently located, close to Hallowell station (on the C.O.R.) near Picton, in Prince Edward Co. Mr. A. D. Foster, the proprietor of this farm, has spent several years in building up a choice herd, which he has every reason to be proud of. His herd bull, which is illustrated in this issue, is for sale. Mr. Foster is selling him to avoid inbreeding. He is a show animal, and is a better bull than his photo shows him to be. Mr. Foster informs us that he is perfectly quiet and is right in every way. The bull is Keyes' Count DeKol (2502). His sire, Colant Echo DeKol (1465) has seven daughters in record of merit and two in the American advanced registry. His dam, Maggie Keyes (3900) has a record of 19,434 lbs milk in one year as a 3 year old, and 262 lbs butter in seven days. This bull has sired some splendid stuff.

The new stock bull that takes his place is Dutchland Sir Hengerveld Maplecroft imp., whose sire, Pietertje Hengerveld Count DeKol (2324), has 71 daughters that passed the official test. His dam, Christmas DeKol Maplecroft (67582), made 17 lbs. butter at 4 years old. This bull has produced some splendid calves from Keyes Count DeKol heifers, and promises to be a valuable sire. Among the females is to be found Helena DeKol's DeKol (41976), sire, DeKol 2nd Butter Boy; dam, Helena, with a record of over 20 lbs. butter in 7 days, half-sister to Pietertje Hengerveld Count DeKol and Hengerveld DeKol, two champions of the breed with over 70 daughters each in the official record. The foregoing cow has proved herself a gold mine for Mr. Foster. Most of his herd is descended from her and several of them have passed the official test with a good margin to spare. Anyone wanting to get a bull calf with such breeding as mentioned above, will do well to write to Mr. Foster, Bloomfield, Ont. These calves are quite young and can be purchased at reasonable prices.

Evergreen Stock Farm is situated a few miles from Brockville, Ont., and is the home of one of the best bred herds of Holsteins in Canada. Mr. Thos. Davidson laid the foundation of this herd about 20 years ago. His herd numbers over 30 head six of which have passed the 7 days official test. Judging from the conformation and breeding of several others, they will pass the test when given an opportunity. The younger stuff is by the DeKol bull, Sir Mutual Butter Boy, whose dam's record is 20.55 lbs. and grand-dams 21 lbs. butter in 7 days. The bull calves that Mr. Davidson is now offering for sale are especially well bred and should make their mark.

CULINARY NEWS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

How to Make the Latest in Pie Crust, Mince Meat, Etc.

Canadian Dairyman

FLAKY PIE CRUST

The rule that I follow for measuring for pie crust is always one-half the quantity of the previous ingredients. Thus: 1 cup flour, ½ cup lard, ¼ cup water. The secret of having flaky pie crust is in chopping or cutting the different ingredients together, always using a knife. In rolling out do not use any more flour than is absolutely necessary. Cut or chop the lard through the flour until the former is in pieces about the size of small beans.—Mrs. G., Man.

SWEET CREAM PIE CRUST

To 1 cup thick, sweet cream add 1 tablespoon sugar and mix this into 2 cups flour sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder and a pinch of salt. This quantity is enough for two pies.—Mrs. L. S. Roberts, Ont. Co., Ont.

MINCE MEAT

To 1 qt raw chopped beef add 1 pt chopped suet, 2 qts chopped apples, 1 qt cider (sweet or sour), 1 pt thick boiled cider, ½ pt molasses, 1 pt liquor, in which the meat was cooked, 1 pt brown sugar, 1 tablespoon each cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and salt, ½ tablespoon cloves; also seeded raisins in abundance. Boil together two hours, except apples and raisins which should be added the last half hour. If liked, add butter to the pies when baking them.—Mrs. J. C. McCormack, Leeds Co., Ont.

QUICK LEMON PIE

To 1 cup sugar add yolks of 2 eggs, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup bread crumbs, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, and a little salt. Bake with an under crust and frost with a meringue made of the egg whites and powdered sugar. This is enough for one pie.—Mrs. F. D. D., Wentworth Co., Ont.

CHOCOLATE PIE

Put 1 pt. milk over the fire in a double boiler. In a bowl beat the yolks of 3 eggs, add ¾ sugar and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Dissolve 1 tablespoon corn starch in a little cold milk and add to the above mixture with 3 tablespoons chocolate melted in a saucer over the steaming teakettle. Stir this mixture into boiling milk and cool until thick, stirring vigorously all the time. Flavor with vanilla. Pour this filling into a baked pie crust, make a meringue of the egg whites and 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, and spread over the pie while the filling is still warm. Return to the oven a few minutes and brown lightly.

CODFISH CHOWDER

Brown 1 cup of finely minced salt pork, and place it in a large kettle; add a layer of sliced raw potatoes, with a seasoning of salt and pepper, a layer of flaked and freshened codfish, a layer of broken mild crackers, sprinkled over with bits of butter, and lastly another layer of fish; pour on enough milk to cover, and cook slowly until the potatoes are done; add a little more milk before serving, if necessary.

ESCALLOPED CODFISH

Into a well buttered baking pan, place layers of flaked and freshened fish, and boiled rice or macaroni; season each layer with salt, pepper and plenty of butter; pour over enough milk to cover, then add a sprinkling of bread crumbs, with several bits of butter on the top. Bake slowly until nicely browned.

CARROT PIE

Wash and pare 2 or 3 good sized carrots, stew until tender, pour water off, mash fine with potato masher, and to 1 cup mashed carrots add 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 beaten egg, 1 level teaspoon mixed spice, ¼ pt milk, and salt to taste. Bake with an under crust only.

BUTTERMILK PIE

To 2 cups sugar add 2 tablespoons flour, yolks of 4 eggs, white of 1 egg, 1 tablespoon butter, and after this has been thoroughly mixed, add 3 cups of buttermilk and 1 tablespon lemon extract. Bake in an under crust and when done spread with a meringue made of the 3 remaining egg whites and 5 tablespoons powdered sugar. Flavor with lemon extract. Return to the oven a few minutes to brown lightly. This makes a good mock lemon pie.—Mrs. G. W. B.
